MEMBERS OF THE Michigan Outdoor Writers Assn. had the best meeting in their 20 year history on Beaver Island in early June.

Ben East, Midwest Field editor for Outdoor Life Magazine, wrote Archie:

"This is just a belated note to tell you how much I enjoyed getting back to the island, and to thank the game club and you personally for everything that was done to make the meeting of the outdoor writers such an enjoyable affair. They all had a fine time, and the meeting was one of the best I've ever attended."

AND FROM LEONARD Barnes, Motor News magazine and Outdoor Writers president:

"It would be impossible adequately to thank you and all Beaver Islanders for the genuine hospitality you showed us over the last weekend. From the time we got on the boat and were greeted with snacks to the ride back on the boat with more snacks, the true spirit of Beaver Island came through."

"Everyone I talked to said it was our best meeting in the 20-year history of the Organization. And you Beaver Islanders and Central Michigan University are almost totally responsible for it."

Eldon Robbin, Evinrude Motors Advertising Manager was so excited at his brief visit to the island he hopes to return.

"This was our first visit there and I can assure you that it will not be our last. In fact we're seriously considering the idea of coming back . . . to do some picture making for some of our Evinrude 1965 national advertising," Robbins wrote LaFreniere.

THOUGH THE THANK you letters were addressed to Archie, the host at the Shamrock demands that the credit for the enthusiastic response from outdoor writers belongs to others. Among them the Beaver Island Boat Co. for taking writers and their cars across free, Ervin Martin for a fine job of guiding tourists to smallmouth fishing grounds, Central Michigan University for providing lodging and Evinrude Motors for supplying boats.

All the effort Beaver Islanders put into making the meeting a success has paid off. The means of free publicity that writers have produced about Beaver Island since the meeting couldn't be purchased if the island's entire tax collection was put into advertising.

City Golf Tourney Need Players for

"There'll be a flight for everyone, regardless of how high or low your golf score might be," Keith Carey said this week in urging golfers to register for the men's and women's city championship golf tournaments which begins Sunday.

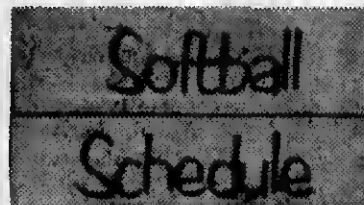

Deadline for entering the events will be noon Saturday. Until now, interest has been lagging, Carey said, only one woman and 28 men had entered the two summer events.

"THIS IS THE FIRST time we've had a women's championship tournament and they seem to be afraid that their score may not be good enough. However, that is not the case," he explained. Regardless of how good or bad, there are others who will be in the same flights," he continued.

Drawings for the tournaments will be held following the deadline Saturday with the match play scheduled to begin the following day.

Golfers may register by signing up at the clubhouse or by calling the clubhouse.

HARRY HUFFAKER Saturday swam Lake Charlevoix from Charlevoix to Boyne City in preparation for an attempt to swim the English Channel later this summer. The swim took him eight hours and ten minutes. The 24 year old University of Michigan dental student is from Grosse Pointe Woods.

Frat Tourney

The dates have been set . . . Aug. 1, and we're hoping that all the members of the Fraternity will register. George Driggett, co-chairman with Les Coatta of Eastport, of the annual golf tournament, said.

The tournament will be held at the municipal golf course.

MEMBERS OF THE fraternity are former students at Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti. Walk Draper of Southwestern high school in Detroit will be on hand to defend this title. Driggett of Milwaukee, said.

Stag Record

A record number of golfers participated in the weekly stag night last Thursday, Keith Carey, manager of the municipal golf course, reports.

A total of 55 men played and enjoyed the social hour which followed.

THE WEEK BEFORE found a record 45 coming out, he said adding that this has become one of the most popular events at the course.

League leaders surged to the top in all divisions as the city softball program swung into its third week. The big game of the Fastball league is scheduled for Monday, July 13, when undefeated American Mold clashes with Ellsworth Morwell Steel.

Mold Leads in Fastball League American Mold posted a couple of narrow wins against top contenders during the week. Against former champs, Ellsworth, they used an unearned run in the sixth to spell the difference in a 2-1 win. Ken Balch, Ken Wojan and Fritz Puffat combined one-haggers for their first run. Ellsworth's lone tally came on John Swanson's long home run.

Against Lake Construction Mold used the same pattern, scoring their winning run without aid of a base hit. Larry McBride pitched a masterful game in defeat, but Nate Boss was just a little tougher; as he allowed only one Lake Construction base hit in a 2-1 win.

The City Merchants displayed surprising power as they blasted the Air Force 21-4. Nearly Everyone in the lineup joined in the fun, but Joe Battle led the attack with two extra base hits.

Bob Klooster powered Morwell steel past the Air Force 11-3 by blasting two long home runs. The losers played their finest game of the year before falling to an Ellsworth six run fifth inning.

Local Cyclists In Mio Races

Three local motorcycle riders were among the four from the area who participated in the Mio Motorcycle Jamboree over the recent holiday weekend.

Tom Hayner of Petoskey, one of the first, placed first in the field meet on Saturday.

JACK NISWANDER, Don Faltling and Art Faltling participated in the scrambles on Sunday with Don Faltling placing second and Art third.

Mrs. Niswander and Mrs. Arthur Faltling accompanied their husbands to the meet.

Chip Terrill pitched the A & W gang to an easy 11-1 win. Terrill allowed no hits and only an error prevented him from posting a shutout.

Lions leading Peanut The Lions outlasted the Dodgers 15-11 and remained undefeated and in first place. Ron Hoffman had a Lion home run. Tim Doan had a triple and double in a losing cause.

The Pirates got into the win column with a 9-5 upset over the Braves, handing them their first loss. Jerry Peace helped the winners with a triple and single while Warner's single in the first was the only hit off Pirate pitcher, Carl Swanson.

The Tigers split a pair during the week winning from the Dodgers 10-5 behind Tim Carey's tight pitching and Richard Plum's homer and single. Against the Braves they were edged 8-7 on Stewart Cunningham's run-producing triple in the sixth inning.

The Cubs posted a 7-4 win over the Pirates, scoring four times in the third. Paul Fiedorek had three Cub hits.

Women's and Bloopers The women's league is in a scramble after the first couple weeks of play as Barnard upset Edwards 10-3 by scoring two runs on Betty Klooster's base hit in their last time at bat.

Puff's defeated Barnard 7-4 in a well played contest. The three run margin came in their final time at bat. Jane Norton paced the winners with two hits.

In the Bloopers league, Consumers needed a six run final inning to beat Novak's 8-7. Don Demoor's clutch hit provided the margin. Holm and Crain split two, winning from Ken's Dodge Service 10-1 and losing to Boyne City on Harv Varnum's key hit in the final inning 8-7.

"I WAS THE most surprised person on the course," the Rev. Ralph Corey of Evansville, Ind., said as he told of the hole-in-one he made recently of the 170 yd. third hole of the municipal golf course.

"It's the first one I ever made and I've been playing golf for quite a few years. It sure was a thrill!" he added.

THE REV. CAREY was spending the week in Charlevoix as the evangelist of the Church of God camp meeting.

At the time he made the hole-in-one, he was playing with Jim Annis, Art Krulik, Jim Smith and John Swanson who had invited him to play with them when they saw him storming out alone.

"I'm sure glad I accepted their invitation," he said, adding "If I'd been playing alone, and made a hole-in-one, who would have believed me?"

Family Affair A few years ago, the name of Vanthaaporst was widely known in Northern Michigan Class-C track and football circles.

At that time the given name was Dick.

Today another Vanthaaporst is coming to the forefront in track circles at Ligonier, Pa. He is Bob Vanthaaporst, who as a junior represented his high school at the PIAA finals at Penn State University where he captured a third place in both the high and low hurdles in a state meet.

Both boys are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. William Vanthaaporst, now of Ligonier.

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Smith left recently from San Francisco enroute to his new assignment in Honolulu from his last assignment at Harbor Beach. Enroute they visited here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Arnold, and at Orville, Wash., with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Morris. They will sail August 11 from San Francisco for Hawaii where he will be attached to the 14th Coast Guard District.

Let's Keep Politics Out of Post Office

PETER TIMMER'S retirement from the postmaster's desk, at the Charlevoix Post Office will be viewed by many people as another break with the good old days.

When Timmer started sorting and delivering mail to Charlevoix patrons 36 years ago life was definitely keyed to a tempo that would seem strange in the 1960's. In those days, Timmer recalls, the bulk of the mail came in on trains; in the morning and evening. During the summer the resort trains carried so much mail the post office worked two shifts. Postal savings were also a big thing. At one time the Charlevoix Post Office had $200,000 in postal savings on deposit. And money order volume was as much as ten times what it is today.

PERHAPS LIFE WAS even slower and easier three decades ago, Timmer suggests. But he doesn't propose that it was better. Timmer figures modern advances have been good for the post office and the public.

Any man who feels his work has been worthwhile and fulfilling is to be commended. Timmer is one of these. He is also one that should be thanked, for he has helped make Charlevoix's Post Office one of our best liked institutions.

The congenial service postal employees give seems unbelievable to our big city visitors. It intrigues them . . . and helps bring them back.

But perhaps more important than the impact it has on visitors, it helps make our life at home a little bit more comfortable. It also makes going to the post office twice a day kind of fun. Such small, intangible, pleasures as these make life a little bit fuller for everyone in Charlevoix.

TIMMER IS THE LAST person to claim any of the credit for this. In fact he is downright publicly shy. "It's the guys . . . they've been wonderful to work with," he says of the men who have worked for him during the past 13 years. But he cannot relegate all of the applause to them. Timmer has been the number one man, and as such, rates the top commendation and thanks from everyone in Charlevoix.

Though the postmaster's job is generally considered a political plum, it has not been administered as such in Charlevoix in recent years. Timmer's appointment was not political. He was the most qualified man for the job in 1951, so the outgoing postmaster recommended him for it . . . even though it appears to have meant crossing party lines.

It would be sheer blindness to ignore the fact that the post office's not being a center for political pork barrel has been a major factor in its unique atmosphere. The Courier feels it is to all of Charlevoix's benefit to maintain a non-political post office by appointing the most qualified postal employee to the job. This, of course, means Assistant Postmaster Dan Genett would be promoted to postmaster. An assistant postmaster would be appointed from within the post office.

If Democrat leaders do overcome the temptation to pluck this ripe political plum as a sacrifice to the best interests of Charlevoix the Courier will be the first to recognize their dedication to the community.

Lights for Golfers...

PROPOSALS THAT Charlevoix's Municipal Golf Course be lighted for night play presents some interesting possibilities.

Though we may not be avid golfers, there is no denying the game is one of any resort community's strongest drawing cards. Charlevoix already has a trim nine-hole city course and the famous 19-hole Belvedere to attract golfers. This is definitely to our advantage. The courses draw summer visitors and provide recreation for our residents.

HOWEVER, EXCEPT for the Belvedere's outstanding features, Charlevoix has many rivals as far as golfing facilities are concerned. So why not offer something others do not have? Is there any reason Charlevoix shouldn't cash-in-big by maintaining its reputation as a leader?

As we see it this is the opportunity offered by lighting part of the city course. No one else in northern Michigan will be able to offer after-dark golfing.

We could extend the city course to 18 holes. But, if we do, we're still just keeping pace with other communities. There nothing different, or especially appealing about an 18-hole course in rather flat terrain.

Many tourists and Charlevoix citizens are too busy to play golf during weekday. But if the course were lighted, after the heat of the day has turned into a refreshing evening breeze, many more could, and, we believe, would play.

IF THE HOLIDAY Towers Resort Hotel plan becomes a reality the lighted course would also be a potent inducement for convention groups to pick Charlevoix in the spring and fall. This would mean keeping the course open more months of the year.

Lights for the course could be made to pay for themselves over a reasonable period of time without drastic adjustments in fees. Eventually, we suspect, the entire nine hole layout could be lighted.

And, though it may be a rather intangible and unimportant factor, consider the impression the lighted course would have on travelers passing through, trying to decide if they will spend the night in Charlevoix, Petoskey, Harbor Springs, etc. We'll bet it could stop quite a few.

Dear Editor:

Patronage System Odious to Public

DEAR EDITOR:

The article in last week's Courier about the Postmaster's job could lead many people to believe that only a dyed-in-the-wool politician can get to be a Postmaster. The fact that I have served as Postmaster for 13 years proves that this is not so, and my successor can also be appointed in the same manner that I was.

Those who made the choice when I was appointed undoubtedly felt that our City, Community and Country would best be served by appointing someone who was acquainted with the Postal Service. This is true today too, and if those who are to choose my successor will put our Community's good over and above political patronage then truly will they be heeding the challenge of our late President Kennedy. Ask not what your Country can do for you, BUT what you can do for your Country".

THE STATEMENT THAT the Postmaster's job is deliberately designed to be a reward for service to a political party is open to serious question. Serious attempts have been made to take it from the grasp of politicians, and the practice is odious to the general public. The practice undercuts the morale of postal employees and outrages the sense of justice of the average citizen.

The position of a postal employee to the position of Postmaster is relatively simple—in fact much simpler than appointing one from the outside. This proves that you don't need to be an ardent politician to get the job, and also that the job isn't designed ONLY to be a reward for political service.

Promote Lapidary Resource

DEAR EDITOR:

The May 21st Courier came into my hands, and I want to say, "Orchids to you and Mr. Heisel." Also, a bouquet of daisies to the Garden Club. (My favorite flower.) You all are FINALLY doing what I have wanted to see done for years. All during Michigan Week and at other times, also, I watched TV programs and the guide or travel talk would pass right by Charlevoix, and I would just sizzle. I would say, "Why? Why? when it is so beautiful."

We have been coming up here for years and love it. Our children and Grandchildren love it. Our child owns the cottage at Pine Point where we are until after the Fourth.

A BOAT FESTIVAL was started years ago and could become something great. But the merchants have not shown enough interest. It isn't planned with a theme; sufficient prizes are not forth-coming; and were it held on Sat. night, then those who have to leave Sunday can see it. The business man says he cannot get ready for Sat. night. Yes he could. If he wanted to. Surely someone in his family or store can take enough time out to think up an idea and then get it all ready to put together the last day. The Chamber of Commerce could have all these men meet, decide on a theme and then watch the enthusiasm. It is the same as being on a committee, no one wants to, but once they get the idea going everyone falls in with vigor.

I heartily agree with anything that could start the lapidary gang coming here. In fact, as soon as I finish this letter, I am sending the Courier article to a lapidary friend of ours—and I'll bet anyone they will get up here.

I hope the Garden Club ladies keep their idea going and get the job done if they have to pound the merchant on the back.

WHEN WE ARE UP HERE, I always put my return address on my envelope using Charlevoix-the-Beautiful. Could we get a stamp to that effect on the P.O. canceling machine? Or would the C. of C. have millions of stickers made and leave at the P.O., mail to everyone they can possibly think of? I think it would be a wonderful idea.

Michigan is great—and Charlevoix is beautiful.

Yours sincerely,
Mrs. Orville Hurd

Grassroots Press Gives Leadership

DEAR EDITOR:

Good for you. It's about time somebody exposed the daily newspapers for their obvious efforts to misrepresent Barry Goldwater's character and qualifications to the American people. I recall a college course of years ago in which a professor taught that the real journalism leadership in America comes from the small, grassroots press. The way you are editing the Courier reminds me of this almost every week.

I doubt your efforts to help the underprivileged children in Charlevoix's "stums" makes you many friends in Charlevoix. But don't let this bother you. The disgrace will not be removed unless someone sticks their neck out. You are to be respected because you are willing to have it be your neck.

Shep, why don't you take a long vacation to Cuba or Cyprus, or someplace else where somebody would shoot you for butting into everyone's business. It is none of your business how some of our citizens live. If they are happy in their shack by the airport why don't you let them alone.

By FRANK MARTIN

If you're a golfer and have hopes of making a hole in one at the municipal golf course, don't count on it unless your name is Carey...or so Keith Carey, manager of the course, would have you believe. Seems the person who made the first single of the season at the course was Rev. Ralph Carey from Evansville, Ind....For a while I think Keith had him believing that this rare honor was reserved for only those who had this name...But the good pastor noticed the twinkle in Keith's eye and realized it was just a bit of Irish malarky....

Speaking of golf, how about that youngster, Doug Flankey, who was strictly an unknown when he entered the Michigan Amateur and ended up taking the title back to St. Johns...Was discussing these newcomers with some of the local golfers who followed the tournament...One comment heard several times was "Can those kids ever drive"...Most people added that there were several who were certain to emerge as stars in the not too distant future...but no one expected this youngster to burst from his cocoon so fast...Looks as tho' we'll be seeing a lot of new names before too long if this holds true....

HAD QUITE AN assignment last week...checking on the motel and hotel operators, finding out about their facilities and their thoughts on the 1964 season...And I don't know when I've enjoyed anything as much...Just about everyone was willing to answer my few questions and tell me something about their facility...and I found out a lot of things...like, for instance, not two are alike even though you may think they look alike...Each, in its own way, has something that marks it as different...either the combination of accommodations offered, location, just many of little things that I feel are good for there's something to please everyone....

One thing that impressed me the most was the fact that everyone had only good things to say about others in the business...and in no way felt that the proposed new facilities, the Weatherwene Terrace and the Holiday Towers Hotel, would hurt them...In fact, they felt it would help them....

Another thing I learned...that no matter what motel a visitor might select, he is assured of a clean, comfortable facility and a friendly inn, I'm sorry, motel keeper....

BACK TO GOLF for a minute, if you don't mind...I had a chat with a visiting golf writer during the recent tournament, John Walter of the Detroit News, a grand person whom I've known for a number of years....And, since the first time I met him, he's been plugging for a second 18-hole course in Charlevoix...That was again his subject of conversation last week...The Michigan Amateur brought 224 golfers here and if you had another 18-hole course on which to qualify that number could be increased by more than a 100, he told me and he should know for he's practically "Mr. Golf" himself in golfing circles...his point is that with golf becoming as popular as it is and with Charlevoix growing in size there's going to be need of an 18-hole course so why not start planning for it now...The city still owns part of the property that made up the original course so keep that, get a plan and see what else will be needed...In other words, get with it before it's too late...You won't believe the number of people who play golf...until you start checking into it...Check the records that Keith Carey keeps at the municipal course and you'll see what I mean...So I'm all for doing some planning...right now...if 224 people do what they do for the economy, why not a hundred-some more...Sure, they'll be here for the duration of the tournament...but they will also go away singing the praises of the north country and a certain number of them will return as vacationers...And anyway, the time's coming when we're going to need a bigger course...Mark my words...so why not do something about it while there's time for something to be done....

IT WAS WITH A feeling of nostalgia that I wrote the story recently about the Lifeboat station being no more...There's been one for years and years and it's going to be mighty hard to get out of the habit...and get used to saying Coast Guard station....

How about that summer weather we've been having...Sure hope it lasts (but not quite so much of it all at one time) because we could do with a good warm summer...with lots of beach weather and lots of people...cause there's a long cold winter comin' up...But then, I hope you all enjoy it...but do be careful...on the highways and in and on the water....

Camp Charlevoix

Corral Chatter

THIS WAS THE evening when the cooks, Joe and Lewie, prepared the buffet supper. The roast beef is cooked over an open fire and the aroma is enjoyed all over the camp. It is quite a sight to see the white-coated cooks serving behind the tables down the shoreline and the boys lined up to get at the delicious food. This is always one of the highlights of the year.

In the evening, after supper we had a movie "At War With The Army" starring Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis. The boys got many a laugh from this. After the movie, and when it was dark, the entire camp gathered down on the sand by the main dock to see the annual display of fireworks. There was many an oh and an aah at the beautiful sights. The celebration started off with Cabin 1, our smallest boys singing "America." Then Ken spoke on "The Meaning of the Fourth of July". Bob Hickman led the boys in a few songs, and then we had the fireworks. As is the custom, to round out the evening each boy is given a box with a dozen sparklers in it. It is a most fantastic sight to look back on the shore and see these hundred fifty sparklers all burning brightly. As the hour was late, Bill Townsend announced that we would sleep late in the morning, rising at 8:30 with breakfast at 9:15.

Already boys are making plans for the booths they will have at our annual Carnival on Saturday, JULY 18th. Parents and friends are invited. Sunday morning we had chapel out in the woods with Jonathan Howard as the speaker. He enlarged on the theme "Building a Reputation" and used several fine examples.

IN THE AFTERNOON we had a water-front afternoon with the entire camp taking part. There were swimming races, canoe races, rowboat races and sailing races. It was a great afternoon with the Greys getting all three points, one for each section. The boys winning events were: Tom Hoyt, Jim Warner, Mark Stephen, Steve Henninger, John McClure, George Steinhart, Jim Todd, John Cote, Doug Laing, Ted Herringer, Mike Cooper, Bob Poplack, Scott Coleman, Steve Gardner, John Martin, Bob Smith, and Mike Rittoff. The Junior Greys won the watermelon race after which the boys ate the watermelon.

In the Evening we had a Vespers Service at the new Flagpole which we dedicated in memory of all those former campers and staff who have passed away. It was a most impressive service with Bill Townsend telling the boys about how the new pole was chosen by our caretaker, Barney, after much searching in our woods. The pole is of white pine and is 45 feet tall. It is a beautiful pole and can be seen from the city of Charlevoix. Ken then took over and dedicated the pole to the following boys and men who have deceased: Lewis C. Reimann, founder of Camp Charlevoix, Dr. Fred Jeffers (1946); Charles Swing (1950); Terry Black, (1951); Bob James, (1954); Hickman Price, (1954); John Sussberger, (1956); Tommy Gentry (1958); Al Belknap, (1958); and David Holste, (1961). The year denotes the year the individual was at camp. The service closed with the singing of "Taps" as the boys looked out across the lake into a beautiful sunset.

The two C.I.T.'s assisting in the two trips today were John Gillett on the sailing trip, and Al Knoblock on the canoeing trip. Another hot day and everyone following the photographer around to get his picture taken. We had two trips leave camp, one being a horse trip taken by Dan Cameron's cabin. These boys were John Feltfio, David Washburn, Dick Edison, Scott Coleman, Jerry Schollenberger, and John Dineen accompanied the trip along with two cowboys.

Cabin 13 took a canoe trip down the Jordan River. Paul Jane was the rousellor on this trip and he was assisted by C.I.T. Rusty Smith. The boys were: Mark Stephen, Gary Blumberg, Erik Jensen, Karl Bowman, Steve Pfenniger, and John McClure.

IN THE EVENING after an early supper, the two oldest cabins of boys, plus the C.I.T.'s, took off for a dance at Camp Chippewa Trail. The boys spent much time shining shoes, showering, and really looked like a million dollars. Four cars were driven over and a great time was reported by all. Now the mailman's load will increase at each camp as letters will be passing between our boys and their gals.

The rest of the camp had a Captive the Camper night when campers hide in the woods and counselors take off to find them. After the chase was over, each team had won one point, so at this stage of the competition the score is Greys-4, Greens-1.

Thursday was another great camping day, with two more trips leaving camp. In the afternoon, Dan Morgananth assisted by C.I.T. Rusty Smith took his boys on a canoe trip down the Jordan. These boys were Steve Gardner, Steve Upland, Martin Curdes, Todd Herringer, John Thomas and John Cote.

Later in the day, Mike Schenck took his boys on a horseback trip. These boys were: Fred Schultz, Charles Osburn, Bill Smith, Dick Baunmer, Bobby Cooper. About ten o'clock that evening we had a terrific rain and hail storm here at camp, and we sent station wagons out to each campsite area. Canoe trip THIRTY MILES AWAY, and horse trip TEN MILES away to pick up the boys to bring them back to camp. Imagine our surprise when the cars arrived back at camp empty, as the storm hadn't hit in either area and the boys were sound asleep in their tents, and weren't even awakened. Oh well, it is better to be safe than sorry, and we were pleased that the boys were safe and dry.

IN THE EVENING the Senior Section had a Scavenger Hunt with the Greys getting the point. So Doug Laing is leading his team to a 5 to 1 lead at this time.

Friday was a beautiful day after last night's terrific storm and everything looked so lush and beautiful. Even the Limbertost Creek was filled to overflowing. In the afternoon we sent a softball team down to Camp Sea Gull and they sent a team up here to our camp. It was a most unhappy day for Charlevoix as we lost both games. We were very proud of our boys as they were very fine sports, even in defeat. In the evening we had a movie "Robinson Crusoe" which was enjoyed by both campers and staff.

We sang happy Birthday to "AMERICA" on Saturday, July 4th, and started this glorious day off with much excitement as it is always a big day in camp. Some of the cowboys, plus Rusty Smith, Tom Laskey and Mark Murfin, took off early for a horse show at Traverse City.

Regular activities were held in the morning, while the Annual Track Meet between the Greys and the Greens was held in the afternoon. The team captains worked hard to get their entries ready and it was a very fine event. The Greys took 2 points to the 1 point for the Greens. The total score at this stage was Greys 7, Greens 2. In the Senior Section John Martin won three events, including the steeple chase. Other event winners were: Mike Rittoff, Doug Laing, George Steinhart, Brad Corbin, Geb Businell, Bob Smith, Eric Kelly, and Terry Banks. In the Intermediate Section the winners of events were: Eric Jensen, David Washburn, Sandy Lange, Dick Edison, Steve Orr, Greg Gillisple, Steve Pfenniger, John Feltfio, Tighe Magnuson, Mark Stephen, and Carter Sales. The Jolly Juniors had a wonderful afternoon with their track meet, and the boys winning events were: Chuck Gardella, John Sklar, Steve Amberg, Bob Poplack, Greg Sayles, Greg Scott. It is interesting to note that Chuck Gardella and John Sklar each won three firsts; and winning two first places were: Jim Cote, Steve Amberg, Bob Poplack and Greg Scott.

SHE FINALLY MADE IT HOME--Little Miss Sharla Voy is gleeful as she sees her first copy of the 'Courier'. And rightly so. The seven-month-old baby, who is held by her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Voy of Southfield, Mich., was named Sharla Voy after Charlevoix. Mr. and Mrs. Voy brought Sharla Voy to Charlevoix last weekend for her first visit to the town she was named after. This picture of Sharla Voy joyfully trying to get her hands on the 'Courier' was taken in the new American Motel. The Vays chose Sharla's name because they consider Charlevoix the state's beauty spot.

City Promotes Letter Slogans

A proposal to promote Charlevoix's beauty on all letters mailed by city residents was enthusiastically supported Monday by City Council.

On the suggestion of Councilman Dr. Walter Hoffmann, city fathers agreed to put "Charlevoix the Beautiful" advertising on all letters the city sends out.

COUNCILMEN AGREED with Hoffmann, that the Chamber of Commerce should be encouraged to promote the program so that all businesses and citizens take advantage of this free opportunity to promote Charlevoix.

Hoffmann said between 10,000 and 12,000 pieces of mail are sent out annually by Charlevoix firms using postage meters. These meters will automatically stamp the slogan on letters while stamping them.

The Council told Deputy City Clerk Herb Campbell to purchase a plate for the postage meter that will automatically stamp "Charlevoix the Beautiful" on all outgoing mail.

THIS CORNER has sort of been holding its breath, hoping someone would do something about the horrible black blotches on downtown sidewalks. But there's no holding still any longer.

Bridge St. business district sidewalks, especially front the County Bank to Lieberman's on the west side, are repulsively stained with black marks about the size of a big man's fist. They've been there for several weeks.

The problem certainly isn't that no one is concerned about the marks. Business people have been grumbling about it. And in some cases even making threats. But no one seems to know how to get rid of them.

City officials, correctly, point out sidewalks are the property owner's responsibility. So there's no help there.

Council to Aid Youths In Trouble

A group of church and social workers has laid the groundwork for organization of a youth council in Charlevoix.

The council's purpose will be to offer advice and guidance to young people with delinquency problems and the parents of these youths.

PRESENT AT A meeting to prepare for organization of the council were Mrs. Nancy Woods, county juvenile officer; Mrs. Jeanne Miles, public nurse; Probate Judge Juvenile and Probate Judge John Makel; Dr. Harry Holmes and Robert Gillespie of the Child Guidance Clinic in Petoskey, and Rev. Harold Kohn of the Congregational Church.

Mrs. Wood said the youth council will rely on Charlevoix church, school and civic organizations for support.

School To Open Sept. 14

The somewhat later opening date was set Monday evening by the Board of Education. School will open Sept. 14 because Labor Day doesn't come until Sept. 7.

Supt. Rex Milligan said Charlevoix schools traditionally open the Monday after Labor Day.

THE CHRISTMAS vacation will be the usual two weeks, from Dec. 18 to Jan. 4.

School will be dismissed June 10, three days later than this year.

Other holidays will be one day in May for Memorial Day, Nov. 26 and 27 for Thanksgiving and April 16-19 for Easter.

In other matters Monday the board hired Gerald Harris as a junior high teacher and Jacquelin Melers as a fifth grade teacher.

HARRIS WILL graduate this summer from Northern State Teachers College, Aberdeen, S. D. He is the brother of Rev. Jack Harris of the First Baptist Church of Charlevoix.

Mrs. Melers is a graduate of Ursuline College, Cleveland, Ohio. She taught at Charlevoix in 1948-49.

Laura Courtade was hired half-days as school librarian. She retired this summer as a high school English teacher.

2 Months Left to Pay City Tax

Charlevoix property owners have until Sept. 15 to pay their city taxes, Treasurer Annabelle Cunningham reminds residents.

Miss Cunningham has sent out 1,600 summer tax bills totaling $66,153.63. Of this $65,282 is the regular eight mill city tax. Another $871.63 is for special assessments on streets and sidewalks.

CITY TAXES ARE paid in Miss Cunningham's office in City Hall.

CAPRICIOUS VENETIANS--Venetian Festival Queen Marcy Wallace and her court of high school beauties will have stiff competition at the July 24 and 25 festival from these young ladies who will act as their honor guard. Chairman Bob Humphries is adding this new twist to the festival and points out the little girls were titled "capricious" because there's no predicting what they will do on festival day...except look pretty

To Attend Venetian Festival Invite Miss LBJ

President Lyndon B. Johnson's daughter, 17 year old Luci Baines Johnson, may be in Charlevoix for the July 24-25 Venetian Festival.

The possibility that Miss Johnson will participate in Charlevoix's biggest summer event was announced by program chairman Bob Humphries and County Democratic Chairman George LaBlance.

LaBlance said Miss Johnson will be at Interlochen, Mich., (near Traverse City) on July 23.

Washington sources, with whom LaBlance has been in direct contact, indicate it may be possible for Miss Johnson to schedule an appearance at the Venetian Festival, the county Democratic party leader said. He said he has also made personal contact with Congressman-at-large Neil Stähler, who promised to see what influence he could to arrange Miss Johnson's visit here.

Gov. George Romney will participate in the festival at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, July 25, when he crowns Queen Marcy Wallace. Mrs. Romney is expected to accompany the governor.

Romney's appearance has been billed as non-political. No partisan speeches will be made.

OTHER HIGHLIGHTS of the two day festival were announced by Dean Davenport, Chamber of Commerce manager.

A six man parachute team will jump over the Ferry Ave. boat launching ramp. Their daring performance is scheduled at 4 p.m. Saturday.

The Kincheloe Air Force Base Honor Guard will participate in the street parade at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

At 11 a.m. Saturday a puppet show will be staged in East Park by Karen Lucas of Kanakee, Ill.

At 2 p.m. Friday and at 3 p.m. Saturday a trained animal act will be held in East Park by Ivan Nye. Nye's actors include a dog and mule.

As Democrats Clash Postmaster Row Boils

Charlevoix County's long slumbering Democratic party is no longer napping. Though its election record indicates there is little life in the party's organization here, there was plenty of fireworks generated Saturday evening over appointing a new Charlevoix Postmaster.

SEVERAL PARTICIPANTS in the County Democratic Committee's Saturday meeting said it was, "as good a show as the Republican convention on tv." In spite of several fiery exchanges and yelling duels, the meeting ended with no positive action taken to replace Pete Timmer as Postmaster. Timmer is retiring.

County Democratic Chairman George LaBlance staunchly denied reports of a "split" in the party. LaBlance, however, admitted there was a "lot of heated tempers" at the Saturday meeting. He said no further action will be taken on the appointment until "it cools off."

THE INTER-PARTY controversy appeared to involve a point of parliamentary procedure.

However, those close to the party explain leaders are split on whether the postmaster's appointment should be made on the basis of political patronage or qualification for the job.

Dan Genett and Martha Tunison represent the two sides of the issue. Genett is assistant postmaster and is favored by Timmer for the job. Mrs. Tunison is a former County Democratic Chairman and has long been active in party activities.

There are no other serious contenders for the appointment.

LaBlance said he has no comment regarding rumors that he is personally interested in getting the job.

The issue was further confused by Timmer's apparent desire to withdraw his resignation. LaBlance read a letter to County Committee members that was sent to Sen. Patrick McNamara by the Post Office Dept. The letter definitely stated that Timmer had requested his retirement be withdrawn.

Timmer, however, explains his letter was misunderstood by the Post Office Dept., and that he only asked for information on whether it was possible to change his mind.

Timmer announced last month he will retire July 31.

LaBlance said there is no opposition to Genett, "as far as the party is concerned."

"But this is a patronage appointment," LaBlance said in explaining his position that a person's contribution to the party should determine who gets the job. Mrs. Tunison, he said, "has worked very hard for the party."

Boysen City Republicans several years ago went out of the post office to appoint a loyal party member, LaBlance said. He said Jack Dickout, a businessman, became Boysen City's postmaster due to patronage, while a qualified postal worker was passed over.

Actually, due to a parliamentary disagreement, Saturday's meeting never got around to voting on the appointment. LaBlance arbitrarily adjourned the meeting when debate got out of control.

No date was set for the next meeting.

See Summer Record

Charlevoix is booming, like it has never boomed before.

And it isn't caused by some booms. Thousands of tourists are creating the biggest business boom in Charlevoix history.

A COURIER SURVEY of a cross-section of Charlevoix businesses indicates this summer will break all previous records.

Chamber of Commerce manager Dean Davenport says inquiries and registrations at the information center are two-to-one over last year.

According to Davenport, motel and restaurant owners report their advance reservations and general business is 50% to 100% above last year.

Charlevoix County State Bank cashier E. D. Hawley reports the bank is doing more summer business than ever before.

SIMILAR REPORTS come from Gordon Neff at Neff Brothers Food Store, Ken Staley at Staley's Grocery, Irv Drust at Irv's Cocktail Lounge and Chas Staley at Staley's Hardware.

The Municipal Docks on Round Lake have been filled to capacity almost every evening since July 1. Many cruisers and yachts have been forced to anchor in Round Lake or in Oyster Bay in Lake Charlevoix.

Davenport says boats started arriving earlier this year than last and there have been more of them.

Most businessmen report June tourist traffic was down slightly from last year due to cold weather. May, however, was a little better than last year.

THOUGH BUSINESSMEN have not had time to predict whether July's upswing will offset June's down-trend, Davenport confidently predicts 1964 will set all new records.

Davenport says his optimistic forecast is based on the interest tourists are showing in Charlevoix, partially due to recent progress, such as Olson's new store, Holiday Towers proposed hotel, Weathervane Terrace Motel and the possibility of a 16 apartment 16-family apartment building.

Don Meggison to Head Chest Drive

Don Meggison has been named chairman of Charlevoix's 1964 Community Chest campaign.

The Community Chest board of directors announced their selection of Meggison and set the 1964 goal at $12,000.

THE $12,000 GOAL is $489 over last year's of $11,511. However, if all pledges are paid, the chest will have collected $12,000 in its 1963 campaign.

Other major division chairman, who will work under Meggison, were also announced. Robert Bridge and Archie Livingston are co-chairmen of the special gifts division; Frank Bourgoin is chairman of the commercial division; John Lachman heads up the industrial division; Dr. Robert Anderson is professional chairman; Mrs. E. D. Mason is residential chairman and Mrs. Tom Wieland rural area chairman.

The advance campaign, directed by the special gifts division, will be launched in August. Mrs. Robert Foss and Charles Duerr will assist co-chairman Bridge and Livingston.

Mrs. Paul Olsen will assist the commercial division chairman in contacting summer business people during August.

OTHER DIVISION chairmen will be seeking volunteers to complete committees in time for the campaign kick-off in September.

The Chest board, in setting the $12,000 campaign goal, approved a 1964 budget of $12,900 to be paid benefiting agencies. Of this $900 will come from surplus.

One new agency, the Northwestern Branch Michigan Children's Aid, for the first time this year will receive a contribution from the chest. The agency provides foster care and adoption services for a 15 county area, including Charlevoix.

A total of 12 local agencies will receive funds from the Community Chest. The Michigan Unit-

Firm Pays With 9,000 $2 Bills

This week, probably for the first time in history, there are enough $2 bills circulating in Charlevoix County for more than half the county's population to have one.

Courier Products of Boyne City Friday made its $18,000 payroll in $2 bills. The 9,000 $2 bills went to 230 employees, approximately ten of them from Charlevoix.

KEITH FITZPATRICK, Courier office manager, said employees were paid in $2 bills to give the company some idea of how much of its payroll is spent in the country. He said the company would appreciate hearing from merchants, who get some of the $2 bills.

CHEST PRESIDENT Don Anders said all local agencies were required to present their allocation request to the board for careful review and to explain their needs and services before the budget was adopted. John Lachman headed the budget committee. He was assisted by Ann Cunningham and Curtis Burlin.

The complete budget for local agencies is: Community nurse, $1,700; community nurse general fund, $200; girl scouts, $1,576;

To Build Home

City Supt. James Taylor's office has issued a building permit to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wojan to construct a 28 by 48 foot frame house on Lot 46, Eaton Ave. Estimated cost is $5,000.

Assn. for Retarded Children, $1,500; boy scouts, $1,492; Red Cross, $750; Charlevoix Hospital, $1,000; city recreation program, $500; Mt. Mesaba Recreation program, $500; Salvation Army, $440; Charlevoix Service Organization, $250; and Michigan Children's Aid, $307.

Anders pointed out only 5% or $75, will be spent for campaign and administrative costs.

Invite President's Daughter

A GYMNASIAC exhibition will be staged in East Park at 3 p.m. Friday by the National Summer Paleestum team from Elk Lake.

The festival opens at Noon Friday with mid-way attractions.

The annual boat parade will cap the Saturday program, at 9 p.m. The traveling plaque will be awarded to the boat judged best by 14.

up with putty knives and what have you. This proved hopeless. The marks were caused by some kind of candy at least one store was selling. The stuff—a candy syrup—came in a wax tube. The kids chomped the end off the tube, drank the nectar, and dropped the wax container on the sidewalk. A process of heat and feet ground it in and smeared it around until it's made our sidewalks look like an inkjet stable.

My typewriter doesn't seem to have a pat answer. But someone must.

Maybe City Supt. James Taylor could come up with something. If he can, businessmen would probably be willing to pay the city to get rid of the mess.

Incidentally, as soon as it was discovered the candy was causing a black mark on our beautiful town, it was pulled off the market.

QUIETLY PERCHED ON top of page 1 of last week's Courier was a new nameplate. "Charlevoix the beautiful, COURIER," it proclaimed to all readers.

Perhaps just a wee bit to our dismay, it didn't seem to attract much attention. Few people commented on it.

Tam and I spent six months trying to come up with a nameplate for the Courier that would be simple, yet impart the message that Charlevoix is a progressive community. It would tell this message with dignity, but not distract readers from front page news.

Knowing that one of the first things a person stying a town up does is look at its newspaper, we felt our decision was all important. We wanted anyone looking Charlevoix over for a possible new business, industry, or home to feel that it's news-

Hoffmann said other slogans could be written and different ones used. Among his suggestions were slogans to promote the Venetian Festival, winter sports, the harbor and other outstanding Charlevoix features.

HE SAID PLATES for the postage meters, that will print the different slogans, cost less than $10 each. If several firms purchased them through one order they would probably be even cheaper, Hoffmann said.

Residents, through the Chamber of Commerce, could be encouraged to purchase rubber stamps to put these slogans on all personal mail, Hoffmann suggested.

This, he said, could be done by having the Chamber purchase rubber stamps at a bulk price and then re-sell them at paper was a true mirror of a healthy, wide-awake town. When we finally had our ideas pretty well worked out we hired a Seattle, Wash., art firm to do the final drawing.

So last week's nameplate—and the one that you will see from here on—is the product of hours of labor, and sometimes heated arguments between the two of us.

A UNIQUE DRAMA, pitting two of Nature's traditional rivals, is unfolding at the Sheppard's Idle acres.

Our All-American family dog, Jocko, has opened a battle of wits against a small half-wild, half-tame bunny that lives under the tool shed. The results are hilarious.

The bunny has learned he is safe if he stays near the shed. Finding he can't outrun the little critter in a short race Jocko has adopted new strategy . . . he stalks the bunny. That's right. Just like a cat sneaking up on a bird.

Jocko sits back a 100 feet or so until he sees the bunny eight or ten feet from the shed. Then, when his foe isn't looking, Jocko starts his attack. He moves in slowly. Never moving more than two steps at a time. Body erect and rigid. In five or ten minutes he is within a few feet of the bunny.

Then, with a pitiful snarl he bounces forward. Zip. The bunny goes under the shed. Jocko walks over to the porch, or his water can, and turns his back on the shed, as if he didn't really care.

HERE'S AN EDITED version of a note from Mrs. L. M. Picard of Oak Park, Ill.

"We have been going to Ironton for the past 40 years. "Here (Oak Park) I am your biggest booster for Charlevoix. I can't think of a better place I would rather be and am making definite plans permanently settle in town about 2 1/2 years from now. We will ultimately sell our place in cost to citizens.

"I think this is a terrific way to advertise," Hoffmann said.

MAYOR E.D. HAWLEY said the Charlevoix County State Bank uses a postage meter and will purchase a plate to print the slogans on its letters. "I think this is a good idea," the mayor said.

Though no official action was taken, councilman unanimously said they will support the program and urge others to follow suit.

According to Assistant Postmaster Dan Genelt approximately 850,000 pieces of mail that could be stamped with the slogans are handled by the post office annually.

THOUGH SOME OF this mail stays in the local area, much of it goes outside, to other states and overseas.

RAYMOND J. Gorman, executive officer at the Coast Guard Group Office here is being transferred to the cutter Planetree, stationed at Honolulu, Hawaii. Gorman came to Charlevoix in 1963. He will be replaced by CWO-3 James C. Seidl, Jr., who arrives here later this month from Seattle.

"A new gown is like a new car—the base price may be less than the accessories."

fronton and invest in a home in town. These are my fondest hopes and ambitions and as far as I can see there is nothing in the future to prevent this from materializing."

Did you ever stop to wonder how many thousands of people will pass through Charlevoix this summer and tell themselves how they would love to live here? I know I did before the dream finally came true last October. How happy we will be for Mrs. Picard when she too can finally realize her dream.

George Dean Makes Bid For Seat in Legislature

The following is a statement prepared by George W. Dean to announce his candidacy for State Representative in the newly created 106th district.

George W. Dean of Charlevoix has announced his candidacy for Republican nomination for State Representative in the newly created 106th district.

Dean gives Rte. 3, Charlevoix--at the corner of the Boyne City Rd. and Old U.S. 31--as his address.

THE NEW DISTRICT is comprised of Kalkaska, Antrim, Otsego, Charlevoix and Emmet Counties in the lower peninsula and Mackinac County and the southern section of Chippewa County in the upper peninsula.

A summer resident for 17 years, Mr. Dean has made Charlevoix his home for the past six years.

Delegate to the 1950 State Republican Convention from Charlevoix District, Mr. Dean was 1958 Republican nominee for member of the State Board of Education.

He served on Michigan's Legislative Committee on higher education and the Legislative Committee on taxation. He was jointly invited by the president of the University of Michigan, Michigan State University, and Wayne State University to participate in a conference to promote "Better Minds for Better Politics"; a move to interest college men and women in the affairs of their communities.

HIS CONTRIBUTIONS to the welfare of the working people of the state have been significant. While Commissioner of Labor, 1943 to 1949, he co-authored Michigan's Child Labor Law and sponsored laws requiring that first aid services be provided in all places of employment and all factories which create dust, fumes, or mists be properly ventilated.

In 1955 Mr. Dean was awarded an honorary degree as Doctor of Laws by Central Michigan University in recognition of his successful efforts to better the conditions of the working public, and is listed in the National Who's Who in labor administration.

Born in England, he was graduated from British Board School. Coming to this country as apprentice in steamfitting, his trade experience ranged from steamfitter to Certified Steam Engineer.

Before making Charlevoix his permanent home Mr. Dean and his wife Lillian lived in Lansing and Detroit.

THEY HAVE THREE daughters and one son: Lillian Bergmann, Charlevoix; Lois Peeler, Grosse Pointe Woods; Shirley Teasdale, Inkster; and Samuel Robert, Chevy Chase, Maryland.

Mr. Dean includes among the essential matters requiring constant intelligent attention in the district, the following:

1. The overall economy of the district:
- a. Railroads, Ferry, Mackinac Bridge, Airports.
2. Tourism:
- a. Continuous programmed effort to conserve and improve the natural resources of the district.
- b. Foster, encourage, and institute summer and winter sports programs.

3. Maintain current active connections with the educational programs of the district and encourage programs to bridge the gulf between the school and participation in useful gainful employment of the youth to the district.

4. Examine the need to improve functional relationships between the counties composing the newly re-districted 106.

5. The consolidation of State Agencies as required by the State Constitution.

In Michigan... after a swim, beer is a natural

On a hot summer day, a dip in a cool stream can be wonderfully refreshing. Equally refreshing when you're relaxing afterwards with friends is a hearty glass of beer. There's hardly another beverage around that suits what you do for fun as much as beer. Camping, hiking, or just lounging on a lawn chair—beer brings to each just the right touch of extra good living.

Your familiar glass of beer is also a pleasurable reminder that we live in a land of personal freedom—and that our right to enjoy beer and ale, if we so desire, is just one, but an important one, of those personal freedoms.

Golden Years--Mr. & Mrs. Edward Olach

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Olach, resident of this community since 1918, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at a reception held at St. Mary's school hall Saturday.

More than 150 relatives and friends greeted the couple.

MRS. JOHN A. UHRICK AND Mrs. Charles Hanlin presided at the refreshment table which was centered with a tiered wedding cake and decorated with arrangements of summer flowers.

Earlier in the day, Mr. and Mrs. Olach attended a special Mass at St. Mary's church with the Rev. E. Francis Denay as the celebrant. Their granddaughter, Jeanie Olach of Kalamazoo sang the Mass, playing her own accompaniment.

Joining them were four of their five children and their respective mates and 13 of their 20 grandchildren including Mr. and Mrs. Emil Olach and daughter of San Diego and a second daughter, Susan, of St. Louis, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Clement Olach and five children of Kalamazoo; Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Dorothy) Laurent and five daughters of Flint and Mrs. Edith Stenman and daughter of Charlevoix. Another son, CWO Vincent Olach and his wife and two children are in Grafewohl, Germany, where he is stationed with the U. S. Army.

Mr. and Mrs. Olach were married in Chicago May 24, 1914, however, the anniversary was observed at this time so the majority of their family could attend.

IN THE SPRING of 1918 they came to Charlevoix to make their home, living first on May st. and later operating a farm in Marlon township owned by the late Dr. R. B. Armstrong. They also purchased their own farm in the same area where they lived until returning to their former residence on May st. in the early 1920's. A wagon-maker by trade, Mr. Olach was employed at the former Loeb Farm for a number of years. Prior to coming here he was employed at the McCormick Company in Chicago where he has been employed as a gardener and caretaker. Five years ago he built a new home on Division ave.

Mr. Olach was born in the section of Austria-Hungary now known as Czechoslovakia Sept. 8, 1887, and came to Chicago in 1911.

Mrs. Olach, the former Marie Prekale, was born in the same country July 21, 1895, and came to this country with her father, the late Frank Prekale, in 1910. Her mother and sister joined them here in 1913.

They are members of St. Mary's church. Mrs. Olach is also a member of the Auxiliary of the Charlevoix V. F. W. Post No. 1153.

Double Ring Rites Unite Ruth Riley - Robt. Chapman

Ruth Ann Riley became the bride of Lt. Robert Walter Chapman July 11 in a wedding ceremony performed by Rev. Jack Harris at the First Baptist church of Charlevoix.

The new Mrs. Chapman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford G. Riley of Charlevoix. Lt. Chapman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Verner W. Chapman of Oak Park, Michigan.

THE ALTAR FOR the double ring rites was decorated with white gladioli and candelabra with bows and daisy pom-poms on the pews.

Mrs. David Bens played traditional wedding music as the bride was given in marriage by her father, Ken Bens sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride wore a floor length white silk linen dress, with a bolero jacket accented with a tiny bow, a princess line skirt and a full chapel train. Her flowers were a cascade bouquet of white orchids and white roses.

Matron of Honor was Mrs. Gary Spencer, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Joan Riley and Gayle Riley, both sisters of the bride.

GERALD WING OF Danville, Mich., was best man. Ushers were David Chapman and John Chapman, brothers of the groom, Bernard Balluski, Jr. of Kalamazoo and Dennis Lohrey of Wauwasau, Wis.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the Pine River Room of the Weatherman Inn with the parents as hosts. Assisting the hosts were Judy Harvey of Royal Oak, Judy Platz of Pontiac, Miriam McMillan of St. Ignace and Mary Colgrove of Tecumseh.

The newlyweds took a two week wedding trip through the west before arriving at their Novato, Calif., home. The new Mrs. Chapman is a graduate of Michigan State University.

That Word in Anger...

You spoke it loudly and without concern, but did it solve any problems for you? You told him off, but did you get the order? Sure, relief at the time may seem sweet and bear up your own ego, but soon a dirty, gray regret sets in.

Count ten??? Ah, you'd better count to a hundred or more and, by so doing, have a word fitly spoken. God said, "Be not hasty in thy spirit to be angry: for anger resteth in the bosom of fools." Eccl. 7:9. Angry words can't be called back. One can't unsay them. The damage they do may be irreparable. Want to quit your foolishness? Then, seek out righteous men for your companions and ask God to help stay your tongue for, "He that is soon angry dealeth foolishly."

Camp Charlevoix Corral Chatter

By KEN SMITH

The third week of camp started off with more trips leaving camp. Trips play an important part of camping as they are a perfect training ground for a boy to learn how to care for himself in the wide open spaces. Jerry Flora took his cabin 21, our oldest boys down the lake on a sailing trip to Youngs State Park. These boys were John Martin, Terry Banis, Mike Rittoff, Tom Hoyt and Bruce Douglas.

CABIN 8, with Ace Hoyt as the leader, took a truck trip also down to Youngs State Park. These boys were: Kirk Kirlin, George Lackey, Skip Sales, Dick Schultz, David Scherer, Sandy Lange, and Ted Schollenberger.

Another trip to leave camp was a horseback trip with Wes Murn taking his group up to Bay Shore. These boys were: George Boomer, Doug Ladney, Howard Zilsman, Keith Smittle, and Chip Ironside.

In the evening, the "Mugwump" was hidden and the entire camp sent out to find it, the team finding it has the opportunity to run it for Green-Grey points. After much searching and the woods filled with boys, the Greys found it and had the opportunity to run it.

On Tuesday, the entire Junior Section took off by truck for Youngs State Park. The four counselors and the three Assistant Counselors had the twenty-eight boys well in tow when they left the camp. The boys were:

IN THE AFTERNOON, two more trips left camp, Greg Demarest took his cabin on a horseback trip to Bay Shore. The boys on this trip were Tom Lasky, Rick Gillett, Craig Gillispie, Blck Huber, and Tighe Magnusen.

A canoe trip left camp, going down the shore of the lake to Youngs State Park. This was Joe Novak's cabin with Marsh Moser as Assistant Counselor. These boys were Stuart Waterson, Steve Armstrong, Bill Gardner, Geb Bushnell, and Rick Osburn.

This was the first day for the Greys to run the Mugwump and that they did just before lunch. However, as they were challenged successfully at dinner and as one half of the Grey team did not know where it was hidden, the Mugwump was turned over to the Greens.

Wednesday morning dawned bright and sunny after a terrific storm the night before. In fact, we had to go after our overnight trips that were out and Julie Smith, who is head of the dining room, had toast and hot chocolate ready for the boys when they returned.

On Wednesday, two trips left camp, Jerry Lehr took his boys to Youngs State Park as did Carl Brown. The boys on this overnight trip were: Jeff Nyland, John Park, Harold Siegel, Ben Hudson, Steve Orr, Tom Rotz, Mark Murnin, Art McKenny, Robin Holerman, and Brad Corbin.

IN THE EVENING, we had our first skit night with several of the Senior Cabins putting on skits. These are a lot of fun, as both the performers and the audience enjoy themselves. Cabin 21, Jerry Flora's boys put on an old time Melodrama with Bruce Douglas as the piano, Terry Banis as the villain and John Martin as the hero. Mike Rittoff was the heroine. It was very funny. Cabin 20, with Gary Nagle as the leader, put on a version of our Mugwump Run. Jon Steffensen's cabin 19 put on a skit patterned after the Republican Convention. It was very well done with Ernie Kelly as the leader. These boys were: John Amberg, Jim Warner was Margaret Chase Smith, Reeves Logan, and Fred Pennington. John Howard's group, Cabin 16, put on a Camp Charlevoix Opening Council Fire that was a riot. Everyone enjoyed this skit, especially Ken Smith, who could see himself as others see him. It was a very enjoyable evening.

The booth that took in the most tickets was Cabin 1 with its dart game. These boys were: Greg Mast, Jim Schollenberger, Dan Scherer, Russell Long, and Van Martin. There were several very clever booths, among them were Cabin 4's booth with Delserone as the counselor. It was a House of Freaks and the boys sure did a great job. The cabin that had the most original booth was Cabin 16, Jon Howard's boys. It was a sailing regatta in which the little boats were blown by given each year to the first 50 a person around the course. It was a lot of fun and these boys were: Roy Feldman, whose idea it was, Mark Holdorman, Matt Doe, Roy Parry, and Robert Smith. At 5 p.m. the Carnival was over, and by supper time, the camp was all cleaned up, everything was put away and we were once more back to normal.

In the evening, the entire camp met in the Bigwam for a movie. It was Jerry Lewis in "The Nutty Professor." Everyone enjoyed this.

Jon Steffensen was the speaker at our chapel service held in the outdoor chapel. He spoke on "Humility" and this was one of the better talks of the summer. We had several guests (parents) at the service and they were most complimentary of the camp.

IN THE AFTERNOON we had the Mile Swim which is a most important event as many enter and many finish. The course is along the shore up the lake for one half mile and back again. All the camp boats were used, staff located all along the course to help boys who have to drop out. It is quite a sight to see these boys all swimming across. The lone Junior to finish the swim was Tommy Smith of Lansing. The best time was made by Jim Todd, of Kalamazoo, closely followed by an Intermediate, Teddy Herrlinger of Dayton, Ohio. When the final tally was made the Greens picked up two points to the Greys.

In the evening we were hosts to Camp Chippewa Trail at a dance for our Senior Boys and Van Martin. There were several very clever booths, among them were Cabin 4's booth with Delserone as the counselor. It was a House of Freaks and the boys sure did a great job. The cabin that had the most original booth was Cabin 16, Jon Howard's boys. It was a sailing regatta in which the little boats were blown by given each year to the first 50 a person around the course. It was a lot of fun and these boys were: Roy Feldman, whose idea

Friday morning dawned beautiful and sunny and at 6:30 a.m. the boys going to Mackinac Island were awakened and breakfast was at 6:30. This trip is the oldest and Ken takes two groups to the Island each summer, 25 in each group. The boys on this trip were: Bill Gardner, Jim Warner, Teddy Herrlinger, Geb Bushnell, Eric Jensen, Steve Gardner, Gary Blumberg, John Colo, Doug Laing, John Amberg, George Steinhart, Steve Armstrong, Rick and Charles Osborn, Mark Herschede, Skip Sales, Tom Rolz, Artie and Dick Schultz, George Lackey, Stuart Waterson, Steve Amberg, Chuck Gardella, and Bob Smith.

In the evening the Intermediate Section had a Scavenger Hunt which the Greys won.

SATURDAY MORNING there was much hustling and bustling around camp as it was Carnival day and each cabin spent the morning preparing its booth. Tables were set up on the Clubhouse porch for painting signs, prizes, tickets, and costumes were at the Smith Cabin with Ruby busy as could be. Mike Rittoff was chairman of the affair assisted by "Reb" Thompson. You never saw so much activity. Cars began to arrive about 2:30 and at the opening bell at 3 p.m., everything was ready and the Carnival started. We had a fine group of parents present and the booths were clever and very well done. The C. I. T.'s. The club house was decorated with Christmas Tree Lights, a refreshment table was set up with candles and flowers, and a grand time was had by all. Terry Banis, a camper from Chicago, played the drums along with Assistant Counselor Dave Roberts on the piano, and the girls loved it. The rest of the camp had their Vesper Service. Jonathan Howard spoke to the Senior Vespers using Robert Frost as his subject.

More next week . . .

THE OLD TIMER

Following the supper hour, prayer bands were held. Evening Vespers were held at 7:30 p.m. in the tabernacle, with Rev. George Majors, as speaker. Mrs. James Shanks was the Choir director and in charge of special music at the Vesper service.

47 Attend Church Camp

By Mrs. Thomas Maxwell
The Church of God Youth Camp was held last week at the campground site, Loeb School Rd., with 47 campers and 10 counselors attending. Rev. Donald Smith of Alpena was director.

Throughout the morning, conference session were held, under the direction of Rev. Wayne Lyon, Rev. James Shanks and Mrs. R. Behnke.

ONE OF THE highlights of this year's camp was Sword time, when the youth studied the Bible and then were asked questions. Mrs. Donald Smith was in charge of Sword time and Camp Inspection.

Ellsworth Girl Wins Scholarship

ELLSWORTH - Ruth Vandenberg, a 1964 Ellsworth High School graduate, is one of 11 girls to win 1964 Michigan Blue Cross nursing scholarships of $300 each.

Miss Vandenberg won out in a field of 610 contestants from throughout the state.

THE 14TH ANNUAL Blue Cross competition, open to all high school seniors in Michigan, was conducted and the winners were chosen by the scholarship committee of the Michigan League for Nursing. The league is the state-wide recruiting and education agency for the nursing profession, with headquarters in Detroit.

Individual check of $300 each will be sent in the winner's name to their chosen schools of nursing.

Miss Vandenberg was chosen because of her high scholastic ratings, aptitude for the nursing profession and work in important extra curricular activities.

The Nursing League said that in addition to the written application, consideration was given to the high school principal's report.

Miss Gertrude E. Nalhe, president of the Michigan League for Nursing said, "It is becoming increasingly difficult each year to select winners. Interest has grown in the scholarship contest and the quality of the applicant has stayed at a very high level."

BLUE CROSS STARTED the annual program of scholarships in 1951. This leadership has encouraged other organizations to offer similar scholarships to deserving young people.

A Blue Cross spokesman said that for the entire 14 year period, the cost of the scholarships was less than one cent for each of the 3 1/2 million Blue Cross members.

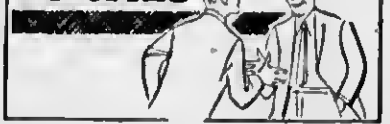

Win Prizes

Bruce Withers reports Gary Stutzman, Kathie Driggers and Mark Shapton were winners in the A&W Drive-In's 5th Anniversary celebration.

Trailer Ok'd

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kane have received permission from the city to live in a trailer on the corner of Lake and Huron St. owned by George Sharrow. They reportedly will construct a 26 by 38 foot block home on the property while living in the trailer. Cost of the home is estimated at $3,000 on the city building permit.

LOCALS

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dixon and two children returned Friday to their home in Quincy, Ill., following a two weeks visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Dixon.

Mrs. Paul Michels and children of Kalamazoo are spending this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Bergmann. They visited last week in Cheboygan.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vileau of Cheboygan visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gibson and other friends.

Susan Olach of St. Louis, Mo., is visiting at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Olach, for several weeks. She will return home next month with her mother, Mrs. Marie Olach, who will come here late this month from St. Louis for a visit.

Religion Takes Shape of People it Fills

Lift for Living

By Rev. Harold E. Kohn
Lately I have spent considerable time near the beaches of one of America's largest inland bodies of water, Lake Michigan. These grassy bluffs of Michigan's western shore seem meant for a musings-man. Lonely stretches of beach, dappled with sun and shadow, are drenched with a great quietness. One spot in particular is a serene and spacious place where bright and clear beneath me some hundred yards away magnificent Lake Michigan stretches wide its blue and emerald waters from the pale dune beaches of Indiana and Illinois to the rolling Straits of Mackinac, from the mist-haunted bays of Michigan to Wisconsin's balsam-shaded shores.

I suspect that the peacefulness of this place has something to do with the immensities spread in extravagant abundance here. The bright sky is wide and high. The waters are lavish and inexhaustible. Nature's generosity with space and sky and water are impressive here. Nothing is cramped, stinging, mean, or small. Everything is liberal, especially the wide sky and the vast waters, reminding the visitor of the infinity of time rolling back to the eternity that lies behind today's dawn and the eternity reaching far out beyond tonight's sunset.

SEEING THE GREAT lake always gives me a fresh perspective. Its very bigness, shames human littleness. A look at the lake adjusts one's feelings of self-importance; its waters could swallow the most conceited fellow and hardly interrupt the murmur of a wave. This lake view is good for one's anxiety. By contrast it makes most big worries seem trivial. And an hour on this bluff is good for one's religion, for it's hard to be thoughtful here and remain religiously bigoted. In such a place one is reminded that no one man or no one church or denomination can know all about a great God any more than any one person from any particular shore can see all of Lake Michigan. The biggest things in life are too great to be entirely grasped or contained by one person, one group, or one institution.

Religion is a little like the mighty lake that washes and rinses our shores. Lake Michigan possesses awesome, blue-green depths and bright, clear, amber shallows. These great waters welcome to the greatest ships and where the largest vessels can safely ride. Other bays are narrow, pinched and stingy, or shallow, marshy and trivial. But the same Lake Michigan fills the greatest depths and the thinnest shallows and all the bays, big and small. How much less interesting Lake Michigan would be if it simply were a mighty saucepan, all the same depth, or if all the bays were just alike, as if cut by the same vast cookie-cutter.

SO RELIGION TAKES the shape of the people it fills. Why should we demand of our acquaintances and friends that they conform to our particular pattern of religious thinking? Why should Christians insist that all churches worship according to the same ritual and adopt the same formal creeds if they are to be recognized as Christian churches? No one man or woman among us is God; we can but contain God, and then only a little of God. No single church or denomination is God, but each is a bay-like receptacle, receiving some of God.

This does not mean that "one church is as good as another."

any more than all bays of our neighboring lake are of equal value. Rather we mean that we need to develop a capacity for appreciating God wherever He appears, as we recognize Lake Michigan no matter how big or little the bay.

Marina Sues Contractor

Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Miller, owners of Miller's Marina, Boyne City, have started suit against Cheboygan Construction Co.

The Millers claim Cheboygan Construction Co. should pay them $25,000, due to alleged faulty construction and materials the contracting firm used in building a 110 foot by 113 foot steel building for the marina.

FREDERICK R. HUBBELL, Petoskey, attorney for the Millers, claims the building collapsed in January of 1962.

The construction company had not filed an answer to the suit in Charlevoix County Circuit Court Friday.

YOU MAY BE LOSING MONEY BY PAYING LESS

There are many cars that cost almost as much as a Cadillac. But it is a matter of fact that the decision to buy one of them could be a false economy.

Consider the major items included in the basic price of a Cadillac that are usually extra on other cars: automatic transmission, high-performance engine, power steering, power brakes, automatic cornering lights, and power windows on most models.

Then think of what a new Cadillac can save you on operation and maintenance. Cadillac is actually the rival of much smaller, lighter cars in gasoline efficiency —and it is so soundly built that it has reduced upkeep expense to the practical minimum.

You're ahead again—every mile you drive.

Finally, reflect on Cadillac's historically high trade-in value. No car at or near its price preserves so much of its owner's original investment through the years.

So add it all up. You'll see what most owners mean when they say you don't spend more for a Cadillac. You just invest a little more—and get a lot more back.

If a Cadillac has long been in your plans, visit your dealer and get all the dollars-and-cents facts.

EDITOR'S NOTES

Confusion Rampant in Charlevoix's New Senate, House District Races

This fall's elections will unquestionably be the most confusing in Michigan's 127 year experiment with self-government.

Only one faction in the state seems to be consistent. That is the voters. Michigan citizens adopted a new constitution and, on their part, have not changed their minds.

HOWEVER, THE DECISION made by voters seems to carry very little weight with the State Supreme Court, or top echelon in the Democrat party.

After months of brashly denouncing the public's desire to apportion state legislative districts on an 80% people 20% land formula, top wheels in the Democrat party last week boldly cast aside the new constitution to set up their own House and Senate districts.

At the moment the confusion is probably more damaging than the fact that Charlevoix and the rest of the north country is literally left without a fighting chance in Lansing.

The new decision is the second to be officially adopted by the state in 1964. The first was settled on only a few weeks ago.

It came after months of indecision and political wrangling as Democrats delayed efforts to establish districts according to the formula adopted by voters in approving the new constitution.

BEFORE VOTERS HAD A reasonable chance to become acquainted with the first redistricting plan, the State Supreme Court last week ordered it thrown out and set up new boundary lines.

Now Gov. George Romney has declared he will fight the new decision in an effort to preserve some semblance of representation for the north. So the new districts may be changed again before election time.

Confusion abounds! For Charlevoix, the new districting plan means we have become a part of the Upper Peninsula in both our House of Representatives district and Senate District.

INSTEAD OF $107,896 people in our Senate District (district number 37) we now have 205,959. This gives us almost exactly half as much say in the Senate.

In Charlevoix's House district (district number 106) there are now 72,792 people, compared to 58,961 a few weeks ago.

Counties in the new Senate district are Charlevoix, Antrim, Otsego, Montmorency, Alpena, Presque Isle, Cheboygan, Emmet, Mackinac, Chippewa, Luce, Schoolcraft, Alger and Delta. The last six being in the UP.

The Senate district adopted several weeks ago, but now discarded, included Emmet, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Presque Isle, Antrim, Otsego, Montmorency, Alpena. All of these are in the Lower Peninsula.

OUR NEW HOUSE DISTRICT consists of Charlevoix, Antrim, Otsego, Emmet, part of Kalkaska, Mackinac and part of Chippewa. The last two being in the UP.

The House district ordered erased by the Supreme Court last week was made up of the seven Lower Peninsula counties of Charlevoix, Emmet, Cheboygan, Otsego, Montmorency and Presque Isle.

The brunt of the difficulty caused by the hodge-podge district boundaries will be borne by candidates and newspapermen.

Candidates for the Charlevoix Senate and House district seats will find it literally impossible to effectively deliver their message to voters. Campaigns will have to be extremely well financed and organized if a candidate hopes to travel to even most of the corners of the new district. This is further complicated by the Strails.

A CANDIDATE FROM a far flung nook in the UP will hardly be in close contact with the Charlevoix Courier, or Antrim County News. This holds equally true for a candidate from Montmorency County trying to establish relations with newspapers in Luce County in the UP.

There are 26 newspapers in the districts. For any of them to fully cover all candidates in the House and Senate campaign would require a reporter who does nothing else... and then it is doubtful one man, with limited travel expenses, could do the job justice.

However, there isn't a newspaper among the bunch—including the two biggest (dailies at Alpena and Sault Ste. Marie)—who can afford to hire a new man just to cover the campaign.

Which means editors are destined to be confused, newspaper readers (that's voters) will be slighted from getting complete coverage of these all-important races and the results on election day.

The Bloopers league provided a lot of excitement during the week as we'll run down what happened at that circuit first. League leaders Consumers used carbon paper to duplicate twin wins in their final time at bat. Against Holm and Crain (they call themselves the Wrecks), they trailed by two runs with only three outs separating them from their first defeat of the year. So they promptly scored twice settling the stage for Don Langschwager to single home Jim Lewis with the big run in their 13-12 win.

Against Boyne City they set the same scene, trailing going into the final frame. This time Langschwager singled again only his time this time single scored he tying run and Don Demoor with the winning nicker.

IN THE OTHER league contest, Novak's made it no contest with the boys in green from Ken's Lodge Service as they walked away with a 11-3 win. Bob Biggs and Jim McCallum wacked round-rippers while Ken Empey's three base hits failed to arouse his teammates.

PEANUT LEAGUE

In the rain-shortened schedule in the Peanut League the Cards racked up twin wins, outlasting the Pirates 11-10 and blasting the Dodgers 16-6. Cardinal Bob DePue's homer in the sixth didn't seem too important at the moment, especially with the Cards leading by five runs, however, when the smoke had cleared after the Pirate 5 run seventh it proved to be very important in the one run margin of victory.

In the Dodger game they had a easy all the way as they scored a all but one inning. Carl Novak and three hits for the winners while Tim Dean homered and singled for the losers.

THE BRAVES PINNED an upset in the Cubs, practically smashing any hopes they had of winning the first round. The Winners scored single runs in the sixth and seventh innings to snatch the win 7-5. Jim Warner came in to pitch the third inning and allowed only two runs the rest of the way for the Braves.

Lady Golfers Join Tourney

Though there were only a limited number of entries in the first women's golf tournament at the municipal course, pairings have been held and the tourney will be played off as scheduled according to Keith Carey, course manager.

In the championship flight, Mrs. Robert Livingston will meet Mrs. John Swanson.

THE FIRST FLIGHT will find Mrs. Robert Withers meeting Mrs. Warren Shapton with the winning taking on Mrs. Perry Smith, who drew a bye, for the title.

Mrs. Charles Bleha will play Mrs. Homer Brady and Mrs. Lyle King will take on Mrs. Stanley Fiedorek in the third flight.

In the third flight, Nancy Carey will meet Marcee Wallace with the winning playing Mrs. Robert Wallace who drew a first round bye.

PEW WEE LEAGUE

In the afternoon league for eight and nine year olds the Comets scored two times to edge the Jets 8-7. The game was preceded with a short clinic and demonstration on the finer parts of softball.

The Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix, ALMA M. LOEWENSTEIN, Deceased, # 6354

At a session of said Court, held at the Probate Office in the City of Charlevoix, Charlevoix County, Michigan, on the 13th day of July, 1964.

Present, Honorable John Makel, Judge of Probate.

Notice is hereby given, That the petition of Richard M. Loewenstein praying that an instrument, duly admitted to probate in the State of Illinois be admitted to probate and recorded in Michigan and that administration of said estate be granted to Robert G. Howlett or some other suitable person, and that the heirs of said deceased be determined, will be heard at the Probate Court on August 7, 1964, at 10:00 a. m.

It is Ordered, that notice thereof be given by publication of a copy hereof for three (3) weeks consecutively previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, and that the petitioner cause a copy of this notice to be served upon each known party in interest at his last known address by registered or certified mail, or by personal service, at least fourteen (14) days prior to such hearing.

City Offers Wide Range Of Programs

All attendance records have been broken in the city-sponsored recreation program according to figures released by director Dean Davenport.

The popular Red Cross swimming program has attracted over 250 youngsters this year, which has made it necessary to conduct a post swimming session in August. Those interested should sign up now.

THERE IS ALSO a chance that if enough interest is shown an adult beginners class will be conducted in the mornings in August. Those interested should sign up now.

The largest number of youngsters are in the beginners and advance beginner groups with a smaller class in both the intermediate and swimmer sessions. Gary Smith and Joel Arvilla are instructing in daily sessions at the Depot Beach.

The newly installed city golf school has proven to be very popular with five daily classes weekend in all six flights with a few players starting their first round of match play.

IN THE CHAMPIONSHIP flight, where Bob Livingston is the defending champion, Jim Annis defeated Homer Brady 1 up to go against Bruce Henley who had a first round bye in the draw-ins.

In the first flight, Chick Gallagher defeated Grover Genett 6-4 to go against Wayne Bel-tel.

Other pairs follow: Bob McCall vs Don Meggison; Art Kru-luk vs John Swanson-by; Charles J. Jela vs Bob Anderson; Lyle Miles defeated John Ferguson 5-3 in the first round to take on Peter Ance who had a first round bye. Fiedorek is the defending champion in this flight.

IN THE SECOND flight where Bob VanSchoon is the defending champion, Del Terrill trimmed Howard Struthers 3-2 in the opening round; Ken Balch was paired with Bob Miller; Bob Bergmann defeated Jim Ulrich 1-up in the first round; Norm Heis drew a bye; Des Milligan defeated Bruce Livingston 3-2; George Driggett will play Warren Belding; Carl Mitchell will play Hal Hill; Fritz Puffpuff defeated Al Thor 3-2.

Pairings in the third flight where Dave Fowler is the defending champion are as follows: Paul Sanket-by; Jerry Burke vs Bill Carey; Fowler vs Ralph Hess; Bill Supernaw vs Pete Timmer; Carl Ikens defeated Jim Smith on the 19th hole; Allan Sheppard vs Jim Lewis; Chip Terrill vs Joe Liston; Jess Penn vs. Tom Basham.

Participants may play their rounds at their convenience. However, they are expected to play a match a week, Mr. Carey said.

No Federal Aid Available Now

City Councilmen were told Monday the Federal Govt. has no funds available to authorize a grant of $94,000 to Charlevoix for water line extensions.

COUNCILMEN SOUGHT the matching funds for a $180,000 project to increase city water service.

The government, however, said Charlevoix's request will be reconsidered when Congress makes additional appropriations.

Fitting Cattle

By ED REBMAN
Extension Director
BOYNE CITY - Fitting your dairy animal for the county or state show judge is an important part of the 4-H dairy project.

Most dairy animals need about 6 to 8 weeks of special attention to get in good condition for the show. The time to begin fitting animals is now!

GIVE YOUR ANIMAL a good bath at the start of the fitting period. This will remove dirt, dandruff and loose hair from the coat and make daily grooming easier. Using a mild soap and lukewarm water, scrub the animal thoroughly and rinse with warm water. Don't wash too often as it will remove the natural oil and leave hair and skin dry and coarse.

Club members should then blanket their animals. This makes hair lie down, helps hold the natural oil to the hair coat, helps soften the hide, and protects animals from dirt and flies. A blanket made from burlap lined with wool cloth is just as effective as a purchased one.

Animals should be brushed thoroughly each day, he says. Besides removing dead hair and dirt from the hide, it also stimulates circulation and brings out the natural oil of the skin. If you need a curry comb, use a rubber one.

Properly cared for hoofs is essential to good showing. Trim the feet at the start of the fitting period. Toes should be shortened with either a hoof nipper or a wood chisel. Trim the bottom of the hoof so the animal is walking on the walls and hard portion of the hoof and not the pad. Using a rasp or file, shape the hoof for a neat appearance. A piece of glass or wood scraper are good instruments in cleaning the exterior portions of the hoof.

If your animal has horns, they should be trained and polished for the show. However, many members dehorn their animals and this is preferred in many shows.

While clipping is not a substitute for good grooming, proper clipping does improve the general appearance of an animal. To be a good barber, 4-Hers need experience. It's a good idea to practice on another animal before clipping the 4-H project. Consult your 4-H Club Manual for directions.

Visitors at the North Point home of Mrs. Fred Kaunitz have been Mrs. William Pletscher and children Kay, Mark, Linda and Kathryn of Bad Axe, Mr. Pletscher, who is superintendent of schools at Bad Axe in the Michigan thumb, will join his wife and children later.

Comment Fact Opinion

St. Mary's Church is Proud Accomplishment

ST. MARY'S CATHOLIC Church this week rates a salute from Charlevoix citizens of all organized religious denominations and those who practice their faith as individuals.

St. Mary's beautiful new church is certainly a worthwhile addition to all of Charlevoix. The simple lines and gracious, but quiet appointments of the church blend well with Charlevoix's awesome natural beauty.

THE NEW CHURCH is also a monument to the dedication and hard work of the 600 parishioners at St. Mary's. Most of these families dug down deep to pledge their share toward its construction. For many of the local families who contributed several hundred dollars, the giving was considerably harder than for others who gave several thousand.

For some construction of the new church required taking extra jobs if they were going to give the amount they wanted to. For almost all it meant many sacrifices of personal pleasures.

But even more important, it is an ever-present symbol of faith. Without this faith St. Mary's parishioners would never have stuck through the trying times of raising $130,000.

Fr. E. Francis Denay is also to be thanked for his contribution in leading the parish through its rebuilding program, starting with the school and now concluding with the new church.

We Can Dump our Dumps With County-Wide Incinerator Plan

BOYNE CITY MANAGER James Anthon's proposal that steps be taken immediately to investigate the possibility of an incinerator to replace Charlevoix County dumps warrants wholehearted support from all three cities in the county.

City officials are prone to tell us they no longer have "dumps." They prefer to call their dumps "sanitary landfills." But at best a sanitary landfill is still a dump... whether it meets the legal definitions of being a sanitary dump or not. A dump is a dump when it is in your backyard.

WE DO NOT ARGUE WITH city fathers for maintaining their dumps. Waste materials must be disposed of somewhere, so until a better solution came along they were obligated to provide dumping space for citizens.

However, experience of other communities leaves no doubt in our minds but what an incinerator is much preferable to a dump.

Of course, the immediate argument is cost. However, no one has a legitimate point on this score until the costs are investigated.

We have heard suggestions that an incinerator would cost as much as $25,000 a year to operate. This, we feel quite confident, is an exaggerated figure.

Beach Litter Frightens Mom

THE MOTHER OF TWO pre-school age children tells us she takes her children to Charlevoix's beaches only with the greatest of apprehension. It isn't drowning she fears. This young mother's regard is over the glass, cans and other debris that litters the beaches.

Even the public bathing beaches pose this threat to young (and old) feet. A piece of broken beer bottle glass, buried under a foot or more of sand when cleanup crews go through, can be found by busy youngsters crawling or scrambling in unsuspecting glee.

BUT MORE DISGUSTING and dangerous than the developed beaches are the long strips of semi-wild sand shore along Lake Michigan. These are literally unpolluted and littered with tons of glass, cans, etc.

The answer appears to be rather simple, but unfortunately not easy. Charlevoix civic organizations could get our beaches cleaned up if they would band together to organize a massive weekend police call.

Once the beaches were picked up, an education program, using signs and pictures posted along the beaches, might save this mother and many others, moments of tension.

By FRAN MARTIN

Here we go again...this time it's... political conventions...As you read this the Republican convention may be over...Because from where I've been sitting it looks as tho' it's pretty much set...

But in politics, as in baseball (if you saw the All-Star game last week) anything can happen...Made a little wager with my boss, an avowed Goldwater man, so I've more than a little interest in the convention...He tried to talk me into a second one but it was like taking candy from a kid so I wouldn't accept his offer...

BUT ALL KIDDING aside, the political conventions are really something, to my way of thinking...I used to think they were dull but after the last two I'll never say that again...

Only in this country could such a convention be held, no matter which party you prefer...and I think you learn a lot by watching them, even if they do get dull now and then...Take a look and listen to the present one (if it's still on) and to the Democratic convention that's coming up...and just see if you don't learn something from it...And if you're a regular TV viewer you're going to watch them 'cause that's all that's on...

We ran into this interesting bit not long ago...Ed Vteau has been an employee of the Michigan State Highway Department for 28 years...and only recently got a job in his hometown, Cheboygan...Seems that for years he was mate on one of the old carteries that once carted traffic across the Straits of Mackinac...remember those days? Then, when the ferries were decommissioned, he was sent to Spring Lake near Muskegon as a bridge operator...In December '58 he moved here a little closer to home...and then came a vacancy in Cheboygan and he made it home...in time to retire...That isn't quite true but after 28 years it seems as tho' he's been around long enough to retire...So to friend Ed happy swingin' til it's time to retire...

And speaking of the All-Star game as I did a couple paragraphs ago, I'm not much of a baseball fan...I just find the game rather dull...But I did turn the game on in the seventh inning, only to find my beloved National League trailing...But not for long...When the chips were down they came through with a last minute play that saved the game for the Nationals and sent the fans home happy...unless, of course they happened to prefer the American League...

NOW FOOTBALL, that's something else...I'm counting the days til the All-Star game in Chicago next month...and then the days til the season open...

But between now and then there are many things right here that are of interest...like the Venetian Weekend with the parade on Saturday night instead of Sunday as it's always been in the past...So if you've someone from away who's had to leave this early Sunday and miss the parade, this is the year...I think it's a terrific idea...and to my way of thinking should bring a lot more people to town for the entire weekend than in the past...

One of the prettiest sights we've seen, and we hope you haven't missed it, is the rose-covered fence up from US 31 South at the John Fratrik home...if you haven't seen it take a look-see up on the little hill to your left as you're traveling South...

Understand the Fratriks had quite a nerve-shattering experience during the recent hall storm...When their big window literally exploded, splintering the glass and driving it into the floor and paneled walls...

A COUPLE WEEKS ago I mentioned the demise of our old black squirrel...But we are not without black squirrels for a couple of his progeny have taken up where he left off...I'll bet they're the best fed squirrels in the north country...everyone puts food out for them, I swear...and are they choosy little so-and-sos...But they're heads of fun to watch and everyone's enjoying them...They must have decided war on the red squirrels because I have not seen a one since these little black ones moved into the neighborhood...

Isn't it good to see the Sundew coming and going again...Only one trouble...it doesn't stay long enough...But after three weeks in the yards for the annual over-haul plus a week at rifle range, there's lots of catching up to do...What with buoys to be checked, lights to be refueled and all the myriad of other chores...The Coast Guard's work is never done...or so it seems...

In last week's issue of the Courier, there was a story and picture about the recent Wolverine Boy's State...I'd like to toss my bouquet to the kids from this area, including our own twosomes, Don Smith and Melvin Matchett...Always before the youngsters from the downstate areas had everything their way...But this year things were different...The youngsters from the northern counties organized for the first time...And ended up with the governorship and a number of other top offices...with our youngsters having jobs in the "administration"...Perhaps a few political organizations we know, including a major political party on a national scale, could take a few lessons from these youngsters...

MET THE NICEST guy recently...Harry Huffaker who's going to give the English channel another try...and swim Lake Charlevoix, among other lakes, to get in shape...A soft-spoken young man, he was and is confident without being cocky...He's in great physical condition and I wouldn't be a bit surprised if he made it...It's the type of thing that appeals to the young and they have a way of coming through with something they really want...

THE GRIFFON, THE first sailing vessel on the upper Great Lakes is shown visiting St. Ignace in this painting by Robert A. Thom for Michigan Bell Telephone Co. The Griffon disappeared in 1679 and no trace of it was ever found.

Loss of Griffon Still A Puzzle to Historians

Fourth of a Series

One of the great mysteries of the Great Lakes is the disappearance of the "Griffon," the first sailing vessel on the upper lakes.

The Griffon, which left Green Bay with a cargo of furs, disappeared in 1679 on the return trip of her maiden voyage. No trace was ever found of the vessel. Indians claimed she sailed into a violent Lake Michigan storm and was lost. Her builder believed the pilot scuttled the ship after removing the valuable cargo. Still another theory is that Indians lured the crew ashore, murdered them, looted the ship, and then set it afire.

THE GRIFFON WAS built by Robert Caveller, Sieur de La Salle, who had hoped to find a waterway across North America.

LaSalle had shared a profitable fur trade with Louis deBuade, Count Frontenac, who became governor of Canada in 1672. In 1677, LaSalle won permission from the King of France to explore, build forts, and carry on trade in the vast Mississippi Valley.

He decided to build a sailing vessel to carry furs. A party of 30 men built a shipyard above Niagara Falls where the Cayuga Creek flows into the Niagara River.

THE BUILDERS FELLED white oaks, and whipsawed them into planks. Other oaks were shaped by adz and broadaxe into timbers, keel, and ribs.

A severe winter and a scarcity of food hampered construction.

Distressed by word that a ship-carrying equipment for his vessel had been wrecked, LaSalle returned to Lower Canada. There he learned of rumors doubting the success of his project. Creditors had seized much of his property.

LaSalle had left the shipyard in charge of Henri de Tonty, an Italian officer who had been recommended to him during his sojourn to France. Tonty became LaSalle's most trusted aide.

AS SOON AS THE ship would float, it was launched to protect it from threats of burning by neighboring Iroquois who looked with suspicion on the project. The vessel, which could carry 45 tons, had two masts rigged with square sails, and was armed with five cannon.

The vessel waited LaSalle's return. On Aug. 7, 1679, with all sails set and 12 men ashore straining at cables to overcome the Niagara's current, the Griffon proudly entered Lake Erie.

She sailed across Lake Erie and entered the Lake Fr. Louis Hennepin named Sainte Claire.

Fr. Hennepin wrote: "The banks of the Straight (Detroit River) are vast meadows, and the Prospect is terminated with some hills covered with vineyards, Trees bearing good Fruit, Groves and Forests, so well disposed, that one would think Nature alone could not have made, without the help of Art, so charming a Prospect."

AT THE HEAD OF THE St. Clair River, it again took men ashore struggling with cables to warp the Griffon into Lake Huron against the current. The ship hugged the Michigan shore northward.

At St. Ignace, LaSalle found four of his men who had been sent ahead to gather furs. Six others had deserted. He ordered Tonty to Sault Ste. Marie to apprehend them and join him at the southern end of Lake Michigan.

The Griffon passed the Straits and anchored at Washington Island in the mouth of Green Bay. There a quantity of furs was loaded aboard the ship. On Sept. 18, the Griffon started her return journey to the Niagara River.

LASALLE'S PARTY paddled canoes along Lake Michigan's western shore. On the site of St. Joseph, LaSalle built a fort which he named Miami.

LaSalle and Fr. Hennepin left on separate exploring expeditions. Near Peoria (Illinois), LaSalle built Fort Crevecoeur. Worried by a lack of news about the Griffon, he returned to Fort Miami where there was still no news. Deciding the Griffon was lost, LaSalle crossed southern Michigan in 1680 and canoed to Fort Frontenac.

There, he made new arrangements. Fr. Hennepin returned to France, where in 1683 he published the first of two books about the new land.

Nothing ever was heard of the Griffon. From time to time, the wreck of an old wooden ship has been hopefully but not positively identified as the lost Griffon.

ON MARCH 18, 1699, LaSalle was assassinated by two of his men, ending the dream of a prosperous colony over which he would preside.

Dear Editor:
Opposition to the Civil Rights Bill is a moral issue.
It is morally wrong to take away the rights of ALL citizens of the United States under the pretext of giving 10% of the population rights that they already possess, and rights that the States can handle very well if left to govern such conditions in their States.

Council Mum 4 Years on Petitions

DEAR EDITOR:
As long as a bouquet has been handed to one of our councilmen for his part in trying to clear the slums lets not forget Mrs. Dewey Bruce living in that section of town who circulated a petition four years ago to have this same clearing down. She handed the petition to the council and nothing more was heard of it. When an inquiry was made the petition had been lost and not acted upon. John Reynolds was notified of conditions in this section at that time and lived not far from there.

Lets not forget our dog warden for his faithful service. Joe Etienne really has done his duty.

Also our road foreman Leo Allard who has served our city well for a number of years.
Very few cities have had their streets as clean as Charlevoix and the grounds where he keeps his equipment are always in perfect order.

Write to members of House of Representatives and ask: WHY was this Civil Rights Bill "must" legislation of the present Administration?
Are we living under a Dictatorship? Ask certain Senators these questions. Also ask the President, members of his cabinet and the Attorney General of the United States.

New Court Judges Face Voters Here

Casting a ballot for Michigan judges has always been confusing to the laymen. It will be even more so when Charlevoix citizens vote this fall.

A new court has been added to Michigan's justice system by the 1963 constitution. It is the court of appeals.

THE COURT OF APPEALS is a direct intermediary between the circuit courts and the state supreme court.

A total of nine judges, in three Michigan Court of Appeals districts, will be elected to the new bench.

"Michigan is pushing out the frontiers of justice for the common man in providing for the new court of appeals," Circuit Judge Donald E. Holbrook of Clare, who is running for the new court in the district which includes Charlevoix, said.

Holbrook's present circuit court is almost in the center of the new 66-county portion of the Lower Peninsula portion of the new 66-county 3rd Court of Appeals district. The district, selected on a population basis, runs from the far end of the Upper Peninsula to the Indiana line.

THE 1ST DISTRICT includes all of Wayne county, with the City of Detroit, and the 2nd district is made up of 16 counties in the Southeastern part of the State, including Genesee, Ingham and Jackson counties.

"The new Court of Appeals may prove to be one of the greatest boons to the average citizen of Michigan in speeding up the review of his case and reducing the cost of court reviews," Judge Holbrook asserted.

"Long and costly appeals will be practically eliminated. More appeals will be adequately handled. All defendants in criminal cases have the right of appeal under the new constitution. With the new Court of Appeals these cases will receive a speedy review."

"The new court will provide an intermediate appeals court between the present circuit court and the State Supreme court," Judge Holbrook explained.

"THIS COURT WILL be able to review a case without printing the record and without the usual printing of briefs, as I view its practical workability. The litigant and counsel will receive a review of his case without great expense and with the utmost speed possible."

Holbrook announced his candidacy July 1. He was a candidate for the State Supreme Court in the 1963 Spring elections. He has been circuit judge of the 21st judicial circuit for 16 years, following his first election to it in 1947.

Judge Holbrook urged all persons circulating his petitions, and those of other appeals court candidates, to return them several days before the deadline for filing, which is July 21. Primary elections will be held September 1.

Gov. & Mrs. George Romney—Here Saturday

Venetian Festival Highlights Bevy of Beauties, Boat Parade

LADIES GET IN THE SWING—These women are one of three classes taking golf lessons through the City Recreation program from Dean Davenport, center. The students are Mrs. Jim Alger, Jill Stewart, Mrs. David Fowler, Mrs. Howard Otis, Mrs. Hal Forbrig, Mrs. Phil Martin, Mrs. Gary Smith, Mrs. Robert Toitas, Mrs. Brian Knight, Mrs. Thomas Sland and Mrs. Art Heilig. Lessons are also being given to youngsters.

Social Hour Set For Gov. Romney

Biggest Night of Year Seen;
Miss Johnson Won't Appear

The biggest night of the year in Charlevoix is only two days away. Saturday evening's Venetian Festival activities are the crowning achievement of months of planning.

This year's street parade, at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, will be led by the Bronco Stilly, Jack Mol is parade chairman. Parade winners will receive gift certificates.

Highlighting the Saturday evening program will be Gov. and Mrs. George Romney. The State's first lady and the governor will crown Charlevoix's lovely Venetian Queen, Marcee Wallace, at 7:30 p.m.

MRS. DONALD DA MOOR, chairman of the doli, pet and dressup parade in East Park, reports $18 silver dollars will be awarded to winners. Children who want to enter the parade can get registration blanks at neighborhood grocery stores.

MAYOR E. D. HAWLEY will introduce the governor.

County Democratic Committee Chairman George LaBlance reports earlier hopes that Miss Lucie Johnson, 17 year old daughter of President Lyndon Johnson, would attend the festival have been dashed.

Mora than two dozen beautiful young ladies are expected to cross the platform in East Park before Gov. Romney officially crowns Miss Wallace. Among them will be Queens from other communities and the 15 members of the Queen's Court.

Miss Johnson will appear at Interlochen, but could not rearrange her schedule on such short notice to visit Charlevoix.

Bob Humphries, Venetian Queen chairman, will introduce the girls.

All Charlevoix citizens and visitors have been invited to meet and talk with the governor during a social period at In Elementary School gym, starting at 4:30 p.m. Saturday. The governor will make no partisan speeches, festival officials report.

Power Loss Longest in Two Decades North Side Out For Four Hours

The governor's appearance, crowning of the Queen and introduction of dozens of young beauties will only be the opening shot of the massive evening.

Charlevoix's north side was without electricity Monday evenings for the longest period since the early 1940's, Mayor E. D. Hawley reports.

AT 9 a.m. THE traditional Venetian Boat Parade will file into Round Lake from Lake Charlevoix. All boats entering the parade, under chairman Phil Lawrence, will receive $10. Prizes of $50, $35 and $25 will be awarded the top three boats in two divisions.

Hawley said he thinks it was in 1940 when the electricity was last off on the north side for four hours or longer.

Dean Davenport, Chamber of Commerce manager, reports all boats will be asked to clear the Round Lake harbor by 8 p.m. This will allow a clear, unobstructed, view of the boat parade.

THE POWER SHUT off at 8:15 p.m. on the north side, and the Belvedere Club, City Supt. James Taylor said. It was off four hours, and longer in some isolated sections.

Following the boat parade, everyone turns out for the street dance at 10:30 p.m., starting in front of the Court House. Nancy Staley is chairman.

Everything north of the channel was without power. The Belvedere Club and a few year-round homes south of the channel were also affected.

Taylor explained the shut-off stemmed from a technical problem caused by unbalanced load due to increased power demands from summer users.

The entire city electrical crew was called out as soon as it could be rounded-up, Taylor said. Only one circuit was involved. Workmen were on the job until 2 a.m.

TAYLOR EXPRESSED confidence the failure will not happen again. He said the problem has been corrected and all other circuits checked to prevent it happening in the future.

Mayor Hawley said, "Everyone connected with City Council and the electrical department would like to thank people for their understanding and patience in this matter."

Subdivision To Overlook Big Islands

A semi-exclusive 80 acre subdivision is being developed five miles south of Charlevoix on U. S. 31.

Conrad Klooster of Atwood is landscaping the property and dividing it into 21 lots, persons buying the lots will have their own homes constructed on them.

KLOOSTER IS CALLING the private subdivision "Island View." Located on "Cooks Hill" the property has a view on clear days.

102 Seek Voice in County Politics

Charlevoix County's interest and participation in politics has reached a new peak, according to petitions filed with County Clerk F. R. Bulow last week.

Sixty-seven Republicans and 35 Democrats filed nominating petitions as delegates to the party's Sept. 12 county convention.

A NEW STATE LAW requires that candidates for delegate to county conventions file petitions and be elected in the Sept. 1 primary. Always in the past Charlevoix County delegates have been selected on write-in votes or by appointment.

Because the law is new, and circulating petitions is considered a nuisance by many people, speculation was there would be few candidates for the delegate seats.

The fact that so many persons went to the trouble to understand the new law and to circulate petitions is interpreted as an indication that public interest in politics has reached new heights here.

All persons filing petitions will appear on the Sept. 1 primary election ballots in the voting precinct in which they live. Those winning the election will attend the county convention.

COURT DELAYED
County Clerk F. R. Bulow reports the August term of Circuit Court will open Monday, Aug. 24, instead of Aug. 17, as originally scheduled.

According to Bulow, the August term had to be postponed due to other commitments of Circuit Judge Charles L. Brown.

Democrats Challenge County GOP Veterans

Charlevoix County Republicans and Democrats won't divert much of their energy this election year from fighting each other to handle inter-family squabbles.

Only one primary election contest shaped up Tuesday afternoon when the deadline for filing county candidates petitions passed.

SHERIFF GLENN ROSE will face groceryman and former state policeman Bob Neff in a Republican primary battle for nomination as the party's candidate for sheriff.

There will be no other county decisions on the Sept. 1 national and state primary election ballot.

There will be no peace, however, as the Nov. 3 election rolls around. Democrats have fielded almost an entire slate to challenge Republican incumbents, who have long held complete control over the County Building.

Four Democrats filed petitions to oppose veteran Republican FENTON R. BULOW, who has served as County Clerk longer than all but one other man in Michigan, will be opposed by Democrat James Kells of Boyne City.

Archable M. Murphy, a Democrat, will vie with Lillis Flanders for surveyor; Dr. Robert G. Martin, Republican, and James D. Stacks, Republican for the two Coroner posts.

Other candidates filing petitions, but facing no opposition are Mary C. Fetndi, Republican, for surveyor; Dr. Robert G. Martin, Republican, and James D. Stacks, Republican for the two Coroner posts.

Sheriff Rose, or Neff—if he beats Rose in the primary—will have to beat Democrat Merle Karlskin of Boyne City in the Nov. 3 vote.

Republican Register of Deeds Grover Genett is opposed by Democrat Art Osborn. Osborn failed in a previous bid to unseat Genett.

PROSECUTING ATTORNEY Harvey Varnum is the only major office holder who is not challenged by a Democrat.

In one of the most surprising moves revealed at petition-filing time, Charlevoix newspaperwoman Frances Martin filed as a Democratic candidate for Drain Commissioner. She faces no Republican opposition.

Charlevoix County has never had a Drain Commissioner. Miss Martin is virtually assured of election to the unestablished office. However, because the County Board of Supervisors gives no appropriation for a drain commissioner, Miss Martin will hold the job in title only.

Other candidates filing petitions, but facing no opposition are Mary C. Fetndi, Republican, for surveyor; Dr. Robert G. Martin, Republican, and James D. Stacks, Republican for the two Coroner posts.

Courier Sponsors Contest

Need Your Ideas for Slogans

City Councilmen last week got on the bandwagon in support of alderman Dr. Walter Hoffmann's proposal that Charlevoixians be encouraged to stamp catchy slogans on letters promoting Charlevoix.

Fortunately, Councilmen pointed out, Charlevoix already has its tried and true slogan "Charlevoix the Beautiful."

BUT THEY WERE concerned about who would think up other slogans that are appropriate to go along with "Charlevoix the Beautiful."

The Courier feels the people of "Charlevoix the Beautiful" are the ones to come up with these other slogans. So, as an added incentive and to make it a little more fun, the newspaper is offering prizes to the three best slogans submitted.

A free three year Courier subscription will be given to the top winner, and one year subscriptions to the other two winners.

The slogans should be no more than six words, and preferably shorter. This makes it possible to get them printed on rubber stamp pads and postage meter machines.

THE SLOGANS WILL be printed on stamp pads and postage meters so that all Charlevoixians can take advantage of this unique opportunity to promote our beautiful community by stamping them on all letters that leave the area.

Stamp pads will be sold to residents at cost. Business firms are encouraged to have printing plates prepared for their postage meters.

Mayor E. D. Hawley, School Supt. Rex Milligan and Dr. Walter Hoffmann will be the contest judges.

Send your slogan ideas to the Courier, 101 Clinton St.

Rambling

AN OUTSPOKEN Charlevoix matron was in the other day to give us a piece of her mind on this Goldwater business. Though she threatened to bean me with a bat if I mentioned her name anywhere in the Courier, I listened because she is one of this corner's favorite people. Seems she's downright indignant about the Republicans nominating Barry Goldwater because she's afraid he just might let people make up their own mind as to whether or not they want social security. Being a Republican, she doesn't like being put in a spot where she might have to vote against her party's candidate. My high-spirited chum figures there are too many people who would elect not to take Social Security and then end up on the welfare rolls when they can no longer earn a living.

Sen. Goldwater contends a free land should give its people the freedom to decide as individuals. This means the freedom to make wrong decisions as well as right decisions.

their party's convention Sept. 12 as voting delegates.

THERE HAVE BEEN rumbles of discontent with County Committee organizations from stalwarts in both parties. However, neither Democrat or Republican leaders will openly declare that the large number of delegates filling indicates a fight for party control.

Following are the persons who have filed petitions to be delegates.

REPUBLICANS

That, is what I tried to tell the lady with the ball bat. But I don't think she agreed.

However, on the other side of the fence, a local Democrat, who also prefers on this issue to remain a mystery, tells me he has heard at least a dozen fellow Democrats say they will vote for Goldwater in November.

So here we seem to have at least one Charlevoix Republican thinking about voting Democratic and Democrats thinking about voting Republican. It's going to be an interesting fall.

My Democrat friends—who were nice enough not to carry any bats—seem to support Sen. Goldwater because they object to the violation of their civil rights in the sinisterly labeled "civil rights" bill. They contend that the alleged civil rights bill robs the majority of their constitutional rights to grant a small minority privileges the rest of us have always had to earn.

One of these Democrats for Goldwater angrily told me he has always stood up for the rights of Negroes. He is in a position where this is visibly evident. So much so, in fact, that if anyone in Charlevoix has been frowned on for befriending Negroes it is him.

However, no longer. Now that the law of the land says he has to be a friend of all Negroes, that he has no voice in whether he will hire a Negro, or sell his home to a Negro, he doesn't like it. No law in this free land ever guaranteed these privileges to him. And he has never asked for them.

The problems that face our Negro citizens are heart-breaking and soul-crushing. Persons who see only their skin are bigots and desperately in need of a lesson in the ideals of democracy.

However, these wrongs cannot be corrected by the blood-paths and terror that has been loosed on our streets by extremists of the liberal philosophy.

The solution this Democrat declared, lies with men like Goldwater. He was among the first to hire Negroes for his "white-collar" jobs in his plush Arizona Department Store. He integrated the Air National Guard in Arizona, and rammed through a local fair housing ordinance in Phoenix while a City Councilman. All of these things were done without the fanfare stirred up in Washington in recent years. And they were done before there was a violent demand for them.

This suggested Goldwater sincerely believed in civil rights for all individuals (truly without regard to color), and was not championing a cause because it was politically expedient.

If you have spent much time studying politics you realize Goldwater's nomination was a major miracle. New York City bank interests have controlled the Republican party since 1932. They have insisted it nominate candidates who favor continuation of our expensive, but humiliating and freedom-robbing foreign policy which is so lucrative for their financial interests.

In 1964 Charlevoixans will have a choice. It may be difficult to understand that choice. But, simple stated it is: Do we want a president who places the individual's dignity, liberty and responsibility foremost, or one who feels the individual should consign these to the safe-keeping of an all-powerful federal government.

By giving us this choice the Republican party (win or lose) has resurrected the two-party system in Washington.

HERB CAMPBELL REMINDS us several hundred Charlevoix voters may lose their right to help make that choice unless they report to him before Aug. 3.

Aug. 3 is the last day to register to vote. If you are in doubt as to whether you're registered give Herb a call at City Hall.

Not only will you be performing an important responsibility that goes with citizen-

GOP 'Doesn't Know'

Dem Chief Says Johnson Will Win in Charlevoix

"WITH THE CONVENTION cry of battle over," Speltz said, he expects Charlevoix County people to start seriously studying Goldwater's position on the issues.

"I think ordinary Republicans, who always believed in the dignity of the individual and sovereignty of local government, are naturally against big government," Speltz added.

Speltz's non-committal remarks about the outlook for the GOP in Charlevoix County were in sharp contrast to LaBlance's.

The county Democratic confidently predicted Democrat success.

"I'VE HAD SEVERAL highly respected Republicans say they want Johnson stickers on their car," LaBlance said.

"It's not so much that they are supporting our candidate (Johnson) as they are against the GOP candidate (Goldwater)," LaBlance said.

Not only did LaBlance see Johnson beating Goldwater in Charlevoix County. He predicted Goldwater's nomination will turn many normally Republican votes away from Gov. George Romney to his Democratic opponent Congressman-at-large Neil Staeble.

"It will even enhance our chances of electing county officers," LaBlance said.

"NOT AS MANY people here are ashamed to come out and say they are Democrats. It used to be looked on as a sin. People are investigating the Democratic party."

The current inter-party debate over appointment of a postmaster to replace retiring Peter Timmer has "solidified the Democratic party and brought it new respect," LaBlance said.

According to LaBlance, Charlevoix County votes 48% Democratic (For Secretary of State in 1962) making it one of the northland's "swing" counties. With the many new people who have moved to the area in the last two years, Democrats may now have the upper hand, he predicted.

Admitting there won't be any landslide toward local and state Democratic candidates, LaBlance, said the prospects for victory were never better.

"BUT WE'VE GOT TO KEEP working. This is when parties lose elections--when they get too sure."

ship, but you'll be helping Herb out. Seems he's got 400 blank registration cards on hand and can't find anyplace to store them.

BOB SUMMERVILLE is carrying this parking ticket business just a bit further than I can ever recall it being carried before. Last Thursday I saw him putting a ticket on Sheriff Glenn Rose's car.

I guess I've never checked into it. I sort of thought it was the law of this free land of ours that tickets could not be given to sheriffs or newspaper editors. Rose and I had better have a talk with that fella.

TWO SUGGESTIONS have come in on getting rid of the ugly black blotches on downtown sidewalks.

Earl Young disgustedly says he thinks acid is the only thing that will remove the ground-in wax. Another lady says ammonia might work.

A COUPLE LADIES walked into the Courier office last week and turned the clock back 32 years. For a young fella that's quite a jolt.

But the person who really started spinning was our gal Hilda. The two visitors, after a brief guessing game, turned out to be an old school chum and her mother whom Hilda hadn't seen in 32 years.

Yep. Thirty-two years. And then they just waited in off the street and asked, "Do you know who we are?" They were Mrs. T. Gardner of Cheboygan and Mrs. Izen Krinn of Marion, Ohio.

Believe it or not they didn't know Hilda's married name, whether she had children, etc. You'd better bet an ever-dropping editor can get pretty dizzy when he hears three families tell their complete story of the past 32 years.

Vote on New P.M.

Subdivision

County Democratic Committee Chairman George LaBlance this week announced a new Charlevoix Postmaster will be selected in August.

A closed meeting for committee members will be held at an unannounced time and place to vote on all applicants for the post by secret ballots, LaBlance said.

The 80 acres joins on the Pigeon River State Forest, which provides recreation frontage on Lake Michigan.

If Varnum's opinion is negative, the two Democrats will be disqualified.

Bulow said he cannot recall the question ever being raised before in Charlevoix County. The State Attorney General's office may ultimately be called in to settle it, Bulow said.

Picnic Set By Military Wives Club

The Charlevoix Military Wives Club will hold a picnic for all Coast Guard, Air Force, Army and other service families Sunday, July 26, 1 p.m. at the Depot Beach Park.

All families are asked to bring their own food.

MRS. GEORGE MOSEY is president of the newly formed Military Wives Club. Other officers are: Mrs. Douglas Ford, vice president; Mrs. Larry Fox, secretary; Mrs. Jack Poff, treasurer; Mrs. Harry Gibbs, publicity; Mrs. Richard Haggerty and Mrs. Forrest Taggart, welcoming committee, and Mrs. Francis Stevens, hospital.

The club will resume its regular meetings Tuesday, Sept. 8, in City Hall at 8 p.m.

Obituaries

News of the death of Oswald Molle of Keweenaw, Wis., has been received here by friends of Mrs. Molle, the former Mary Bronersky.

According to information received here, he suffered the fatal heart attack while driving into town from their home July 1. The car went out of control and struck a tree. Mrs. Molle, a librarian at Keweenaw who was a passenger in the car was injured. However, her injuries are not too serious.

If your picnic area is near a highway or well traveled street make certain your car is parked a safe distance from speeding traffic. Autos parked on the shoulder of the road can be a mental hazard to oncoming drivers whose tendency is to swerve over the center line when passing a vehicle parked close to the highway.

Miss Johnson At Interlochen

INTERLOCHEN--The VanCilburn--Luci Baines Johnson benefit concert tonight (July 23) highlights a schedule of more than 15 major attractions during the fourth week of activities at the National Music Camp.

LUCI JOHNSON, 1 1/2-year-old daughter of the President, and noted pianist Van Cihurn will perform in concert with the 150-piece Interlochen Youth Symphony Orchestra at 8 p.m. tonight in the newly-revamped Kresge Assembly Hall.

Miss Johnson will narrate Prokofiev's symphonic fairy tale, "Peter and the Wolf". Van Cihurn will play "Concerto No. 2 in D Minor" by Edward MacDowell and also will direct the orchestra.

That Word in Anger...

You spoke it loudly and without concern, but did it solve any problems for you?
You told him off, but did you get the order? Sure, relief at the time may seem sweet and bear up your own ego, but soon a dirty, gray regret sets in.
Count ten??? Ah, you'd better count to a hundred or more and, by so doing, have a word fitly spoken. God said, "Be not hasty in thy spirit to be angry: for anger resteth in the bosom of fools." Eccl. 7:9. Angry words can't be called back. One can't unsay them. The damage they do may be irreparable. Want to quit your foolishness? Then, seek out righteous men for your companions and ask God to help stay your tongue for, "He that is soon angry dealeth foolishly."

Island Classes

BEAVER ISLAND--Thirty-two high school biology teachers this week are concluding an eight week National Science Foundation summer institute at the Central Michigan University facility here.

The Institute is under the direction of Carl Scheel. Students are taking advantage of the island's wildlife and Lake Michigan in gathering specimens to study, Scheel said.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell E. Mieras had as their guests recently their mother, Mrs. Simon Sjogard, her grandmother, Mrs. Edward Brower and her aunt, Mrs. Dick Dreyer, all of Grand Rapids.

John Duerr has returned home from Ann Arbor where he attended a two weeks seminar on Mathematics at the University of Michigan.

Mrs. Ralph Mc Rae plans to leave this weekend for a week's visit in Flint with her nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Harwood and son.

Susie Duerr who has been teaching in San Diego, Calif., has returned home to join her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Duerr.

Mrs. Frank Matchett has gone to Drayton Plains and Detroit where she plans to spend some time with relatives...

Kathy McCann returned home last week from Stann Creek, British Honduras, where she taught during the recent school year as a Papal volunteer at a Catholic Mission there. Enroute here to join her parents, Capt. L. Mrs. Edwin McCann, she visited in Chicago and Milwaukee.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gallagher had as their guests last week their daughters Mrs. Glenn McDonough and small son, Patrick, and Mrs. Richard O'Donnell of Grand Rapids. Their respective husbands came for them and remained for a week visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Schuster and three children of Toledo and Mrs. Martin Scott and nephew Eddie Thorp of Lansing have been visiting relatives here. A family get-together at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Powell attracted Mr. and Mrs. Albert Thorp and five children, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Bruce and six children, Mrs. Arthur Crist and two children, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Stizema and three children, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bricker and three children and Mrs. Albert Thorp who gathered to see the visitors.

Camp Charlevoix

Corrall Chatter

By KEN SMITH

The fourth week of camp started off with a very rainy day on Monday. In the afternoon there were quiz games in all sections for points in the Green-Grey competition, with the Greens getting two points and the Greys one. The weather cleared in the evening, and boys going on the horse trip were happy that they probably would be able to leave the next day.

Tuesday morning the horse trip got away and it was quite a sight to see the long line of horses leave camp. The boys on the trip were: Craig Gittis, Tommy Smith, Geb Bushnell, Fred Schmitt, Charles Osborn, Tom Lasky, Mike Zinn, Robbo Zilman, Gary Blumberg, Mark Murlin, George Boomer, Mark Holderman, Jimmy Hildbold, Steve Armstrong, Robin Holderman, Scott Coleman, Chip Ironside, John Marlin, Dave Scherer, Bob Smith, Martin Curdes, Rick Gillett, and John McClure.

THE THREE DAY CANOE trip down the Au Sable River left camp, too, these boys were very excited. Jon Sieffensen, Tom Sukany, and Dan Morganarh were the staff on this trip that included these boys: Ralph Piesel, Jim Warner, David Washburn, George Stethardt, Reeves Logan, Mark Stephan, Brad Corbin, Don Tebben, John Amberg, Chuck Gardetta, Teddy Herrlinger, and Steve Pfenniger.

On Wednesday we were hosts in the afternoon to boys from Bay View, and we enjoyed them being here. We won both ball games, the Junior Team won 14-6, and the Senior Team won 14-3.

The horse trip returned to camp, and the sailors took off on their trip for three days. The staff on the sailing trip was Jonathan Howard, Ace Hoyt, Wes Murrin and John Deane. The boys on this trip were: Stuart Waterson, Matt Deo, Kirk Kirlin, Hugh Broder, Bruce Douglas, Rick Osborn, Terry Banis, Steve Lange, Tom Hoyt, Bill Gardner, Dick Huber, Dick Britson, Doug Laling, Doug Ladney, Tom Roiz, and Skip Sales.

IN THE EVENING, Cabin 1, winner of having the cleanest cabin in this first period, was taken into the movies at Petoskey.

Thursday was a regular camp day with the Au Sable River trip returning with tales of seeing many animals and of having a really great trip.

Before breakfast on Friday, the sailing trip returned to camp tired but happy. Jon Howard reported a fine trip with everyone cooperating and enjoying themselves.

In the evening, Cabins #21 and #14 were taken into town to the movies for having won the honor of having had the cleanest cabins in their sections thus far. Jerry Flora and Greg Demerisi are the counselors in these two cabins.

THE REST OF THE camp had a capture the Counselor event. The entire camp times up at the flag pole and the counselors take off and hide in the woods. Each counselor has a price on him so the object is to catch men with high prices on them. Signs

On Dean's List
Carl S. Mitchell of Charlevoix was among the nearly 650 Ferris State College students who were named to the Dean's Honor List for academic excellence during the past quarter. Dr. Ardin J. Dotto, Vice President for Academic Affairs, has announced.

To be named to the Dean's Honor List a student must maintain at least a B average while carrying a full academic load.

MITCHELL, A JUNIOR in the School of Pharmacy is the son of Carl Mitchell.

Charlevoix State Fair Exhibits Face Deadline

Charlevoix County exhibitors should submit entries early as possible this year for the Michigan State Fair which runs from Friday, August 28, through Labor Day, September 7.

That's the advice of Charles Flig, chairman of the Michigan State Fair Authority, who said all indications point to a record number of livestock, agricultural and home arts entries.

AND AGAIN THIS year barn and stall facilities will not be able to handle all entries for the entire ten days. A split schedule of cattle and horse exhibits will be in effect.

Add to Homes

Building permits for additions ranging from porches to new rooms-existing homes have been issued to four Charlevoix residents. They are:

Mrs. Helen Sundling, Pine Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Doan, 308 Meech St.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thorpe, 209 Meech St.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Suratt, 107 E. Lincoln.

Summer Shops

Deputy City Clerk Herb Campbell reports 12 summer business licenses will be issued this week.

Summer businesses will pay from $25 to $50 for their city licenses. More licenses will be issued if additional seasonal shops move to town.

SUMMER BUSINESS licenses are issued in lieu of city property taxes.

When you find a scenic view that makes you want to stop for a photograph during your motor vacation, be sure to observe the common rules of safety. Pull completely off the road so you don't block traffic. Then you can take time to compose your shot in peace and provide a welcome break for your family as well.

It is hard to believe that our camping season is half over.

"Lady, will you kindly remove your hat?"

OUTDOOR RAMBLING
WHAT IS THE greatest killer in Charlevoix's surrounding forests and fields? Ask this question and the answer usually ranges from fox to owls. Many sportsmen (and some who simply thrive on the $5 bounty) immediately condemn brer fox as a vicious killer, who depletes our rabbit and grouse population.

BUT COMPARED TO a common housecat, fox and owls are tame, gentle hearted creatures. There isn't a wild creature at large in Charlevoix County that can hold a candle to a cat as a ruthless, wasteful killer.

The following indictment of the common cat isn't based on personal prejudice. It is a subject I would far rather ignore. Columnizing against motherhood will draw less rath on a writer than slandering tabby.

Experience with this subject shows me cat lovers are a very sensitive people. To slander cat-hood is to bring a blood-seeking rash of telephone calls and letters to the editor.

But the facts need telling. Those of us who love songbirds, partridge, rabbits, and the many other defenseless critters of our swamps and backyards have a right to our indignation.

EXTENSIVE RESEARCH and personal observation, most of it coordinated by the Audubon Society, leaves no reasonable doubt but what the timid, cuddly little pet that purrs so softly by the easy chair is a blood-lusting killer when on the loose. Even a well-fed housecat will turn killer on the prowl. This is not the cat's fault. Killing is instinctive. More songbirds, rabbits, etc., are killed by supposedly tame cats for nothing more than sport than were ever killed by fox in a populated area, such as Charlevoix.

Since it is part of tabby's nature to kill, it hardly seems just to blame her. So the blame, and consequences, must be borne by her owner.

At Idle Acres a 22-rifle and large flashlight are kept beside my desk for the extermination of any cat found on the place. This is not something I do with a vengeance, or with any pleasure. In fact it makes me a bit sick to think some boy, or girl, might consider the cat I just blasted a pest.

So, why do I do it? The answer is simple. We moved to Idle Acres because we adore the company of bunnies and songbirds.

The other morning, about 1 a.m., as we were absorbing the GOP convention, the spine-chilling sound of a housecat making a kill suddenly crackled through the window. Another of our half-tame, half-wild bunnies was dead, not 50 feet from the house.

All other killers are made to pay for their crimes. Our dog licenses pay for damage done by feral dogs. Fox are bountied (wasting thousands of sportsmen's dollars). But, unless the individual enforces his own law cats have an unrestricted license to kill.

Families that truly care for their pet cats can protect them, and wildlife, by hanging a bell around their neck. Dogs must wear a collar. There's no reason a cat shouldn't wear a bell.

IF YOU DON'T THINK enough of your pet to safeguard him in this way you have no legitimate complaint when a nature lover decides to shoot her.

I recall a well-bred, intelligent and downright companionable Siamese cat that met his doom beside my bird feeder station in a cabin near Midland. The cat, which belonged to a well-liked neighbor, had killed one of the evening grosbeaks I had so proudly lured to the suet and grain. The cat's owner swore his pet wouldn't kill a bird. I wished with a sorry heart that he had been right.

Fish are Biting

Charlevoix has successful anglers of all sizes and descriptions this summer.

In the upper picture Tom Berman, standing, a summer visitor staying at 109 Dixon, and Bernie Ward, Jr., with a dandy catch of smallmouth bass ranging up to four pounds.

Berman and Ward caught their junker bass near the railroad bridge at the channel between Round Lake and Lake Charlevoix, within sight of the downtown business district. Berman said it was his best catch in 22 years of fishing here. He is in the furniture business in Detroit.

The younger fishermen didn't travel as far for their goggle-eyed panfish. They caught them dangling a worm between two cruisers at the Municipal Docks.

Star Sweetbreads In Gourmet Dish For Luncheons

When a homemaker's entertainment calendar is crowded with luncheons for the bride-to-be, PTA, art circle and women's guild, it's nice to be able to have a really distinguished casserole for at least one of these occasions.

Such a dish can finish cooking in the oven allowing the hostess to greet her guests smiling and unruffled.

Epicurean touches highlight this casserole of sweetbreads, crisp-textured water chestnuts and silvers of green beans. The top is crusty with herb-seasoned cornflakes.

Sweetbreads are an interesting variety meat with a delicate flavor. Heed the advice of Reba Staggs, noted meat cookery expert, who says they will keep white and firm if they are simmered in water with an acid such as lemon juice or vinegar.

Sweetbread Casserole Deluxe
1 pound sweetbreads
Water to cover
1 tablespoon lemon juice or vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
1 can (6 1/2 ounces) water chestnuts, drained and sliced
1 package (9 ounces) frozen French green beans, cooked and drained.
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed celery soup
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon marjoram
1/2 cup crushed cornflakes
1/2 teaspoon thyme

Cover sweetbreads with water. Add vinegar or lemon juice and salt. Cover tightly and simmer 20 minutes. Drain and remove membranes. Break sweetbreads into pieces. Combine sweetbreads, water chestnuts, green beans, celery soup, salt, pepper and marjoram. Pour into a 1 1/2-quart casserole. Combine cornflakes and thyme and sprinkle over casserole. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) 20 minutes. 4 to 6 servings.

Argonne Proud of It's Gay Splendor

Located far enough off the beaten track, but close enough to be easily reached, the Argonne on the Boyne City Rd. has gained a reputation as one of the northland's finest supper club's.

Framed in quiet splendor by high pines, the Argonne attracts guests from such faraway points as Harbor Springs, Pellston and Gaylord.

Opening at 3 p. m. daily (except Monday when it is closed all day) the Argonne features giant shrimp, nightly entertainment, cocktails and the other necessities required for luxurious dining in a relaxed atmosphere.

Family style shrimp dinners at the Argonne on Tuesday and Friday attract capacity, fun-loving crowds.

Herb Moore and Ted Ager purchased the Argonne in December of 1961. The club was established by Doc Kerns at the end of prohibition.

Ted and Herb are very optimistic about the future of the entire Charlevoix area, as the hub of both summer and winter tourist activities.

Charlevoix's Lovely Gals

We couldn't resist re-running all of these pictures of Charlevoix's lovely Venetian Festival beauties for our first weekly "Courier Camera" feature.

The girls will be introduced by Gov. George Romney at Saturday evening's Venetian Festival program.

Many visiting beauty queens will also be in town Saturday. Bob Humphries, program chairman, reports visiting queens will include the Cherry Queen from Traverse City; Bass Queen, Mancelona; Miss Independence, Petoskey; Michigan Winter Queen, Petoskey; Miss Alpena; Miss Boyne City; Miss Kalkaska County; Miss Grand Traverse County and Miss Sixteen, East Jordan.

Jail Youths On 2 Charges

Four minors were sentenced to jail terms last week for possession of alcoholic beverages and destruction of property, Sheriff Glenn Rose reports.

Rose said Justice John Connolly ordered the youths to pay a total of $42 each in fine, costs and restitution and spent five days in the County jail.

ACCORDING TO ROSE, Carl Brown, 19, of Homewood, Ill.; Robert Hickam, 18, of Spencer, Ind.; Joseph Novak, 19, of Trenton, Mich., and Wesley Murling, 18, of Decatur, Ill., were arrested with beer in their truck.

Rose said his office arrested the youths after receiving a complaint that someone with a 22 rifle was shooting at mail boxes, signs and railroad signals along Mt. McSaubia Rd. and Boyne City Rd.

Police Say Old Cars Unjustly Notorious

Old cars are not deserving of the notoriety they have earned for causing automobile accidents, local police officials report.

Contrary to popular belief, old cars are not those chiefly involved in fatal accidents, Petoskey State Police Post commander Sgt. Jack Brouard, Sheriff Glenn Rose and Police Chief Joe Smith jointly declared.

THEIR STATEMENT was based on local observations and a state-wide study made by the State Police.

"Old cars by reputation have been something of a scapegoat in the fatal accident picture, but the study shows their bad reputation has been falsely earned," Brouard said. "One reason, of course, is that the older cars tend to disappear from the roads and the newer models predominate in the traffic flow."

The study was made for the year 1963, with the models for each year being checked, a total of 2,123 cars being involved in the 1,637 fatal accidents. The results were somewhat surprising.

The trend of involvement of older models generally showed a gradual decline after the 1962 models with the exception of the 1960 and 1955 models when there was a high volume of production. Passenger car sales were 21% and 19% higher in 1960 as compared to 1961 and 1959 respectively, and 37% and 43% higher in 1955 than in 1956 and 1954.

Because of the comparatively small volume of sales of 1964 models in the later months of 1963, the study showed that only 17 of these models or .8% were involved in fatal accidents. But the 1963 models involved jumped to 311, or 14.7% of the total of all cars, and the figure was again the same for 1962 models.

Thereafter the downward trend set in with the exception of the 1960 and 1955 models mentioned.

The involvement of 1961 models was 219, or 10.4%, and 1960 cars 243, or 11.5% (high production year). For the five 1964-60 models the involvement was a total of 1,101 cars, more than half of the total or 52.1%.

The 1959 model involvement was 196, or 9.3%; 1958 models 140, or 6.8%; 1957 models 138, or 6.5%; 1956 models 144, or 6.8%; 1955 models 173, or 8.2% (high production year); 1954 models 86, or 4.2%; 1953 models 71, or 3.4%; and 1952 models or older 61, or 2.9%.

Need New Trucks

The Charlevoix County Road Commission will take bids Aug. 10 for three new dump trucks. They are expected to cost approximately $8,000 each.

Each truck will have a gross vehicle weight of 27,000 pounds. They will be used for construction, snow plowing and scraping.

BIDS WILL ALSO be opened on a new plow for the $30,000 rubber-tired dozer the commission purchased this spring.

During rainstorms traffic often splatters mud on your windshield and headlights. Remember to keep your windshield wipers in good operating condition and to wipe off your headlights at frequent intervals.

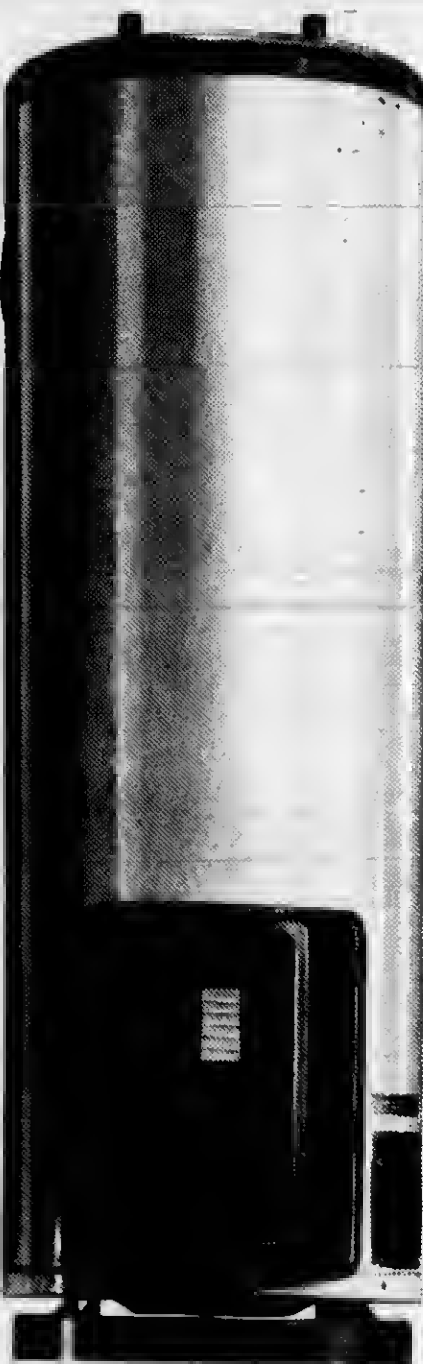

When traveling with children in the back seat make sure all doors are closed securely. Above all, keep the children calm so they do not distract you from your important job behind the wheel.

BIDS WANTED

Bids for the repair of the Public Library roof, located at the corners of State and Clinton streets, will be accepted by the Board of Education of the Charlevoix Public School District. Specifications may be obtained from the secretary, Frances Hooper or the office of the superintendent. Bids must be in the hands of the secretary not later than Monday, August 10, 1964 at 4 p.m. EST.

The board reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

10 Lawyers Running For Appeals Court

The nonpartisan race for Third District Court of Appeals (which includes Charlevoix County) has been entered by ten candidates.

The new court was created by Michigan's 1963 constitution. It is intended to relieve pressure on the State Supreme Court and give citizens speedier justice.

ALL OF THE ANNOUNCED candidates for the new court from this district are attorneys.

Though the ballot will be nonpartisan, giving candidates no political labels, seven of the candidates are Republicans and three are Democrats.

Republicans are State Sen. John W. Fitzgerald, 39, of Grand Ledge.

Robert G. Howlett, Grand Rapids attorney and member of the State Labor Mediation Board.

CARL H. SMITH, Jr., of Bay City;

Donald E. Holbrook, Circuit Judge from Clare;

Allan C. Miller, Circuit Judge from Tawas City;

Former Sen. Carlton H. Morris of Kalamazoo;

Probate Judge Philip H. Mitchell of Barry County.

The three Democrats are:

Former Grand Rapids Municipal Judge, Robert B. Burns;

State Bar Commissioner Austin J. Doyle of Kalamazoo;

Former State Rep. Andrew Wist of Hancock.

Labor Mediator Bids For New State Court

The following is a statement prepared by Robert G. Howlett announcing his candidacy for the Court of Appeals.

Robert G. Howlett, Grand Rapids, an attorney and member of the state Labor Mediation Board, has announced his candidacy for the new Michigan Court of Appeals for the Third District in the September primary.

Howlett, former President of the Grand Rapids Bar Association, has long been active in labor relations law and arbitration. He is well known as an arbitrator of labor disputes throughout the Middle West, and is a member of the National Academy of Arbitrators and of the American Arbitration Association and Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service. He has been a member of the Michigan Labor Mediation Board since July 1, 1963, by appointment of Governor Romney. He served on Special Commissions in public utility disputes by appointment of Governor Williams.

HE SERVED (1953-54) as Chairman of the Labor Relations Law Section of the State Bar of Michigan and has, since 1949, been an active committee member of the Labor Relations Law Section of the American Bar Association, and last year finished a three-year term as co-chairman of the Section Committee on the Development of the Law of Union Administration and Procedure. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the Association of Labor Mediation Agencies of United States and Canada.

He was Special Assistant Attorney General for the State of Michigan, assigned to the Michigan Department of Aeronautics from 1957 to 1961, and represented the State in the Great Lakes Local Service Investigation before the Civil Aeronautics Board, which resulted in increased local service from North Central Airlines and Lake Central Airlines throughout the State of Michigan. He also represented the Grand Rapids community before the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Howlett served as a member of the Shipbuilding Commission of the National War Labor Board during World War II, which had jurisdiction over all labor disputes and wage adjustment applications in the wartime shipbuilding industry.

HE HAS BEEN a member of the Aeronautics Com-

Rev. L. Van Drusen of Hamilton preached at the Hamilton Reformed Church on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schriever of Grand Rapids and his mother Mrs. Maria Schriever and daughter Wilhelmina of Harterwyk, Netherlands, were week-end visitors at the home of the former's parents Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Hoeksema and family. Henry and his wife and sister visited with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Burns Saturday evening. The Hoeksema's and the Schriever's also visited Mrs. Hoeksema's parents Mr. and Mrs. Henry Potter of Barnard Friday evening.

On Saturday evening July 18 a family get together was held at Barnes Park, Eastport. A potluck dinner was served in honor of Mrs. Art De Vries and Mrs. Minerva Veenstra's birthday which were on July 18. Those present for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Art De Vries and son Bernie, Mr. and Mrs. Minerva Veenstra and son Allen and their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick and daughter of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Silas Doctor and children Vengle and Si, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Doctor of Kalamazoo, Mr. and Mrs. John Torgna and son Stan, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Elzinga and son Bert.

The Atwood Farm Bureau meeting was held at the Milford Tyrrell home at the Bay on Tuesday evening July 14 with 12 members present.

Mrs. S. Vandenberg Heide led the discussion on "Seeking Sound Market Solutions."

A very nice discussion followed. The August meeting will be held at the Leslie Kidney home in Atwood. A hamburger fry was enjoyed after the evening meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. David Anderson and son Patrick of Muskegon were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Veenstra Friday, they had been vacationing at a lake near Kalkaska and lunch guests at the home of the former's granddaughter Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Holeccheck.

Miss Sharon Van Iwaarden of Grand Rapids who is now in Nurses training at the State Hospital in Traverse City was a weekend guest with Mr. and Mrs. Andy Veenstra.

Rev. and Mrs. Richard Vander Kist of Dorris arrived at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Veenstra and Jim Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Veenstra and daughter Theola and Mr. and Mrs. George Wiersema were visitors at Mr. and Mrs. Henry Burns.

Mr. and Mrs. Doug Way were Sunday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Way of Charlevoix.

Mrs. Mattie Vander Ark of Ellsworth spent Sunday afternoon visiting friends Mr. and Mrs. Bert Veenstra.

Mr. and Mrs. August Veenstra and four children were weekend visitors of his aunt Mr. and Mrs. Henry Burns.

Mrs. Anna De Young of Barnard is spending a few days visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Bos.

Dear Dick Affair

"TALK FIRST, HIT LAST"

DEAR DICK: My daughter, age 11, annoyed by a boy in class who kept tearing the back of her dress with a paper clip, got up and clobbered him with a book, producing a shiner. The teacher made her stay after school for a week and has been very rough on her. How can it be straightened out?—UPSET.

DEAR UPSET: Mama is probably taking this harder than daughter. If you are sure the teacher is really being hard on her because of THIS, have a talk with the teacher. Your daughter should have reported the boy first before swinging. Puff's Appliance Center doesn't mind staying after hours to show you the finest quality furniture in this entire area. We are proud to offer you furnishings for every room in your home at outstanding savings.—DICK.

Circlin the Bases

In the fastball league it was narrowed down to a two team race with American Mold and Morweld Steel battling it out for the city championship.

Mold continued to hold first place with an 8-2 win over the Air Force. Fritz Puffpa scored two runs in the first and Harvey Cole scored two with his one bager in the fifth. In between the winners picked up two runs in the second and third on seven walks. Fries had the big bat for the service nine with two hits.

Dean Davenport and Des Milligan will coach the two squads.

The Fastball League All-Stars will consist of the following Squad, Bob Klooster and Bob Dreth from Ellsworth, Ted Potter, Rick Grunch, Larry McBride-Lake Construction, Harv Cole, Fritz Puffpa, Des Milligan, Ken Boss, Ken Wojan, Nate Boss, Ken Bales-American Mold, Gary Stutzman-Merchants, Mays, Kispert, from the Air Force. Named as alternates: Nick Deyoung, Butch Wagoner, Joe Battle, and Fries.

The Coaching chores will be handled by Davenport of Lake Construction, Sonny Wright of the Air Force and Jim Alger of American Mold.

Hydrofoil Draws Attention Here

Boats being a part of Charlevoix's heritage, it is seldom that one draws any more than a casual glance of admiration.

But Saturday a craft that violates all the rules of boating pulled through the Pine River channel into Brow Marina for fuel. It attracted plenty of craning necks and questions.

IT WAS THE NORTH American Hydrofoil, home port Chicago. The unique ship, one of only a half-dozen or so in operation for pleasure use, was en route from the Bahamas to Chicago. It arrived in Charlevoix after literally flying from Mackinaw City in two hours.

Harry Nye, Jr., president of North American Hydrofoil, was piloting the ship. Built in Miami, the 40 foot ship was four years in development, Nye said. He hopes to start producing them soon for pleasure boaters. They will cost approximately $125,000.

The hydrofoil raises out of the water to fly on wings at the base of struts. Even in rough water it cruises at 45 mph.

Jean Buhler, naval architect of Miami, Fla., and George Banschback, chief engineer of Miami, were aboard the hydrofoil with Nye.

NYE EXPLAINED THE most complex part of the hydrofoil is a gyroscope-computer system which keeps it in balance.

The hull is welded aluminum. Two Chevrolet 225 hp engines power the boat.

As you ready your car for vacation, don't throw loose objects on the ledge behind the rear seat. These objects not only obstruct vision, but can also be a hazard in event of sudden stops.

Let Dad Choose Steak

Nothing could be a more appropriate Father's Day gift than a porterhouse steak to go with the menu of his choice—French fried onions, sliced tomatoes on a bed of endive and a favorite dessert.

Thick and juicy, flavorful and tender, steaks deserve an important occasion like Father's Day to be the star attraction.

If you haven't made steak traditional for this occasion, by all means, do it this year. There are many fine steaks from which to choose, points out Reba Stagers, widely-known meat authority. If you want individual steaks, you might select from rib eye or Delmonico T-bone, rib, club or strip.

Porterhouse is a versatile steak as far as the number of servings go. Some fathers with good appetites would consider a 1-inch porterhouse steak enough just for the man of the house. A 2-inch thick porterhouse will serve from 2 to 4 people.

Beef Porterhouse Steak
Beef porterhouse steak, cut 1 to 2 inches thick.

When broiling in the range set regulator for broiling. Place steak on broiler rack. Insert broiler pan and rack so the top of 1-inch steak is 2 to 3 inches from the heat, and 2-inch steak is 3 to 5 inches from the heat. When one side is browned, season, turn and finish cooking on the second side. Season. Steaks cut 1 inch thick require 18 to 20 minutes for rare steak and 20 to 25 minutes for medium-done steak. Steaks cut 2 inches thick require 30 to 40 minutes for rare and 35 to 45 minutes for medium-done steak.

Council Proceedings

July 14, 1964

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date with Mayor Hawley presiding. Aldermen present: Whitley, Gill, Hoffmann, Neff and Parsel. Absent: Alderman Fochtman.

The minutes of the June 29, 1964 meeting were approved as presented to the Council in writing and as recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

Enter Alderman Fochtman.

The following State Highway Resolution was offered by Alderman Neff and supported by Alderman Gill.

RESOLUTION OF APPROVAL FOR STATE TRUNKLINE CHANGES IN THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX

WHEREAS, the State Highway Commissioner of the State of Michigan has requested approval by the City of Charlevoix, of the changes by him, of that part of State trunkline highway M-66 (shown on the attached map), bearing State Highway Department approval and dated November 7, 1963, lying wholly within the corporate limits of said City:

NOW, THEREFORE, be it resolved:

(1) That the approval and consent of the City of Charlevoix be and is hereby given for the establishment as State trunkline highway, the location described as follows:

(1) Proposed New Location
Commencing on the proposed new location of M-66 at the south limits of the City of Charlevoix; thence northwesterly in the City of Charlevoix on the proposed new location of US-31 at State Street. (plus 0.3 mile approximately).

(2) That the approval and consent of the City of Charlevoix be and is hereby given to the abandonment of the State trunkline highway described as follows:

(2) Maintained Location
Commencing on the present travelled route of M-66 (Stover Road) on the south limits of the City of Charlevoix just west of Ferry Avenue; thence westerly along the south city limits on the present travelled route of M-66 to May Street; thence north in the City of Charlevoix on the present travelled route of M-66 (May Street) to Garfield Avenue; thence west on the present travelled location of M-66 (Garfield Avenue) to the present route of US-31.

(minus 0.8 mile urban)
(minus 0.26 mile on -boundary)
JULY 13, 1964

(3) Established Location
Commencing on the established location of M-66 at its intersection with the south limits of the City of Charlevoix; thence northwesterly in the City of Charlevoix on the established location of M-66 to its junction with the present route of US-31.

WHEREAS, prior to the abandonment of the above described portion of the present travelled route of M-66 a field survey will be made by a State Highway Department Engineering Review Committee in cooperation with the City of Charlevoix to determine what, if any, repairs are necessary to provide a facility adequate to serve the traffic it will carry after abandonment as a State trunkline highway.

WHEREAS, under existing statutes, a survey will be conducted by the State Highway Department in cooperation with the City of Charlevoix to determine what property rights and interests in the portion of trunkline described herein should be transferred to the City of Charlevoix.

WHEREAS, the State Highway Commissioner has agreed to execute proper instruments of conveyance in favor of the City of Charlevoix when said survey is completed.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Council will take over the aforesaid streets as part of the City Street System when advised by the State Highway Department, in writing, that the new section of highway is completed and open to traffic;

PROVIDED, the State Highway Department continues the maintenance of said streets in the interim.

Resolution adopted by the following Yea and Nay vote. YEAS: Aldermen Whitley, Fochtman, Gill, Hoffmann, Neff and Parsel. NAYS: None. ABSENT: None.

The Finance Committee having examined bills totaling $42,072.88 find them correct and recommend they be allowed. Moved by Alderman Fochtman and supported by Alderman Gill that the bills be allowed and orders drawn for their amounts. Motion adopted by the following Yea and Nay vote. YEAS: Aldermen Whitley, Fochtman, Gill, Hoffmann, Neff and Parsel. NAYS: None. ABSENT: None.

On Motion the Council adjourned.
HUGH MAYNE - CITY CLERK

Field Narrows in Golf Tourney

Third flight defending champion, Dave Fowler, was dethroned while two other defenders remained in the running in the City Championship golf tournament now in its second week of play.

Fowler was edged by Ralph Hesse, Jr., 1-up on the 19th in the first round of play.

Celiner defeated Keith Miles, 3-1; Stan Fiedorek, first flight champion now playing in the top flight, defeated Grady Butler, 2-1.

Only three games were played in the first flight. Don Meggison defeated Bob McCall, Jr., 1-up; Bob Anderson won over Charlie Bleha, 3-2 and Pete Ance defeated L. V. Miles, 3-1.

Ken Balch won two matches during the week, defeating Bob Miller, 1-up, in the first round and then edging Del Terrill, 2-up.

In the second round of play, George Driggett eliminated Warren Belding on the 19th; Hal Hill edged Carl Mitchell, 2-up, and then was defeated, 8-6, by Fritz Puffaff, a strong contender for the title in the second flight.

Play in the third flight found Jerry Burke defeating Bill Carey, 5-3; Hesse defeating Fowler on the 19th; Pete Timmer winning over Bill Supernaw, 4-3; Jim Lewis defeating Alan Shepherd, 2-up; Chip Terrill defeating Joe Liston, 2-1 and Tom Bashem defeating Jess Penn, 1-up.

IN THE FOURTH flight, Bruce Bartlett defeated Ralph Doan, 8-7; Bob Novakowski eliminated Art Heilig, 2-up; Brian Knight defeated Ed Swanson, 2-up and Frank Wilson defeated Howard Wheeler, 4-3.

Only two matches were played in the Senior flight with Jack Supernault ousting Pat Hawley, 6-5, and Walt Draper defeating Les Coette, 3-2.

In the women's tourney only one round was played. Mrs. Charles Bleha defeated Mrs. Homer Brady, 2-up, with others expected to play their first matches early this week.

Stabbing Victim Out of Hospital

Richard Miller, 17, was allegedly stabbed by two young men who attempted to rob him in the Elementary School playground last Wednesday night, July 15. Police Chief Joe Smith reports.

Miller, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller, 112 W. Upright, told police he was beaten and stabbed by the two unidentified men when he refused to give them his wallet about 11:30 p.m.

THE KNIFE WOUND was treated at Charlevoix Hospital. Smith said it was about a half-inch deep. Miller was released from the hospital Friday.

State Police and the Sheriff's Dept. have joined City Police in an effort to find the two men.

Smith said Miller described them as about 6 feet tall, of dark complexion and in their 20's. Anyone who noticed two men of this description near the school night of the stabbing is asked to call Smith.

Miller's wallet, which was taken from him after the stabbing, was later found in a postal drop box. It did not contain any money when stolen.

Miller told Smith he was crossing the school yard on his way from the Lake Michigan beach when he was assaulted.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller and son of Sturgeon Bay, Wis., were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence F. Rabach.

Louis Edwards accompanied by Jeff and Steve Wilson, Victor Kantola, Jon Goldstick, Gordon Solomon and Tony Paolone spent a day at Mackinac Island recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce VanDerveer of St. Joseph are the parents of a son, Kirk James, born July 6. Mrs. VanDerveer is the former Deanna Left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald D. Left.

Terrance Pettier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Pettier, has enlisted in the U. S. Naval Reserve and has reported at the U.S. Naval Training Station at Great Lakes, Ill., for boot training.

Mrs. William Stevens and children have returned to their Grand Rapids home after visiting her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bergmann, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Donaldson of Ellsworth. Mrs. Bergmann and her brother, Terry Donaldson, took them to Grand Rapids and remained for a brief visit.

Guests of Mrs. Irene Melville have been her brother, Rev. Robert Boyd and sister Ella, of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Willard of Grand Rapids visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hamilton.

Mrs. Glenn Brennan of Hammond, Ind., who visited here with Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Richardson, has gone to Traverse City to visit Mr. and Mrs. John McCall.

Miss Barbara White has returned from Los Angeles. She has joined her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jake White, Sr.

CHS Grid Product To Battle Mentor

"He looms as the most serious challenge to Groza has faced in recent years although they actually won't match toes until early August after the rookie completes his work with the College All-Stars", according to a recent sports story in the Cleveland Press.

The rookie mentioned as possible rival to Groza, "The Toe" of football fame is none other than Charlevoix's Dick VanRaaphorst whom grid fans will see in action with the College All-Stars against the Chicago Bears Aug. 7.

THE STORY WENT on to say that it may turn out that Groza was tutoring his successor when he took time to give Dick some special kicking instruction some five years ago.

That was before VanRaaphorst's senior year at Charle-

On the Run

The blond wife in the amateur detective duo Mr. and Mrs. North, will star at the Cherry County Playhouse, Traverse City, July 28 through August 2 in "See How They Run."

This will be Miss Britton's first appearance at the Cherry County Playhouse. Performance times are 8:30 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and a Sunday night "early bird" curtain at 7:30 p.m. Thursday matinee will be at 2 p.m.

voix High School. A close friend of VanRaaphorst was a Groza neighbor and Dick wangled a trip to Berea for lessons from "The Toe".

After graduating from Charlevoix High School where he set records that no one has come close to breaking with the toe that received its early education under the guidance of Coach Don Carey, Dick went on to Ohio State where he set Big Ten distance field goal records of 48 and 49 yards.

The Cleveland Browns 10th round draft choice, VanRaaphorst will try his luck with the "big time" during the next eight weeks. At the present time he is booming practice field goals from 45 yards out at the Browns rookie camp.

DICK CONSIDERS Groza the greatest kicker in history, but is concerned that the approaching contest may lead to some sticky publicity.

The news story also told of his comeback after knee surgery in March 1963 necessitated by an injury received in the Ohio State-Indiana game in November 1962.

"My leg is at least as strong as it was before I was hurt" says the stocky six-footer who feels that the extra five pounds he's now carrying (making him 225) is helping his kicking.

He is married to an Oberlin, Ohio girl, the former Joanne Whitney. They have a seven-month old son, Jeffrey.

THE STORY CONCLUDES with "What happens in the next eight weeks will decide whether the VanRaaphorsts move from Columbus to Cleveland this fall. In any event, the Groza-VanRaaphorst duel should put quite a kick in the Browns' pre-season activity."

Dick is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William VanRaaphorst who now make their home in Ligonier, Pa.

We Add to Life By Subtracting

Lift for Living

By REV. H. E. KOHN

Now in July our rose bushes show the benefits of careful pruning. Blossoms are biggest and best where the canes and stems have been prudently cut back. The winterkill of frigid months would have sapped the strength of the bushes, had not the hurt branches been removed in the spring. Excess rose canes absorb the vitality of the plant so that energy needed for flowers is dissipated into unneeded stems.

Each bush in the flower garden must feel the cut of the pruning knife before it can produce a maximum display of beauty. Tree to be at their best, roses gain added glory by losing some stalks, stems and flowers. Orchard trees add to their fruitfulness when they subtract excess limbs and twigs from their bulk.

Pruning is as necessary for the welfare of the human spirit as it is important for the flourishing of a rose garden. We ordinarily act as if we believed that human life is enriched only by an accumulation of more things. A plus sign has become the sacred symbol of our affluent way of life. But a minus sign is needed to balance our pulses. We thrive on sacrifice, roses are pruned hard at the crown. Floribunda roses need only moderate pruning. Hybrid tea roses are pruned lightly if a great many flowers are wanted; more pruning is required if fewer but lovelier blooms are desired; and they are pruned severely if the best possible blooms are needed for exhibition purposes.

ROSE BUSHES SHARE the fate of evergreen trees and shrubs, hedges, vines and fruit trees. They must be pruned if they are and we grow by losing.

Here are a few places where pruning will help your spirit prosper:

Trim out of your existence all excessive, fussy business. Only then can you savor the good God has planted in your days. Rushing about, engaged in the excitement of making and keeping dates and schedules, attending meetings and conventions, spending time on secondary events and negligible engagements, we crowd our brains with trivia. In our hysterical haste we fail to enjoy the scenery as we travel toward our Eternal Home. We substitute a brisk business for an awareness of the beauties around us, the people near us, and the God whose we are. We are so preoccupied with little things that we neglect our chief duty -- growing a soul. Much of this frantic activity is busy for the sake of busy, itself rather than for any high purpose. (We know people who are too busy to work on a committee, too busy to spend time with their friends in casual conversation, too busy to play happily with their children too busy to go to church. But who has ever found a person too busy to tell in great detail how busy he is? Prune back all business that is purposeless activity. Cut away the ceaseless bustle that is an unconscious attempt to divert your mind from seeing yourself as you are. You will become spiritually fruitful in direct proportion to the number of unimportant things you can let alone.

PRUNE BACK ALL mediocrity in your life so that you become more serviceable. Assuming responsibility where you and your advice are not wanted will prevent you from being of help where and when you are most needed. Mercilessly trim cancelled cocksureness from your mind. The grace to admit we are occasionally mistaken makes us easier to live with and keeps us capable of learning new truth and recognizing old truth when

It appears in new forms.

Cut away all ambition for prominence. Fame is not wicked if nobly achieved, but the craving for fame for fame's sake is a sin that makes many another sin inevitable. Craving for prominence puts all other values at the mercy of public approval and applause. Everything one does is measured by the credit and praise received. The chief benefactors of the race -- the poets, dramatists, composers, painters, inventors and prophets -- have simply sought to serve the world wherever their God-given capacities filled world need. For them, service was first and fame incidental. Distinction is a consequence and not the aim of a great soul.

Prune back your preoccupation with yourself if you are to find delight in the days God gives you here. Self-absorption makes for misery. Enjoyment of life withers when you think only of yourself, your hurts, your happiness, what you like, what you deserve, what people think of you and how you can make them think better of you. Joy grows as self-centeredness is diminished and as concern for others and love for God flourish.

THIS CONVERSATION took place between an unlearned restaurant waiter and a customer who was ordering his breakfast: "Please bring me two fried eggs, a slice of ham, coffee, toast and rolls. No, waiter, on second thought, eliminate the eggs." The waiter looked puzzled and asked, "Excuse me, sir, but what did you say about those eggs?" "I said to eliminate the eggs." "Yes, sir!" The waiter went to the kitchen. He shortly returned to the customer's table, leaned over and said in a low, apologetic whisper, "Master, we are terribly sorry but we had a little accident here at the restaurant this morning. Our eliminator got busted off, right at the handle, so we can't eliminate your eggs. Would you mind having them scrambled instead?"

A great need of our times is to get our eliminators repaired. We must prune away not only the obvious evils but the good that is the enemy of the best. Such courageous pruning makes for an abundant growth of the soul.

Tourists to Ironton are sometimes called Dear Tourists, but last Sunday several live Dear Tourists were seen looking down at Ironton's famous ferry-secret hope that the deer will stay a while at least until hunting season.

Mr. James (Skip) Bell from Chicago stated he has fished Lake Charlevoix all four seasons for 17 years and has yet to catch a Bass of any size until last Friday when he caught a 17 inch 2 lb. one.

Mrs. Harly Perry two weeks ago fishing caught a 11" and 12" bass at the same time -- pretty good when some men can't catch one at a time.

Waterways Commission Handicaps Yachtsmen

CHARLEVOIX AND hundreds, probably thousands, of boaters are unjustly handicapped this summer because the Michigan Waterways Commission refuses to budge from its absurd inconsistencies.

Charlevoix has asked the commission to contribute more than 50% to a proposed $150,000 municipal harbor improvement project. The commission has staunchly rejected the city's request.

CONSEQUENTLY, CHARLEVOIX'S harbor master and dock master have been forced to turn dozens of boats out to anchor. Perhaps this figure should already be hundreds. Certainly, in a few days it will be.

Other communities have received more than 50% for harbor improvement from the commission for harbor improvements. The commission has a ready-made list of excuses for giving these towns more than one-half. But, to us, these excuses sound like so much bureaucratic hogwash.

The commission contends that some harbors get 75%, and more, to improve their docks because they are "harbors of refuge." This we can see. But we cannot see why a harbor of refuge needs more than a few pilings for boatmen to tie up to. When dock facilities get more elaborate they are for more than refuge.

NOT THAT WE BEGRUDGE other communities their harbors. Our argument is with the Waterways Commission.

But, as it stands, other communities, that are considerably less deserving, are getting more than one-half.

PERHAPS EVEN MORE important, boaters obviously prefer Charlevoix. The Waterways Commission gets its money from taxes boaters pay. This, to our way of reasoning, means it should be used to improve facilities where boaters most want them. That's Charlevoix.

From the way we read it we would have a better chance of getting cooperation from the Waterways Commission if we were an indolent community that would take none of the initiative and had a shabby harbor that desperately needed cleaning up.

This editorial will undoubtedly make Waterways Commission bureaucrats mad. They may even use it as an excuse for sustaining their unrealistic attitude toward Charlevoix's pleas.

IF SO, WE WOULD remind them they are public servants. And though it may be unrealistic of us, we still maintain that government is for us . . . not the bureaucrats who find it a soft way of life.

Fortunately, Michigan's new constitution will eliminate many independent bureaucratic dynasties -- such as the Waterways Commission -- by lumping them into more efficient organizations.

Dr. Hoffmann's Contribution Holds Lasting Value for All

ALL OF US FAMILIAR with Dr. Walter F. Hoffmann watched his rise from town critic to a seat on the City Council with considerable interest. Quite frankly, the outspoken dentist had us all guessing.

Would he use his first ward alderman position to fight constructive programs and recall lingering minority wounds? Or would he apply his unquestioned wisdom and wit to building a better Charlevoix? The latter, we suspected and hoped.

HOWEVER, DURING HIS first couple of months on the council, Hoffmann has been uncommonly quiet. This, to say the least, was out of character, as we understood it. We even began to worry: Would he be deadwood?

The last few weeks have removed our qualms.

Though in years to come we doubt anyone will give it a second thought, we feel Dr. Hoffmann last week made a major contribution to Charlevoix's future in urging the city council to get behind a letter advertising program.

By printing such slogans as "Charlevoix the Beautiful" on all mail leaving Charlevoix we will be creating a worldwide image.

As suggested by councilmen, the Chamber of Commerce could buy several hundred of these stamps at a bulk order price and sell them at cost to residents.

Charlevoix people are extremely proud and aggressive in boosting the town they love so dearly. We have no doubt but what they would enthusiastically respond to Dr. Hoffmann's and the Council's proposal to promote their city every time they mail a letter.

AS ANNOUNCED ON page 1 of this week's Courier, we are sponsoring a contest to see what kind of slogans Charlevoixians can come up with for their advertising message to the world. This, to us, sounds like a lot of fun. For instance, we can think of several without too much trouble: "CHARLEVOIX -- Pearl of the Inland Seas," "Dynamic, Dramatic CHARLEVOIX," "CHARLEVOIX -- A Dynamic City, Dramatically Blessed by Nature," "CHARLEVOIX -- Winter Queen of the North." Of course, we would never want to quit using "Charlevoix the Beautiful."

OUR READERS WRITE

City Golfer Favors Adding 9 New Holes

DEAR EDITOR: Having spent a great deal of time in my youth as a caddy and now in later life on the same golf course as a so-called golfer I thought it about time that I express my opinion towards the future changes proposed for the course.

A lighted course is a fine idea and no doubt will be a terrific tourist attraction and I am all for it. But not to be built in conjunction with the present municipal course or on the land that will some day make a fine additional 9 holes to add to our ever increasing play on our present nine.

A very worthwhile and sound investment on an old golf course is the re-establishing of our course to the 18 holes it once was. After all the City of Charlevoix will no doubt grow considerably, if the Kiplinger report for this area holds true, and with the present building going on all looks rather rosy.

In time there will be so many golfers on our present 9 hole course that many will let this wonderful game of golf give way to other sports and pastimes. I can speak from experience that on all courses in the Chicago area it takes from 5 to 7 hours to play 18 holes on a weekend.

Conventioneers staying at proposed new hostels might very well be interested in holding some golf tournaments during the year. For this reason 18 holes is very necessary, I am sure all season ticket holders will agree.

As I walked over the old property one evening this week there was a bit of nostalgia as one could picture the beautiful greens and the quiet secluded fairways of a not so prosperous era past. I could not help notice that "we really have it made" as we have the most expensive item on hand already and that is the land on which to build our new 9.

MY PROPOSAL is build another 9 with three par threes. This will bring us to regulation figures for an 18 hole course and cut expenses somewhat. I should like to say to a statement that was made in last week's paper in regards to "adding another flat uninteresting 9 holes" if any one thinks that flat courses aren't tough all they need do is look back on the "Old Mother" course in St. Andrews, Scotland toughest of them all.

Before any drastic steps are taken that we might all be sorry for, why not take all of the golfers viewpoint in this area. In other words a poll. Also to get all financial data future, greenfees if 18 holes were reestablished and all other pertinent data such as design etc.

I believe most of these decisions should be made by the golfers in this area in fair retrospect. Thank you for letting me express my opinion.

Would like to see others printed.

Sincerely

James Annis

We Don't Want Unsanitary Conditions

DEAR EDITOR:

Yes Shep, I agree with your friend, you should go to Cuba or Cyprus. No doubt you could straighten these misunderstandings out in a short time, exposing difficulties on both sides of the fence, but don't leave us now, until you have things coming all the way here.

We don't want people living in shacks, or unsanitary conditions to breed disease. We want these people to be educated and learn our way of life.

THERE ARE SOME nice homes on this end of town and the owners are paying taxes, but our tax money in the past has been used in other parts of town.

Up until recently State St. has been merely a cow path from Garfield to the public cemetery; no curbs and only a sidewalk on one side of the street and a year ago that sidewalk was not even plowed. We had to walk down the middle of the road, and if you wanted to put mail in the box on the corner of State and Garfield you would have to wade snow clear to your waistline.

If the city can't find men enough to clear this snow why don't they put the prisoners to work from our jail to earn their board and use their wages to build suitable living quarters for these unfortunate children and senior citizens.

If you are not interested in building units on this property why not let the fishermen park their net reels free, so they will have more room to dry them. They are all men who have paid taxes here for years.

MR. ANTHONY, CITY Manager of Boyne City really has the right idea about the incinerator. This would be a well paying project. He is thinking about the future and something that would benefit all of our citizens. This is the time to investigate and do something about it, not wait to the last minute like we did the last time.

We are fortunate to be able to bring our suggestions out in the open, instead of circulating petitions to present to our Council to have them lose it and never act on the desires of deserving, taxpaying citizens. If you print this please withhold my name.

Disgusted With Dirt in Pond

DEAR EDITOR:

I got a big kick out of reading in the Courier about how worried the City Fathers are about getting the shower and lockers in at the City dock which is all well and good.

But right now instead of worrying about how clean they can help keep the people who come into the fair city by yacht they should first try and keep the fish pond in the park clean.

WHEN I LIVED OVER in Charlevoix that pond was one of the hot spots in the park it always looked so nice, the weekend of the 4th I took some friends over there and was telling them about the pond when I took them down to see it. I was really embarrassed, the pond is rotten, coke bottles and junk all over the bottom even beer cans, no wonder the poor fish don't swim around no doubt they are afraid they will cut their tail or fins.

You people are doing such a good job of cleaning up your so called Slums over there but you seem to be forgetting your front yard and that is what people see first no matter which way they come into town.

Mrs. Robert A. Kline

odds in ends

By FRANK MARTIN

You must be aware by now, after a week of nothing but the convention, that this is the year . . . the year of the presidential election . . . along with all other public officials ranging from the top man on the totem pole, the president, to township officials . . .

The date of the primary election is fast approaching and if you want to put your little "X" before the name of your favorite candidate, better check to make sure you're registered . . . if you'll reach your 21st birthday before Sept. 1 you can register now . . . if you've never registered, now is the time and if you have not exercised your right to vote since Dec. 1961, then you'll have to re-register . . . Chances are you've been informed by the clerk where you were registered if you're no longer registered to vote . . . if you're in doubt, be sure and check before the deadline Aug. 3 . . . It's so simple . . . all you have to do is go into the office of the city clerk or township clerk where you live, tell said person you'd like to register . . . You just have to write your name, address, date of birth, length of time in the voting precinct and give the name of your father and mother . . . and viola! . . . you're registered . . . Simple? Sure it is . . . and it doesn't hurt at all . . .

LAST WEEK WAS International week for me . . . and it was quite an experience . . . It all started as I was cruising up Michigan ave. minding my own business when I was flagged down by Mrs. William Parsons . . . She had as her passengers, four of the eight Pakistani farmers who were touring this area. Probably what amazed me the most was their English . . . and when I mentioned it to them, they said that this was the international language and that they had all learned it in school . . . Each was indeed an ambassador for his country and was quick to tell you anything you might want to know . . . All were farmers, all had a special cash crop plus other crops . . . They were very interested in all the mechanized equipment we use on our farms here . . . and in the diversified crops we raise . . .

They talked and talked about the scenery here . . . perhaps because it is so different from theirs . . . and they liked the mild weather . . . adding that it's not unusual to have temperatures up to 110 degrees this time of year . . . but they did admit that the air was dry and, as a result, not as unbearable as a moist heat . . .

All four spoke repeatedly of the hospitality of the Americans . . . and all went to return again to this country . . .

ANOTHER THING that impressed me very much was their pride in their independence . . . which is comparatively new to them . . . and their pride in their sections of their country . . . East and West Pakistan . . . which are separated by the Republic of India . . . Rice is the staple food in East Pakistan; wheat in West Pakistan.

The next day I had occasion to meet the three Iraqi soldiers who were aboard the Sundew . . . They had been here since early March and liked it here . . . In fact, all three said they'd like to come back here to live . . . All came from the city of Baghdad and all came from families ranging from six to 11 children . . . One's father was a retired merchant, another a former police official . . . can't remember what the third one was . . .

I asked how they liked American girls and the response was something . . . they'd been here long enough to pick up a few American expressions and here they put them to good use . . . But they did get serious and say that at home their women, in most instances, still covered their bodies from top to toe, even wearing the face veil . . . and that one does not dance with girls unless it's one's sister and that's done within the home . . . As one might suspect, all three were Moslems . . . which created quite a probably for the ship's commissary department for they didn't eat pork . . . but they made out very well . . . food-wise . . . And with their good looks and personalities, I think they'll make out any place . . .

THEN CAME THE little German lad . . . only 18 with a scrubbed pink and white complexion and fair hair, he looked as tho' he should still be in school . . . Also speaking good English tho' he had trouble finding the right word in English, he said this was his second year as a salt-water sailor . . . He'd fallen through the hold of the German freighter and brought to our hospital where he said he received fine care and was very comfortable . . .

You'll admit that it was quite a week . . . certainly an interesting one. A recent issue of the Michigan Farm News featured a story about one of our local gals, Mrs. Thomas Welland, who's about one of the busiest gals I know . . . This story told of her activities with the Farm Bureau . . . she's presently chairman of District 10-West . . . This, plus a picture of her, tells the story of one of the community's hardest workers . . . in the Farm Bureau, the church and the community . . .

And don't forget to pick up your souvenir program put out by the Chamber of Commerce . . . just saw one and they're really something . . . Your friends away from Charlevoix would enjoy one, I'm sure . . .

Have you noticed all the lovely flowers in gardens around town . . . I envy people with green thumbs and there sure are a lot of them by the looks of said gardens . . . which everyone enjoys . . .

And to Queen Marceio a happy reign . . .

And to Courier readers, don't forget to call with your news . . . big or small

On Our Side

DEAR EDITOR:

As a dues paying member of the Democratic Party I want you to know I side with you in your stand on the post office. I think it unfair and narrow minded of Democrats to suddenly start attacking you for writing your opinion on the appointment.

You did not attack us (Democrats). In fact you made it quite clear you know we have a right to appoint anyone we want to. After the fair treatment you have given all parties it seems stupid to me for the Democrats to start kniving you.

I SHOULD ALSO say it is rather disgusting to see all of the so-called Democrats suddenly become active now that there is something worthwhile to be gotten, if they were half as busy during elections we might win some up here.

A New and Outstanding Feature of Aug. 8 Waterfront Fair

Detroit Boosts Fair

By FRANK MARTIN

American art at its best, a choice of paintings from the Detroit Institute of Art representing "Our American Heritage... Peoples and Places," will be exhibited Aug. 8, at Charlevoix's Waterfront Fair for Artists and Craftsman, Mrs. Jack Rader, chairman, announced.

From 25 to 35 outstanding examples of American art will be brought to the Waterfront Fair via the magnificent new "Art-Mobile," through the efforts of the Founders Society of The Detroit Institute of Art for one day. Mrs. Rader said this is a real "plum" to the fair, which annually attracts more than 100 outstanding artists and craftsmen.

WORKS RANGING from the 18th century to the present day by such famous artists as John Singleton Copley, Thomas Eakins, Winslow Homer and Ben Shahn have been selected to portray our country and the people in it," Mrs. Rader continued.

Mrs. Rader said the Waterfront Fair, in its sixth year, has become the finest of its kind outside the Detroit metropolitan area. She added that the Artmo-bile, with its choice selection of American art, will offer visitors to the fair an opportunity to view art seldom seen outside museums.

At a meeting of the Waterfront Fair committee, Mrs. Paul Kohler, a member of the committee, reported that entry blanks are coming in daily from artists and craftsmen entering the fair.

More than 200 entry blanks have been sent to former exhibitors and to new names referred to the committee by the Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the fair. In addition, she said that many new people have made inquiries and have entered the fair, this giving the event many popular exhibitors as well as new and different types of artists and craftsmen.

MRS. RADER ADDED that only by adding new things each year can the Waterfront Fair hope to hold its own in a highly competitive field. That is why the appearance of the Artmobile should be a major attraction at this year's fair August 8.

A drive-in movie just south of Portland, Maine, on Route 1, doubles as a drive-in church on Sunday mornings.

New Road Assures Access To Lake Michigan Campers

Construction is underway on a new road to provide access to the scenic drive along Lake Michigan south of town.

According to the Charlevoix County Road Commission and Charlevoix Township Supervisor Clarence Rabach, the new road will guarantee the public a route into the Bell's Bay State Forest campground.

Medusa Cement Co. is paying for construction of the road, it is expected to cost approximately $10,000, it will be gravel and have a 66-foot right of way.

Medusa agreed to have the road built, under the Road Commission's supervision, if Carpenter Rd. was abandoned, Carpenter Rd. runs through mineral deposits on Medusa property.

It can cut this road off.

The cement company has for years contributed toward maintenance of the South Point road on a yearly basis.

Rabach reports he is trying to negotiate a permanent agreement with Medusa to keep the South Point road open.

County Tops Goal

Charlevoix County has topped its contributions goal for construction of an All Faiths Chapel at Traverse City State Hospital. Plans for the chapel have been approved for the 2,000 patients at the hospital.

Rev. Alexander Wood was chairman of the fund raising drive in Charlevoix County, Courier correspondent Frank Martin was special gifts chairman.

Slogans Pour Into Courier For Contest

AS PREDICTED in last week's Courier, Charlevoix people have responded enthusiastically to suggestions that slogans be stamped on all out-going mail.

The first week of the Courier's slogan contest brought in more than two dozen ideas for slogan to promote Charlevoix on mail sent out of the city.

THE CONTEST WILL continue for at least another two weeks. Prizes offered for the slogans selected by judges as the best are a free three year subscription to the Courier and two one year subscriptions.

The slogan idea was proposed by Councilman Dr. Walter Hoffmann and promptly supported by the rest of the Council. Their suggestion is that all businesses with postage meters get plates to print the slogans on letters, and that citizens be offered a chance to buy rubber stamps at cost.

This, Dr. Hoffmann pointed out, will result in delivering Charlevoix's message to thousands of people throughout the world.

Charlevoix's traditional slogan—"Charlevoix the Beautiful"—should continue to be used, with new ones selected from the Courier contest supplementing it, councilmen decided.

ALL COURIER READERS were urged to submit their slogan ideas. They should be limited to no more than six words, and mailed to the newspaper at 101 Clinton St., Charlevoix.

Slogans submitted during the first week include:

From Connie Raymer--CHARLEVOIX--The Tri-Lake Jewel of Michigan; CHARLEVOIX--Winter and Summer Playland; CHARLEVOIX--The Epitome of Nature.

From Mrs. Dan Linnane, 350 Forty-second St., Des Moines, Iowa--Stay and Play the Charlevoix CHARLEVOIX Way.

FROM MRS. ARTHUR Falting, Sr., Division Ave. --"Charlevoix the Beautiful" ... All Year Round.

From Pat Moran--CHARLEVOIX, The Queen City.

From Henry Stephan--CHARLEVOIX--The Nation's Gem.

From Eleanor Ratigan--Charlevoix the Beautiful ... Your Vacation Address.

R. K. Gunther submitted the following slogans, all prefaced by "Charlevoix the Beautiful": For New Zest, Come and Feel Better, More Like Home, With Friendly Folks, For Your Pleasure, Fun for Everyone, and On Three Lakes.

Dr. Hoffmann submitted the following slogan ideas. They will not be entered in the contest because he is a judge. CHARLEVOIX--Home of Water Wonderland, CHARLEVOIX--A Water Wonderland Original, CHARLEVOIX--Birthplace of the Water Wonderland.

Form Foundation To Serve People

The State of Michigan has officially accepted Charlevoix's Hidden Brook Foundation as a non-profit organization, directors of the foundation announced Monday.

The Hidden Brook Foundation was organized, several months ago by a group of Charlevoix business, civic and professional leaders. However, the foundation could not be officially incorporated until state approval was received.

THE AIMS OF THE Hidden Brook Foundation, as announced by foundation president Julius Gilbert, are to serve the people of this community regardless of race or religious preference in the broadest sense of the word--social, educational, health and welfare.

Suggest Scrub Sidewalks With New Chemical
A recently developed liquid cleaning agent may hold the answer to Charlevoix's much-discussed problem of sidewalk stains.

The notorious black marks on the sidewalks can be taken off by using "Life-Away," a chemical cleaning agent which will serve this released by DuBois Chemicals and its people for in June, Don Anders, the company's northern Michigan representative, reports.

ANDERS IS A CHARLEVOIX resident and active in Community Chest, Kiwanis, Boy Scouts and other civic activities.

He reports he has tried the new cleaning solution on the sidewalk marks, and that it removes them readily.

The marks, which are especially bad in the half block starting on the northwest side of Bridge St. and extending north, were caused by a waxed candy container discarded by children.

Anders estimated enough of the cleaning agent to do the entire job could be purchased for less than $200. He volunteered to advise and supervise the cleaning project if businessmen or city officials will supply the labor and material.

To Fight $150,000 Claim

City in Court

The City of Charlevoix and Consumers Power Co. are being sued for $150,000 for alleged negligence causing the electrocution death of a 14-year old youth last October.

Attorneys for Frank J. Paszkiewicz, administrator of the estate of Gary J. Oldham, have started the suit in Circuit Court here.

A JURY TRIAL HAS been demanded by Paszkiewicz.

Gary was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Oldham of 402 Mason St. The family had only recently moved to Charlevoix.

He died Oct. 25, from electrocution when he took hold of a power line while climbing a tree. The tree, a 75 to 100 foot high oak, is located on Sherman St. near Mason.

The complaint and demand for a jury filed by attorneys Doozan, Scorsone and Trojan of Saginaw, asks the court to award Gary's estate $150,000 to be paid by the city and Consumers.

THE COMPLAINT contends the city was responsible for the fatal accident, because of the condition of its electric lines.

The wires, the plaintiff claims, were "highly dangerous" because insulation was frayed off in places and some of the wires were completely without insulation.

The city's electric system is described as being in a "state of disrepair."

The "City failed to keep its electrical system, including its wires, reasonably safe," the complaint states.

CONSUMERS IS NAMED as a co-defendant because it is alleged to be "negligent and careless" in supplying current when the city's wires were unsafe.

According to the plaintiff, children commonly played in the tree, and the city was responsible for protecting them.

The wire which Gary was electrocuted on is said to carry 4,000 volts, or more.

After learning about the suit through records in County Clerk Fenton R. Bulow's office, the Courier discovered it had originally been started earlier this year in Grand Rapids Federal Court.

CITY OFFICIALS had not informed the public about the suit.

The Federal Court ruled the suit came under the jurisdiction of the Circuit Court.

The Courier also learned the city's liability insurance only covers $50,000. This means city taxpayers could end up paying $100,000, if the plaintiff wins.

Consumers is expected to ask to be dismissed as a co-defendant on the grounds that it is not responsible for the condition of the city's lines.

CITY ATTORNEY John Michael and insurance company attorneys are expected to represent Charlevoix in the suit.

MOON STEALS SHOW--Thousands of viewers saw this picture unfold Saturday night as the moon came over the horizon behind the railroad bridge in the channel between Round Lake and Lake Charlevoix. The classic combination of moonshine on the water, fireworks and lighted boats create a spectacular scene on Round Lake. A complete, two-page, pictorial report on the Venetian Festival is found on pages 8 and 9 of this week's Courier.

Rains Freshen Farm Pastures

TUESDAY NIGHT'S rain brought new life and freshness to Charlevoix's critically dry pastures and fields. After surveying effects of the rain Wednesday morning County Agricultural Extension Director Ed Rebmam said it tentatively eliminated the possibility that livestock raisers will have to request emergency feed.

Charlevoix County farmers are facing another showdown with the rain gods this summer.

For the second summer in a row it looks as though farmers may have to call for help, because they have been deserted by their whimsical ally, rain.

UNLESS THERE IS more rain, and soon, County Agricultural Extension Agent Ed Rebmam reports, farmers will have to request emergency feed assistance.

Last summer, when pastures went dry, seven or eight carloads of corn and barley were rushed into the county to save dairy and beef herds. The drama will be repeated in the next few weeks if the rains don't come, Rebmam said.

Two-thirds of the county's farm income comes from livestock, Rebmam said. Approximately $100,000 is grossed annually on feeder calves, alone. If pasture is not moist enough, cattle will have to be fed with imported grain.

The hay harvest is already well underway, and may have largely been saved by rains a few weeks ago, he added.

BEFORE THE EARLY summer rains unexpectedly arrived, Rebmam said Charlevoix County farmers were on the verge of calling for emergency feed.

The sour cherry harvest is in full swing, Rebmam said. He added that it looks like as good as a year as any for orchardists. There are approximately 45,000 sour cherry trees owned principally by the county's 35 major growers.

Sweet cherry production is very limited here, with only about 6,000 trees. Most sweet cherries raised are sold at local roadside stands, Rebmam said.

Tight Fit

To make room for the two full pages of pictures on the Venetian Festival (pages 8 and 9) several other stories, pictures and regular features had to be left out of your this week's Courier. The Courier's editorial staff regrets these omissions, and will do its best to see that stories and pictures scheduled for this week are printed next week. THANK YOU!

2 Democrats Out Of County Race

The field of Democratic challengers to Charlevoix County's top Republican incumbents was narrowed down last week from four to two.

The County Election Commission disqualified two Democrats who attempted to get their name on the ballot for failing to comply with state law.

PETITIONS FOR Township candidates were filed in Charlevoix Township, Eveline Township and St. James Township.

Due to a misunderstanding no petitions were filed in Peaine Township, meaning there will be no candidates for township officers on the November ballot. Voters in Peaine Township, population 34, will have to write their candidate's name on the ballot. All incumbents will be running as write-in candidates.

Petitions were also filed for all state representatives from this district, with a primary battle guaranteed for senate and representative from both parties.

There will be no primary election for supervisor in the four townships under the primary system. All other townships nominate their candidates at party caucus.

A COMPLETE NEW slate of officers is assured in Eveline Township. Incumbents not running for re-election are William Sanderson, supervisor; Douglas Knudsen, clerk; and Christine Loomis, treasurer.

Candidates filing petitions in Eveline were: Republicans--Wayne Saunders, supervisor; Walter Kemp, clerk; Betty McDonald and Reha Parsons, treasurer, and Zola Kemp, incumbent for trustee. Joseph Howe filed as a Democrat for Supervisor.

In Charlevoix Township Clarence Rabach, incumbent Republican, is the only candidate for supervisor. Also seeking re-election are John Blanchard, clerk, and Rose Bergman, treasurer. Charles Bleha will run for re-election as trustee. (Continued on Page 2)

Oleson's Will Open 'Anytime'

Sixty people have been working fulltime to get the shelves stocked at the new Oleson's Food Store on the corner of Antrim and Bridge streets.

The new super market may open "anytime" within the next few days, Bill Cooper, manager, announced this week.

COOPER, WHO returned to the Charlevoix super market business to manage the store, said 25 local persons have already been hired to work at the market.

Cooper was an assistant manager at the Charlevoix Kroger Store five years ago. He was with the Michigan Builders of Traverse City before returning here.

Two-hour parking meters were ordered installed on Clinton St. from Bridge St. to Round Lake by Councilmen Monday.

Councilmen pointed out some people have been taking advantage of the Clinton St. parking.

ALSO DISCUSSED, but rejected, was the possibility of putting meters on the Mason St. lot and waterfront lot.

He has been in the grocery business 14 years.

Mrs. Cooper is the former Betty Orvis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn Orvis of Ironton.

According to Cooper the store will offer the biggest variety of food items north of Traverse City in the Lower Peninsula. There will be more than 5,000 items on the shelves, he said.

THE STORE WILL open as soon as the 60 salesmen and stock boys have the shelves filled and the air conditioning system is completed, Cooper said.

Special sections in the store

Shelves of New Store Filling Up will include a gourmet assortment, barbecue section and delicatessen. A gas fired fireplace inside the store will be used to bake pies and bread and prepare buffalo and elk meat while customers watch.

The store is lighted by 3,200 linear feet of lights.

Four checkouts will be used to move customers through the store as fast as possible.

COOPER ANNOUNCED that the Oleson Shopping Center will include a Kingsburger shop, laundromat and beauty shop. Leasing arrangements are not yet (Continued on Page 2)

Young GOP Club

Organization of a Charlevoix County Young Republican's Club will be discussed at an open meeting in East Jordan 7:30 p.m. Monday, Aug. 3.

Dawn Sayles, temporary chairman, reports Charlevoix people between 18-36 are invited to attend. The meeting will be at 207 Main St., East Jordan. Call her at LE 6-2371 for more information.

City Seeks Help Counting Ballots

Deputy City Clerk Herb Campbell reports he has several front row seats available for those who want to play a vital part in this fall's elections.

Campbell is even offering to pay city residents to fill these seats.

THE CITY'S LIST of election inspectors is running short, Campbell reports. He says a dozen persons from both the Democratic and Republican party are needed to fill out the list.

All you have to do to apply is stop at City Hall in the next few days.

City Ponders

Who Owes Who?

City Councilmen Monday evening, in attempting to make a decision on the future of Round Lake frontage property leased to Carl Kohler, learned they may own Kohler $5,000 in back bills.

City Attorney John Michael presented Councilmen with $5,000 in invoices from Kohler. The invoices are for work done -- but not billed -- for the city since 1950, Michael said.

of Round Lake frontage he occupies with his machine shop next to Carl Schultz. The city leased the property to him in 1944 for $75 a year.

Kohler has not paid the $75 annual lease fee since 1960, Michael said.

The city's lease agreement with Kohler says he may be offered the option to buy the property for $2,800. This price was written into the 1944 lease. Mayor E. D. Hawley and Councilman Dr. Walter Hoffmann estimated the property is now worth $4,000.

Michael said Kohler is interested in buying the property at the price set in the lease.

HOWEVER, MICHAEL told Councilmen, the lease leaves them the right to sell the property to anyone on an open bid basis.

Mayor Hawley asked the finance committee to make a recommendation on the issue. He mentioned the committee might consider trading the property to Kohler in lieu of paying the $5,000 in past bills.

Michael said the majority of the $5,000 is not legally collectable because it is for work done more than six years ago.

Hawley, however, said the city, probably, has a moral obligation to pay them, even though bills were never seen by councilmen until Monday evening.

Propose Name On CG Street

Coast Guard Station Group commander Lt. Comdr. Charles Milldradt has proposed the short street leading to the station from Dixon Ave. be officially designated Coast Guard Ave.

Milldradt made the suggestion in a letter received by City Councilmen Monday evening. Mayor E. D. Hawley asked City Attorney John Michael to determine what procedure would be necessary to give the unnamed street an official name.

THE CITY-OWNED street was recently hard surfaced at the request of Milldradt.

In his letter, Milldradt thanked Councilmen for paving the street and pointed out it adds considerably to the attractive appearance of the new Coast Guard station.

Golfing Up 25%

Sale of day tickets at the Charlevoix Municipal Golf Course were up approximately 25% earlier this month, according to manager Keith Carey.

Carey, in a letter to City Council Monday, said more than 1,500 day tickets had been sold as of July 8. This compared to 1,200 last year.

In St. James Township, Lloyd McDonough, supervisor; Philip Gregg, clerk and Vera Mae Wogan, treasurer, have no opposition in their bid for re-election.

DEMOCRATS WHO WERE disqualified as candidates in the county race are James Kelts, clerk candidate, and Merle Karlskin, for sheriff, both of Boyne City.

The Election Commission ruled, after consultation with the Secretary of State and Prosecuting Attorney Harvey Varnum, that the two Democrats had failed to file affidavits of identification, as required by state law.

County Democratic Committee Chairman George LaBlanc urged Kelts and Karlskin to appeal the Election Commission's decision to the state, but reports they chose not to.

Probate Judge John Makel is chairman of the Election Commission. County Treasurer Lillis Flanders and County Clerk Fenton R. Bulow are the other two commission members.

Dairy Records Help Production

By ED REBMAN
Extension Director

BOYNE CITY--The number of dairymen keeping production records on their dairy cattle is increasing each year.

The number of cows on test represented 22.4 per cent of all cows in the state during 1963. This compared with only 19.7 per cent of the state's cows on test in 1961. A total of 9,760 additional cows were enrolled in testing programs conducted within the state in 1963.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY had a total of 371 cows on test during 1963 which was 13 per cent of all cows in the county. The leader for cows on test was Oakland County with 43 percent. Sanilac County had the most cows on test with 6,908. A total of 36 counties had at least 20 per cent of their dairy cattle on test in 1963.

Dairymen keeping production records mainly use the Dairy Herd Improvement Association system. Slightly over 60 per cent of all cows tested in the state last year were in DHIA. Owner-Sampler enrolled over 38 per cent of all cows on test.

Hart Prods For Action On Lake Levels

U. S. Sen. Phillip A. Hart reports progress is being made on his proposal that Canadian water be diverted into the Great Lakes to raise and stabilize their level. Sen. Hart Friday addressed the Senate Subcommittee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries. He told the committee the levels of Lakes Michigan and Huron for the past four months have been at or below the record lows. Lakes Superior, Erie and Ontario are well below their long-term average levels, he added.

THE SENATOR CONTENTS adverse effects are being felt by commercial shipping, marinas, pleasure boaters, sports fishermen and fish and waterfowl. "We are told that there are various causes of these low water levels," Hart said, "among them lack of precipitation, the dredging of the channels for improvement of navigation and diversion of water out of the basin."

"From my preliminary study, it seems evident that no matter what might be done by way of controlling the waters in the basin, the long range solution lies in diverting additional water into the basin. This immediately suggests the need for the participation of Canada."

In a Courier article earlier this summer, Hart proposed low water levels that are harassing the Charlevoix area and plaguing less-fortunate Lake Michigan communities, can be corrected by diverting Hudson Bay water in Canada into Lake Superior and distributing it where needed in all the Great Lakes.

"MY PROPOSAL HAS BEEN transmitted to President Johnson, to the Secretaries of the Army, Commerce, Interior, Agriculture, and Health, Education, and Welfare, to the Director of the Bureau of the Budget, and to the Great Lakes Commission," the Senator said Friday.

"From the Corps of Engineers we have requested factual information on the water levels and a report on the status of their lake levels study from them and from the Department of Commerce their data on the impact of these levels on navigation and commerce."

"The Great Lakes constitute the greatest inland body of fresh water in the world. Yet already we see Lake Erie seriously crippled by pollution, and shortage of water causing unemployment in many of our port cities. It is my hope that we will not again be guilty of too little action, too late. I hope the you gentlemen here this morning will help us get on with the job."

No Bids on Club
No bids to purchase the Colonial Club property on Meech St. were received Monday evening by City Council.

The Council had advertised for bids to be in by Monday on the property. A minimum of $10,000 was set for bids.

NO IMMEDIATE decision was made on how the property will be disposed of after Monday's surprise development.

MSU Classes In Petoskey

Michigan State University will offer two courses in Petoskey during August.

Workshop in International Understanding (ED 881) will be in session from Aug. 3-14, from 8:30 to 11:30 a. m. daily.

MINORITY PEOPLES (SOC 433) will be conducted Aug. 3-21, from 9 a.m. to Noon Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Further information may be obtained from the Dean's office of North Central Michigan College in Petoskey. Both courses offer three term hours of graduate credit.

Miss Golf Balls

Four youths, under 16 years of age, were taken into Probate Court this week by City police for allegedly stealing 400 golf balls from the driving range at U.S. 31 South and State St.

City Police Chief Joe Smith said the youths live several miles south of town.

SOME OF THE GOLF balls were recovered in East Jordan, where they were thrown at signs and mailboxes, Smith said.

Michigan's loveliest queens will be a part of the Michigan State Fair, Aug. 28 through Sept. 7.

Women Attend State Confab On Homemaking

By CLARE BROWN
Extension Specialist
BOYNE CITY- Mrs. Ivy McFall, North St., Boyne City attended the 37th Annual MSU Homemakers' Conference, "College Week for Women"- July 21-24.

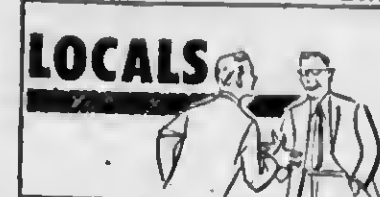

Some 1,000 women from throughout the state attend this event, which provides classes and general sessions to help homemakers improve the quality of living in the home, the community and the world. WHILE IN EAST LANSING, Mrs. McFall heard Michigan's First Lady, Mrs. George Romney, as she discussed "Building Stronger Families." Keynote for the three-day conference was Mrs.

Margaret Browne, director of home economics for the Federal Extension Service. Mrs. Browne, a native of Cadillac, talked on "Modern Dimensions in Family Living Education" Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. McFall attended sets of three classes on two subjects: Nutrition and The Consumer and Human Resources. College Week is sponsored by the MSU Cooperative Extension Service along with the MSU Continuing Education Service and the Michigan Home Economics Extension Council.

Subject to Law

Surely the eagle best represents the ideal of Liberty. But the picture shows him to be under restriction. He has duties to perform, young to rear and a home to protect. Perhaps freedom is linked with responsibility. From Alaska to the Gulf he ranges in freedom as monarch of the sky.

Yet, how subject is he to the natural laws of God. You never see birds very high in the sky. Most birds do not risk much of height above the tree tops. When exhausted they need a branch on which to perch. They fly awhile and then earth calls them down. How clearly the eagle speaks to us Americans. We are so free, yet so subject to God, so responsible to Him and ours. May we limit our own freedom, support His church and realize how subject we are to God.

Camp Charlevoix

Corrall Chatter

By KEN SMITH

The second half of the camp season started Monday with many new campers excited about getting into the many camp activities.

Cabin 17, Carl Brown's boys, took off on horseback for an overnight to Bayshore. These boys were: Arthur McKenny, Mark Murfin, Scott Graves, George Kryder, Jeff Owen, Woody Roe, John Ther, and Chris Bray.

TUESDAY WAS ANOTHER hot, hot day. The riding trip returned and Jerry Flora took his cabin 21 (our oldest boys) down the Jordan River on a canoe trip. These boys were: Terry Banis, John Martin, Mike Rittoff, Brian Dicken, Pete Eberbach, Bill Gross, Frank Kolbert, and David Ferguson.

About supper time, Rev. Lloyd Weamer, camp inspector for the American Camping Association arrived. Every five years, camps are inspected, and this is our year. It was a pleasure to have him as our guest. He stayed overnight with us and enjoyed some of Joe, the cook's renowned French Toast.

In the evening, the Jolly Juniors had a Scavenger Hunt and after much searching, the event ended in a 23-23 tie, so neither the Greens nor the Greys got a point in the competition.

Wednesday dawned hot again, and this heat wave has really been something. Paul Jane took his cabin 13 on a horseback trip, the boys being Mark Stephen, Joe Caskey, Jim Hutchinson, Steve Johnson, David Pliskin, John Vincent, Peter Stege and Bill West.

A canoe trip went down the Jordan River. This was cabin 12-Dan Morgan's boys, who were Peter Calvin, Scott Eckhold, Keith Graves, Ted Herrlinger, Jim Oakley, Brooks McKinney, and Joe Hawk.

IN THE EVENING, Capture the Camper was held. This is a great event, with the counselors trying to find the boys who are hidden in the woods. The team having the least number caught gets the point. After a merry chase, the Greens won seasons total to 10-10, all tied up at this point.

On Thursday, Bill Jackinovich and Grant Washburn took their cabins on a day trip to the Charlevoix Beach. These are the youngest and smallest boys in camp, and they had a fine time.

Mike Schenck took his cabin 15 on a canoe trip down the Jordan, these boys being Dick Dan-to, Charles France, Craig Huss, Jim Alexander, David Walker, Brock Rodgers, and Irving Ingraham.

In the evening, Cabins 16, 17, 18, 19, and 20 were taken down to Camp Chippewa Trail for a dance. Needless to say that it was a great success and the boys came back here all set to have another as soon as possible.

ON FRIDAY, WES MURFIN took his cabin 9 on a canoe trip on the Jordan River and John Deane took his boys in cabin 5 on a horse trip. However in late evening we got word of a storm headed this way so we sent trucks and station wagons to pick up these boys out on trips.

The rest of the camp was seeing the movie about Mickey Mantle called "Safe at Home." We halted the movie and sent the boys to their cabins. The sailboats were all taken out of the water, and the camp was all battened down for the storm which came about 10:30 but was really as we had expected.

On Saturday, Wes Murfin took his boys back to the Jordan River to paddle down the river. These boys were: George Boomer, Douglas Ladney, Keith Smith, Andy Case, Mike Danaher, and Steve Danaher.

John Deane took his boys back to Bay Shore and the horses to ride them back to camp. These boys were: Peter Cudlip, Bob Scherer, Mark Herschede, Ron Ureel, Bill Stapleton, John Simmer, and they reported as having had a very fine ride.

In the evening we had skit night when several of the cabins gave short little skits.

DURING THE WEEK the Greens and the Greys met and elected new lieutenants. The Captains carried over as this honor is reserved for an eight week boy. The Green Captains are: Mike Rittoff, Mark Stephan, and Bobby Poplack. The Green Lieutenants are: Mark Murfin, Mac Wyatt, John Jelliffe, John Danaher, Peter Cudlip and Bob Scherer. The Grey Captains are: Doug Laing, Skip Sales, and Chuck Gardella. The Grey Lieutenants are: Bill Gross, Ernie Kelly, David Washburn, Jeff Nyland, Bill Stapleton, and Hugh Broder.

On Sunday morning, Bill Townsend, Director of Activities, was the speaker. He chose as his subject "Personality" and gave steps for a boy to take in building a worthwhile personality. The talk was most helpful.

In the afternoon, all the campers took part in a "waterfront afternoon" which meant that there were canoe races, swimming races, and a sailing race. The Greys won two points and the Greens won one point which

Backs Milliken

Robert Lieberman, 216 Park Ave., Charlevoix and owner-operator of Lieberman's store in Charlevoix, has accepted appointment as Charlevoix County Chairman in the state-wide organization being formed by Senator William G. Milliken in his campaign for the Republican nomination for Lieutenant Governor.

In announcing the appointment, Milliken said he is organizing units in all counties of the state. Lieberman, long identified with GOP activities in Charlevoix County, has been a delegate to past state conventions and says he has encountered strong loyalty to Milliken in the area.

THE LEUTENANT Governor nomination will be made at the state convention in September. Under the new Constitution, the nominee will be the running mate of Governor George Romney, precluding the possibilities of the two offices going to representatives of opposing parties.

brings the standing up to GREYS-18, GREENS-16.

At both Vesper Services held in the evening down along the shore so that the boys can look out across the lake and into the sunset, the speaker was one of our cowboys, Jeff Anderson, from Utah. He told of one of his experiences up in the mountains. It was most interesting and the boys listened for his every word. More next week.

Industrial Plant

City Councilmen were told Monday that electrical interruptions at the Hoskins Manuf. plant may cause the company to balk on plans for expansion.

Councilman William Fochtman said he has recently been contacted several times by Hoskins manager John Lachman about electrical power difficulties. Even brief power failures at the plant are critical and costly, Fochtman explained.

ACCORDING TO FOCHTMAN, Hoskins has reached maximum capacity at its present plant and is considering expanding. However, it is doubtful any additions will be made at the Charlevoix plant until the company feels confident power problems are cured, Fochtman said.

"It feel we should do everything possible, within reason, to cooperate with those people," Fochtman said.

City Supt. James Taylor reported recent power interruptions have been caused by lightning and falling trees.

He, and Mayor E. D. Hawley, assured Fochtman the city if delivering the best power it can to Hoskins.

The possibility of running a separate line to serve Hoskins was discussed, but councilmen pointed out it would be no more exempt to natural interruptions--such as lightning--than the present line is. Hoskins is now on a line with Freedmen Aircraft and American Mold.

Mrs. Jack Starnes returned to Kincheloe Air Force Base Monday after spending the week-

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Copeland had as their weekend guests JoAnn Lelling of Detroit, her cousin, Kenneth Lelling of Kallua, Hawaii, Karen Jeske of Munich Germany, and Rosemary Koeling of Royal Oak.

Rev. and Mrs. Robert F. Pfeiffer of Evanston, Ill., are spending a month at their Oyster Bay cottage. They have as their guests their son, Robert F. Pfeiffer, Jr., of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., and Lt. Col. and Mrs. George C. Valentine and children, John, Susan and Libby of Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Chet Robinson of Alma are visiting her mother, Mrs. James Parsens for ten days.

propose Plates To Replace Tabs

Charlevoix auto owners will get new license plates every year -- instead of every three years -- if Sec. of State James M. Hare gets his way.

Hare is asking the legislature to set up a program for annual license plates starting in 1966.

"IT IS OBVIOUS that Michigan's citizens want plates each year, and I'd like to give the public what it wants," Hare said.

He stated that this would mean scrapping the state's current system of issuing plates every third year and tabbing for two years.

"Our original plans called for issuing plates next year, 1965, issuing a sticker tab for two years, and then plating again in 1968," Hare said. "But our correspondence heavily favors annual plates... and we hope the legislature will implement such a program."

The tabbing system was initiated several years ago as an economy move. "Actually, 1960-61 costs for both systems... annual plates and our plate-tab operations... In all my budget requests," Hare said, "because the latter is less expensive, the legislature has been more favorably disposed to this alternative."

JUST HOW MUCH more annual plate program would cost has not been determined. "Perhaps we might utilize a thinner gauge metal and cut the cost somewhat," Hare said. "Cost of the raw metal is 6¢ for a set of metal tabs as against 22¢ for the metal to make the plates. Based on 4-million plates, this is close to three-quarters of a million dollars."

Rev. and Mrs. Gerrit Rozeboom of Grand Rapids were visiting.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Marshall and son, Bob, returned to Mt. Pleasant Sunday following a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Ingalls. Mrs. Marshall had been here a week; the others joined her for the weekend.

entire family, Mr. Mullin was greeted by Dennis Custer, coordinator at the Consumer Power Co. information center, who escorted the family to front row seats in the auditorium where a film, telling of the story of Big Rock, was about to begin.

When they were seated, Custer revealed Mr. Mullin was the 250,000th visitor to register at the information center since it was opened on June 24, 1961.

The family was introduced to other visitors and given a $50 Savings Bond. Later they were guests of the company at a luncheon at the Weatherlane Inn.

They were taken on a guided tour of a part of the plant visitors seldom see.

WHEN THE CENTER was opened, it was estimated that it would take ten years to reach the 100,000 mark. This mark was reached Aug. 2, 1962, 13 1/2 months after it was opened. Last week a quarter of a million people had registered and daily up to 1,000 people visit the center, Custer said.

Defending Champion Out of Tournament

By FRANK MARTIN

Dr. James Hilligan eliminated the defending champion of the senior flight, Jim Lawyer, in a lopsided match in the City Championship tournament at the Municipal Golf Course, Keith.

Carey club manager reports. Hilligan defeated Lawyer 7-5 in the only game played in this division during the week.

7-5 as he made his way into the quarter-finals. He will meet Bruce Hegley this week.

In other games in this flight, Ken Cellner eliminated Stan Fiedorek, last year's first flight champion, who is playing in the top division this season. Cellner won the match 1-up. Perry Smith defeated Kit Carson 1-up to meet Ted Ager for a berth in the quarter-finals.

In the first flight, Chick Gallagher defeated Wayne Beitel 3-1 and Art Krulik defeated Don Megison by the same score. They will meet in the quarter-finals this week.

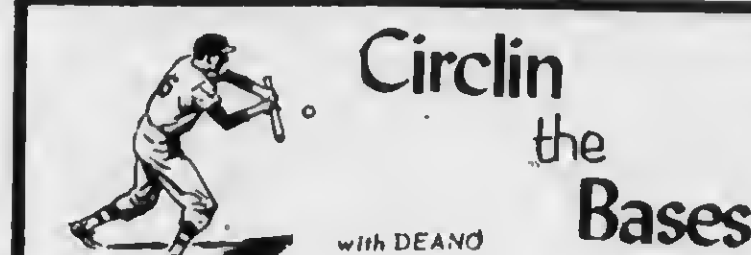

John Swanson assured himself of a berth in the playoff in this division by defeating Pete Ane 2-up Sunday.

DES MILLIGAN MOVED into the finals of the second flight by edging George Driggett 2-1 before eliminating Fritz Puffaff 2-1 later in the week. Norm Helms defeated Big Bergmann 1-up to go against Ken Balch in the quarter-finals of the division this week. The winner will meet Milligan in the play-off.

Only two matches were played in the third flight where Jerry Burke defeated Paul Santez 2-up and Carl Ikens won over Jim Lewis 5-3.

In the fourth division, Jim Alger defeated Bruce Bartlett 5-4; Brian Knight defeated Bob Novakowski 1-up; Frank Wilson defeated Louis McKenzie 1-up and Don Kowbel defeated Bob Gancel 1-up.

No matches were played in the women's tourney last week.

Near perfect weather allowed the largest crowd of the season to enjoy the annual Venetian Weekend all-star games.

In the Peanut League affair with the North going against the South, it was the North the victor 7-5. The North peaked away scoring all their runs in their four innings then hung on against the South's late rally for the win. Bill Carey led the North with two safeties while Stewart Coleman did likewise for the South. Kraag Lieberman pitched strong ball for the winners and held the South in check until the sixth inning when they scored four times.

IN THE FASTBALL League all-star game against strong Bare Construction of Detroit, the visitors posted twin wins 7-0 and 2-0. Nate Boss had allowed them only three hits in the first six innings then faltered in the heat and saw six hits score five times to break the contest wide open in the seventh. The locals had men in scoring position in every inning but one, but pitcher Dick Bare was too tough to crack. In the second game Ted Potter pitched a masterful one-hitter, but two fourth inning errors allowed the visitors two runs and that was all Chuck Paige needed in the 2-0 win.

FIRST WIN

In the fastball league the Air Force re-organized and appeared to be the most improved team in the loop. They scored nine times in their seventh inning to blast the Merchants game wide open and coast to a 13-2 victory. Long dormant bats suddenly came to life in the final frame and six solid hits, including a Hendrix three run homer produced the nine markers. Wright, Klisport, and Berry each banged out two hits apiece while Gary Stutzman turned the same trick for the Merchants.

The Air Force made it a contest against tough Morwell Steel before falling 6-4. In fact, had they not made so many misques in the field, the game would have been a cliff-hanger. Bob Klooster blasted out two long round trippers to lead the Morwell attack.

BATTING RACE

Chet Boss of Ellsworth led all hitters at the halfway mark, and his ten hits lead the loop in that department. The leading hitters are as follows:

The Tigers opened the second round with a stunning upset over the first round champion Lions 7-4. Eleven hits were sprayed out by Tiger bats and Rich Plumb, three run homer in the fifth provided the margin. Randy Guitson and Stewart Coleman chipped in with two hits each. Bruce Meggison had three in a losing cause.

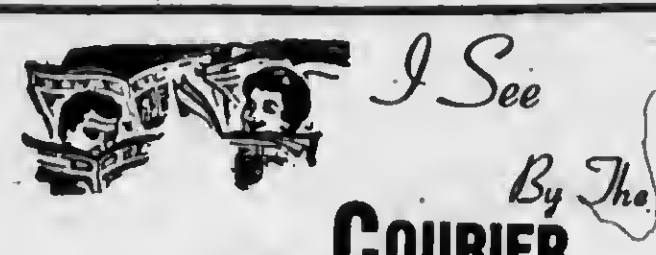

REBOUND

In the Women's league opening game of the second round Paul Reed, defending champions, who had not won a contest in the first round, played their best of the year and handed Edwards a 4-1 beating. Betty Seese paced the winners with two hits while a Joyce Davenport had two for the losers.

As Seen By Co

Even the moon cooperated Saturday night to create the idyllic weather for the 1964 Venetian Festival.

Rain threatened throngs of visitors who crowded into East Park and other central spots to view highlights of the two day event. However, the rains, mercifully, passed.

Local civic, government and cultural leaders met Gov. and Mrs. George Romney as a prespiring crowd of well-wishers filed into the Elementary School for

Gov. Romney Meets Public at Social Hour

A Big Success

Whether the 1964 Venetian Festival was the biggest ever has been a topic of debate in town since Sunday morning. It will never be settled because there are no gate receipts.

However, there seems to be no question but what the festival was a success.

MORE THAN SIX months of planning went into the two days of activity.

The biggest change from other years, and the one most hotly debated, was moving the days from Saturday and Sunday to Friday and Saturday.

Many persons questioned by the Courier who originally opposed the Friday-Saturday schedule have now conceded it worked out well. Others still feel some people were deprived of getting to the festival because they could not reach Charlevoix until Sunday.

However, there is a legitimate point raised by many who contend there wouldn't have been room for more people if they had wanted to attend. Saturday's crowd was just about Charlevoix's capacity.

ANOTHER POINT the Courier heard raised frequently this week was that emphasis should be placed on attracting people to Charlevoix in the Spring and fall. People voicing this opinion contend business is always at a peak in late July. They feel the need is for crowds in May-June and September-October.

Announce Festival Winners

Prizes were offered for all sorts of entries during the Venetian Festival.

Top prizes went to the winners in the Venetian Boat Parade Saturday night which attracted 17 entries.

WINNER OF THE traveling plaque for best in the show as well as first prize in the civic-commercial division was "Jonah and the Whale", entered by the Couples Club of the Community Reformed church aboard Roy Raymer's "Con-Roy."

Placing second in this category was the Garden Club entry, "Through the Garden Gate" aboard Bob Hamilton's boat with the Kiwanis entry, "The Money Tree", a scene on a pontoon raft depicting the club's maple syrup project.

In the individual entries John Ochs' Indian and canoe won first prize; Frank Webb's "Time to Remember Old Glory" was second and M. E. Goetz's "Gels Girls Too" placed third.

Judges were Major Woodrow Wilson, Lt. Paul T. Anderson and Lt. Cmdr. Charles A. Millard. Phil Lawrence was chairman of the parade.

The most consistently popular event of the Venetian Festival continues to be the Doll, Pet and Dress-up Parade which this year attracted more than 40 youngsters. Winners in the doll division were Cheryl Cain, Michelle Robinson and Linda Davis.

Children love nothing better than to "dress up" with the following capturing the prizes: Mike Davis, Marilyn Cummings, Steven Bearss and Suzette McWatters.

The pet division attracted everything from a wild robin to an English sheep dog but these youngsters had the prize winners: Dale and Tim Zettler and their pet rabbits, Rex Milligan and his trick dog and Barbie Feltbarger and her walking dog.

Dean Davenport was the master of ceremonies. Mrs. E. D. Hawley, Mrs. Arlyle Roberts and Del Terrill were judges. Mrs. Donald DeMoor was chairman and Mrs. Robert Biggsco-chairman.

The street parade which was led by a color guard from the U. S. Coast Guard and the Charlevoix High School band, also featured a group from the U. S. C. G. Cutter Sundew and a map-py drill team from Kincheloe Air Force.

Prize winners in the old car division were: 1st, Lee Spence of East Jordan with his 1922 Willys Knight; 2nd, Dr. Walter F. Hoffmann's Hudson 30; 3rd, Floyd Brown and his 1916 Dodge.

In the children's decorated bicycle division, Mike and Terry Mol won first place; Shannon Tattigan, second and Jan and Bud Boss, third.

The Bellaire Chamber of Commerce and Boyne Falls Log Homes entries tied for first place in the float division with the Farm Bureau's Hill-Toppers placing second and the Elk Rapids Chamber of Commerce, third.

Allan and Roger Campbell placed first in the children's pony division; Betty Novotny came in second, Kelly Smith of Ironton, third and June Mousseau, fourth.

In the adult division, Linda Campbell placed first; Toni Novotny, second and Pat Mousseau. In the miscellaneous division, Bunker Hill's entry placed first; So-Show the Clown, second; Ed Thorp, third; Walker Marine Agency, fourth and Charlevoix Play Camp, fifth.

the governor's social reception during the heat of the day Saturday.

At least 15 planes were on the air field Saturday afternoon, seven of them twin-engine craft. Gov. Romney and his wife were met at the airport by local Republican leaders and an official delegation from the city lead by Mayo E. D. Hawley.

THE CRACK AIR FORCE drill team added spriteness to the parade. Oil trucks added bulk. Pretty girls lent their charm along with sparking new convertibles supplied by Oldsmobile.

But, as other pictures show, perhaps the most memorable part of the festival was the expressions on the faces of children and adults. These many pictures of just plain people enjoying themselves tell the real story of the festival.

TORCH LAKE -- Brownwood Acres, overlooking scenic Torch Lake, has its roots among Antrim County's earliest settlers, but wasn't conceived until 1947.

What is now a homespun combination of dining room, cocktail lounge, honey house, country kitchen and gift shop, started in 1947 when the Morse family obtained a bee hive. From that humble beginning it has grown into one of the northland's most original dining establishments.

Included among the quaint buildings and history-laden atmosphere at Brownwood Acres are Antrim County's first log school house and an 1886 state stop inn.

Fresh, sweet honey is still a mainstay at Brownwood Acres. It is served in the authentic Farm House Dining Room and sold in bulk form at the Country Store. The gracious early American atmosphere of the dining room is complemented by the friendliness of the Swinging Door Saloon.

Loan for Hotel

Architect Jack Begrow of Charlevoix reports the Federal Government is still studying the request for a $750,000 Area Redevelopment (ARA) loan to build a $1.5 million hotel here.

THE GREAT Northwestern Land Development Corp. is seeking the loan to build its proposed Holiday Towers Resort Hotel on the site of the present Lake Terrace Hotel overlooking Lake Michigan at the west end of Dixon Ave.

Begrow, who is the architect for the firm, said, "I think it is going very well. But there is so much red tape all we can do is sit and wait."

Begrow, who recently moved his family and office to Charlevoix, predicted the government may act on the loan this week.

Our offer expires August 15th

Their offer vs. Our offer

If their tire fails when it's this worn,

all other major tire brands will only allow you a few dollars toward a new tire.
(You still have to pay about $15 more.)

Don't take our word for it.
Read the small print in the guarantee at the bottom of practically every tire ad. You'll find a paragraph that says something like this:

"In the event of tire failure covered by the guarantee, tire will be pro-rated, based on the amount of original tread remaining."

English translation: If the tire fails, you'll get a partial allowance toward a new tire, depend-

For instance, the tire in the picture has 1/4 of tread left.

If it should fail at this point (which means you'd already have gotten about 80% of the wear put of the tire), you'd only be entitled to a small allowance.
On a major-brand first line tire, in Chevrolet, Ford or Plymouth size, you'd still have to pay an additional $15 or so.

This is the standard "life of the tire" guarantee made by practically every manufacturer in the industry, including U.S.
Royal.

Now compare this with the Special Introductory Offer described at the right.

If our tire fails when it's this worn,

U.S. Royal will replace it with a brand new tire free.

U.S. Royal has developed a tire construction that's so strong, and so unlikely to fail, they can make this unheard-of Special Introductory Offer:

If the tire fails for any reason, except a repairable puncture or deliberate abuse, U.S. Royal will replace it with a brand new tire, free of charge.

This offer applies all the way down to the last 1/4 of original tread. (And if you want to see just how far down 1/4 of tread is, look at the picture.)

It doesn't matter how long you own the tire. And it doesn't matter how many miles you go.

What's more, road hazards (such as chuck holes or broken glass) are included in the offer.

It covers these tires:
The U.S. Royal first-line tire
(Safety 800)

The tiger's paw
(Red-circle Super Safety 800)

The U.S. Royal premium tire
(Red-circle Royal Master)

This Special Introductory Offer applies to passenger car replacement tires purchased and registered between now and August 15th.

And there's no catch.

When You See Darkness, Remember the Light

By Rev. H. E. KOHN

Recently I took an airplane trip across a stretch of America's Middle West. It was not an auspicious day for flying, but the flight could not wait for fair weather. Lead clouds darkened the heavens, and winds whipped the air with sadistic frenzy. Before a drop of rain could fall, the earth was already drenched with forebodings of a storm.

But the plane took off as New Marine Map Out on Straits.

A new, up-to-date U. S. Lake Survey chart for the Straits of Mackinac is ready for distribution. The U. S. Army Corps of Engineers reports.

U. S. Lake Survey Coast Chart No. 6 covers all of the Straits from False Detour Channel and Presque Isle, Mich., on the east to Point Egonette and Little Traverse Bay on the west. This includes White Shoal, Gray's Reef Passage and the Aux Galets. The scale is 1 to 120,000.

THE CORPS OF ENGINEERS cautioned boaters not to use obsolete charts, as only the latest edition contains current information necessary to safe navigation.

The chart may be purchased for $1 by writing U. S. Army Engineer District, Lake Survey, 630 Federal Bldg., Detroit.

scheduled. In minutes we were lifted above the heavy storm clouds. What a difference that climb of a few thousand feet made in our outlook! When seen from above the clouds were not black and threatening, but fleecy white, touched with golden highlights from the sun.

WHEN WERE THE airplane passengers seeing the clouds truly, realistically? When we viewed them from the ground and perceived their darkness, or when we saw them from high in the heavens and beheld their brightness? Was the dark view or the bright view true and real?

Both views were right. Clouds have a shadowy side and a sunlit side, and what an observer sees depends upon whether he is above or below them.

Pessimism and optimism are the extreme, fragmentary views of human existence.

The pessimist looks at life from the ground, from the lowest possible station. He sees only the dark underside of all questions, makes a philosophy of his viewpoint, and behaves as if there were no sun above the clouds and no promise of better days to come.

THE OPTIMIST is nearly always airborne. He maintains a view from above the clouds, seeing life as brimming with beauty, ignoring darkness and storms.

Lift for Living

A great faith is neither always earthbound amidst gloom, nor invariably detached from earth and airy cheerful. Rather, it recognizes that clouds are both dark and light, foreboding and beautiful. Such a faith is big enough, realistic and honest enough, appreciative, daring and hopeful enough to see, recognize and weigh the worst and the best and to believe that if a good God allows both in his universe He must have both purpose and a place for them. So the man of faith makes room for his thinking for the dark and the bright.

The pessimist grumbles, "My gasoline tank is three-quarters empty." The optimist happily, carelessly declares, "My tank is one-quarter full." The man of faith knows that such a tank is both three-quarters empty and one-quarter full. Believing that partial views and dwindling supplies alike are orders, "Fill 'er up!"

The pessimist complains that the life belongs to the onion family, and the optimist blissfully responds, "No, the onion belongs to the life family." The man of faith will likely consult an authority, but the answer will make no difference in his gratitude for lilies and onions. He orders onions for his table and grows lilies in his garden and believes they belong to each other.

and to a common plan for the world, planned by the Creator. The man of faith is inclusive in his appreciations.

A PESSIMIST gloomily counts all the difficulties in his opportunities. The optimist too ignores the difficulties in his opportunities. The man of faith, fully aware of the difficulties in his opportunities and of the opportunities in his difficulties, believes that God will help him to use the opportunities and difficulties alike for growing Christ-like in character.

Faith is not a belief that "everything will turn out" to please us; rather it is the confidence that, no matter how "things turn out," God will use the events of our days for his glory and our good, if we will have it so and submit to His will. We do not know, and do not need to know, all that will happen to us. But at this moment, and always, we can know in what spirit we will take everything that happens to us. We can accept the worst that comes our way as being gloomily dark on earth's side and bright with opportunity on Heaven's side, for our viewpoint and our viewpoint and bright with hope from God's viewpoint.

A cellar wall in the city of Cologne bears a heartening Gospel. Escaped prisoners of war hid in that cellar during World War II, and one of them left this inscription written there: "I believe in the sun, even when it is not shining. I believe in love, even when feeling it not. I believe in God even when He is silent."

Lake Cargo Up

Shipments of coal, grain and iron ore by Great Lakes carriers of this year to July 1 totaled 50,777,063 net tons, a four-year high, the Lake Carriers' Assn. reports.

This compared to 42,329,395 tons moved in the same period of 1963.

GRAIN CARGOES during June were the highest on record. Only 9.6% of the grain, however, was carried by U. S. boats.

More coal and ore would have been moved by boats if the water level was not at a record low, the association said.

THAT FAITH is more realistic than either pessimism or optimism; it is more honest than pessimism and braver than optimism. It knows darkness, but believes in the sun. It experiences emotional numbness, but believes in love. It suffers the silence when Heaven's answers to man's pleadings are delayed, but still trusts in God.

One measure of your faith is whether you can look at life's darkness, and yet believe in the light.

Change Terminal Location

City Councilmen decided Monday to change the proposed location of the $30,000 administration and terminal building slated for the Municipal Airport.

The Michigan Aeronautics Dept. has proposed the building be located in the northwest corner of the field, at the junction of Carpenter and Norwood roads.

COUNCILMAN DR. WALTER Hoffmann brought up the issue by reporting none of the pilots he has talked to want the building located so far away from the hangars and runways.

City Supt. James Taylor and Mayor E. D. Hawley both said they have talked to no one who wants the building in the location proposed by the state agency.

They said pilots prefer that the building be near the site of the present frame building used by Airport Manager Joe McPhillips.

On Hoffmann's suggestion, Councilmen informally agreed to have an architect design the building for the location of the old building.

THE $30,000 BUILDING will be paid for with $15,000 in city funds and $15,000 from the state.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Pageau and son Craig, spent two weeks visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Pageau.

Teen Beach Party Flares Into Brawl

Sheriff Jails 3 Minors;
One Boy Severely Beaten

Sheriff Glenn Rose early this week reported he is seeking an unidentified person who beat several teenagers, one severely, at a beach party along Lake Michigan near Fisherman's Island early Monday morning.

Rose said several small beach parties developed into one large drinking and scrapping brawl, before he and deputies arrived about 1 a. m.

THREE MINORS WERE arrested for drunk and disorderly. They were found guilty in Justice John Connolly's court and fined after spending the night in jail.

They are Earl Vanderwood, 20, of Grandville; Dale Thomas, 20, of Grandville; and Robert H. Monroe, Jr., 17, of Grandville. Rose said at least 25 cars were stopped. Three other minors were issued summons for not having drivers licenses in their possession.

Deputies with Rose were Jack Mol, Dick Fochtman and Earl Crandall.

ROSE SAID SOMEONE who misrepresented himself to the teenagers as a policeman, beat several of them up. One was beaten so severely he was taken to the hospital. He was treated and released.

The victims could not identify the person who beat them, Rose said.

Rose said a concerted effort is going to be made by his department to keep a close check on all isolated beach areas in a crackdown on teenage drinking and brawling.

Comment Fact Opinion

Hard Working Volunteers Made Festival a Success

THE THOUSANDS OF people, both local and visitors, who enjoyed Friday and Saturday's outstanding Venetian Festival program, quite rightly, gave little thought to why they had such a good time.

But now that the frolic is over it is time for Charlevoixians to give this question utmost consideration. The festival was one of northern Michigan's most successful summer events for only one reason. That is the many people who worked hundreds of hours during the last six months getting the program ready.

AT THE COURIER we have seen close-up some of the tension and frustration Venetian Festival general chairman Frank Boss and his dedicated cohorts endured to make this year's program the most interesting ever offered in the northland.

There are those of us who would shrug off this dedication to our community. It's easy to sit back and say, "They like that sort of thing," or "They asked for it." We always hear snide excuses like this from those who did not dig in and contribute to a successful project.

However, the Courier, would dismiss them. There is little to be gained from hounding the do-nothings.

Better that we see due credit and appreciation is given the doers. Without them Charlevoix would be just another dot on the map. And the Venetian Festival would be no more than another of many cheap, noisy events on the Michigan Tourist Council's schedule of summer activities.

IT IS ALSO WELL TO bear in mind that those who inevitably contribute the most in volunteer time and talent are people who work the hardest at making a living for their families.

The Courier salutes these volunteers, one and all, for their contribution, big or small. And we at the Courier take this opportunity to personally thank them for making our town a better place to live.

Making Politics a Dirty Word Is Asking for Bad Government

QUITE OFTEN IN THE days leading up to the Venetian Festival we hear criticism of Gov. and Mrs. George Romney's appearance on the program. The complaint seemed to be that it was wrong to bring politics into the festival.

Quite to his credit, under the circumstances, Gov. Romney was as non-political and non-partisan as the State's chief executive could be in an election year.

THE GOVERNOR AND HIS charming wife were a major factor in making the festival one of the finest events of its kind ever offered in the northland. His prestige, sincerity and enthusiasm generated the same sparkle from Charlevoix visitors as it has from thousands of independent and Democratic Michigan voters.

With election day drawing near, Gov. Romney's political strategists could easily call him on the carpet for wasting an entire Saturday afternoon and evening on a "non-political" venture. However, as has been evidenced in the past, Romney has been a great Michigan governor despite his violation of political tradition.

The point of this editorial, however, is to condemn this all-too prevalent attitude that politics is in poor taste. This stigma on politics is dangerous.

What Happened to Winter Sports Carnival?

LAST WINTER WE were told that when the basketball tournaments were over a meeting would be called of the then just organized Polar Bear Club to make plans for a Winter Sports carnival in Charlevoix this winter.

That meeting has never been called. From all we can ascertain no one knows just what happened to the winter sports carnival idea. It started great. The first meeting, called to see if the plan was worth developing, resulted in plenty of enthusiasm and ideas.

THE COURIER DOES NOT want to lay the blame at an individual's feet. But it does appear as though we have been let down by the person, or persons, responsible for keeping the project moving.

Ideally, the time to lay the groundwork for a really outstanding winter festival was last spring. However, perhaps it isn't too late.

This, admittedly, is an awkward time to bring up the subject of added work. Everyone in town is working at their peak, and will be for another five or six weeks. However, those lazy days of fall and winter are just around the corner.

BRITISH LEAVE MACKINAC--Fort Mackinac, the last post in the West to be vacated by the British, is turned over to American troops on Sept. 1, 1796. In this painting by Robert A. Thom for the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. historical collection.

Yanks Take For Mackinac

The surrender of Fort Mackinac, the last post in the West to be relinquished by the British, symbolized the slow transition to orderly government following the Revolutionary War.

Although the Treaty of Paris formally ended the war on Sept. 3, 1783, and brought recognition of the United States as an independent nation, it was almost 13 years before American troops took over Fort Mackinac.

THOUGH THE TREATY had established the Mississippi as the western U. S. boundary, British troops continued to occupy forts in the Ohio Valley and the Great Lakes.

A variety of excuses met U.S. protests. Great Britain wanted to remain in the forts to protect its fur trade in Canada and knew that the new nation was too feeble to claim them by force.

The presence of British troops and incitement by English agents encouraged the Indians in the Ohio Valley to fight the movement of American settlers. After vainly trying to negotiate peace, President George Washington appointed Gen. Anthony Wayne to command the army in the west and ordered him to end fighting between the Indians and settlers.

On Aug. 20, at Fallen Timbers, where a tornado had left a tangle of trees, the Americans decisively defeated the Indians.

Wayne's victory convinced the British that the U. S. had become strong enough to take the western forts. Engaged in a war with France, Great Britain wanted no added enemies. In the fall of 1794, the British agreed to evacuate the posts.

Fort Mackinac remained in British hands until Sept. 1, when Maj. Henry Burbeck and 110 officers and men reached the island. The U. S. troops took possession of the Fort, and at last, all of Michigan was under American jurisdiction.

On Sept. 15, 1796, Wayne County, Northwest Territory was established.

This governmental unit included all of the present state of Michigan except the western part of the Upper Peninsula and parts of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and Wisconsin. Detroit was named the county seat.

THE AILING WAYNE appointed Hamtramck commandant of Detroit. Enroute to his home in Pennsylvania, Wayne died.

When Ohio became a state in 1803, Michigan became Wayne County, Indiana Territory. Unhappy because of the distance to the capital in Vincennes, the inhabitants petitioned Congress. An act established the Michigan Territory in 1805.

President Thomas Jefferson named William Hull of Massachusetts, governor, and Augustus B. Woodward of Washington, D. C., chief justice.

The recapture of Detroit by the British on Aug. 16, 1812, removed Gov. Hull. In 1813, after American reoccupation, Lewis Cass of Ohio became governor. Under Cass, the Territory prospered.

CASS RESIGNED in 1831 to become President Andrew Jackson's secretary of war. Stevens T. Mason, secretary and acting-governor took over. Mason led the campaign for statehood, which was achieved in 1837. Mason, called the "Boy Governor," was elected as Michigan's first governor.

Minority Defends Rights

DEAR EDITOR:

Mr. Sarthelemy's July 16 letter to the Editor is sure right about civil rights being a moral issue. It is immoral to say that God gave 90% of the people the right to live as they please and the remaining 10% must be subject to them. God condemns slavery when he used Moses to lead his people out of bondage and he used President Lincoln to free the Negroes in this country and President Kennedy to keep them free.

If you think minority is inferior then the twelve Christ chose sure wouldn't have been able to convert the millions of Christians today. Would you, Mr. Barthelemy, or anyone else have our pledge of allegiance read as follows: "I am an American citizen."

"ONE NATION, indivisible under God, with liberty and justice for all" except if you're black?"

No, I don't believe anyone who really believes in God would want it written that way.

Can any white man say, the Negro and Indian, would fight in our wars and die for his country so we can segregate him.

I could fill this paper on the subject but I'll close with this. When Mr. Barthelemy or anyone else can tell me what color God is I'll segregate.

Respectfully

not winning then we must be losing, you proceeded to limit the problem by posing two options in the form of a question for policy makers to consider. Since you ruled out thermonuclear interdiction unless absolutely necessary (President Eisenhower once said that the U. S. would never take the thermonuclear initiative under any conditions) the only choice open was to get out of Southeast Asia; and you said that we will never do that because the Federal bureaucracy is engaged in callous profiteering at the expense of American life.

As an interested reader and oftentimes admirer of your editorial policy in the past, I am wondering if you really think we have enough facts to conclude that we are losing in Southeast Asia. Moreover, aren't there at least one or two more options open to responsible Southeast Asian policy-makers? And, finally, don't you think that the evidence at your disposal about the bureaucracy eight hundred miles away is just a trifle too sketchy to impugn the motivations and integrity of the professional career employees of the Federal Government?

Small Profit In Gasoline

DEAR EDITOR:

Summer tourists should be told that the price they pay for gas in the Charlevoix area is not a price that has been jacked up for them to pay, but the price that is charged all year long.

Many coming from the Detroit area are used to paying 20¢ to 28¢ a gallon and think our dealers are really making a killing. The normal profit for a dealer is 5¢ a gallon here, or about 12 1/2¢ on a dollar. Dealers down below get the same.

Your dealer will put in less than three gallons at about 12 1/2¢ gross profit, then clean car windows, check water and oil and tires. This takes 15 minutes per car and the man doing the job is paid around $1.50 per hour. So he gets 37 1/2¢ while the dealer makes 12 1/2¢.

Where is the profit?

By FRAN MARTIN

How about the weather we've been having...Can't remember a more beautiful summer...usually we get quite a lot of too coolish weather in July but not this year... What with the heavenly sunsets over Lake Michigan's calm waters and a moon almost as golden as the harvest moon coming up out of the east as the sun drops into the lake...all this proves what I've been saying all the time...This is truly God's country...

And with the beautiful weather come the boats, scads and scads of them, all hours of the day...The other night I was over on River st. watching the sunset... you should have seen all the small cruisers and sail boats scampering for the harbor... But when they really scamper is when a squall blows up...With every berth area filled every night, you know that Charlevoix's a favorite harbor with most boatmen...

I'M AN ADMIRER of old cars...not that I'd want one of my own but I, like many others, enjoy seeing old cars...and appreciate the fact that there are people interested in preserving things like these and letting us share in their hobby by admiring them, the cars, that is...The latest addition to this hobby in the area is a Hudson '30, a cream roadster complete with wire wheels, side curtains, rumble seat and mounted trunk...its owner, Dr. Walter Hoffmann, told me he drove it up from Detroit in eight hours...How about that?

A big thank you to Mrs. Ted Weldman and Mrs. E. K. Draper of Bedford, Ohio, for having the same thought...Mrs. Weldman received a clipping from friends in Cleveland and Mrs. Draper, the former Harriet Hooker, knew the name so both sent along the clippings on Dick Van Raaphorst...which were the basis for the story in last week's Courier...We appreciate their thoughtfulness in sending them along...In the letter that accompanied her contribution, Harriet wrote that in every story about Dick, Charlevoix is mentioned...and a better ambassador of goodwill we couldn't find, I know...So aren't we lucky...We haven't had such publicity as this in football circles since our own All-American, Bob Carey, was catching all those passes in big league circles...Don't forget, you'll see Dick in action, come Aug. 7...in the College All-Star-Chicago Bears game...

ALSO IN THE MAIL a letter from Minneapolis with another newspaper clipping...this one from Miss Floy Edson, who's there with her sister, Mrs. Knowlton... This one was about Mrs. Sarry Goldwater whose husband is the Republican nominee for president...According to the clipping "Her family vacationed in Charlevoix, Mich., on the shore of Lake Michigan. One summer there, she dated G. Mennen Williams, then a Republican...and later the Democratic governor of Michigan. Williams is currently Undersecretary of State for African Affairs."

Goldwater met his wife in Phoenix where her family maintained a second home. In what he calls a "cross-country courtship" in Michigan, Washington and Indiana, he cut out Williams. This is said to account for Goldwater's strong feelings against Williams.

Upon inquiry, it was discovered that the family of Mrs. Goldwater, who is the former Margaret (Peg) Johnson, once owned what is now the Leatherman cottage on the Selvedere club...and that the Presidential nominee, Republican, that is, visited her here...

My boss, an ardent Goldwater man, is all for extending an invitation to the Goldwaters to visit Charlevoix...or should say "re-visit" the scene of earlier days...Perhaps it can be arranged...

ANOTHER NOTE in the mail came from Elwood Livingston, former resident now living in Naples, Fla...He wanted to know if the children in the picture the Courier ran a few weeks ago had been identified...The answer is "no" so if he knows we'd appreciate it if he'd send them along... He also mentioned Ile Aux Galets...Skillagalee, Ioyou natives...and wondered about the meaning of the other French-named places in the area...He added that they feed many birds...among them from 40 to 60 quail...A hunters' paradise!

The people on the north side had quite an experience the other night...more than four hours without lights...it wasn't too bad in the beginning for it was still daylight...but when it went on and on and it got dark...well, then it became quite a problem...The E. J. Edwardses didn't fare too badly, we understand, for they had a kerosene lamp kept on hand for just such an emergency...and no doubt there were others...But those of us who have faith in today's world, well, we were just out of luck...and set out the time just fuming...Couldn't even knit...for the piece I was knitting on had a pattern...But finally came the light...but not for long so I threw in the sponge and hit the sack...as did many others who live north of the bridge...Just because some freakish thing...not caused by the wind, as everyone thought...had gone wrong...But why does it always, and I do mean always, have to happen to the north side...Candlelight is fine...but there's a time and a place...and a busy Monday night isn't it...

AGAIN I REMIND you...you have only a few more days to register in order to vote in the September Primary election. I always say that if you exercise the right to vote, then you have the right to gripe...So let's get with it...

And now that it's worth your life to cross the street, what with all the traffic as the result of the summer season, won't you be especially careful...We like you and we'd like you around for a while or two.

A QUESTION THAT hounds all editors was answered when the Courier failed to reach its readers on time...page 5.

THIS WEEK'S Courier Camera, page 9, takes a look at the Information Center of Big Rock Nuclear Plant. The growingly popular weekly feature shows some of the more than quarter-million people who have visited the center.

Humidity, Heat Set Records

Savage Storm Breaks Up Near-100 Degree Weather

No one was cursing Charlevoix winters last Sunday.

Residents, who have long envied those who could leave in January and February, were praising the virtues of our snow and sub-arctic Lake Michigan winds.

Unofficial estimates were that Sunday's temperatures topped 100-degrees. Most people questioned reported their thermometers, all of them located in the shade, reached the mid-90's.

But if the temperature was bad, the humidity was twice as bad. Moisture virtually lay in the air like a thin fog.

The combination of heat and humidity clung to people. The only escape was a boatride on Lake Michigan or Lake Charlevoix.

One oldtimer told the Courier, "I nearly died." He sounded like he meant it.

The majority of residents asked said they have never seen it so miserably stifling.

"I hope people don't get the idea this is Charlevoix weather," one man commented.

However, the heat and humidity brought much-needed relief for parched yards and fields.

From July 29 to Aug. 3 more than two inches of rain were recorded by the Michigan Conservation Dept. This is as much as fell last year during all of July and the first three days of August.

Expert on Rules

George LaBlance, a veteran of Michigan Democratic State Convention rules and order of business committees, will seek a similar position at the National convention.

Mr. and Mrs. LaBlance will attend the national convention in Atlantic City, N.J., as a delegate this month. LaBlance will ask the state delegation to consider his Michigan experience in his bid for the national convention committee assignment. He is county Democratic chairman.

Rambling

IRONICALLY, IT seemed in order the other morning when Bill Supernaw, quite by accident, raised the flag in front of the Post Office upside down. An upside down flag is generally considered a distress signal.

As soon as people started arriving at the Post Office they mentioned it to Bill, who promptly corrected his mistake. There were a few who, with good-natured sarcasm, asked if the distress signal had anything to do with the current debate over who will get Postmaster Pete Timmer's job when he retires July 31.

RETIRED SCHOOL chief Roy Bennet stopped in to set us straight on this corner's observation that no one seemed to notice our new "Charlevoix Courier" masthead.

Young GOP Gets Charter

Charlevoix County young Republicans will be officially recognized Monday, Aug. 10, as an active political force.

The newly formed Young Republicans Club will receive its state charter at a meeting in the Charlevoix City Hall at 8 p.m. Monday.

WALTER BRIGGS, State Chairman of the Michigan Federation of Young Republicans, will be on hand to present the charter. James Young, state director of organization, will explain how the Charlevoix County club can be an effective group in local politics.

Ten persons attended the club's first meeting last week in East Jordan. Among them were Mrs. George Lusk, Miss Ola Heise, Steve Wilson and Miss Sue Freedman of Charlevoix.

Fight to Save Bay Shore P.O.

BAY SHORE--Threatened with loss of their post office, residents of this community have rallied around efforts to show Washington politicians they need and deserve their own postmark.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Deschermeier are leading the "save the post office" campaign.

"THE FIRST WE knew about it (that the post office might be discontinued) was when we read it in the Courier," Mrs. Deschermeier said.

"We got right to work. Sixty-six people signed our petition."

The petition asking that Bay Shore continue to have a post office, was presented to the Charlevoix County Democratic Committee. The committee unanimously endorsed a resolution asking Sen. Patrick McNamara to intercede on behalf of Bay Shore residents.

Sen. McNamara announced last month the Post Office Dept. is considering closing the Bay Shore facility. This possibility was raised when Mrs. John (Lydia) Stolt said she will retire as postmistress.

MRS. STOLT HAS been Bay Shore's postmistress for 18 years. She retires Sept. 30.

Sen. McNamara pointed out in a letter to County Democratic Chairman George LaBlance that the Post Office Dept. is attempting to economize by shutting down small, rural offices.

Bay Shore's post office delivers no mail. It handles outgoing mail and parcel post, sells money orders, stamps and has 65 boxholder patrons.

The Bay Shore post office was founded in 1895.

MRS. DESCHERMEIER contends the small post office, on the west side of U.S.-31 at the four corners in Bay Shore, really serves many of the people on the rural routes in Hayes and Resort Townships. These families, she explained, get their mail from rural carriers out of the Charlevoix and Petoskey post offices, but depend on Bay Shore for stamps, parcel post, money orders and other services.

At least 200 year-round families, and hundreds of summer people, use the Bay Shore post office, Mrs. Deschermeier estimates.

Mr. Deschermeier, who is a Hayes Township constable, argues that Bay Shore has more residents now than it ever has. This, he says, is due to growth of the area and the Air Force radar bomb scoring unit located a mile east of U.S.-31.

Instead of thinking about closing the post office, Mrs. Deschermeier claims Washington should be considering constructing a new building for the Bay Shore post office.

104 To Exhibit In Park

Charlevoix's sixth annual Waterfront Fair, Saturday, Aug. 8, has attracted the largest variety of artists and craftsmen in its history. Mrs. Jack Roder, general chairman, said early this week when she announced that 104 entries had been received and more were expected before the day of the event.

The Fair, at which the works of both artists and craftsmen are exhibited on the terraces of East Park, is scheduled to open at 10 a.m. Saturday and continue throughout the day. Closing time has been set for 7 p.m.

THE INFORMALITY of the Fair which is offered to the viewing public without charge makes it the outstanding summer event sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

The appearance of the Chrysler Automobile, established through the efforts of the Founders Society of the Detroit Institute of Arts, is expected to be one of the highlights of the Fair. The van in which the art treasures from the Detroit Institute are housed will be located at the foot of Clinton-st., adjacent to East Park. From 25 to 35 paintings by American artists will be exhibited in the Artmobile.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Cummings of Chicago and Charlevoix will again share a painting from their outstanding private collection of French art. They have chosen Wassily Kandinsky's oil on canvas entitled "Softened Construction," a typical example of the work done in the mid-1920's by the artist who is considered the father of abstract art. The painting was one of those included in the Guggenheim Museum loan program from 1953-60 when the art was exhibited in the major galleries in the capitals of the world.

Walter Midener, associate director of the Society of Arts and Crafts in Detroit, will return to the Fair this year with one of his newest creations, "Arcadia". The sculpture of Muntz metal has flowing lines and simplicity typical of its name which means any place of rural peace and simplicity. A summer resident at East Jordan, Mr. Midener has been a regular exhibitor at the Fair. Two years ago the Cummingses commissioned him to do two pieces for their summer estate, the Anchorage.

CHARLES CULVER, Michigan's outstanding water color artist, has written that he will again exhibit here. He teaches at the Society of Arts and Crafts in Detroit. Many of his water colors, known as Culver's Creations, may be found in galleries and private collections throughout the United States.

Sally Franz of Saginaw, a favorite at the fair with her whimsical primitives, will also be present. Among her entries will be a painting of the old Sugar Beet factory which was recently razed. Mrs. Franz has received acclaim at various art centers in Michigan and has exhibited at the (Continued on Page 2)

Both Parties Offer Choice in Primary

Primary election contests for Congress, the State Senate and House of Representatives will be before Charlevoix voters of both political parties Sept. 1.

Democrats will pick between three candidates for the 37th Senatorial District. Republicans will select from four candidates.

IN THE 106th District House race, three Democrats and four Republicans are seeking nomination.

Seeking nomination in the 11th

Dems Try Again to Select Postmaster

The hour of decision appears at hand for County Democrats to select Charlevoix's next postmaster.

The County Democratic Committee meets Saturday, 8:30 p.m., at the Boyne Falls Village Hall, in an effort to make a decision, County Chairman George LaBlance reports.

LABLANCE SAID three candidates will be considered by the committee. They are Frank Oleksy, Dr. Walter Hoffmann and Martha Tunison.

It is LaBlance's frankly stated desire that the committee make its selection at the meeting.

Present Postmaster Pete Timmer has been forced to stay on the job past his retirement date of July 31 because Democrat leaders have not been able to resolve the issue.

PARTY LEADERS, in previous meetings, were sharply split between those preferring Assistant Postmaster Dan Genett and others who demanded the appointment go to a loyal and active party worker.

LaBlance was forced to summarily adjourn the last meeting when it flared into disorder between the two factions.

However, the county party chief has stated Saturday's meeting will be kept under control.

The three candidates--Mrs. Tunison, Oleksy and Dr. Hoffmann--will be given time to present their qualifications. The committee, LaBlance said, will then consider them, plus those of Genett which were presented at the last meeting, and make a selection.

LABLANCE WOULD not predict which of the four candidates he considers the strongest.

Neff, Rose Clash

Race for Sheriff is On Charlevoix Councilman Bob Neff has launched an aggressive campaign to unseat Sheriff Glenn Rose in the Sept. 1 primary election.

Rose and Neff are rivals for the Republican nomination as candidate for County Sheriff.

AS YET ROSE HAS held back in efforts to meet Neff's strategy. The incumbent sheriff told the Courier he is waiting before opening his campaign.

Neff, however, has his campaign in full swing. He has circulated posters, cards and car stickers and is organizing support in Boyne City and East Jordan.

Neff outlined his major campaign issues:

1. The need for more alert and active patrolling to keep teenagers away from the "law is looking." Children today, Neff contends, are just as good as they ever were, but have more energy and more destructive tools for mischief.

2. CLAIMS teenagers appear (Continued on Page 2)

Garden Spot

The Garden Club's plaque for the first two weeks in August is on display at the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon A. Moeller of 414 E. Dixon.

The Moeller garden was judged by club members to be an outstanding contribution to Charlevoix's beauty.

"So now that makes seven who have said so," he added with a sly chuckle.

Not only stuck around long enough to tell us our mast-head had been informally discussed, and approved, at a recent Kiwanis Club meeting. Then he skipped out to rejoin a grandchild who wanted, as I recall, to go swimming.

Perhaps it was blasphemous, but the thought streaked through my mind that after a lifetime of working with children, he must really be stuck on them if, after retiring, he is still courting their company.

Mysterious Beast On Channel Banks

SEEMS A LADY VISITOR left town in something of a huff a while back when she spotted one of the almost tame muskrats that live and play along the Pine River Channel.

Being from the fine metropolis of Chicago, she, quite naturally, took the muskrat for an ordinary house rat. If rats are that big and that tame in Charlevoix she didn't want to stick around.

Actually, most people who see them find the harmless muskrats mighty entertaining.

The Wonder of Our Clean Water

ALL AROUND US WE find sparkling clean water for swimming. If you stop to think about it, you'll find it almost maddening. There are so many wonderful places to swim that you could get in an endless debate over which is best.

Until moving to Charlevoix we had to belong to a private beach, some 45 miles from home, to find a decent place to swim.

... The things we seldom think to say thanks for!

Quite disgustingly, some people not only don't realize how fortunate we are. They do their best to destroy what we have by littering out magnificent beaches.

For years the state has fostered an absurd folly known as the fox bounty. If the state wants to bounty a real predator it will pay decent citizens $10 for every litterbug they bring in.

Bugs Eat Bugs - Roses Thrive

IT SEEMED RATHER confusing -- and still does. But Earl Young insisted he had 30,000 lady bugs in his cooler below the Weathered Inn and was going to loose the ladies on his splendid rose bushes to eat some other kind of bugs that were eating his roses.

The dictionary says the vermin Earl was trying to get rid of are plant lice, properly called aphids (afids). The louse suck juice from the roses. Anyway, the lady bugs eat the aphids and the roses bloom in all their glory.

All of this appeared no more than half logical to an editor who has done his darndest to stay away from the family farms. But the idea of spreading 30,000 lady bugs around sounded like fun.

And it was, Earl invited Mrs. Shep and I to join in the offbeat frolic. Reaching into a refrigerated box and coming ered with lady bugs was fine sport. In the picture above Earl is jumping around like an excited boy (about three score years after normal boyhood) pitching a handful of wood shavings filled with lady bugs onto the roses.

If you're interested in buying some lady bugs, you'll be well advised to get them from Earl's source. Certainly no one grows them any tougher. We were still trying to drown them in the bathtub and Lake Charlevoix a week later.

John Connolly

Has Job of Jobs

THIS CORNER SORT of envies John Connolly, Jr. Not that John isn't kept busy on his job as dockmaster. Trying to communicate with boaters out in the harbor and keep tabs on them is a busy life.

But during my daily walks along the harbor, I can't help but think spending all day watching the boats and talking to their masters and the pretty gals who sun themselves so boldly would be the ideal job.

Philadelphia Has

Novel Promotion

PHILADELPHIA, WHICH so proudly clings to its heritage as the birthplace of our nation, isn't napping when it comes to attracting visitors.

George LaBlance, who is a delegate to the 1964 Democratic National Convention in Atlanta, recently received a "Philadelphia Hospitality Card." The card, and a personal letter from Philadelphia Mayor H. J. Tate, cordially urges George and his family to visit the city's tourist attractions as an official guest of the mayor.

Philadelphia is only 60 miles from the convention site. George says he'll take Mayor Tate up on his thoughtful invitation.

The point is, do you suppose Charlevoix could do something like this with the many off-season conventioners going to Boyne Mountain, Shanty Creek and Harbor Highlands? Certainly worth checking into.

Weather

Though it wasn't noticeable on the big lakes, fishermen coming in from the small inland lakes reported they were up. Trout streams also seemed to have lost their thirsty look.

County Agricultural Extension Director Ed Rebnan said the rains were much needed. They caused little, or no, crop damage, he added.

Corn and hay is growing in leaps and bounds due to the rain, Rebnan explained.

THE HEAT THAT hung over

Charlevoix so oppressively Sunday was broken by a severe storm early Monday morning. Lightning and thunder, were accompanied by torrents of rain (nearly an inch).

In Atwood, Courier correspondent Mrs. Henry Burns, reports lightning struck James Vander Feldt's barn, destroying it before firemen from Eastport and Ellsworth could arrive. All of the hay, and some equipment, but no livestock, was destroyed.

A small tornado was reported to have struck between Pine Point and Oyster Bay along Lake Charlevoix's north shore just east of town. Trees were down over roads and at least one roof was hit by a falling tree.

The Multitude

The Best Crowd to Follow... Is the Crowd Going to Church.

"You must not follow a multitude to do evil; nor go with a multitude to prevent justice," Exo. 23:2. What do you see in a crowd? Kings and tyrants have seen riot, rebellion and bloodshed. Jesus saw helpless, oppressed humanity as sheep not having a shepherd. Great crowds always mean some kind of hunger. Don't criticize them, try to understand and help them. When the multitude was hungry, Jesus fed them; when they were confused, He taught them; when sick, He healed them; when in trouble, He helped them. Help your friends by inviting them to church.

Printing Woes Erase Editor's Quandary

When, on Tuesday evening, the last story and the last headline have been written, this editor will never again lay awake wondering if anyone reads the darned stuff.

Newspapermen have always been cursed by this harrassing question. It seems their patron saint (whoever he might be) is always in there pitching with reporters and editors as deadlines near. He instills in us a fervor for getting into print the facts, opinions and chuckles that make up the news.

THEN, WHEN THE JOB is done, and the last "30" has been scribbled at the end of a sheet of copy paper, he struts off with a mocking laugh that seems to tell us, "Ha, do you really think anyone gives a darn?"

Well, the next time he breathes down my neck with his horse laugh late on a Tuesday night, I'm going to kick him out. Once and for all, answered the seemingly eternal question: People do read the Courier.

The people who are supposed to print the Courier for us had troubles and couldn't fulfill their end of the bargain.

The northland's most modern printing press decided it would raise a little fuss. This left us stranded. So Tom sped the stories, pictures and ads to Mason (near Lansing) where there is another press like the one we print on.

LITERALLY HUNDREDS and hundreds of readers called, or tried to call, to ask where their Courier was.

Though the opening bell of the Venetian Festival -- Charlevoix's biggest annual event -- was less than 24 hours away, the absence of the Courier was the number one topic in town.

I would have expected a couple calls from advertisers and newstands. But the torrent of readers who flooded our telephone lines was unimaginable. If we were a daily paper I would expect as much, since people do want the daily tv listings.

EDITOR'S NOTES

Not only were our telephones tied up constantly. The post office went through the same ordeal. Quite amazingly, the post office's patience didn't wear thin once during the frantic day. I was almost afraid to go get the mail, for fear they would demand a piece of my hide for the inconvenience we'd put them through. But only an understanding smile and a couple jokes met me. We will always be grateful.

IT GOT SO BAD ON the Courier's two incoming telephone lines that Michigan Bell made a check on us.

It was a hectic day for Hilda and I. Though we didn't look to see, there must have been bruises on our ears from holding the telephone so much.

However, there was no pain due to angry callers.

Everyone seemed wonderfully understanding and sympathetic when we explained why their paper would be a day late.

That pesty varmint who's been whispering doubts in my ear about whether people want to read the hometown news will never again find a listener in front of this typewriter.

Thank You! -- SHEP

GORDON Dennis was kept busy on Post Office telephone, as people called to find out why their Courier wasn't delivered.

CHS Grad Balks at Sauna Bath

Linda Nowland, a recent Charlevoix High School graduate is spending the summer in Europe under the Youth for Understanding program of the Michigan Council of Churches.

FINLAND IS FAMOUS for its saunas, or Finnish steam baths. So, in order for me to truly live like a Finn, I found it necessary to learn to enjoy a sauna and that was not easy.

My first day here I went to a sauna. I didn't actually "go to sauna" as a true Finn that day because I couldn't persuade myself to jump in the cold lake. That first day in the room where one sits and sweats in a hot, dry atmosphere, I thought I'd choke. But I survived that first sauna and a week later I gathered enough courage to jump into the lake.

Sauna means a hot, dry steam bath in which the body perspires vigorously. The procedure for taking a sauna may vary slightly with the individual, but the usual method is to first sit in a hot room where the pores of the skin are cleansed as a result of heavy perspiration. During this time, the bather may wish to apply a bunch of birch branches to his skin. This is followed by normal washing with soap in another room, then a plunge in the lake. During the winter, rolling in the snow is sometimes substituted for the swim. You not only get clean in the sauna, but you also feel "full of pep".

Barbara Wood Finds Camping in Holland

Barbara Wood, who will be a senior at Charlevoix High School this fall, is spending the summer in Holland under the Youth for Understanding program of the Michigan Council of Churches.

Last weekend she sent the following account of her experiences since leaving here:

I am one of the more than five hundred teen-agers living in European countries this summer as part of the Youth for Understanding, exchange program sponsored by the Michigan Council of Churches.

I live with the Loonen family of Deventer. In my family there are three children—Dinje, 23, who works in a hospital in Hilversum—Rutger, 19, who is in school, and is an excellent cricket player—and Janke, 17, who is going to Kalamazoo next month as an exchange student. We have been doing a great deal of shopping and sewing in the past weeks to get her ready. My father owns three shops in this region of Holland. Neither my father nor mother speak English, but everyone else in the family does, so it isn't too hard to communicate.

DEVENTER IS A town of about 50,000, due east of Amsterdam on the IJssel River. It is a very old town and parts of the original wall can still be seen. One of the churches, called the Grote Kerk (Big Church), was started in 1674. D. There are several industries and the city is growing. Our house is in the building with the seed shop. It has four rooms and a beautiful garden in back.

During the first week I was here, Janke was taking her final examinations. She passed all of them and received her high school diploma. It is the custom in European high schools not to have final examinations during the last year, but to combine all in a final comprehensive test at the end of the senior year. After her successful completion, the living room of their home was filled with flowers that friends sent to her. That evening all the relatives came to the house for a party. The next night Janke had a party for her friends.

I have seen much of Holland already. My parents want to take me many places. On Sunday afternoon trips we have gone to Arnhem to see an open air museum similar to Greenfield Village; Geithoorn, a small, picturesque town entirely on canals where no autos are allowed; Stop-voorst, a village where the people dress in the old costumes, and many other interesting places. On a trip to Amsterdam, I have seen the Ann Frank house.

Paint Roof to Cool Livestock

By ED REBMAN
Extension Director
BOYNE CITY -- Livestock housed in galvanized steel buildings can be 6 to 15 degrees F. cooler if the roof of the structure is painted white. With the recent hot weather, county farmers are concerned about their animals.

A white reflective color keeps heat from penetrating through the roof and greatly reduces the summer stress on livestock, says H. F. Cargill, Michigan State University agricultural engineering specialist.

HE POINTS OUT THAT a reflective mixture of hydrated lime and white cement or hydrated lime and polyvinyl acetate can be applied as a reflector for five to ten cents per square foot. The mixture can be applied by power or hand sprayer or with a white-wash broom.

A 30 by 200 foot poultry house roof would require approximately $10 worth of materials and about eight hours for mixing and applying the reflective material with a hand sprayer.

However, Cargill cautions farmers not to apply the mixture on rusty metal roofs.

2 New Homes to Cost $29,500

City Supt. James Taylor's office has issued permits for construction of two new homes, estimated to cost $29,500.

Charles E. Holtcamp of Grayling has started construction of a 42 by 24 foot house with 14 by 24 foot garage at 703 E. Dixon. Construction of the home was estimated at $13,500. It is the second home Holtcamp has built in Charlevoix on speculation.

LAKE CONSTRUCTION Co. is building a 26 by 66 foot frame home on Dixon for Lt. David Smith, Cape May, Maryland, at an estimated cost of $16,000.

Dr. Hoffmann's Roadster at Michigan Beach

Detroit's Best Gets Second Rate Billing

Detroit's proudest automobile designers would certainly have had their ego deflated if they visited Charlevoix last week.

With Charlevoix's summer guests boasting many of the Detroit's proudest 1964 masterpieces, designed and built without regard to cost, a 1930 model roadster was getting all the stares and "look at that" comments.

COUNCILMAN-DENTIST Dr. Walter Hoffmann came grinning into town on the seat of the 1930 Hudson luxury Roadster. If a man driving an automobile, Doc, did, and prance while driving an automobile, Doc, did.

THIS PICTURE of a 1930 Hudson Eight Roadster-like Dr. Hoffmann's was taken when the car was first introduced for the company to us in advertisements.

Hoffmann bought the vintage roadster in Detroit. He drove it back to Charlevoix in eight hours, getting 16 miles to the gallon.

Everything, except one tall light, is original equipment. The color is a rich yellow-cream with black trim and a natural canvas top.

The Hudson Roadster Eight, Hoffmann explained, in 1930 was comparable to a Packard or other luxury cars.

THE SPOKE WHEELS, gleaming headlights, smooth working doors, plush upholstery and quiet running gear of his almost perfectly preserved model prove this point.

COMPUTERS HELP US a great deal in providing you with good telephone service. But they can never replace the spirit of service so traditional with telephone people. That spirit is the very human concern which prompts our people to give an extra measure of helpfulness, wherever it's needed. And it's as much a part of Michigan Bell today as it was 'way back before computers were invented.

EASY NOW!
Life is so much easier, with a handy extension phone where you work. No more mad dashes to catch the phone in the other room. No more interruptions in your work. The cost? Just pennies a day, after the one-time installation charge. And there's a wide choice of attractive colors to choose from. To order your extension, just call our Business Office or ask your telephone man.

YEARS OF SERVICE— without a single repair! That's a pretty common story with Bell telephones - even those that take lots of family or business punishment. Toughness is built into your telephone by the engineers at Western Electric, manufacturing and supply unit of the Bell System. They test each phone thoroughly before releasing it for installation in a customer's home. But if your phone ever does need servicing, don't worry. There's no extra charge for repairs!

Consumers Power Co.'s Big Rock Nuclear Power Plant has become a symbol of Charlevoix's unique blend of dynamic progress and dramatic beauty. Set along Lake Michigan amidst some of the most scenic shoreline in North America, the nuclear plant's Information Center has attracted more than a quarter-million visitors.

Tens of thousands of these people would not have come to Charlevoix, except for the power plant. Today Consumers Power advertises its Information Center on billboards throughout the state. The signs identify the plant as being "At Charlevoix."

This series of "Courier Camera" photos shows some of the hundreds of people who visited the Information Center on a typical afternoon. In the last month visitors have come from 47 states and 20 foreign countries.

Denny Custer, Information Center director, reports the biggest rush is on Wednesdays. The most often asked question is how nuclear power compares economically with coal. Assisting Custer at the Information Center are Pat Kujawski, Terri Freedman, Tom Duerr, Mike Allen and Hy Heaton.

Camp Charlevoix Corral Chatter

By KEN SMITH

The sixth week of camp started with "Rebel" Thompson taking cabin 10 on a canoe trip down the Jordan River. These boys were Jeff Nyland, David Calvin, Gus Gluck, Brian Johnson, John McKee, Eric Peterson, and Bill Velt.

In the evening, the "Mug-wump" was hidden and after an hour of searching, the Greens found it and have the honor of starting off the week.

ON TUESDAY, Greg Demerest took his cabin on a horseback overnight. These boys were Jimmy Carkuff, Tom Laskey, John Danaher, Russ Dicken, Paul Kelly, Brendy Lange and Rick Rankin. Cabin 13, with Paul Jane as the Concoiler, went over to Bells Bay by truck for an overnight, but a storm hit the area and these boys were brought back to camp.

Mark Stephan, Joe Caskey, Jim Hutchinson, Steven Johnson, David Pliskin, John Vincent, Peter Stege, and Bill West.

Cabin 19, with Jon Steffensen as the leader, took his boys down the Jordan River on a canoe trip. These boys were John Amborg, Tom Holtz, Jim Warner, Ernie Kelly, Bill Culphey, Martin Johnson, Chuck Pott and Mac Wyatt.

Wednesday was another day for trips out of camp. These trips play a very important part of camping. Gary Nagel took his boys down the Jordan River, the boys being Peter Eberbach, Scott Porter, Freddy Myers, Bill Lambert, Don Tebben, Dave Fernstrom, George Steinhardt and Doug Laing.

Cabin 11, with Dan Cameron as counselor, went to Young State Park on an overnight, these boys being John Jeffiffe, David Washburn, Chuck Herrington, Mason Jenkins, Bill Kirwin, Mark Sterling and Robert DeSalvo.

IN THE EVENING, the camp had "Capture the Counselor" event, with the boys trying to find the staff who were hidden in the woods. This was a lot of fun, and the boys loved it.

On Thursday, Cabins 1 and 2, our smallest boys in camp, had a hobo hike. The boys dressed as hoboes with corn cobs pipes (carved by Rebel Thompson from the hills of Kentucky), old tux pants, faces besmudged, and on the end of their poles were their belongings tied in a big red handkerchief. They made quite a sight as they left camp walking down the road looking very much like hoboes on their way. These boys were: Tom Sukany, Van Martin, Greg Mast, Dave Herrington, Bill Southern, Hugh Broder, Tom Duke, Tom Kirwin, Jim Lynski, Terry Masi, and Doug Bacon. They walked over to Susan Lake, about two miles from camp, and stayed overnight. The men on the trip were: Bill Jackinovich, Marc Taylor, Grant Washburn, and Jay Heltz.

Cabin 3, Tom Kennedy's cabin took a horseback overnight over to Bay Shore. These boys were: Tim Ewing, Todd Fowler, Randy Peterson, and Jim Rumora.

Another cabin of boys were: Art McKenny, Mark Murfin, Scott Graves, George Kryder, Jeff Owen, Woody Rop, John Ther, and Chris Bray. In the morning, our two softball teams were guests at Bayview and after two hard fought games, both our Junior team and the Senior team lost. Friday was a regular day at camp with activities really humming as all trips returned. Boys were busy making accomplishments in their choice of activity, as the season is nearing its end and they want as many "stars" on their certificate as possible.

AT THIS POINT we would like to ask all parents of four week boys to PLEASE look through your sons belongings he brought home from camp to see if he has accidentally packed a cabinmate's gear. One boy is missing a bag of laundry, a Timex watch is missing and a transfer tag. If you do have these, will you PLEASE send them here to camp or write for the owners' address? Boys often pack in a hurry and accidentally get something belonging to a cabinmate.

Saturday was a regular day at camp with the evening being devoted to skits. It was a most enjoyable evening with several of the skits showing much work. John Delserone and Rusty Smith's cabin 4 took top honors with "Minstrel Show". It was very clever with songs, jokes, and Bobby Postack shined brightly. The C.L.T.'s pantomimed a record about Hopalong Cassidy and some Indians. It was well done and gave everyone a lot of laughs. Cabin 14, Greg Demerest's boys put on a skit called "The German Soldier". John Deane and John Fraim's cabin used our morning inspection as its theme. John Fraime was a perfect Bill Townsend. Wes Murfin's cabin took a doctors office as its theme with George Boomer

Mrs. C. J. Fiedler and daughter, Mrs. Herbert Hamlin, of North Point, have returned from two weeks at Indian Lake near Vicksburg where they attended the annual convention of the Church of the Nazarene. Mrs. Hamlin assisted at the electric organ during the conventions. Mr. Fiedler, Mr. Hamlin and James Fiedler joined them over two weeks at the convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Petersen have returned to Southfield after spending the Venetian weekend with their parents, Mrs. Floyd Brown and Mr. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Winnick.

Carol Smith of Ann Arbor spent the weekend with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert McCort and children have returned to Lansing following a weekend visit with her mother, Mrs. Charles Hamlin.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pontious have arrived from Chester, N. J., to visit his mother, Mrs. Ingma Pontious. His brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Paul McClure and two children, of Lansing, joined them over the weekend. On their return to southern Michigan they were accompanied by Mrs. McClure's cousins, Lia and Ellen Sundling who will spend a week with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker Miles returned home Monday evening from a weekend tour of the Upper Peninsula.

as the doctor. It was an evening of very amusing and well rehearsed skits.

Sunday morning our chapel service was held in the Bigwam as it had rained all night and our outdoor chapel was wet, wet, wet. Grant Washburn was the speaker. He spoke on "Building Bridges", not bridges between land and land, but bridges from people to people. It was a very thought-provoking message and several of our parents who were at the service remarked on the fine talk.

At dinner at noon, the staff put on a skit entitled "Miss Camp Charlevoix", honoring counselor Jerry Flora whose girlfriend was in the Miss Michigan contest. It was very well done with a cast of about 20, and the boys just rocked with laughter. It was a lot of fun.

IN THE AFTERNOON, we had the MILE SWIM again, and as it was a very hot, humid day, the boys were glad of the chance to get in the water. One hundred thirty-eight started the swim and ninety-eight finished. The Greens picked up two points and the Greys one point. The first ten finishers in order were: Ted Herrington, George Steinhardt, Bill Culphey, George Wyatt, John Ther, Peter Eberbach, Freddy Myers, Doug Laing, Rick Bruner, and George Kryder.

In the evening, it was so hot and humid that we had a picnic supper in order to relieve the kitchen staff from working over the hot stoves. Later in the evening, the entire camp gathered in the Bigwam to see a movie Steve Reeves in "Trojan Horse".

Parents are urged when they come to camp for the closing events, NOT to come into camp until after the Rodeo on Friday afternoon, August 14th at 3 p.m. When you come to camp, park and stay at the Rodeo ring and meet your son there at Rodeo time. Please adhere to this as that day is a very busy one for all concerned.

THE GRASS IS GREENER—rains early last week brought much needed relief to pastures and cattle, such as those owned by the Jerome Kimble family on Matchett Rd. Mr. Kimble and the children, left to right, David, 11, Gay, 6, and Jerome, 14, check on part of their herd of 40 Angus and several feeder cattle. The Kimbles moved from Detroit four years ago to start their Bonnie-K Ranch. Mrs. Kimble is the former Marion White of Charlevoix. (COURIER PHOTO)

My Neighbors

At dinner at noon, the staff put on a skit entitled "Miss Camp Charlevoix", honoring counselor Jerry Flora whose girlfriend was in the Miss Michigan contest. It was very well done with a cast of about 20, and the boys just rocked with laughter. It was a lot of fun.

IN THE AFTERNOON, we had the MILE SWIM again, and as it was a very hot, humid day, the boys were glad of the chance to get in the water. One hundred thirty-eight started the swim and ninety-eight finished. The Greens picked up two points and the Greys one point. The first ten finishers in order were: Ted Herrington, George Steinhardt, Bill Culphey, George Wyatt, John Ther, Peter Eberbach, Freddy Myers, Doug Laing, Rick Bruner, and George Kryder.

In the evening, it was so hot and humid that we had a picnic supper in order to relieve the kitchen staff from working over the hot stoves. Later in the evening, the entire camp gathered in the Bigwam to see a movie Steve Reeves in "Trojan Horse".

Parents are urged when they come to camp for the closing events, NOT to come into camp until after the Rodeo on Friday afternoon, August 14th at 3 p.m. When you come to camp, park and stay at the Rodeo ring and meet your son there at Rodeo time. Please adhere to this as that day is a very busy one for all concerned.

Consumers Power Co.'s Big Rock Nuclear Power Plant has become a symbol of Charlevoix's unique blend of dynamic progress and dramatic beauty. Set along Lake Michigan amidst some of the most scenic shoreline in North America, the nuclear plant's information center has attracted more than a quarter-million visitors.

Tens of thousands of these people would not have come to Charlevoix, except for the power plant. Today Consumers Power advertises its information center on billboards throughout the state. The signs identify the plant as being "At Charlevoix."

This series of "Courier Camera" photos shows some of the hundreds of people who visited the information center on a typical afternoon. In the last month visitors have come from 47 states and 20 foreign countries.

Menominee Attorney Aims for Congress

Russell W. Bradley of Menominee was in Charlevoix Thursday and Friday campaigning for the Democratic party's nomination as Congressman from the new 11th district.

Bradley is one of five men (two Republicans and three Democrats) who are campaigning in the state's biggest Congressional District, of which Charlevoix is a part.

THE NEW 11TH district includes all of the Upper Peninsula and seven counties below the straits. This makes it one-third the size of the entire state.

However, Bradley, who is serving his third term as Menominee County prosecuting attorney, spent the better part of two days last week campaigning in Charlevoix County.

While at the Courier office, Bradley criticized incumbent Republican Congressmen for their lack of attention to local problems. He charged they appear to have abandoned the home district and are seldom in contact with their constituents.

He contends expansion of the Congressional district and more complex problems, make it imperative that local (city and county) governing bodies assume more initiative and responsibility in fulfilling modern needs.

BRADLEY IS A native of the Village of Hermansville, in Menominee County and is the son of Martin R. Bradley, former Speaker of the State House of Representatives. His mother, Jennie Wallen once worked at Charlevoix's Belvedere Hotel, during summer vacation from college.

Bradley attended Wayne State University and the University of Michigan's School of Forestry and Conservation, before enlisting in the Army during World War II.

Bradley accepted appointment as Field Examiner for the National Labor Relations Board in the Detroit Regional office in 1947, and worked there until 1955 when he resigned to return to Menominee to establish his law practice. He had earned his law degree by attending Wayne University Law School evening classes over a five year period.

Bradley was elected Menominee County Prosecuting Attorney in 1958. He served as a delegate to the Constitutional Convention by appointment of Governor Swainson.

"I SEEK MY PARTY'S nomination to the important position as Congressman, as one who by birth and choice is a part of Northern Michigan's destiny. I have unbounded confidence in the people of my district in their vigorous and independent nature. I believe that our region can see a rebirth of the prosperity it once enjoyed, if keen attention is given to those things that our people truly need from government. I believe that my training, my experience in government, both federal and local, and my identity with the people of Northern Michigan have prepared me for this important task. I have been a servant of the people nearly all my adult life, in military and civilian positions. I ask for the opportunity to serve the people of the Eleventh Congressional District both in Congress and with their individual problems and pledge my every effort in their services."

Bradley, 42, is married and the father of six children.

Special Camp Meeting Services at the Greensky Hill Indian Methodist Church will be starting tonight (Thursday) Aug. 6 through 9, at 7:30 p.m. The Volunteer Colored Singers from Harbor Springs will be singing tonight. Each evening, there will be special music and singing. Rev. Earl Printup, is the guest speaker. Mrs. Printup will be playing an instrument at the services. Everyone is welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Lewis of Flint were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Snead, Sr.

CLAYTON T. MORRISON

Pickford Republican Makes Bid

Clayton T. Morrison of Pickford in the Upper Peninsula, was in Charlevoix last week campaigning for election to the new 10th state representative districting plan.

THE NEW 10TH House district includes Emmet, Kalkaska, Antrim, Charlevoix, Mackinac and Otsego counties, to the new 10th state representative district.

Morrison, a Republican, represented Chippewa County in old House districting plan.

THE NEW 10th House district includes Emmet, Kalkaska, Antrim, Charlevoix, Chippewa, Mackinac and Otsego counties.

Morrison is in his 12th year as a state representative. He is chairman of the House Roads and Bridges Committee and is sub-chairman of the House and Senate committees which set up the entire state road program.

For 12 years he has been a member of the Education and Conservation committees. He served as Chairman for the Education committee and introduced the state aid bill used today. He is also a member of the Tourist Industrial Relations committee.

Morrison says he is working for the completion of the scenic highway from Petoskey to Harbor Springs and north around the lake to Mackinac City, and from DeTour to Munising in the Upper Peninsula. He reports he has had several years experience in farming and was instrumental in starting the farm bureau in the Chippewa area.

Morrison was born and raised in Mackinac County, where his father was a Marquette Township supervisor for 45 years. At the age of 26, Morrison moved into his present home in Chippewa County. He was a member of the school board for 24 years, serving as its president for the last 10 years.

Representative and Mrs. Morrison were married in 1925. They have three daughters and 12 grandchildren.

Track Events Open To All Youngsters

The third annual Recreation Department's track and field day at Kipke Field with the boys meet will be held today (Thursday) and tomorrow (Friday) according to director Paul Johnson.

Each group will be divided into two divisions. Youngsters eight through ten will be in the junior division, while those 11 through 13 will compete in the senior division.

Ribbons will be awarded to all first, second, and third place finishers in the following events: 25 yard dash, 55 yard dash, 60 yard hurdles, broad jump, high jump, softball throw, and the 440 yard relay.

Each contestant will be allowed to enter three events plus participating as a member of the 440 yard relay team.

This is the first of several special events sponsored by the City Recreation Department. The second event city swim races is tentatively scheduled for the latter part of August.

The Department's recommendations, based on year-long surveys, which reportedly point to another pre-season herd of about 800,000 animals, are aimed at a fall kill of more than 60,000 antlerless whitetails and upwards of 70,000 bucks.

DESIGNED TO LET hunters take all surplus deer above an adequate "safety cushion," these suggested regulations will come up for consideration by the Conservation Commission today and tomorrow (Aug. 6-7) at the Higgins Lake conservation school.

State-wide, nearly 200,000 special permits would be issued in an effort to reach the hoped-for harvest of some 66,400 surplus antlerless deer.

UNDER A NEW LAW, the fire-arm season will open Nov. 14 and run through Nov. 29 in the Upper Peninsula west of M-77. Throughout the remainder of the state, the season will fall within the traditional Nov. 15-30 period.

Elsewhere in Michigan, Department recommendations are geared to an antlerless take of 15,400 deer in the Upper Peninsula and over 49,000 in the northern Lower Peninsula. Special seasons would be held in 14 areas above the Straits and 44 areas in the northern Lower Peninsula, covering 15,962 and 13,795 square miles, respectively.

Circling the Bases

With the winding of the regular season only weeks away, games have become more important and full of tense moments.

FASTBALL LEAGUE TIED In that important Mord-Morwold steel game, the boys from Mordwold forced Mord to share first place when they whipped the league leaders 4-1 behind the tight pitching of Bob Klooster.

Mord scored first on Ken Boss and Ken Wojan's one-baggers. Mordwold battled back for two of their own in the second on John Swanson's lead-off double and Jack Ingalls and Tom Wink's singles.

Klooster tied the game with a long double, scoring teammate Bob Drenth, then big Bob raced home when a pickoff attempt went awry. The loss was as the first of the year for Mord and with Mordwold and Mord tied, the league championship will probably be decided when the two teams clash again on Monday, August 17.

THE MERCHANTS gave Mordwold Steel some anxious moments before falling to defeat 10-7. Mordwold picked up five markers in the first inning, then hung on for the win. The Merchants sent four runs home in the seventh but their rally fell short. Hank Waggoner and John Suika had extra base blows for the losers while Chet Boss paced the winners with two hits.

JR. LEAGUE RHUBARB The hot rivalry between A & W and Barnard finally erupted, and before order could be restored the game was forfeited to Barnard by the umpires. Actually A & W was in the process of playing its finest game of the season and was leading Barnard 6-1 in the final inning when the trouble exploded. The game was hotly contested throughout and several minor skirmishes resulted but real trouble was avoided until the seventh. When an A

W player was called out for leading off second. Tempers grew short and in the moments that followed the umpire walked to the A & W bench where the lid blew off and after much arguing and finally some pushing, the umpires both declared the game a forfeit and Barnard was awarded the game.

The city commission reviewed the written reports turned in by the umpires and league officials. The umpires decision was upheld. Barnard was awarded the game, in all honesty to the entire A & W team it must be reported that many of its members had no hand in the flare up, and the few that were involved have been warned that any recurrence of their abusive action could result in their suspension. League officials hope now that the matter be dropped and for the remainder of the season, the real value of athletics will be utmost in the minds of players, fans, and umpires, and that the league will continue to function with no problems as it has in the past nine years of its operation.

CARDS LEADING PEANUT CURCUT The Cards remained undefeated and racked up their third straight win in a come-from-behind win over the hard-luck Cubs. Trailing 6-4 going into the bottom of the seventh the Cards came to life. Tome Bergman, Norm Ostrum, and Bob Deyoung combined base hits and the winning run scored on a fielder's choice.

The Dodgers edged the Pirates in extra innings 9-8 when Don Ward led off the ninth with a triple and scored on Tim Doans smash.

This Week's Play Will Decide Golf Tourney

The finals in all six flights in the City Championship golf tournament will likely be played off this week, according to Keith Carey, club manager at the municipal course where the annual event is being played.

Ted Ager advanced to the semi-finals in the championship flight by defeating Perry Smith, 2-1.

Dr. Lloyd Olds of Ypsilanti won the second annual Arm of Honor fraternity tournament at the municipal golf course Saturday.

Using the Callaway system, Dr. Olds posted a score of 89 for 18 holes to win the tourney in which fraternity members who attended Eastern Michigan University participate.

George Driggett of Charlevoix and Milwaukee with a corrected score of 79 placed second; Walter Draper of Franklin, the defending champion, came in third with an 81 while Al-Rip Van Winkle of Tecumseh placed fourth with an 83.

Dr. Olds also won a prize for the longest drive; Van Winkle, the shortest drive and Jim Houston for putting the ball closest to the pin (on the third hole).

Following the tournament, the participants and their guests gathered at the Argonne for dinner.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Kinney of Luna Pier; Mr. and Mrs. Van Winkle of Tecumseh; Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. Osborn of Central Lake; Mr. and Mrs. George L. Coatta of Eastport; Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Draper of Jackson; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Draper of Franklin; Mr. and Mrs. Driggett of Milwaukee; Dr. Olds of Ypsilanti. Guests at the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. James Huston of Royal Oak; Leo J. Spencer and Tom of Detroit and Mrs. Francis Flynn of Central Lake.

At the organizational meeting following the dinner, Mr. Draper was named chairman and Mr. Coatta, co-chairman of the third annual tourney to be held at the municipal course here August 7.

2-11 Ager posted a one-meter bar 74 to take the match and go against Ken Coatta. This week, defending champion Bob Livingston won a spot in the finals by defeating Bruce Henley, 2-1, in an earlier match.

NO MATCHES WERE played in the first flight during the week.

Top area pistol teams and individual shooters have been invited to the Charlevoix Rod and Gun Club's Aug. 16 matches.

The shoot will be held between 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. on the club's outdoor range.

PISTOL SHOOTERS in the area who are not on teams should contact Frank Zednick or Harold Land.

1965. An Alumni chapter of the Arm of Honor fraternity was also organized at the dinner. Mr. Driggett was elected president; Mr. Kinney, vice president; Mr. Coatta, secretary and Mr. Draper, treasurer.

OK Killing of 60,000 Does?

A possible firearm harvest of more than 130,000 deer is being proposed for this November by the Conservation Dept.

ERHAPS THE MOST sensitive writing to come out of northern Michigan arrives weekly under the tantalizing heading of "Pine Whispers" in a dourly made up small newspaper called the "North Woods Call."

The North Woods Call, which is the nearest thing to a voice the northland has, is edited by Miss Marguerite Gahagan at Johannesburg. It does the most complete, and interesting, job of covering the outdoor world of Michigan's north of any newspaper printed. Outdoor sports, nature observation and conservation are the little tabloid paper's only subjects.

IF YOU WANT TO KNOW the inside story of what's going on in the Conservation Dept., what the big challenges are facing nature lovers and outdoorsmen and how fishermen and hunters are doing you will get the first and most complete report in the North Woods Call.

But the paper's biggest value for the $4 annual subscription comes under the weekly "Pine Whispers" heading. This column and a half, or so, of nature notes shows the feeling and friendship for nature that made John Muir, Henry Thoreau, and John Burroughs beloved by millions.

A reader can't escape the feeling that the author of Pine Whispers is one of the stately pines, playful chipmunks or sassy bluejays who play the lead role.

But instead this inspiring column is written by Miss Gahagan, who escaped the heartlessness of a Detroit newspaper beat by retreating into the north woods to publish a paper about the land and critters she loves.

THE FOLLOWING ARE RECENT excerpts from Pine Whispers. If you like them you can receive them weekly by writing the North Woods Call at P.O. Box 37, Roscommon, and sending along $2.25 for a six months subscription or $4 for a year.

DAY AND NIGHT:

The full moon came and in the stream trout rose, sucking in the bugs as hatches hit. In the woods life moved, furred pads quiet, the silence of the dark woods broken as the full moon came and a bird dreamed, the sweet song of the purple finch cascading on rays of the full moon as it touched a spider's web taut from grass to grass. The cuckoo called again and again, eerie voice part of night's mysterious beauty.

The woods was white-silver in the light of the full moon and the day's heat rose from the dry earth. Dawn came, touched the buck's spikes in velvet as he walked to the pond to drink, to paw and lick the salt block, coat red-gold in dawn's coming before he slipped away down his traditional path between wild raspberries, brushing a fallen giant, stepping daintily through Christmas fern into the darkness of the swamp, white flag waving at the myriad insects that swarmed up as each hoof cut the earth.

Nights are busy. A young raccoon of last year came to search for food. It was the first of many and it sat on the porch, waiting for me to see it and give it food, and insects swarmed about it, and it sat on its tail, and swatted at insects hovering about its eyes.

IT CAME TO the door and took a piece of bread that I offered, and ate slowly, ears alert for the sounds of the woods.

Under the bushes green eyes glowed in the porch light. I threw bread slices and quietly, quickly others came.

POND TALK:

But the next night was different: quiet, peace, only the philosophical discussion of the old frogs as they retold pond history to two new bullheads and a half dozen bluegills added to the community. Was it this addition or a cold weather change, hot hot, sultry days and then ever lowering water levels that brought about this endless discussion around the pond?

The flycatchers introduced their first young one to the cabin. Round and round they took it, screaming that this was north and this was south, and that blue jays hung out in that pine and peanut butter on the window feeder belonged to woodpeckers. They screamed their lesson, and the young one screamed back, learning the language. Background music came from the scarlet tanager, from the oven bird, from the purple finches, for the lady finches now sing the pride of motherhood as they bring young ones to the feeders.

The woods thrush sings sweetly, moving nearer and nearer the cabin, flute-like notes ending with a cascade while in back in the jack pines, the hermit thrush sings as soloist in the woods summer symphony, notes bell-like, liquid.

DEATH IN THE SWAMP:

The woods was dark, branches bent with the weight of dripping leaves, the moss on a fallen log emerald green, the earth so dry not yet satisfied, absorbing the first long rain of the year. The swamp was muted, ferns glistening with raindrops, and the gray sky at twilight was broken as clouds dripped showing small patches of yellow. The swamp was very still. It was dark. It smelled of ferns and moss.

Bluejays flocked before going to bed, raced and talked, and came near a robin's nest and the robin chirped loudly and dived and drove them away. The jays moved west, nine of them, two families, young bold and raucous, and they harassed a red squirrel high in a bending elm, and then moved deeper into the swamp. One screamed, a high terrifying scream and its voice told of its fright, its terror, its pain, and the swamp echoed to the high cries of blue jays, flock moving with frantic speed, diving, rising, screaming there among the balsams, the cedars, the black ash, and the voice of one grew fainter as the chorus increased.

AGAINST A SMALL OPENING in the dense tree growth, the hawk's silhouette was gray against a patch of yellow. The blue jay flock concentrated in one area, its voice one loud scream, rising higher, higher, with keening and one loud scream, rising higher, higher, with keening anguish, the only sound in the hushed swamp as other birds listened, winged silently toward shelter.

The swamp withdrew into itself. The long, wild cry of the jays at last ended as dusk came. The swamp held within itself the drama of those that live there. Had the hungry one, the hawk, the hunter, carried off his food? Or had the jays, in screaming rage, driven him from the young who had not learned that everything lives on something else? Was the wild crying of the birds a lament of grief, a frenzied conference over an injured young, a harsh lecture on the battle for survival?

The swamp melted into one piece of velvet blackness as night came, quiet, secretive and a frog croaked and splashed in the pond. The hermit thrush sang in the jack through the brakes, bent and sodden with rain.

A light breeze touched the woods, moving toward the plains where poplar leaves still echoed the keening of the jays. And the next evening the birds, like blue ghosts, silently winged their way into the swamp, eyes watchful, voices stilled.

MUSIC AGAIN:

Back in the jacks, rain splashed, the cuckoo cried briefly, its second call, like that of the mourning dove, had not been heard for days while the woods baked, cracked, seared.

The brief rain was a golden treasure. Once more the purple finch sang on the kitchen window feeder filling the cabin with melody. Once more the flycatchers enjoyed summer travel, flitting out over the pond, to the never-used martin house, going in each of the openings, tourists, vacationers, looking things over.

Once more the woods pewee, the brown thrasher, the scarlet tanager, the oven bird called while sensitive fern tried to lift drooping leaves and fight devil's paintbrush opening orange-red buds. A wild morning glory lifted a white cup as its vine stretched over the dried-ground. Spittle-bugs' white, slimy nests are all over the ground and in the pines as insects nest, breed, produce.

In the swamp, wild iris fade and seed pods grow big. Once again crickets chirped as slowly the woods revived, the sweet feel of rain on brake, the look of moisture on a cobweb, the renewed pulse of life in a jack-in-the-pulpit.

NOW THE PURPLE FINCH SINGS, sings to the rumble of thunder off in the distance, to the slow drip of rain from a popple leaf, Juneberry branches are nearly stripped of green fruit. A squirrel comes in early morning to dine on a window feeder, and chipmunks sniff the perfume of a damp woods and sit on brush piles and harvest cracked corn after long days down in the coolness of dens.

Sulphur butterflies gather in swarms where a rare water puddle can be found. Monarchs range slowly, lighting on dry daisies, golden centers already brown. A red-spotted purple idles among the poppies.

Like tiny gray ghosts chickadees steal in to feeders, hiding away back in the brush, quiet, only in the early morning singing their sweet songs. Robins call, call their rain song, a long last rewarded.

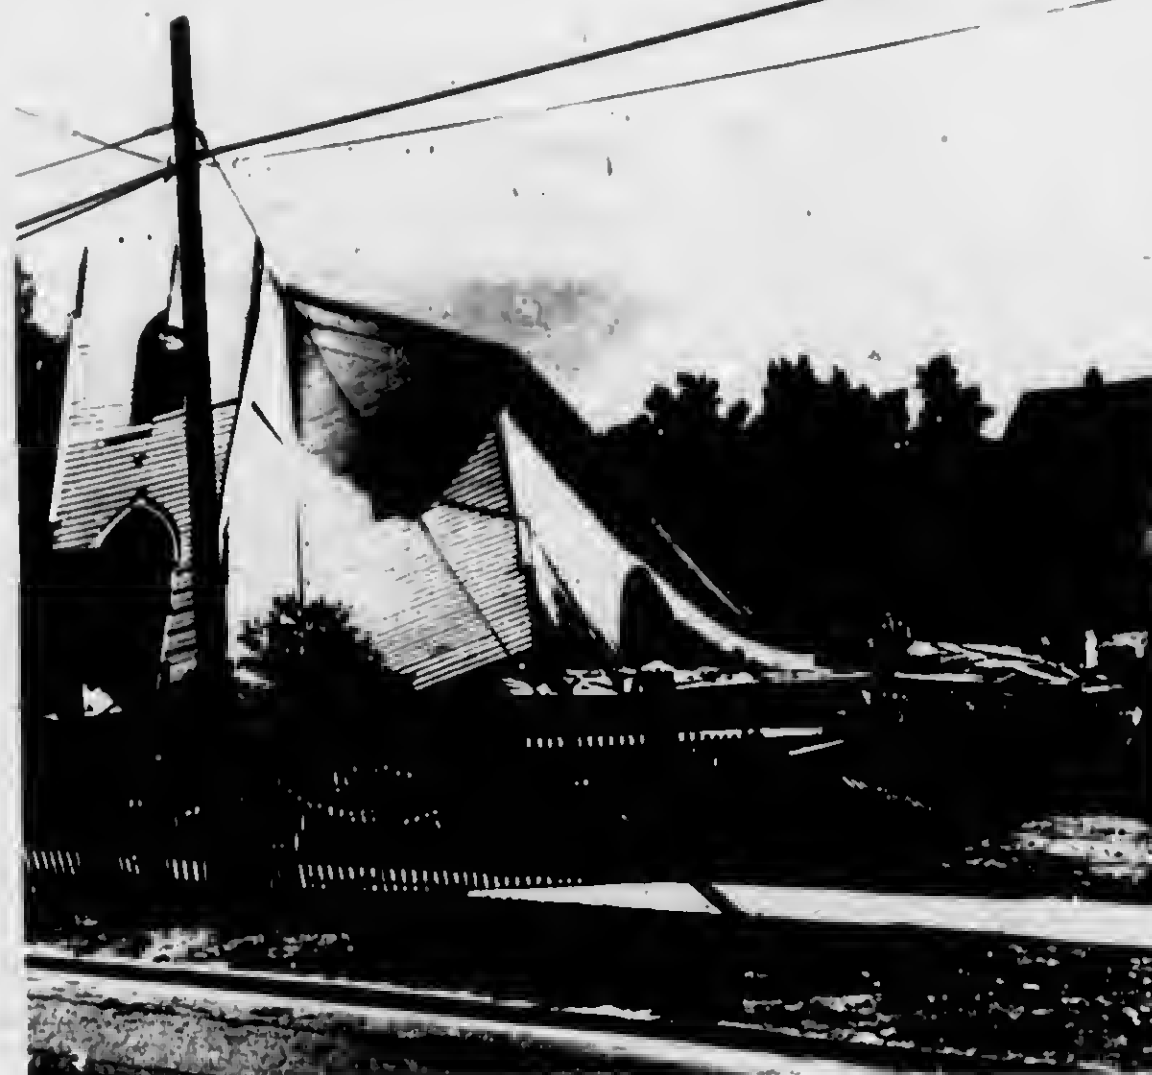

The sound of rain is a lovely song, hissing against popple leaves, sliding off oaks, hanging in jeweled droplets on balsam branches, clouding the pines with silver. The dry earth drinks deeply, braken once more pushing jungle-like leaves upward, and beady seeds are swelling.

Lift for Living

By Rev. H. E. Kohn
A recent news item tells that an American municipal court had to close temporarily because the presiding judge suffered severe burns on his left foot when he stepped into a beach fire. The judge had incurred a war injury which left his foot with dead nerves, and he was not aware that he was standing on hot coals until he had been severely burned. The man's freedom from pain almost destroyed his foot and leg.

Many children afflicted with the mental disease schizophrenia do not react to injury and pain as normal children do. Of a group of thirty-one schizophrenic children observed in one child research center, only six reacted normally in response to pain. One child cut and bruised her finger when a door slammed shut on it, and she looked at the finger with a wan smile and with no sign of distress. Another child sat on a very hot radiator unaware she was being made other children cry out in anguish left schizophrenic youngsters undisturbed.

PAIN IS GENERALLY regarded as one of man's worst enemies, but it is often our good friend. It shouts a warning, "You are hurt! you need attention." Thus, pain is one of God's mercies built into our bodies. Its function is to signal that something is wrong and the wrong needs correction. If you felt no pain when you cut your fingers, soon you might have no fingers, and if you were unaffected by pain when foreign matter lodged in your eyes, soon you might have no sight. If there were no toothaches, many people would let teeth rot in their mouths without seeking dental help.

A painful conscience indicates that it is still alive, functioning, vital. It is still capable of rebuking a man and alerting him to his wrongdoing. An Indian who bartered at a trading post on the wilderness edge returned home with his goods and found a silver coin in a package of tobacco. The coin did not belong there. Someone had lost it. The Indian was so troubled about the matter that he returned to the trading post and gave the coin back to the trader who laughed teasingly at the red man's scruples. But the Indian insisted on giving the coin to the trader, explaining, "I got in a good man and a bad man in my heart. Good man say, 'Coin in not yours.' Bad man say, 'Nobody will know.' Good man say, 'Take coin back to trading post!' Bad man say, 'Never mind.' Then I think maybe I go to sleep. But good man and bad man quarrel all night and bother me. So I bring back coin and stop the quarrel."

Such self-criticism of the bad in us by the good in us is painful, but, like a hurt in the body, the distress is requisite to a remedy. It gives us cause and incentive for amendment and redemption.

IS CONSCIENCE A reliable, wholly infallible guide to right conduct? No, not always reliable. If it were unerring, how could we explain the fact that two men with equally clear consciences will find themselves on opposite sides of the same issue?

John Woolman and John Newton lived in the seventeenth century, and both were eminent religious leaders of their time. Woolman protested vehemently against the African slave trade and militantly led his followers to protest it. Newton, the author of many a beautiful English hymn, had been a captain on a slave ship, and observed his devotions within a few feet of the ship's hold where the slaves were bound and where many sickened and died before their voyage ended. Obviously both consciences could not be infallible guides and still lead Woolman and Newton in opposite directions.

The fact is, conscience, like pain, is far from being an unerring voice. It must be trained to hurt when it should hurt and to warn when a warning is warranted. No one at six months of age detects dishonesty. Many do at sixteen years of age. No one at nine months of age is troubled by taking something that does not belong to him. Many are at nine years of age and more still at nineteen.

Saint Paul, writing his first letter to Timothy urged him to teach a "love that issues from a pure heart and a good conscience and sincere faith." A "good conscience," in Christian terms, is one that is trained to feel at peace only when one's conduct is healthily Christlike and to hurt when un-Christlike acts are committed or contemplated.

A CHRISTIAN'S conscience is at rest only when the "good" within the argument within him.

Comment Fact Opinion

He Would Rather be Right than President

In the introduction to his book, "Profiles in Courage," John F. Kennedy wrote, "This is a book about that most admirable of human virtues -- courage. 'Grace under pressure,' Ernest Hemingway defined it. And these are the stories of the pressures experienced by eight United States senators and the grace with which they endured them -- the risks to their careers, the unpopularity of their courses, the defamation of their characters, and sometimes, but sadly only sometimes, the vindication of their reputations and their principles."

Mr. Kennedy's heroes each was a man whose "desire to win or maintain a reputation for integrity and courage was stronger than his desire to maintain his office -- because his conscience, his personal standard of ethics, his integrity or morality was stronger than the pressures of public disapproval -- because his faith that his course was the best one and would ultimately be vindicated, outweighed his fear of public reprisal."

So the great of the American past, from John Quincy Adams to Robert Taft, can now move over to make way for a newcomer. When Sen. Barry Goldwater stood in his loneliness to say that for the sake of the Constitution and the consequences he feared would flow from the legislation, he could not in conscience vote for the civil rights bill, he was entitled to the admiration of even his enemies.

Sincerity, Courage

Romney Trademarks

THE POLITICAL pundits say that Gov. Romney will be in serious trouble next fall at election time if Barry Goldwater gets the Republican nomination.

This is quite possibly true, for George Romney is not a polished politician, and in politics it is not always the better man who wins. Romney impressed almost everyone attending his two-day conference on economic opportunities last week by his intense interest, his grasp of the wide variety of problems, and his obvious desire to find solutions.

He has been impressive in other situations. He handled himself well in the recent Essex Wire labor dispute in Hillsdale, in a situation where he was damned if he did and damned if he didn't. He was the only governor strong enough to speak his mind at the recent Governor's Conference in Cleveland, where other Republicans backed away from the Goldwater controversy as if it were poison.

The things that will get George Romney in "trouble" this fall appear to be his strong leadership, his moral convictions, and his inclination to speak his mind. We should have more politicians with that kind of trouble. Manistique Pioneer Tribune

Here was a man who was within reaching distance of the Presidential nomination of his party. He put that stake and his own high hopes on the line without flinching. He gave his opponents the weapon for which they had been looking to attack his motives, his character, and his candidacy. He chose to live with himself and to honor his oath to support and defend the Constitution even if he risked the alienation of powerful voting groups and the displeasure of party colleagues whose political favor he could have had by easy submission to the majority.

He faced the consequences and accepted them. "If my vote is misconstrued," he said, "let it be, and let me suffer its consequences. Just let me be judged in this in the real concern I have voiced here and not by words that others may speak or by what others may say about what I think."

Even the most partisan and hostile critics of the senator did not question his sincerity or the depth of his conviction, for Goldwater's record on racial relations is too extended and too clear to permit any aspersions on his reasons for refusing to take the easy way out. He spoke with irony of "the sledgehammer political tactics" with which the legislation had been rammed thru "what was once considered to be the greatest deliberative body on earth," and he bluntly recited the evil fruits he foresaw from its enactment and future enforcement.

Thus, he said, the legislation did violence to the Constitution, to the concept of 50 sovereign states, and to the reserved rights of those states and of the people. He predicted it would give rise to a mammoth federal police force, to an "informer" psychology which would turn neighbor against neighbor, worker against worker, and business man against business man. These, he said, were the hallmarks of the police state and landmarks in the destruction of a free society.

It is a strange coincidence that Sen. Goldwater's appraisal of the civil rights bill came at the very time that a leader in the rights movement was downgrading the legislation as a rubber stamp measure which would have little practical effect and would not satisfy the requirements of his following.

It is not the practice of this newspaper to get into Republican primary fights. It is our interest to present the picture. Today we are pleased to present the picture of man who would rather be right than President -- and could be both. --Chicago Tribune.

Our Fine Streets Are Not To Be Used as Speedways

HARD SURFACING OF State St. all the way to U. S. 31 has caught us off guard a couple of times. After topping the South Hill the smooth sailing ahead can almost be invite drivers in a hurry to speed up.

However, as our speedometer passed the 25 mph mark the other day we were lucky enough to notice all of the happy, robust, and, then just then at least, exceptionally cute children romping in State St. yards. Our foot hit the brake. We've kept it under the speed limit ever since.

LET'S HOPE OTHER drivers get this message before something tragic happens. Not only on State St., but on all of the several long, smooth streets in town.

Charlevoix's City Council is to be heartily commended for its progressive street improvement program. Charlevoix's fine streets are the envy of visitors from similar size towns throughout the country.

Now it is up to all of us who drive them to uphold our responsibility to keep our cars under control.

Michigan's First Try At Promoting Outdoors

One of A Series

In 1920, Lewis Cass governor of the Michigan Territory, led one of the first efforts to publicize Michigan's natural resources.

Settlers virtually had ignored the Michigan Territory because there was plenty of land in Ohio, Illinois, and Indiana. Published reports said the Territory consisted largely of swamps and poor sandy soil. Besides, only a little of the land had been surveyed, and according to government policy, land couldn't be sold until it had been surveyed.

CASS, EAGER TO improve the situation, conceived the idea of a scientific expedition to discover and advertise the Territory's potential riches throughout the United States.

His successful expedition focused favorable attention on the area, and helped attract settlers to the Territory, which then included Wisconsin and part of Minnesota.

Cass, also Indian superintendent of the Territory, masterfully planned his expedition. He chose Capt. David B. Douglass, a West Point professor, as map maker, and Henry R. Schoolcraft as geologist and mineralogist. To insure adequate publicity, he appointed James Duane Doty as official journalist. Doty sent articles to the Detroit Gazette that were widely reprinted. In addition, Schoolcraft kept a diary, which became a popular book when published.

Cass started with three birch bark canoes, 35 feet long by six feet wide. Each could carry four tons and travel four miles an hour in calm water.

THE PARTY LEFT Detroit on May 24, 1820, amid much fanfare and welcome, was staged 14 days later when the party reached Mackinac Island. After gathering supplies he headed for the uninhabited wilderness.

At Sault Ste. Marie Cass met the chiefs of the Chippewa. The Indians were most unfriendly toward the expedition. They pretended ignorance of earlier treaties in which the U. S. had been given claim to areas occupied by the French and British.

The exasperated Cass asserted that whether or not the Indians agreed, he would build a fort at the Sault. The Indians, led by Chief Sassaba, stalked out of the meeting tent.

Capt. Douglass saw Sassaba raise a British flag. He notified Cass, who ordered his men to arms. But, taking only an interpreter, Cass strode to the Indian village and tore down the flag. He warned Sassaba that if another flag was raised, the Indians would be destroyed. The astonished Indians permitted Cass to pick up the flag and take it to his tent.

IT APPEARED THE Indians would attack. However, George Johnson, son of a trader, intervened. He and his mother induced the chiefs to change their minds. The Indians and Cass signed a treaty giving the U. S. a strip of land extending along the St. Mary's River, including the portage at the rapids.

After Cass had given gifts to the Indians, the party headed westward, hugging the Lake Superior shore. Schoolcraft noted the high dune called Grand Sable Banks.

He described the Pictured Rocks, which reach for miles along the shore, as "some of the most sublime and commanding views of nature."

To the Indians, the Rocks also were awe-inspiring, the dwelling place of manitous (spirits) to whom in passing they always left gifts of tobacco.

Schoolcraft noted rivers flowing into the lake and the Huron Mountains. The party crossed the Keweenaw Peninsula by the Portage to Lake Superior again.

The expedition had coasted the shores of Lakes St. Clair, Huron, Superior, and Michigan, a 4,000-mile journey in 122 days. Not a man was lost nor seriously injured.

REPORTS OF THE journey and the findings made on it received widespread publicity, especially the presence of mineral resources. Cass not only obtained land from the Chippewa, but broke the Indian's hostile spirit.

As Cass hoped, the reports brought settlers. Aided by the opening of the Erie Canal in 1825, the Territory showed a population of 31,000 in the 1830 census.

By intelligent administration of his office, Cass gradually prepared the people for statehood. When Cass became President Andrew Jackson's Secretary of War in 1831, he left the Territory in the hands of Stevens Thomson Mason, the aggressive "Boy Governor." Six years later, Michigan entered the Union as the 26th state.

There was a time when you'd be sure to find scads of Smiths or Joneses in your telephone directory but all that's changed now. . . In Charlevoix anyway. . . Was talking with John Schroeder the other day and asked if he'd found a pharmacist. . . Yes, he had and the fellow would be arriving early next month from Shenandoah, Iowa. I then asked his name. . . and was slightly surprised at the name and said so, adding that I'd just met a new member of the crew of the Sundew by the same name. . . this fellow had been transferred here from the Sorrell at Sitka, Alaska. . . The name? Williams, with a first name of James. . . Which makes three Jim Williamses that I know of plus two others by the same surname attached to Coast Guard units here. . .

In the "small world" category this week is a card from Joyce and Max Hosmer who are enjoying a visit to the World's Fair. . . As you know more than a few thousand people visit the fair daily and you also know that the fair is spread over several acres. . . Max had just said "Keep your eyes open. . . you may see someone we know". . . and there they were. . . The Jack Bosses with their youngsters, Susie and Chuck. . . Were they ever surprised. . . The Bosses, former residents, now live in Ann Arbor and were visiting the Fair while spending some time with relatives in the New York area. . .

AND FROM EUROPE a note from Linda Nowland who is spending the summer in Finland under the Youth for Understanding program. . . She writes that Finland is beautiful. . . Just like the pictures! . . . and concluded with the info that "I've been taking saunas so I feel like a real Finn (even know some Finnish)". . . Like all these youngsters, Linda is having a wonderful experience. . . as is Barbara Wood who is in Holland. . . They'll soon be coming home. . . Our Ria Kroeze who had spent the school year with the Ralph McTae's is enroute to her home in Holland after a wonderful year here. . . We shall miss her for she was a doll and everyone loved her. . . Our other gal, Solene Solar, from South America will also be leaving before too long. . . and life will be dull without this little fireball from Uruguay. . .

One of the nurses was telling about the young German sailor who was brought to the hospital here after being injured aboard ship. . . He couldn't get over being treated at a hospital like ours. . . Only the very wealthy would be admitted to a similar hospital in Germany, he said. . . When he found that most of the staff own their own homes, drive cars and do all the things we, as Americans, take for granted, he thought they were all wealthy. . . They had quite a time convincing him they are just ordinary people living ordinary lives. . . I think the experience was something for both he and for the staff too. . . Remember Doug Smith? . . . He got out of the service last November, spent some time here and then, early in January, took off for Austria to see the Olympics. . . He's been spending the summer in Europe, traveling, seeing the sights and trying to make up his mind what he wants to do. . . the latest on him is that he's thinking seriously of going to South Africa. . . He's met someone who's been there and it sounds like a pretty good deal so he's seriously considering it. . . Wouldn't be a bit surprised if he did. . . Knowing Doug. . .

WAS PASSING THE Lodge one day recently when I heard the strains of "Happy Birthday" on the late afternoon air. . . Upon inquiry I found it was the anniversary of that fellow who's a sort of "jack of all trades" at the corner of Michigan and Dixon. . . Julius Glibert. . . May I add my good wishes to those of the others; tho' a bit late. . .

Don't forget to put a big red circle around Aug. 8. . . That's Saturday and it's the date of the Waterfront Fair. . . This, to my way of thinking, is the finest thing that Charlevoix has all year.

And this year promises to be bigger and better than ever. . . The committee, of which Mrs. Jack Rader is chairman, is real excited about the fact that the Automobile with pieces from the Detroit Institute of Art is going to be here. . . Everyone I've spoken with thinks it's just about the grandest thing that's happened to us in years. . . Added to that, the Nathan Cummingses are loaning a real gem again this year. . . and the entry list is growing daily. . . Entries are confined to creative work. . . whether it's paintings, graphics, pottery, or whatever. . . So right now we'd like to ask you to visit the Fair and see for yourself what wonderful things can be done with one's hands. . . And, in most instances, these things are done as hobbies or start out as hobbies and then, like Topsy, just grow. . . and grow. . . Will I see you there? . . . I hope so. . .

And don't forget that date for Friday night. . . the football game, remember? The Chicago Bears, though a saddened team after the loss of two of their great players, will meet the College All-Stars. . . I know that all Charlevoixians will be hoping that our own Dick VanRaphorst will be in there kicking all the way. . . It's not too often that fans like you and I can say "We knew that youngster when," but this is one of those times and I'm sure you take a bit of pride in having been one of the followers of that Rayder team of which he was a member. . . And if you'll give it some thought, you'll also remember that that team was one of the great teams to come out of our little ole high school. . . So happy watching. . . and let's hope that the All-Stars come out on the right end of the score. . .

AND HOW ABOUT that change in the weather last week? . . . Don't know about you but I rather enjoyed seeing Lake Michigan with a few white caps after the calm and plain everyday hot weather we'd been having. . . I'm probably in the minority. . . But I like it anyway. . .

Obituaries

Marshall Brock
Marshall R. Brock, 71, who has resided at 103 E. Dixon ave. for the past 10 years, died early Saturday at his home.

Funeral services were held Monday at the First Methodist church in Clare. Burial was in Cherry Grove cemetery.

BORN IN EVELINE township April 20, 1893, Mr. Brock served in Europe with the A. E. F. during World War I. He lived in Lansing where he was employed by the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. before turning to farming and living in Clare county. He was a member of the Methodist church at Clare. Upon his retirement from farming, he and his wife moved here.

Leslie G. Everts

Leslie G. Everts, 70, of 114 W. Lincoln, Charlevoix, died July 26 at Charlevoix Hospital after a lingering illness.

Everts was a sexton at Brookside cemetery and before that a farmer. He and the former Emily Meggison were married here in 1920. He served in the armed forces during World War I. Born June 20, 1894 in Lewiston, Mich., Everts was a member of the First Methodist Church, VFW and Oddfellows.

SURVIVING ARE his wife; a daughter, Mrs. Ed Pusey of Alma; two brothers, Ernest of Clarion and Floyd of Lemon Grove, Calif., and one sister, Mrs. Bert Lehman of Charlevoix.

Funeral services were held July 28 by Rev. Raymond McBratnie at the Winchester Funeral Home with burial at Brookside Cemetery.

"GLAD TO SEE IT COME DOWN"—Shelly Potter, left, and pal Dawn McKenzie seemed to be enjoying watching workmen tear down this house on the northwest corner of May and Garfield streets. Mrs. Cecil Richardson recently purchased the property and ordered the unfinished house removed. The city had condemned the building as being unsafe. Mrs. Richards said she will sell the two vacant lots for new homes. (Courier Photo)

Her brother Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dennis of Madison Heights came up to get his sister.

Mrs. Henry Burns received a letter from Mrs. Donald Kerr of Walnut Creek, California stating that Henry Brown died in Pasadena, California at the age of 81 yrs. Funeral was held at the Coon Mortuary. Services were conducted by Mr. Coon and he was buried at the Westminster Cemetery Long Beach, California. Mr. Brown was formerly of Grand Rapids and when a young man was living in the Ellsworth vicinity.

My lips shall shout for joy when I sing praises unto thee. —(Psalms 71:23).

When we look for a blessing in every situation, when our attention is focused on the blessing in our present circumstances, when counting our blessings becomes our natural response to life, then we are exhibiting genuine proof of gratitude for God's bounty.

Cars and People Jam Oleson's for Opening

Shoppers Throng To Greet Oleson

Charlevoix's newest and largest retail store—Oleson's Food Market—won a landslide victory in its opening day conflict with the weather.

Jerry Oleson dramatically debunked the old adage that there is nothing you can do about the weather.

IN SPITE OF dark clouds and rain, Charlevoixians made a steady stream of traffic into the sparkling new 10,000 square foot market on the corner of Antrim and Bridge streets.

When Oleson's opened for the first time at 9 a.m. Tuesday, the 100-car parking lot was full and people were lined up outside the automatic doors, evidently oblivious of the light rain.

Once inside, shoppers appeared to find the spotlessly clean store too much to resist. They talked about it and called across isles to one another when they found something on the bright, meticulously neat, shelves they hadn't seen before.

Estimates are there were more than 5,000 different items to choose from.

SHOPPERS ALSO seemed to marvel at the roominess of the isles and new innovations, such as open fireplace.

People took advantage of the opportunity to see old friends and pass along small talk.

They also commented on the speed with which check-out girls handled their purchases. Because most of the new store's employees are local people, they were familiar with Oleson's first-day customers.

Chest Volunteers At Summer Shops

The advance and special gifts campaign of the Charlevoix Community Chest has begun.

Four volunteers have started calling on seasonal businesses for Community Chest donations. Mrs. Charles Duerr, executive secretary, reports, These four campaign workers who will make their calls during the last two weeks of August, are Mrs. Paul Olsen, Mrs. Roy Pahl, Mrs. Don Anders and Mrs. Jack Rader.

MRS. DUERR REPORTS individual contributions have already started coming in from summer residents.

Resolutions passed at the state judges convention, and supported by Judge Makel, include:

-Request for additions to both the boys and girls state training schools.

-Laws, making it mandatory that the training schools immediately accept teenagers committed by local courts.

-Construction of regional detention homes in sparsely populated northern Michigan.

-Requests that the state pay a greater share of the cost of boarding neglected children.

-Laws making it mandatory that state hospitals accept mentally ill children when they are committed by a court.

Hearing Here On Juveniles

The House Interim Committee on Juvenile Affairs will hold a public hearing in Charlevoix Aug. 21. Exact date and location of the hearing will be announced later.

Rep. John F. Toepf (R-Cadillac), chairman, said the committee is interested in learning the juvenile problems of Charlevoix and what the Legislature can do to help solve them.

ALL INTERESTED persons and groups are invited to the hearing and will be given a chance to speak, Toepf said.

As Next Postmaster Dems Name Woman

County Democrats Saturday selected Mrs. Theodore (Martha) Tunison, 55, of Susan Lake, as Charlevoix's first woman postmaster.

Mrs. Tunison, the Democratic County Committee, decided has done more for the party than any other applicant for postmaster. She has been active in organizing several area unions and the County Democratic party.

CHARLEVOIX'S FIRST postmistress will replace retiring Peter Timmer as soon as her qualifications are approved by Washington, Democratic Chairman George LaBlance said. He estimated this will be in September.

The long, and sometimes bitter, controversy over appointment of a postmaster, was settled at a Democratic County meeting in Boyne Falls Saturday evening.

LaBlance reported the meeting was harmonious. Earlier inter-party clashes did not flare up, he said.

Tunison was selected by the committee on a secret ballot. In the final balloting she received 26 votes. Frank Oleksy received 14 votes and Dan Genelt 2.

ON THE FIRST ballot Mrs. Tunison had 20 votes, Oleksy 14 and Genelt 9.

The fourth applicant for the position, Dr. Walter Hoffmann, received no votes. Genelt is Charlevoix's assistant postmaster. Oleksy is a school principal. Hoffmann is a dentist and City Councilman.

Until Saturday's meeting, County Democratic leaders have been sharply split between naming Genelt to the position, or selecting a more active party worker.

LaBLANCE, WHO has held the party organization together in spite of the fiery conflict, stood solidly behind Saturday's decision of the committee.

"I think this is one of the best things that ever happened," LaBlance said.

"People are going to realize," he added, "that this is a patronage job, and that if they want something from the party they will have to work for the party to get it."

"Women are the backbone of our party and when it comes to plums they ought to be entitled to them," LaBlance said.

MRS. TUNISON HAS been one of the stalwarts of the Democratic party in Charlevoix County, LaBlance said.

She was one of the leaders in getting the party organized here in 1954. Since then she has been county chairman and vice chairman. In 1960 she was Michigan Democratic Woman of the Year and the county's only delegate at large to the National Convention in Los Angeles.

In 1948, Mrs. Tunison said, she helped organize the UAW union local at Curtis Wire, where she is employed, and was its president. Since then, she said, she has helped organize UAW locals at two other area plants, and has served as president of the three union locals. Mrs. Tunison said she has also worked for the UAW-CIO International organization.

Charlevoix's new postmistress has been a resident of Charlevoix County for 30 years. She was born at St. Louis, Mich. Her husband is a retired cement plant employee. She has raised seven children.

MRS. TUNISON SAID she is looking forward to taking over her duties as postmistress. "I hope I can do a good enough job so no one (one the Democratic Committee) will be ashamed of voting for me," she said.

She said she does not anticipate any internal tension at the post office when she takes over. Post office employees have been openly supporting Genelt's bid to step into Timmer's job. (Continued on Page 2)

Medusa Set To Go

Announce Plans at Meet Here

Medusa Portland Cement Company will begin work on its South point property this fall.

The long-awaited announcement was made Wednesday evening, (last night), by Medusa Vice President Worth Loomis, at a meeting with city officials and the Courier at the Weatherlane Inn.

Loomis, Medusa Secretary and chief of administration, said the company will award a contract this fall for stripping of 140,000 cubic yards of dirt to uncover limestone deposits.

The dirt must be stripped away, Loomis said, before the quarry can be opened. He said the stripping operation can be considered a "good indication" the company will build a $1 million 600 foot pier off Southpoint next spring and open its quarry operation.

Limestone from the quarry, if it is opened next year, will be shipped to Medusa's Manitowoc, Wis., cement plant. There are no definite plans for building a cement plant here next year, he said.

Loomis said the stripped area will be surrounded by trees, making it invisible to the casual observer. He also said the company will not use the road past the hospital and Boulder Park for heavy equipment.

South point, Loomis said, will be left as unspoiled as possible. He said the company expects to keep the Southpoint road, which it owns, open to the public.

Rose Claims County Crime Rate Minimal

Charlevoix County's only primary election race picked up tempo this week as Sheriff Glenn Rose announced he will campaign for re-election on the county's low crime and accident rate.

Rose is being opposed by Charlevoix businessman-Councilman Bob Neff for the Republican nomination for sheriff. Republicans will select Rose or Neff as their candidate at the Sept. 1 election. The winner will virtually be elected, as no Democrats have filed for sheriff.

ROSE SAID CHARLEVOIX County's fatal accident and major crime rate is one of the lowest in the state, and below and in the northern Lower Peninsula.

He also pointed out his efforts in the last two years to eliminate dog problems have borne fruit. Rose said his office only gets one dog complaint now for every 12 it used to get.

Rose's four man law enforcement and jail-keeping force (including himself) is one of the smallest in the area, he declared.

The department consists of Deputy Phil Sumner; Deputy Joseph Etienne and Deputy Getchell Campfield. Etienne is primarily paid to enforce the dog law. Campfield is the night turnkey at the jail. Sumner and Rose do the majority of the law enforcement and traffic patrol work.

ROSE SAID JAIL operation costs have been rising due to arrests by city and state police. Most of these, he said, are for minor offenses. However, because the County Jail is the only one in the county, Rose LaBlance said he is forming a Michigan corporation, to be called LaBlance Enterprises, to operate the apartments. His son Stephen will be manager of the new firm.

FIVE OF THE apartments are in the Bird's Nest on Antrim St. LaBlance bought the Bird's Nest earlier this year. He said he expects to have it completely remodeled by spring.

The other apartments will be at 1201 Bridge St. and 103 Petoskey.

LaBlance said he will construct a 20 by 40 foot office and apartment building next to his present building on Bridge St. The new building will have an apartment upstairs and office space for the LaBlance Insurance Agency and Secretary of State's office downstairs.

There are two apartments in the present building at 1201 Bridge St. property and building, when completed, at $20,000.

A $40,000, four apartment, building will be constructed at 103 Petoskey Ave., he said. An old house on the Petoskey Ave. property has recently been torn down.

Rifle Blast Kills Boy

EAST JORDAN—Nine-year-old Charles Walden, Rt. 3, East Jordan was accidentally shot to death Wednesday morning by his 12-year-old brother, Sheriff Glenn Rose said.

Rose said Charles' brother, Timothy, "evidently took the rifle (a .303 Enfield) off the wall and it went off while he was showing it to his brother."

ACCORDING TO THE Sheriff, Charles was shot through the throat at close range.

The victim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Walden. They live on the Deer Lake Rd. about five miles east of East Jordan. Mr. Walden works at the Sherman Cherry Orchard.

Rose asked other parents to be sure there are no loaded firearms in the house.

Showboat Performance In East Park Friday

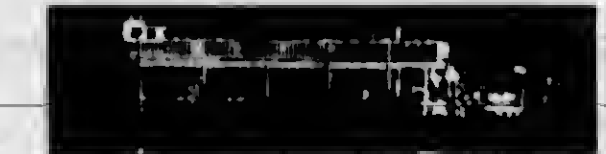

A genuine replica of a Mississippi showboat will put on an old style minstrel show at the docks in East Park Friday evening.

Sponsored by the Moral Re-Armament headquarters on Mackinac Island, the sternwheeler Beaver will sail up the Pine River and into Round Lake to East Park at 5 p.m. The show starts at 8 p.m. Admission is $1.

STAGING THE SHOW will be some 100 entertainers from all parts of the U.S., Caribbean, Europe, Africa and Asia. They include a 22-piece steelband, television singing stars from Hollywood, the Colwell Brothers the Melodaires band and Indian dancers who have performed for Queen Elizabeth.

The showboat has been lauded as a smash success in performances at Harbor Springs, Petoskey, St. Ignace, and Cheboygan.

The showboat's entertainment carries with it the Moral Re-Armament Conference's hopes and aims to build a strong clean nation and a tomorrow of which all Americans can be justly proud and for which all Americans can work and fight today. Its publicity releases state.

Showboat Here Friday

The National Steelband of Trinidad and Tobago who are featured in the Showboat's two-hour program were sent by their Prime Minister to perform for the first time outside their country in Michigan. They had been invited in May to go to Moscow. They turned down the invitation. Later they were invited to perform at the New York World's Fair. This also they turned down. Later this month they begin a country-wide tour to New York, Washington, Detroit, Los Angeles, Seattle, the Southwest and the South.

Name Rd. for Hero?

Justice of the Peace John Connolly Monday evening asked City Council to consider naming the street that leads into the Coast Guard Station after a distinguished or heroic Charlevoix Coast Guardsman.

Councilmen, informally, indicated they favor Connolly's suggestion and will give it further study.

COAST GUARD GROUP commander Lt. Comm. Charles Millard, has asked that the street be named Coast Guard Ave.

City Councilmen have authority to give the street any name they want to.

Connolly said Charlevoix has several native sons who have distinguished themselves in the Coast Guard.

has contracts waiting for her on the West Coast, but decided to stay through the Conference's second session and will appear with several folk-songs on the Showboat.

Negro tenor Jim Wagner, only 16, yet recipient of more prizes for singing than most singers get by 30, will do Negro spirituals.

The Colwell brothers first appeared on the "Tex Williams Show" on TV from Knott's Berry Farm in California. After cutting several records for Columbia, they set out on a journey which has taken them several times around the world, singing to 27 Prime Ministers and Presidents and to millions in all five continents. They have been held at bayonet-point during national revolutions in Africa, have sung to meetings of 100,000 in India, before kings, queens, on TV, radio and in films.

They are the King's Burger restaurant and Poly Clean Center.

Robert McClelland, Poly Clean Center owner, said the coin-operated laundry and dry cleaners will offer the most modern equipment for washing, drying and dry cleaning clothes.

"No expense has been spared to make it the finest facility in the north," McClelland said.

McClelland said he hopes to have the Poly Clean Center open next week. It is in the former Army Reserve building on Antrim St.

There will be an attendant on duty at all times, McClelland said. He pointed out people will be able to put their laundry or dry cleaning in the washers or dry cleaning machines while shopping at Olson's.

Don Curtis, manager of the King Burger stand, said he is sure when the short order, self-serve restaurant will open, but it will be as soon as possible.

taxes due to a piece of, allegedly, neglected electrical wire.

Council's reluctance to bring the matter forcefully before the public when the $150,000 lawsuit was first filed in Grand Rapids Federal Court several months ago, indicated to many people something was fishy. It also raised natural speculation as to what else is going on that citizens don't know about.

However, intensive checking reveals that Councilmen did not deliberately hide the fact that Charlevoix was being sued for $150,000. Instead they agreed not to openly discuss it for fear of creating some kind of imagined panic.

This corner has often seen city and township officials make a similar decision. Inevitably, it adds up to little more than poor judgement. But certainly nothing devous or underhanded.

Democrats Use GOP Tactics on Romney

JOHN BUHLER WHO peddles propaganda in the north country for Democrat candidate for governor Neil Stuebner, renewed acquaintances with this column last week by remarking, "The last time I saw you you had a beard."

Now it just so happens growing a beard was never one of my weaknesses...not even when chasing dreams to the tops of the continent's highest mountains. So I sorta decided right then and there to pick on John.

Unfortunately, he took my sport seriously and went away feeling the Courier would forevermore be Congressman Stuebner's enemy. It isn't so. Stuebner, to my mind, is an able, sincere politician. He certainly is more deserving of my vote than anyone the Democrats have run for governor in the last 16 years.

Quite to his disadvantage, Michigan Democrats brainwashed the public to vote for a personality, Stuebner, quite evidently, isn't a colorful person. He's downright drab and dour. Which shouldn't be a handicap for a governor.

However, two years ago the Republicans got wise to the Democrats and ran extremely able, sincere and personable George Romney. Now Stuebner boosters are yelling foul because Romney wins votes with his electric enthusiasm and handshake.

It wasn't long ago that Republicans were demanding to know what Soapy ever did but shake hands, kiss babies and square dance. So we've come the complete cycle.

Outdoor Concerts Great Institution

DUE TO THE Courter's printing schedule, last Wednesday evening was the first time Mrs. Shep and I could make it to one of the wonderful weekly concerts in the park. We expected something like we used to enjoy in the much smaller town of Belleville before moving to Charlevoix. How pleasantly surprised we were.

Belleville's volunteer summer band was only half the size of Charlevoix's. The square where it played seemed attractive enough at the time. But compared to East Park it was an oasis. And Belleville, as Odie Odmark will tell you, is much like Charlevoix, in that it has one of the State's outstanding small school bands and is a town that loves its musicians.

however, the biggest contrast with Belleville that we found in East Park was the number of people on hand. Last week's concert had a dozen people for everyone at the park in "Beautiful Belleville on the Lake."

Since I get more pleasure from people-watching than listening to music at an outdoor concert, this is a real bonus. No matter how much people during the day look like Robert Service's character who was "Just jaded and panting like dogs in a pack; just tensed and intent on the goal," on outdoor evening concert brings about miraculous changes. Seldom will you find groups of people who seem so completely content as you do at an outdoor concert.

For an editor, who must concern himself all day with people who are highly excited about something, seeing them at peace is a great reward.

It might be noted that a more active job by city policemen could add materially to the tranquility at concerts. As we sat on the lawn in East Park, we watched screaming children run within two feet of the officer on duty and never even get a talking to. As this was going on people were visibly disturbed and made uncomfortable.

Rose Claims

must jail anyone city or state police bring in. This, he said, gives him no control over how many prisoners are in the jail. He said costs are also rising because Circuit Court has been sentencing people to up to a year in the County Jail, instead of state prison, in hopes of rehabilitating them. The county must pay this added expense.

Rose said he keeps the county's expenses down as much as possible by letting prisoners take odd jobs around town. Inmates who work outside the jail during the day must pay the county for their lodging and meals. Other prisoners do work at the County Building that otherwise would have to be hired out.

Rose said that if he is re-elected he plans no changes in his department's operation. He contends it is one of the finest in Michigan, and he will keep it that way.

NEFF, A FORMER state policeman, has called for more patrolling to avoid teenage drinking and brawling and efforts to cut down on jail costs.

However, both Neff and Rose have refrained from questioning the others character or sincerity.

Postmaster

LaBlance said Mrs. Tuntson's appointment as permanent postmaster may not be confirmed by Washington for more than a year. Before it is, an open competitive examination will be given to all persons wishing to take it.

HOWEVER, LaBLANCE said, the County Committee's selection is approved by Washington "99% of the time."

Imlay City is Home For Charles Themms

Frances Kay Matthews and Charles F. Themms were united in marriage by Rev. Harold E. Kohn in double ring rites at the First Congregational Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cunningham of Charlevoix. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Themms of Marine City.

ONE HUNDRED GUESTS were present at the ceremony. Baskets of white gladiol and yellow tulips and candelabra decorated the church.

The newly weds are making their home at 150 Seventh St., Imlay City, Mich., following their northern Michigan wedding trip.

For her July 25 wedding, the new Mrs. Themms wore a soft yellow floor length gown of embossed taffeta. The princess style gown featured a modified sabrena neckline and three-quarter length sleeves, a flowing back panel and short veiled hat to match the dress.

Mrs. Charles Bellinger played traditional organ wedding music and accompanied soloist Mrs. Robert Tollas.

SHARON CUNNINGHAM, the bride's sister, was maid of honor.

Assisting the groom was William D. Malson of Clio, Mich. Ushers were Norman Mahrely of Livonia and Danny Farmer of Charlevoix.

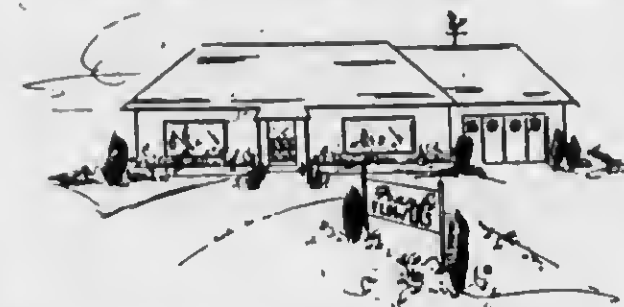

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the Rod and Gun Club. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. William Seese, Patricia Seese, Mrs. Edyth Doug, Mrs. Ted Browe, Mrs. John Sladek, Mrs. Danny Farmer and Mrs. Richard Randall.

"Never Man Spake"

...like this Man." John 7:46. Jobe suffered tribulation but he never lost faith. He asked a great question, "If a man die, shall he live again?" The Bible is full of proof in the affirmative. Death must give way to life. In deepest reality there is no death, only transition... the changing from one form of life to another. Spring is the time when Christ arose. Spring is the earth beginning again. It is the time of challenge to women and men to step up their church attendance and support record. It is the time when God called the sun to send her warm rays to awaken the dead earth, to summon new beauty to come forth and cover her brow. It is certainly the time when man puts on new graces of the spirit... love, joy, peace, patience, faith and self-control. Here we hear Him as He welcomes all to a new life in Him... to a new resurrection.

Camp Charlevoix

Corrall Chatter

By KEN SMITH

This seventh week of camp is traditionally the week for our long trips, and the best riders in camp were chosen to take this trip. The cowboys on the trip were George King, Jeff Anderson, Tom Kennedy and Don Strutz. The two staff men chosen to accompany this trip were Jerry Flors and Bill Jackinovich. The trip made a most impressive sight as it left camp, the boys being Scott Graves, Paul Kelly, Jim Oakley, Tom Duke, George Bommer, Dave Knox, Doug Bacon, John Danaher, Van Martin, Brock Rodgers, Kirk Rogers, Mark Murlin, Dave Pliskin, Chuck Herrington, Kent Fwinc, Mike Kelly, Larry Wescott, Todd Fowler, Mark Sterling, and Kirk Kirtlin.

Tuesday was a big day in camp with the three-day canoe trip leaving for the Au Sable. Jon Steffensen, Dan Morganrauth and Jay Heitz were the staff men accompanying these boys: Mike Rittuff, Martin Johnson, Frank Kolbert, Ted Herringer, Mark Stephan, Terry Bails, Peter Eberbach, George Steinhardt, Craig Huss, David Washburn, Chuck Limbach, and Dave Calvin. The cooks, Joe and Lewie had a great dinner that evening.

IN THE AFTERNOON the boys in cabins 20 and 21 plus three C. I. T.'s juked over 400 ears of corn. The cooks made a bed of hot coals out in the area in back of the kitchen and used a new horse-trough to cook the corn in. We had fried chicken 1/2 chicken per person, and it was a meal for a king.

Barney, our genial caretaker, was host to the board of the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club.

Later in the evening, the camp was honored to have one of its alumni here. Carter Sales, of Grosse Pointe, whose son Skip is here at camp, gave us a talk and showed the movies of the Ondine's (a sailing boat 58 feet long, owned by "Bluey" Long of New York City whose son Russell was also in camp this summer) victory in the Atlantic Race last summer. It was a thrilling movie and the boys enjoyed it immensely. Chuck Gardella, another camper from Grosse Pointe, was mighty proud of his father, too, who also was on this eventful trip.

On Wednesday, the horse trip returned and the three-day sailing trip left. It was a beautiful day and the boys on this trip were: Art McKenny, Bob DeSavo, Doug Ladney, Tom Case, Chuck Pelli, Bill Curphey, Dave Ferguson, "Rip" Orell, Stuart Waterson, Dave Walker, Jeff Wren, Brook McKinney, Ken Mabbatt, Rick Coven, Howard Satovsky, Paul Kirwin, Peter Stege, Rick Rankin, Rick Bruner, John Jeffiffe, Andy Case, Skip Sales, and the men up a balloon until it bursts, etc., etc. The score at the start of the event was Greys - 25, Green - 23. As the event counted three points, the winner was the seasons winner. After much excitement, the two men, at the final

IN THE EVENING, the camp saw the movie "The Harlem Globetrotters". The boys enjoyed the antics of these clever basketball players.

On Friday the sailing trip returned to camp piece-meal, as when they hit the center of the lake about six that morning, the waves were high and they were buffeted around like corks. They put in at Camp Sea Gull which was a ready refuge and we sure

Leg Healing

Thirteen year old Jerry Buttlere of Chicago is reported recovering well from a broken leg he suffered when he jumped into shallow water off the Ferry Ave. beach dock.

City Police Chief Joseph Smith reports young Buttlere, who is staying with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Elzinga, broke his right leg in two places, July 31.

SMITH SAID THAT a city life-guard moved the boy onto the beach immediately and phoned police. Bob Winchester's ambulance was called and took the boy to the hospital.

No diving signs are posted on the dock, Smith said.

City Track Records Fall

The third annual track and field sponsored by the city recreation department proved to be the most successful ever held as well over 100 enthusiastic youngsters displayed their running, jumping, and throwing skills in the two day event.

Black Sweet Cherries & Apples
Red Adiracans apples $1.00 per bushel and up.
Red Tart cherries, pick your own $1.25 per lug. Also apricots.
Friske Orchards (formerly Fairmans) Between Ellsworth and Atwood just off Atwood Rd. Watch for signs. Phone LU 8-2040.

Both boys and girls were divided into two age groups. The junior division consisted of youngsters eight through ten. Those 11 through 13 were in the senior division.

PROOF THAT THE event has steadily gained popularity is the fact that six new records were set.

Kay Fiedorek set a new record in the 60 yard hurdles in the junior girls division, winning the event in 10 seconds flat.

Becky Hiller set a new record for the senior girls division in the same event with a time of 8.45 seconds.

Connie Smith broke the senior girls record in the softball throw with a fine toss of 156 feet.

Bill Carey ran the 25 yard dash in 4.45 seconds for a record in the junior boys division, while Tim Doan posted a 4.2 time in the same event for the senior boys record.

Kraag Lieberman broke the senior boys 75 yard dash record with a 10.15 seconds time. Outstanding performances were turned in by several others. Kay Fiedorek won first place blue ribbons in the 25 yard dash, hurdles, broad jump, and was a member of the winning relay team.

C. T. Martin turned in a similar performance in the junior boys division with firsts in the 75 yard dash, hurdles, broad jump, and as a member of the relay team.

Ribbons were awarded to all first, second and third place finishers.

The official results are:

Dr. A. F. Litzenger, district health director, will give free exams.

CAREY SAID SENIORS must pick up their gridiron equipment at the High School gym at 7 p.m. Saturday (Aug. 15), Juniors at 7:30 p.m. Saturday and sophomores at 8 p.m. Freshmen will draw their equipment when they take physicals Monday.

Court Victory Costs City $463

The Circuit Court decision this spring that William Marmee has a right to dump rubbish Marlon Township cost the City of Charlevoix $463.

The City agreed in 1963 to join Marmee in his legal battle to defeat a Marlon Township suit asking that the dump be outlawed. Marmee picks up rubbish for Charlevoix citizens.

THE CITY'S $463 share of the court costs was for attorney fees.

Circlin the Bases

with DEANO

There were only four games in the fastball league during the week and both followed true to form with the Mold beating the Air Force and Lake Construction winning over the Merchants.

The Merchants came within a base hit of upsetting Lake Construction as they lost a squeaker 4-3. The Merchants scored once in the seventh and had two runners on base when Construction pitcher, Larry McBride grabbed a shot for the final out. Ted Potter, who pitched the first four innings, doubled home two runs in the first and then scored himself. Merchants battled back on Joe Battle's home run. Bruce Kroken singled home the winning marker, Nick Deyoung, who had walked.

MOLD PITCHER Nate Boss regained his old form as he pitched American Mold into a tie for first place with Morwell Steel. Boss allowed only Kispert's first inning single as he shut out the Air Force 6-0. Service pitcher Sonny Wright matched Boss through four innings, but in the fifth, Harvey Cole slammed a two run homer to start things rolling, then Fritz puff-puff and Jim Alger combined base hits around a couple walks for three more runs.

BARNARD LEADING IN JUNIOR

Barnard posted twin wins to just about cinch the Junior League title. They blasted the Scouts 18-0 behind the one hit pitching of Mike Crain. Crain and Stewart Cunningham led the Barnard hitting barrage with three hits apiece. Jerry Stewart collected the only hit for the Scouts. An eight run sixth inning broke open a tight pitching battle as Barnard went on to defeat the VFW 11-1. Five walks and four base hits enabled Barnard to win easily in their big inning. Denny Warner had two base knocks for the winners while Jack Bergman had the only hit off the servings of Mike Crain.

Jerry's Gulf picked up their second straight win defeating the Scouts 17-11. After upsetting VFW earlier 16-10, they scored six runs in both the first and fifth innings to post the win. Greg Ingram paced the winners while Bob Bergman's bases-loaded tripled was the big blow in the losers' attack.

CARDINALS TOPS IN PEANUT

Despite not playing during the week, the Cards continued their hold on first place, leading the Dodgers by one full game.

The Pirates got into the win column with a thrilling 8-6 win over the Braves. Dick Edlerman's two hits paced the winners while Pete Martin banged out two for the Braves.

The Dodgers won two and lost one during the week. They bested the Tigers 9-5 behind Mike Lord's pitching and Tim Doan's hitting. Doan had three hits, a single, double, and a triple. Bill Carey's single was the only Tiger hit. Against the Cubs it took a six run 7th inning for the Cubs as they squeaked out a 13-12 win on Jim Keier's single in the bottom of the seventh.

THE WORLD'S FINEST USED CARS ARE BUILT BY CADILLAC.

To prove our point, we offer as evidence the three Cadillacs shown above.

From top to bottom in our illustration are a 1960 Sedan de Ville, a 1962 Coupe de Ville and a 1963 Sixty Special. Each is unmistakably Cadillac. Each, regardless of vintage, will have special appeal to the man who desires the comfort, convenience and pride of ownership that only Cadillac can offer.

That's why thousands of wise car buyers favor a previously owned Cadillac over new cars of other makes.

First of all, they realize that Cadillac engineering is so far advanced that "newness" becomes a relative term. In fact, there are features found on late model Cadillacs that are only now being offered on other cars. This is a major reason why a Cadillac retains its value through the years, from buyer to buyer.

Another thing to consider. Cadillac owners lavish the most meticulous care on the cars they are so proud to own. The "ear of cars" almost always receives regular maintenance and servicing by highly skilled and carefully trained mechanics.

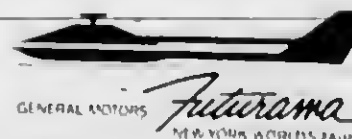

Your authorized Cadillac dealer's selection of one-owner models has never before been so appealing. And he can probably match one of these fine cars to your budget.

Who knows? Your used Cadillac could possibly be the "newest" car you've ever owned!

COLLISION COURSE—A split second after snapping the shutter to take this picture of an oncoming canoe, the photographer, who was wading in one of Michigan's internationally known trout streams, was struck by the uncontrolled canoe. Fortunately, for him, the canoe just brushed his shoulder. But many wading anglers have actually had their lives endangered when canoes forcefully knocked them down in deep water. (COURIER PHOTO)

A New Breed of Spoiler Can Streams Survive Canoeists

Outdoor Rambling

With Glen Sheppard

THE NUMBER TEN brown and gray Adams wet trout fly slid through the balsam-scented air until perhaps, six inches over the stream. Then, it floated motionless for a second, before dropping easily into the water, and sinking with only a faintly-visible ripple.

The fisherman failed to react when the line suddenly went taut, with a tug that jerked his wrist at the end of the seven foot flyrod.

TEN MINUTES, AND three casts later, he missed another good strike. He had only been in the stream 20 minutes. It took him longer than that to get his mind off the murmur of the popples, the freshness in the air and the almost insolent freedom of the current.

However, when the next strike came, he was ready. After a game struggle, the 4X leader tipped finally won. A 14 inch brown trout lay gasping in the lee of the current caused by the fisherman. Holding the leader tight, the fisherman reached down and gently removed the hook.

Before he could get his mind back on his fly again, the fisherman missed another strike. But then, as the morning sun started to show above the swamp, he switched to an orange wooly number 14 nymph fly.

IN THE NEXT FOUR hours seven brown trout, ranging from ten inches to 17, were hooked and released. Several times that many escaped being hooked. Five of them were caught on a number 16 black knot dry fly.

It was growing warm. The morning fishing was pretty well over, when upstream a thundering boom suddenly filled the swamp with discontent. There was loud laughter and curses. "I told you to paddle on the other side!" someone, yet unseen, shouted with a nasty snarl. "We're going to hit that limb," a frightened female screech suddenly announced. There was a crunch, splash and more cursing.

The fisherman reeled in line. He all but scrambled for shore. He was only one of hundreds of wading anglers who had many times been run down by aimlessly directed canoes.

While the canoeists upstream screeched and bawled at each other as they tried to get underway again after upsetting, the fisherman turned his back to the river and stalked away. In the next six hours upwards of 600 canoeists would swear and tear their way down the river.

THE FISHERMAN DIDN'T want to see the stream in its shame. He was angry and sick at heart, as he had been for the past seven or eight years. But he wasn't yet raging. That would come when he knew how to get rid of the canoeists.

As the trail led him up, out of the swamp, onto an almost fairytale meadow, he stopped, rubbed the bark on a large oak tree. Twenty-six years ago he had watched while his Dad pitched a tent under this tree.

Along the stream and in the meadow he had learned that in nature only the strong survive. The strongest, he observed, are almost always those that appear the gentlest, that stand the straightest and demand a special kind of lone-some self-dignity. They are the ones that can withstand the worst abuse, and do so with an almost fierce pride. The strong, the ones that survive and give meaning to the forest and protect it, are also those that demand not an eye for an eye, but both eyes and an ear for an eye.

As he stood meditating beneath the oak he thought of two lines from Robert Service's Law of the Yukon: "Send me a girl for the combat, men who are grim to the core; Swift as the panther in triumph, fierce as the bear in defeat."

NOW HIS SORROW almost possessed him as his rambling thoughts recalled an old man from Flint he had met on the stream bank year after year and who came no more. The old fellow had told him tales of automotive pioneers, some of the most dynamic men in history, who came to the stream 30 years ago to save the wounds and tensions suffered in building the mightiest industrial complex in the world.

These men, though a mere handful, had changed ways of mankind. But, they had also insisted on preserving some of that which came before them. To this end they had stopped the spoilers and kept them at bay when they again tried to attack the stream and the forests and swamps beside it.

The old man, who had served with these pioneer conservationists, was last seen by the fisherman several years before on the last night of the season. He hadn't returned.

But the spoilers were back. This time they came by the thousands in canoes. They littered the stream and its sacred banks with debris and at random left smoldering fires.

THE FISHERMAN KNEW that though this seemed like nothing more than innocent ignorance, the canoeists threatened to drive away those who loved the stream. The canoeists had no more than a weekend interest in the stream. If the fishermen who loved it, and drew life from it, were to desert, there would be no one to stop those who would demand that its rawness be cultivated with motels, campgrounds, roads, cottage subdivisions and artificially dug channels.

Strange, he mumbled to the oak, there must be an answer. Almost in desperation, he swore at himself for not having it.

That evening he returned. As he walked down the trail he picked up more than three dozen cans, bottles, milk containers, sandwich wrappers and other odds 'n ends, including a blouse and stocking, left by canoeists during the day. He buried them under downed logs and stumps.

As he entered the stream he knocked charred tobacco from his pipe into the gravelly sand. After reaming it out he put the dirty pipe cleaner back in his fishing jacket pocket. He would not corrupt the stream in any manner.

AT 4:30 A.M. HE LEFT the stream. He had caught and released five brown trout. The smallest 14 inches. The biggest 22 inches. As he returned the deer hair body number 6 stone dry fly to his flybox, he chuckled slightly. It had taken him 22 years to learn to catch big browns at night on big flies.

Life was good. But tomorrow the spoilers would return. He shivered noticeably, as he was aware of a weird suspicion that his Dad, and the old man from Flint were watching him. Did they feel he had failed them by letting the spoilers return?

Youth Drowns In South Arm

IRONTON--A 15 year old St. Johns, Mich., youth drowned here last Thursday.

LaVerne Bailey drowned about 4:30 p.m. Thursday (Aug. 6) near the mouth of the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix, Sheriff Glenn Rose said.

Rose pointed out it was the first swimming drowning in the county in two years.

Bailey reportedly was playing water ball with several other boys. He got in deep water (approximately 45 feet) chasing the ball as it was blown away from him by the wind, Rose said.

The victim's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bailey had stopped briefly at Ironton to visit Mr. and Mrs. Harley Perry.

The Sheriff's patrol boat and individuals responded to the alarm when it was discovered the boy was missing, Rose said. Coast Guard skin divers Robert Williams and Jack Lyngkilp recovered the body.

Want Toilets At City Beach

Councilman Don Parsel Monday evening urged City Council to install toilets at its Ferry Ave. and Depot beaches by next summer.

Councilman William Fochtman supported Parsel's proposal, and suggested toilets be included in the 1965-66 budget.

CITY SUPT. JAMES Taylor was asked to check and see what kind of toilet facilities would best serve the two beaches.

Parsel contends not having the toilets is causing unsanitary conditions.

Gov. Backs Courier Anti-Litter Drive

The Charlevoix Courier's continuing editorial effort to arouse local public action to clean-up our litter-strewn beaches and scenic areas this week received support from Gov. George Romney.

The governor issued a statement, urging citizens to join the anti-litter campaign and explaining steps being taken on the state level.

Jury Declares Driver Guilty

The first jury trial this year in Charlevoix Justice Court found Curtis E. Cruff, 24, of Horton Bay, guilty of violating the basic speed law.

Cruff demanded the jury the jury trial after he was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Philo Sumner on the Horton Bay Rd., near its junction with the Boyne City Rd.

JUSTICE OF PEACE John Connolly said Cruff was charged with not having his car under control, causing him to strike a four-year old child. The child escaped with only minor scratches, Connolly said.

Prosecuting Attorney Harvey Varnum was opposed by Cruff's attorney, Sebron Litzberger.

Cruff was fined and charged court costs.

Argue Need Of Toilets In all Boats

Toilets on boats and the pollution they cause were the main topics of testimony from public and private interests at a public hearing in Detroit, chairman of the Michigan Water Resources Commission.

The 113 participants saw a demonstration of a prototype chemical mixer for marine toilets. It is to be produced by the Holley Carburetor Co. Cost of the unit was estimated at between $100 and $200 including installation.

SEVERAL EXPERTS giving testimony pointed out that sources other than boats are primarily responsible for pollution of the Great Lakes.

Ralph Purdy, chief engineer for the Michigan Water Resources Commission, said that the dumping of refuse and oil from commercial shipping on the Lakes concerns the public more than boat toilets or the lack of them. But he suggested that if laws are to be enacted, legislators should place the responsibility of pollution control enforcement on marina operators, rather than on individual boat owners.

To control pollution from ships that engage in interstate commerce probably would require, federal laws, said LaRue L. Miller of the state department of health.

OPPOSING MARINE toilet laws was Keith Wilson, chairman of the pollution committee of the National Association of Boating Law Administrators, and director of the Michigan State Waterways Commission.

"Our committee," Wilson said, "believes there is a pollution problem. But it's like the difference between pollution coming from a mouse or an elephant. Let's get rid of the elephant first."

The elephant, he said, is industrial waste and untreated sewage, while the mouse represents pollution from pleasure boats.

When Sen. William Ford (D-Detroit) asked Wilson, "Which elephant should we shoot first?" Wilson came back with:

"I DON'T THINK we should single out the boaters—a small source of the problem."

Truckers Urge Vision Testing

The Michigan Trucking Assn. has opened a campaign urging all drivers to overlook no possible weaknesses of vision.

Jerome F. Gillis, safety director of the association said, "All drivers would be wise to remember a person often does not detect a weakness which exists in his vision. It must be discovered by testing."

"ONE PERSON MAY BE able to distinguish clearly a group of pedestrians and their movements 300 to 400 yards away. To another the scene may appear as an indistinct or blurred picture. Accustomed to the latter condition many drivers do not realize that their limited vision is not normal."

Meet in Lansing

An as yet undetermined number of Charlevoix City officials are expected to attend the Michigan Municipal League annual meeting in Lansing Sept. 16-18.

Michigan's educators will be honored on Friday, Sept. 4, at the 115th annual Michigan State Fair, which runs from Aug. 28 through Sept. 7.

Boyne Mountain Opposes Claim

Boyne Mountain Lodge has responded to Richard Desmond's complaint that he was injured due to the Lodge's negligence when diving in its swimming pool.

The Lodge, in its answer to the Circuit Court complaint filed by Desmond's attorney, contends Desmond was responsible for observing the depth of water in the pool. The depth, the Lodge claims, was clearly marked.

Desmond is suing the Lodge for $100,000 and asking for a jury trial. He claims he was permanently injured in the Oct. 13, 1963, incident.

Desmond's attorney is John E. Martin of Detroit. Clare L. Gillett is representing the Lodge.

The popular Teen-age Fair again will be a part of the Michigan State Fair, Aug. 28 through Sept. 7.

Michigan's educators will be honored on Friday, Sept. 4, at the 115th annual Michigan State Fair, which runs from Aug. 28 through Sept. 7.

Chain Reaction On Stolen Cars

Charlevoix had a chain reaction going recently on stolen cars. Police Chief Joseph Smith reports he found a car reported stolen from Leelanau County in front of the Coffee Cup restaurant early in the morning. The wires had been jumped on the 1964 Ford, Smith said.

AT 6 A.M. THAT morning State Police called Max Moore, 831 State, local Kroger Store manager, to tell him they had recovered his car at Mackinaw City. Moore didn't know his car had been stolen during the night.

Police, Smith said, suspect the same persons stole the two cars. The one recovered by Chief Smith was out of gas.

Marriage

Marriages reported from County Clerk F. R. Bulow's records: Kenneth McAskill, 24, of Pontiac to Nancy J. Klooster, 22, Rte. 1, Charlevoix.

Dear Dick Affair

RICHARD DONALDSON

DEAR DICK: I fell for an older guy and we were married. Then 9 months later I discovered he had already been married 14 years, and had a wife and 4 children in a town 25 miles away. He is a salesman and told me he was out of town on business... which averaged three or more days per week. I am expecting and don't know what to do.--MISERABLE.

DEAR MISERABLE: You aren't the only one expecting... your bigamist friend is expecting a lump on the head and a lawsuit, and I would give him both. I must say, though, that either he was extremely clever or you were unusually innocent and unsuspecting. You can always expect the best selections in name brand appliances when you visit Puff's Appliance Center.--DICK than this 80-gallon one?

Why can this 40-gallon heater give more hot water

Because it's a Gas water heater, that's why. The 80-gallon heater is electric. And Gas heats so much faster than electricity you can actually get more hot water daily from a Gas heater than an electric one twice its size!

And Gas costs so much less, too—one more big reason why Gas water heaters are the overwhelming favorites of families in our area.

Plan on saving with Gas now. See the newest Gas water heaters now on display at your dealer's, your plumber's or at Gas Company showrooms. Low down payment. Easy terms.

Comment Fact Opinion

City Power Failure Must be Eliminated

IF THERE IS A thorn in Charlevoix's side it is electric power. It is misleading to believe this wound has been dormant for a year or more. Just lately it has been agitated enough to start festing again. Fortunately, most of this agitation amounts to little more than harassment.

For instance, the $150,000 lawsuit against the City because a child was electrocuted when he grabbed a power line while climbing a tree, could happen to any electric utility. Perhaps the city should have its lines in better shape, or even have more than $50,000 liability insurance. But, at best, this is little more than hindsight. The utility, quite evidently--and inspite of loud claims to the contrary--isn't making enough money to pay for the kind of line improvement and maintenance a big company provides.

AS FOR THE RECENT four hour power failure on the North Side, these things will be taken in stride by rational citizens. They may curse and sputter for a few hours, but in the long run they know such inconveniences are minor for the satisfaction of living in Charlevoix the Beautiful.

However, there is one point which cannot be dismissed as merely harassing. That is the frustrations our industrial plants face in trying to operate with an inconsistent power source. This is especially trying for Hoskins Manuf.

Due to a hypercritical manufacturing technique involved in making ultra-fine wire, Hoskins cannot afford to have unexpected power failures. When this happens Hoskins is faced with losses mounting into several thousands of dollars. And it has happened several times this year.

Charlevoix can ill afford to have Hoskins burdened with this constant financial loss. The Hoskins payroll means something in the neighborhood of a quarter-million dollars a year to Charlevoix.

THOUGH HOSKINS executives would be the last to pose such a threat, it seems quite obvious to the Courier, that if the company doesn't soon get a guarantee of trouble-free service it will be forced to make a decision on whether it has a profitable future in Charlevoix.

It is even more evident that Hoskins isn't apt to expand here if it does not have reliable electric power. It is generally known Hoskins has reached its maximum production capability in its present facilities. The natural thing now is to look for expansion. Expansion means more jobs. Yet who can expect the company's directors and officers to look favorably on spending more money in Charlevoix when we have not been able to deliver uninterrupted power.

The Hoskins' issue involves even larger stakes than the loss of its potential or present jobs. It would be absolutely blind of us not to realize other industrialists are keenly aware of Hoskins' problems. As little as Charlevoix does in scouting and recruiting new industry, it cannot afford to be shunned for such an unnecessary reason.

Though the Courier's editor certainly isn't an electrical engineer, he has made a comprehensive check with qualified men in this field. They report there is a simple, and not overly expensive, answer to Hoskins' needs.

THIS WOULD BE TO trim all trees away from the line running to Hoskins, or relocating the line. Perhaps Hoskins should even beg a line of its own. The cost of correcting the situation is minor compared to the benefits Hoskins brings to Charlevoix.

The question isn't can we afford to provide Hoskins with the electric service it wants. The fact is we cannot afford not to!

Foundation Can Give Leadership

ALL CHARLEVOIX citizens have cause to salute the formation of the Hidden Brook Foundation. Inspired by Julius Gilbert, who in his generally inconspicuous manner, has demonstrated a deep love for Charlevoix, and other well known Charlevoix boosters, the foundation has the potential for providing until now unattainable opportunities for some of our citizens.

The fact that the foundation was deliberately established without rigid guidelines, means it will be able to serve a wide variety of needs. Because it is so obviously unrestricted and versatile it can build itself around community needs as they develop.

BECAUSE ITS CHARTER members include some of Charlevoix's most able and progressive leaders, the foundation can also serve to bring forth action from other groups and the community as a whole. It can, and should, make its weight felt in the higher councils of our local government and civic life.

When action is needed, rather than stay out of the issue unless it can contribute financial support, we hope the Hidden Brook Foundation will quietly (if possible) let community leaders know its wants to see progressive steps taken, and give some idea of what these steps should be.

We can immediately see a great service the foundation can provide if it would put its thinking and efforts behind eliminating Charlevoix's disgraceful slum section.

Sensible Solution

For Parking Lots

WE CONTINUE TO near-squawk from merchants about the lack of all-day offstreet parking in downtown Charlevoix. Most of these people who come to use contend they should be provided free parking for their employees and selves. With this we heartily disagree.

However, last week a businesswoman suggested the city should install 25¢ or 30¢ all-day meters on its Mason-st. and waterfront lots. This proposal has merit.

PEOPLE WHO EARN their living downtown, and feel their car must be within reasonable walking distance of their business place, should not feel a quarter is too much to pay for this convenience.

The Courier does not feel taxpayers should be burdened with providing free downtown parking for anyone. City parking lots should be self-supporting.

Chest Drive Is Underway

Charlevoix's 1964 Community Chest campaign is underway, and picking up steam everyday, according to Mrs. Charles Duerr, executive secretary.

The advance campaign was launched the first of August to seek contributions from summer residents and businesses. It is being guided by co-chairman Robert Bridge and Archie Livingston, Charlevoix's bank presidents. Assisting them are Mrs. Robert Foss and Charles Duerr.

THE COMMUNITY CHEST's board of directors has set the 1964 campaign goal at $12,000.

Chest volunteer workers will begin contacting local residents in September. To better acquaint people with the Community Chest's services, the Courier will run a series of sketches outlining the work of agencies that receive financial support through local donations.

Association For Retarded Children

The school for retarded children, at 201 E. Garfield, Charlevoix, makes it possible for these young people actively participate in life, rather than being isolated into a world of their own. Families of retarded children are also given assistance and advice. The association is a member of the state and national organizations. Mrs. Robert Bergmann is the instructor and Rev. Alexander Wood, association president.

Charlevoix Chapter of the Red Cross

The County chapter supplies grants and loans to servicemen, assists fire loss victims and conducts a first aid and water safety program. It also contributes to the National organization. Peter H. Timmer is county chairman, Charles S. Landers of East Jordan is executive secretary.

Salvation Army

The Salvation Army Citadel, 215 E. Lake St., Petoskey, serves Charlevoix County. The organization works with alcoholics, prison parolees and inmates, unwed mothers, down-and-outers.

Recreation Program

The popular City Recreation program's wide variety of activities--golf, swimming, shuffleboard, softball, tennis and ice skating--is partially supported by your Community Chest donation. Deano Davenport directs the program, under the supervision of City Supt. James Taylor and the City Council.

Mt. McSaub

Hundreds of Charlevoix youngsters and teenagers would not have an opportunity to become proficient skiers without Mt. McSaub and its program of ski instruction and low cost skiing. Part of the winter recreation facility's support is borne by the Community Chest. Charles Meier, North Point, is the manager.

OUR READERS WRITE

Dear Editor

Our Dirty Underwear

DEAR EDITOR:

We prefer Charlevoix the Beautiful, but some sections of our city don't live up to that slogan. There is a grocery store on Garfield right off State St. that has a vacant lot to the east that the owner and all cluttered with paper and junk. These papers flying all over ruin the looks of the whole neighborhood. This vacant lot has not been mowed this year (at the time of this writing). The owner can well afford to clean this mess up.

THE PRIVY AND MESS has not been cleaned up between Suttons and the fish net reels on the corner of Garfield and Sherman. Then our City Fathers gripe about a few stains on the sidewalks downtown.

You know dressing up the main street and neglecting the outlying district is like a person having clean top clothes on over dirty underwear.

Now Dr. Hoffmann why don't you do something for the people who put you in office. Your concern should be for the second ward, although a lot of people in the third ward certainly helped you get where you are.

NAME WITHHELD.

Leave Viet to Viets

DEAR EDITOR:

Let's straighten out our thinking regarding our participation in the far-away Vietnamese civil war. How did this endless civil war start?

The successive beleaguered governments of South Vietnam have been challenged by the revolutionary forces of Vietnamese nationalism. These forces are intent on the overthrow of any and all right-wing governments which are tied to America's apron strings. We call the Guerrilla fighters Viet Cong. Actually the overwhelming majority of these revolutionary fighters are not communists and the program they are fighting for is not a program to establish a communist regime.

The story is told by Dr. H. B. Lamb, noted authority on Vietnam history and the present war.

"Originally, back in 1945, when the war was started, it was not a civil war but a revolutionary war of liberation from French colonialism. The Vietnamese were led by the great revolutionary, Ho Chi Minh, Vietnam's leading Nationalist and Communist. He organized the Viet Minh, a coalition of different Vietnamese political parties and interests commanding widespread support among the Vietnamese conservatives as well as radicals. Even the Vietnamese Catholic hierarchy in North Vietnam supported Ho's revolution.

"From 1947, the United States tried to convert this struggle for independence from French rule into an ideological war between rival right-wing and left-wing Vietnamese factions. To do this, the United States evolved a double strategy. We tried simultaneously both to help the French defeat the revolutionary Viet Minh and to force the French to grant formal independence to a conservative Vietnamese faction. This faction was built around the reinstated Vietnamese Emperor, Bao Dai, who had obligingly served as puppet head of Vietnam under the French colonial regime, as well as under the Japanese occupation during World War II, but had abdicated in favor of the revolutionary Viet Minh in 1945.

WHATEVER THE OUTCOME of future negotiations, the killing in Vietnam must stop. By interfering on the losing side, our country had doomed Vietnam to a continuing civil war which would have been over long ago save for our massive transfusion of money, material and men, to the faltering governments of South Vietnam. The terrible suffering of this dirty war is on our conscience. All the homeless, all the orphans, all the widows, all the tortures by the Governments' soldiers to extract information and by the guerrillas to punish the informers, all the excruciating pain of burning human flesh from napalm bombs, all the thousands of Vietnamese dead, whichever side they were fighting for--all these horrors are being multiplied by the Johnson administration insistence that the war go on."

Were you one of those people who happened to be watching television Tuesday night when, instead of the two channels we can get here, there were shows coming in on practically every channel? Art Osborn told me about it first and, since then, several people have mentioned it. . . and wished that the condition would continue. . . because it was so nice seeing so many different programs. . . We'll speak to the weatherman. . .

Said weatherman has certainly been having a heyday this year. . . the most recent was the havoc dealt the Pine Point-Oyster Bay area Sunday night. . . I understand that the reason those kinds of freak fall victim to such storms is because they are not deep-rooted and are often found in soil that is quite moist and therefore is not as solid as some. . . Earlier this summer I saw much the same condition along I-75 southwest of the Cheboygan area following a similar storm. . .

ACCORDING TO THE 30-day forecast published by the U. S. Weather Bureau we're in for temperatures much above normal for this time of the year and below normal rainfall. . . So if the weather to date has bothered you, start getting used to it. . . you're in for some more of the same. . . I might add that these forecasts are usually pretty accurate. . .

But all kidding aside, hasn't it been a nice summer? . . . It's certainly brought people to town, few softball games have been rained out, the golf courses are having their best seasons in years and all in all it's been mighty nice, to my way of thinking. . .

IF YOU REMEMBER, the Forrest Fowlers left in June on a trapper trek to Florida via Canada, the west coast and the southern route across the U. S., returning here May 1. . . The last word is that they'd gotten as far as Atikakan, Ont., where the fishing is apparently so good they're staying to enjoy it. . . Mrs. Fowler caught herself a monster, an 18 pound Great Northern. . . which was 46 1/2 inches long. . . and on an eight pound line. . . That's a lot of fish in anyone's pond, wouldn't you say? . . . Mrs. Hubert Paddock had this bit of news from the Fowlers who spent 30 days at Quetico Provincial Park. . .

At a recent Kiwanis meeting, three of our Scouters were honored. . . George Schraut, equally as well known as the Boy Schraut to those close to him. . . was present to talk on the responsibilities of a sponsoring organization. . . the club sponsors the Boy Scout program here as well as doing scads of other things for lots of other youngsters. . . Doug Wilks, the present Cub Master and Bob Hooper, immediate past Cub Master, received Scouters' Keys given them by another person who's given a lot to Scouting during the years, Roy Bennett. . . Pete Burns, who didn't happen to be present, had more than a few kind words said about him as a veteran Neighborhood Commissioner and then, to top it all off, our own Explorer troop received a trophy as the top bowling team in the Scenic Trails Council. . . I knew those Explorers must be good at something. . . Now we know the answer. . . Several were on hand to accept the honor. . .

Which all adds up to one thing in my book. . . a lot of people are doing a mighty fine job in behalf of Scouting. . .

And speaking of Scouting, the Girl Scouts are getting organized for the school year coming up. . . and there's going to be a lot of sad little girls if some people don't volunteer as leaders and/or assistant leaders. . . It would be a crime to let such an excellent program die after so many people have done so much for so many years to keep it going. . . So give a little thought to it and decide if you want this on your conscience. . .

THE PEACE CORPS is something I think everyone is aware of but other than hearing of someone joining it now and then, it's something few of us know much about. . . I know I've read everything I could find on it just because I think it's a terrific idea. . . and, in most instances, it's proven highly successful. . .

But all of a sudden, the Martin clan is about to learn a lot about said Corps. . . on a first hand basis. . . for my young nephew, Stan, is about to become a part of it. . . All of a sudden the whole family is scrambling for information on Venezuela for that's where he's to go after three months of concentrated training at the University of California. . . He'll be required to speak the language of the country like a native. . . I haven't found whether it's Spanish or Portuguese. . . will be required to live as a native of the country, eating the same food, etc. . . He's been assigned to a group going to the city of Caracas, the capital of the country. . . It's approximately 12 degrees above the equator. . . is located six miles from the seacoast, as the crow flies, tho' it's behind a range of high granite mountains, having been built there, no doubt, for protection from invaders. . . The country was discovered by Columbus when he made his third trip to the New World. . . The city itself is 3,000 feet above sea level. . . And probably, during the two years he'll be gone, we of the clan will know a great deal more about this country that, until now, has been pink or yellow or some such color on the map of South America. . .

Probably Americans as a whole know more about the geography of the world now. . . as the result of World War II, the Korean War, servicemen stationed around the world, and now the Peace Corps than they ever knew before. . . And, from the sound of the news these last few days, we're about to learn a lot more. . . this time about Southeast Asia. . . What a changing world we live in. . . I sometime think I don't like it. . .

Makel Urges Lions to Act On Charlevoix Slum Area

Probate-Juvenile Judge John Makel Monday told the Charlevoix Lions Club the community is not meeting its responsibility to force clean-up of slums.

Makel outlined to the Lions Club conditions in the slum section near the airport. He declared it is a community responsibility to demand action that will eliminate this area of blight.

MAKEL LAUNCHED the campaign early this spring to clean-up the slums. Through efforts by the Courier, Makel and welfare, social and health agencies, the public has been made aware of the conditions.

In his address to the Lions, Makel suggested that state and federal extension services should be geared to aid families in overcoming and escaping slum standards of living.

James Robinson
James Robinson, 58, of Rosebush and Charlevoix, died July 12 at Alma, Mich. Funeral services were held July 15 at Bachelors Cemetery, Mason County. Surviving is his wife Thelma and son Alfred of Florida. Mr. Robinson was in the lumber and sawmill business. He owned property on Round Lake and has been coming to Charlevoix for 12 summers, his primary outdoor interests being fishing and boating.

David Eckinger
David John Eckinger, 89, of Flint, and formerly a Charlevoix businessman, died Aug. 9 in Flint. Eckinger was in the fishing business here. He served as a Charlevoix Harbormaster and Councilman.

Surviving are his son, Harold Eckinger and daughter Mrs. O. R. Hurd, both of Flint. Services were held Aug. 11 at Brown Funeral Home, Flint.

Mrs. Hilda Weaver
Mrs. Hilda G. Weaver, 65, of Farmington, a former Charlevoix resident, died Aug. 4 at her home.

Surviving are her son Robert of Traverse City and daughter Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Sechler of Farmington. Graveside services were held at Brookside Cemetery here.

She was a graduate of Charlevoix High School and Ypsilanti Normal College.

Frank D. Webb
Frank D. Webb, 66, of Birmingham and Ironton, died Aug. 10 at Charlevoix after a four day illness.

Mr. Webb was a Pulitzer winning member of the Impresario magazine and an editorial consultant for the Detroit Free Press.

Surviving is his wife, Anna Belle, whom he married in 1929. Funeral services were held Aug. 10 at Winchester Funeral Home.

He was a member of the Charlevoix City Band, attended the First Methodist Church and was salesman for Hess Furniture Co.

Surviving is his wife Dorothy, a son Bruce of Charlevoix and brother Don of Marquette. Funeral services were held Aug. 10 from Winchester Funeral Home by Rev. Robert McBratnie with burial at Brookside Cemetery.

A World War II veteran, Mr. Kroken moved to Charlevoix 15 years ago from Marquette.

Robert Morse
Robert M. Morse, 75, of Charlevoix died Aug. 6 at Charlevoix Hospital after a lingering illness.

Surviving is his wife Eleanor, a son, William of Detroit; daughter ter Mrs. Mary Sullivan of Grosse Pointe; sister, Mrs. Robert Bridge of Charlevoix and Mrs. Laura Kimball of Florida.

Funeral services were held Aug. 8 from Winchester Funeral Home with burial at St. Mary's Cemetery by Rev. Harold E. Kohn.

Mr. Morse came to Charlevoix from Lansing where he was in the insurance business.

Prosecutor Files Criminal Charges

Prosecuting Attorney Harvey Varnum reports three criminal cases were filed by his office last week for the August term of Circuit Court.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Smith of Boyne Falls, are charged with false representation to obtain money from the Bureau of Social Aid, Varnum said. The couple, he said, failed to report other income.

Guild Gives Scholarships

The Charlevoix Hospital Guild Monday presented scholarship checks to four nursing students.

Getting the checks were Laurel Foley, Linda Neff, and Carol Klooster of Charlevoix and Joan Kramer of East Jordan.

THE GUILD announced that its Aug. 4-style show was a financial success. Since 1955 the Guild has raised $30,000 for hospital equipment and scholarships. This year it hopes to purchase an explosion-proof bassinet and resuscitator for infants.

Kohler Gets Land Plus City's Cash

City Council decided Monday evening to sell Carl Kohler the 40 feet of Round Lake frontage he now occupies.

Kohler will pay $4,000 for the property, but end up getting a check from the city for $783.

COUNCILMEN AGREED to settle the confusing property matter after discovering recently that the city owes Kohler $5,000 for work he has done since 1950, but not sent bills on.

Kohler received a 20 year lease on the property from City Council in 1944, with the understanding, but not legal option, that he could buy it when the lease expired.

Since 1950 he has not sent any bills for work he has done for the city. This work, Councilmen discovered two weeks ago, adds up to $5,083.

Since 1960 Kohler has not paid his $75 a year lease payment on the property.

SO KOHLER OWES the city $4,300. The City owes Kohler $5,083. The City will pay Kohler the balance of $783 and the matter will be permanently settled.

School Board Keeps Pledge -Cuts Deficit

The Charlevoix Board of Education last week learned it kept its pledge to avoid deficit spending in 1963-64.

The annual audit revealed the school district not only kept a tight enough rein on the budget to spend no more than it took in, but actually reduced the deficit accumulated from other years.

SUPT. REX MILLIGAN reports the audit shows that the district spent $391,559 for operation in 1963-64. This is $2,828 less than was budgeted.

The district started the last school year with a $53,482 budget. As of July 1, 1964, the auditors report, the deficit has been reduced to $16,075.

This, Milligan explained, was possible because the state ordered all schools to follow uniform accounting procedures, which automatically took $19,422 out of the deficit column.

The deficit was reduced another $17,984 by applying money received during the 1963-64 school year. If the deficit did not exist from previous years this money could have been spent on current educational needs.

WHEREAS THE BOARD'S last year budget anticipated an income of $402,000 from all sources, it actually received $409,000. This unexpected bonus was applied to the deficit.

The school's income included $216,162 from local taxes, $182,867 from state sources and the balance from miscellaneous sources.

Major expenditures were $261,450 for instruction, $53,365 for plant operation, $26,818 for transportation and $18,762 for administration.

In asking voters to increase school taxes 1.5 mills this spring, the board repeated its vow that there will be no further deficit spending.

THE 1964-65 BUDGET calls for a $20,000 payment on the deficit. Due to the unexpected decrease in the deficit at the end of this fiscal year, it will be completely paid off by next July.

The board this year expects an income of $431,014; $22,000 more than it received last year. The budget calls for spending $16,000 of the increase for instruction and the rest to eliminate the deficit.

The school district will levy 11-3/8 mills on the December tax roll. This will raise $239,229 on the equalized valuation of $21,132,844.

Ben Brown, LaBlance Auto Dealer, In Rights Dies at 88 Showdown

Benjamin Brown, 88, president of Brown Motors, Inc. of Charlevoix and Petoskey and this city's oldest businessman, died Tuesday at the Charlevoix Hospital. He had been in failing health for several months.

Funeral services will be held at the Winchester Funeral Home at 2 p.m. Thursday. Burial will be in Brookside cemetery.

BORN IN ONTARIO Sept. 7, 1875, Mr. Brown came here as a child and in 1898 opened his first business, a harness shop which was located at the site of the present Parkside Dining Room. In 1907 he purchased his first property on the city's main street at 405 Bridge St. and later constructed his first business building on this site where he operated a bicycle shop. When automobiles became popular he opened an agency, the oldest in the community. In 1937 the family-operated business was incorporated as Brown Motors Inc. of Charlevoix and Petoskey.

Surviving are his wife, the former Nona Conboy; two sons, Floyd B. of Charlevoix and Lewis E. of Petoskey; two daughters, Mrs. Frank (Laura) Courrier of Charlevoix and Mrs. George (Edna) Dams of Petoskey and 12 grandchildren.

Charlevoix Democratic party leader George LaBlance will spearhead a showdown between Michigan Democrats and Southern Democrats at next week's National Convention in Atlantic City.

LaBlance has been named as one of four people who will force a floor fight to make it mandatory that all Democratic leaders in Southern states support the new Civil Rights bill.

OTHERS ON THE committee with LaBlance are Zolton Fereny, state Democratic Committee Chairman; Adeline Hart, vice chairman; and Mike Kerwin, Wayne County.

It is probable national network TV cameras will follow LaBlance's floor fight. The convention will be televised daily from Aug. 24-28.

"The convention won't be as mild as many think," LaBlance said. "This is a showdown between Michigan Democrats and Southern Democrats."

Mrs. (Edna) LaBlance will accompany her husband to the convention. LaBlance is a delegate to the convention.

MRS. LABLANCE will be the receptionist for the Michigan delegation on Aug. 26 at its Roosevelt Hotel suite. She is also on the state delegation's hospitality committee.

Cement Plant Coming--But When? Air Force Here to Stay; Spends $500, 000 A Year

Medusa to Build on
S. Point

Maybe 5 to 10
Years in Future

Medusa Portland Cement Co. executive Worth Loomis in meetings here last week left no doubt there is a cement plant in Charlevoix's future.

Loomis told city officials and the Courier construction of a cement plant is probably five to ten years away. Loomis repeated earlier statements that when the plant is built depends on trends in the cement business.

THE MEDUSA VICE president went into great detail at a meeting with city officials in the Weatherlane Inn to explain that the plant will not pollute Charlevoix's air with dust or odor.

He explained that modern filtration techniques make it possible to eliminate practically all obnoxious smoke. This, Loomis said, cannot be done in old plants because they have to be originally designed to use the new equipment.

After nearly four hours of discussion, Mayor E. D. Hawley, Councilmen Bill Fochtman and Dr. Walter F. Hoffmann and Chamber of Commerce manager Dean Davenport told Loomis they feel the proposed cement plant will be compatible with Charlevoix's natural beauty.

Loomis was in Charlevoix principally to announce Medusa will begin clearing 1,000 acres of its South Point property this fall so it can be turned into a limestone quarry in the spring. He also announced construction is scheduled to begin in the spring on the company's $1 million, 1,350 foot conveyor dock, with a 680 foot pier at the end to receive ships. The quarry will employ 18 men in 1966.

THE DOCK WILL extend eastward off the east side of South Point. It will not, in any way, block normal navigation channels into the Charlevoix harbor. Small pleasure boats will be able to pass under the dock. He said

Bay Shore Citizens To Keep Post Office

BAY SHORE--Bay Shore will continue to have its own post office.

Charlevoix County Democratic Chairman George LaBlance this week announced Washington has made arrangements to maintain the post office for Bay Shore.

THE POST OFFICE, however, will be moved across U.S. 31 to Bruce Green's grocery store and service station.

Bay Shore appeared on the verge of losing its postmark last month when longtime postmistress Mrs. John (Lydia)

Stolt announced she is retiring.

The Post Office Dept., in an economy move, said it was considering closing the Bay Shore office and serving patrons from Charlevoix.

A group of Bay Shore citizens, led by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Deschmeyer, immediately petitioned the County Democratic Committee for help. The committee unanimously went on record, asking Sen. Pat McNamara for his support.

LABLANCE THIS week released a letter from McNamara announcing that arrangements have been made to locate the post office in Green's.

Green will maintain the same services now offered to postal patrons by Mrs. Stolt in the crumbling frame building across the street. This includes the sale of stamps, money orders, postal boxes, general delivery, parcel post, and a "Bay Shore" postmark for all outgoing mail.

McNamara's correspondence to LaBlance states 72 families

Col. King Sees No Future Move

Praises Charlevoix's Support
Of Airmen in Quest for Homes

The U. S. Air Force can be expected to pump more than a half-million dollars into Charlevoix's economy this year, and for many years to come, Lt. Col. Joseph C. King, commander of the Radar Bomb Scoring unit at Bay Shore, says.

Col. King said that though there is no official confirmation from Washington, it appears that the Bay Shore unit is going to become a permanent installation.

UNTIL JUST recently, the Air Force was moving its bomb scoring units every three or four years. However, this trend has now been reversed, Col. King explained.

He said the Air Force is now trying to make the location of these units permanent.

This is being done in the interest of national economy and to stabilize local economies, he said. Local communities have complained when military units suddenly packed up and moved, leaving a vacuum in their economy.

The colonel also pointed out the Air Force feels it has found the nearest to ideal location for the bomb scoring installations.

INSTEAD OF LEASING property, as was customary in the past, Col. King said the Bay Shore unit's property has been purchased by the Air Force.

Another indication that the unit will remain at Bay Shore on a permanent basis is recent construction of a 24 by 56 foot building.

Chamber Drains Finances Reveal Record Income Spent

In less than a year the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce's financial condition has changed from "good" to near collapse.

The chamber has issued a statement pleading for financial help to stay in operation.

THE CHAMBER'S JULY month-end financial statement, prepared for City Council revealed the chamber has less than $500 left to operate on this year. And that many of its most expensive summer bills are unpaid. The fiscal year for the chamber ends in October.

Last Oct. 15 the chamber's year-end financial statement reported a balance of $1,351 left in banks, to be carried over into this operating year. A summary of the chamber's financial condition at that time described it as "good."

Last week's statement said the chamber must receive an immediate financial boost "to continue in operation."

"The expenses of the chamber have increased considerably, along with everything else," the membership newsletter stated.

THE CHAMBER'S MID-WINTER membership drive, which was described by chamber officials as the most successful ever, gave it more money for this year's operation than ever before.

Charlevoix taxpayers again this year contributed $5,000 to the chamber through the city.

The chamber's plea for help pointed out that some of the members signed last winter have not yet paid their dues.

"The Board of Directors is trying to come up with some answers. Perhaps you can give us an opinion or idea of how the chamber can improve its functional duties or ways and means to increase its finances," the statement said.

Beauty Shop

Mrs. W. R. Loder has opened her Wal-Mar Coiffure Shop at Oleson's Shopping Center. Her's is the second shop to open in the center.

The new beauty shop is located next to Oleson's. It was previously located at Wal-Mar Court on U. S. 31 north of town.

MRS. LODER SAID the new shop boasts air conditioning, new driers, modern decorations, new skins sinks, new chairs, and added privacy. She said the shop's staff will be increased.

are served by the Bay Shore post office—64 rent post office boxes and eight receive mail general delivery. Mr. and Mrs. Deschmeder conteno as many as 200 people rely on the Bay Shore office for stamps, money orders and parcel post.

The Post Office Dept. contends it will save $1,500 by contracting with Green to provide postal service to Bay Shore citizens. In 1963 it cost approximately $4,000 to operate the Bay Shore post office. However, the office only took in $1,070.

Fisher Yard Tops

The yard of Capt. and Mrs. William Fisher, 402 Antrim, has won the Garden Club plaque for the most attractive garden during the last two weeks of August. The judging committee, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and Mrs. Charles Hamilton, said they based their selection of the Fisher yard on the overall appearance of the flower beds and lawn and attractive touch of Fisher's in the stone bank in front of the house. "This is truly a bright spot in our city," they declared.

Hot Fireplace

City firemen were called out at 9:20 p.m. last Thursday to their first house fire of the summer.

Fire Chief John Curtis reports the fire was from an overheated fireplace in the guest house at 203 Belvedere. The fire spread to the wall. Curtis said there was only minor smoke and flame damages.

Church Open House

Open House will be held at St. Mary's new Church Sunday, August 30, from 2 to 5 p.m. Ralph Hamilton, general chairman, reports. The public is invited for a conducted tour of the new church, school, convent and rectory.

ing to house the operations center and administration section. In the past the entire unit has operated out of trailers, which could be moved to new sites every few years.

Col. King said the Bomb Scoring unit's manpower has been jumped from an original allotment of 65 to 107. These new men, he said, are reporting for duty regularly. Present strength is 100. The other seven men needed to bring the unit to full strength will report this fall.

The unit's annual payroll is almost a half - million - dollars, the colonel said. Most of this, he said, will be spent in Charlevoix, where more than 90% of the unit's men live with their families.

IN ADDITION TO money spent by individual Air Force families, Col. King said the unit will spend a considerable amount for supplies at local businesses. This, he is confident, will total more than a half-million Air Force dollars for Charlevoix's economy.

"We have been real pleased with the housing support we received from Charlevoix," Col. King said. "Our people seem to receive some sort of priority treatment."

He said most of the men assigned to the Bay Shore unit have made their homes in Charlevoix because they have heard about the fine treatment local people have given them.

Col. King and his family live in the former Sucher estate across from Charlevoix Hospital on Lake Michigan.

Band Starts Memorial Fund

The Charlevoix City Band has announced creation of a memorial fund as a tribute to its solo trumpet player John Kroken, who died Aug. 8.

The volunteer bandmen will forego their annual dinner and instead present a memorial gift to Mr. Kroken's son, Bruce, also a band member, who is enrolled at Northern Michigan Univ., Marquette.

BAND DIRECTOR C. A. Odmark said any Charlevoix resident or visitor who would like to contribute to the memorial fund should contact him at once.

Odmark reports the weekly summer concert series in East Park has attracted record crowds. The 45 number band has featured its own soloists at each concert.

If inclement weather forces cancellation of last night's (Aug. 19) concert, Odmark said, it will be held tonight (Aug. 20).

Medusa

the dock will be the longest in northern Michigan.

Loomis promised city officials every possible effort will be made by Medusa to show Charlevoix residents to see that the quarry does not interrupt residential life in Charlevoix.

He said blasting will be required up to four times a week. However, the explosion, he said, will not be as loud, or cause as much vibrations, as sonic booms.

Company trucks will not use the road past the hospital, he said.

THE SCENIC DRIVE around South Point will be kept open to the public, if possible, Loomis stated.

When the company is ready to move on the cement plant, Loomis said, it will help city officials conduct an extensive information program to show residents that modern plants are not like old plants. The plant will employ 100 people.

However, he said people should realize that "a cement plant is not an electronics warehouse."

"It is heavy industry. You can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear," he said.

Clarence Rabach, Charlevoix Township supervisor, was invited to the meeting, but did not attend. Medusa's property is located in the township.

Navy Med. Grad

Paddy E. Patrick, chief hospital corpsman, USN, husband of the former Miss Betty L. Pulman of Route 2, Charlevoix, has graduated from Field Medical Service School at Camp Pendleton, Calif. The school is designed to instruct Navy medical men, attached to Marine Corps units, in the emergency care of casualties under combat conditions. He studied practical field medicine, evacuation of the wounded, logistics and special medical procedures for nuclear, biological and chemical warfare.

Okinawa Will be Home Mr. and Mrs. K. McAskill

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McAskill, who were married Aug. 1, will be making their home in Okinawa during his tour of duty with the Army there.

The newlyweds are living with relatives until he reports to Okinawa Sept. 6 and arranges housing.

THEY WERE MARRIED at the Community Reformed Church in double ring rites performed by Rev. Charles Stoppels. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Klooster of Charlevoix. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren McAskill of Pontiac.

Mrs. McAskill made her wedding dress of organza over taffeta with lace appliques bordering the neckline and along the chapel train. A crown of red roses and flowers held the veil. She was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. John L. Boss was organist for the ceremony attended by 150 persons. Mrs. Harold DeYoung was soloist.

Many Anne Klooster, sister of the bride was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Carol Klooster, Betty Klooster and Kathy Klooster, all sisters of the bride. Other attendants were Karen and Nathan Klooster, cousins of the bride.

Jerry Sullivan of Hazel Park was best man. Ushers were Julius Lowry, Peter Brock and Aaron Brock.

The bride is a graduate of Evangelical Deaconess School of Nursing.

Revolutionary new motor oil pays for itself in the engine wear it saves

This is new Sinclair Dino Supreme Motor Oil, a new "breakthrough" from Sinclair Research. It is unlike any motor oil you have ever used.

It saves "starting wear" because it flows to moving parts the moment you turn the key.

It prevents sludge formation during stop-and-go short-trip driving—protects in all driving ranges.

It's so different it's patented. By an exclusive Sinclair formula, tiny molecules of Nickel are blended in the oil. They form a smooth protective coating that armor-plates your engine against wear.

It exceeds engine test requirements of every U. S. car manufacturer and provides utmost engine protection throughout oil drain intervals recommended by all car manufacturers.

Try the Sinclair "Power Pair"—new Sinclair Dino Supreme Motor Oil and Sinclair Dino Supreme Gasoline—made to work together to give you longest engine life and the finest premium gasoline performance. See your Sinclair Dealer.

MOLDING MINDS

Through good books the sages of the ages may speak to the children of this age. Good books are antidotes for juvenile delinquency and for adult delinquency. Good books increase our joys, soften our sorrows, ennoble our friendships, enlarge our ideals, refine our ambitions, guide our energies, feed our souls. They are companions in loneliness, friends in trouble, tools for work and guides in wayfaring. The church and the church library offer you books that will keep your boys from being crooks. Books help mold minds.

EDITOR'S NOTES

Unions Have Cut Out North's Voice in State's Government

AS ELECTION day nears, and political campaigning picks up, Charlevoix County voters are becoming ever more painfully aware that the northland's voice in Michigan politics has been cut out and stomped on by labor-controlled downstate Democrats.

The union chiefs demanded that the land of sky blue waters is fit for habitation by nothing but stumps and jack rabbits. The Supreme Court let Solidarity House call the shots.

Consequently that hardy breed of Michigander who is willing to work harder and make less money so he can raise his family in his beloved northland, finds that, for all effective purposes, Lansing has become no more than a token State Capital.

The north country's voice in the State Senate, House and U. S. Congress has been slashed in half. Comparing the population (1960 census) of our old districts with the new shows:

	New	Old
Congress	403,507	240,793
Senate	205,950	97,517
House	71,792	40,949

The population figures, however, only partially tell the story. A legislator with this many people to represent could do an effective job in a compact area, of say no more than two counties. (In Wayne County it will be a few square blocks.)

BUT WHEN HE must traverse the entire Upper Peninsula, and parts of the Lower, his best efforts are futile.

To even suggest that our next State Senator, Representative or Congressman can understand and deal with the needs of north country citizens in such widespread areas (see map on this page) is a direct insult to our intelligence. Yet this is what those who pushed through the new apportionment are saying.

Having lived in the country's most populated Congressional district, I am well aware that a Congressman can do a good job of representing nearly a million people. . . If they live in a small area and have rather similar problems - which metropolitan residents do.

It is one of those seldom recognized, but easily seen, facts of life that residents of an urban-industrial area need less political representation per person than those in sparsely populated regions. This is so because the nation's political thinking is geared to aiding and dealing with metropolitan areas.

HOWEVER, IN the north country, our problems and political needs are greatly diversified and ever changing. A representative must be close to his constituents to grasp their needs and desires, as they are unlike those facing other legislators.

An Upper Peninsula politician was recently quoted by the Manistique Pioneer-Tribune as observing, "... we see complete domination of the minorities by the majority, and this is a complete reversal of the point brought out by our founding fathers in the creation of this country. . . to protect the minorities from the majority."

In all fairness, it must be noted the north country's dilemma was brought about by years of domination by deadwood Republican legislators.

These Republicans sat in Lansing for years, doing nothing for the northland. About the only credit they could take was that they effectively threw a monkey wrench in programs to aid the metropolitan areas. And, of course, they refused to budge on any proposal to reapportion the state.

OUR LEGISLATURE, and Congressional District, have for decades been too lopsided in favor of the outstate areas. By ignoring all reasonable efforts to compromise on this, Republican mossbacks are directly responsible for the complete reversal which now silences the north.

Northern voters also contributed to disenfranchising themselves. The new constitution offered a fair apportionment plan. By failing to overwhelmingly support the constitution, upstate voters gave weight to CIO-UAW demands that population be the only consideration in drawing district lines.

Oddly enough, the rank and file voters of big city areas went to the polls in favor of constitutional plans to give the north voice in Lansing and Washington. Shep

UP Senator Bids For Local Votes

"There is no place for a wavering step and hesitant voice in the Michigan Legislature when it comes to representing the colorful north country, often the forgotten stepchild of state politics," Sen. Kent T. Lundgren said during a campaign stop in Charlevoix last week.

Lundgren, 50, of Escanaba, is a Republican candidate for nomination at the Sept. 1 primary from the 37th Senatorial District, the largest, area-wise, in the state.

LUNDGREN HAS represented the old 30th District in the Upper Peninsula for the past 28 months.

KENT LUNDGREN

Opposing him in the Sept. 1 for the nomination are Republicans Sen. Thomas F. Schweigert of Petoskey, Harold J. Vanlerberghe of Escanaba, and Fred K. Taber of Alpena. Schweigert is the incumbent from the old Charlevoix district.

"There is need for a positive voice in Lansing to speak out for the area in which I live and work and I believe I have demonstrated I am that person," Lundgren said.

Lundgren said he has supported fair taxation without a state income tax, expanded tourist promotion, medical assistance for the aged, improved teacher retirement pay, orderly consolidation of school districts, the rights of businessmen against the Highway Dept.'s arbitrary sign removal program and economy in government.

He also said he has worked for a reasonable apportionment plan for the northland, both in the Legislature and Constitutional Convention. He describes the new legislative districts as "Democratic gerrymandering" aimed at silencing the north.

He describes the new district as "a mixture of restful resorts, rolling farms and diversified industries."

He is chairman of the Senate Public Utilities Commission, Committee and a member of the State Highways, Corporations and Liquor Control committees.

HIS WIFE, MILDRED, is a former Army nurse. They have three sons, Thor, Stewart and Kurt.

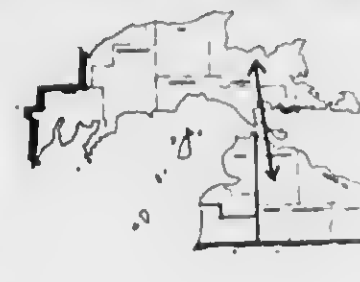

He is a past state commander of the American Legion and Wisconsin and Upper Peninsula Pharmaceutical Associations. He is a member of the Elks Club and Episcopal Church.

Big Day for Boys & Horses

FRIDAY WAS THE big day at Camp Charlevoix. Boys from around the nation and several foreign lands displayed their talent at horsemanship in the annual Rodeo. Many of the boys were unfamiliar with riding when they came to the camp only a few weeks before. However, the camp's cowboy counselors had stood them in good stead, as they showed exceptional skills in the rodeo ring.

As this series of pictures shows, the boys competed in several riding categories, from speed to trick handling. The horses, some of the best in the northland, have been hand picked by Camp Charlevoix director Ken Smith and assistant Barney Englehart to respond to the commands of the youths.

NOT ONLY WAS IT the happy climax of a joyful summer for the campers. Hundreds of area residents and parents were on hand to cheer the boys and horses to victory.

Of course, there were losers. But they lost to pais, and could look forward to trying again next summer, so defeat wasn't so bad.

Federal Taxes Here Double Income Tax

The average Charlevoix County family fails to realize its total federal tax bill is more than twice what its annual income tax statement indicates.

This, the Tax Foundation, Inc., of New York City, declares is due to such hidden taxes, as excise, corporation and social security that are directly, or indirectly paid by all Charlevoix County working people.

THE FOUNDATION reports hidden federal taxes total about $1.20 for every $1 of income tax the average local family pays.

The foundation says you can get the true picture of how much you pay the federal government by calculating 120% of your income tax and adding the two figures together. Take, for example, an income tax of $800. One-hundred-twenty percent of $800 is $960. Add the two sums together and your federal tax bill last year was $1,760.

Charlevoix County taxpayers who take time to appraise their total annual federal tax bill will generally find it is enough to pay the balance, after trade-in, on a new car; or one-fifth to one-eighth of the cost of a new home, the foundation reports.

New Pharmacist At Schroeders

Jim Williams has joined Schroeders drug store as a pharmacist.

Williams and his wife, Judy, came to Charlevoix to accept the position at Schroeders from Shenandoah, Iowa. They are living at 322 Neech St. They have three children, Brian, 5; Todd, 3; and Kurt, 2.

HE GRADUATED from the University of Iowa in 1959. The Williams were close friends of Dr. John Lignell during duty in the Air Force, and were prompted to come to Charlevoix by Dr. Lignell, the new pharmacist reports.

Your Chest $$ at Work

Charlevoix Hospital is one of the best known beneficiaries of assistance from the Charlevoix Community Chest.

With a state-wide reputation as one of Michigan's finest, and best equipped, smalltown hospitals, the Charlevoix Hospital serves a wide area, including all of Charlevoix County and northern Antrim County communities.

COMMUNITY CHEST contributions to the hospital go toward offsetting the cost of hospital services to persons unable to pay. Mrs. Charles Duerr, Community Chest executive secretary, reports. Hospital bills that are unpaid by the individual patient or welfare services are paid by the Chest.

COMMUNITY NURSE The services of Mrs. Jeanne K. Miles, Charlevoix's community nurse, are partially supported by the Community Chest. Mrs. Miles gives eye tests, stages immunization clinics, administers the oral polio vaccine program, home nursing care, TB registry and assistance to the families of mentally ill persons.

Your Community Chest donations also help keep the Community Nurse's Fund functioning. This fund helps pay for glasses, medication and emergency needs of persons unable to pay.

Don't Pass-up Dessert When You're at the Parkside!

Mrs. William West, hostess and co-manager of the Parkside Dining Room holds one of the famous, mouth watering pies that are a regular feature on the dessert menu. Big mounds of meringue top off the delicious lemon pie that is just one of 9 regular fruit and cream pie favorites. All pastries, which include breads, cakes and rolls are baked daily, to insure freshness, in Parkside's own bakeries. But after all, the Parkside's baked goods are only a part of their delicious dinners. There is a complete menu to choose from. We hope you won't mind if we suggest the Prime Ribs, prepared as you like them. They're our favorites!

Circlin the Bases

with DEANO

The much publicized game between American Mold and Ellsworth lived up to every bit of its top billing. The two teams, who were deadlocked for first place with identical records, clashed head on for the league title.

The bitterly fought contest went 14 innings before Mold emerged the winner 5-4.

PITCHERS KLOOSTER and BOSS matched pitch for pitch through the first four innings. Mold scored twice in the fifth on an error, a sacrifice, and singles by Des Milligan and Don Kowbell. Ellsworth-Morwell Steel countered with one on Jack Ingalls' long triple and a passed ball. It stood 2-1 with two out in the bottom of the seventh when slugger Hank Klooster hit a clutch home run to tie the score and send it into extra innings.

With the largest crowd of the season thrilled by numerous fielding gems and exciting play the two teams battled scorelessly into the thirteenth inning.

Then Mold's Milligan, Ritt, and Kowbell all singled for one run.

Morwell Steel battled gamely back when Mike Crain doubled with two outs and Jack Ingalls scored him with a sharp single to center to tie the game.

In the 14th Mold's Ken Wojan led off with a double down the line. An error and hit batsman loaded the bases. Don Kowbell hit a slow roller to second, scoring Wojan, but the runner on first bumped the second baseman as he was fielding the ball and was declared out by the umpires. Klooster got out of the inning without further damage.

IN THE BOTTOM OF THE 14th Morwell officially lodged a protest concerning the interference call, but according to official softball rules the protest should have been made before a pitch was made after the play in question. So the protest was not allowed.

However Ellsworth was not finished yet as Swanson led off with a long double, moved to third and scored on a long fly ball. A walk to Drenth put the tying run on base but Tom Weiland's long fly ball was gathered in for the final out.

The win gave American Mold a chance to clinch the title in their final game of the regular season Saturday night when they play the Merchants. Should they lose however, both teams would again be tied for first.

In the other big fastball league game during the week, Morwell Steel used an error in the bottom of the seventh to set them off on a two run rampage as they posted a come-from-behind 3-2 win over hard-luck Lake Construction. Lake Construction took a one run lead in the top of the seventh on Nick Deyoung's double and Steve Faculak's infield single. In the bottom of the seventh with one out, and error allowed Ellsworth a base runner. Hank Klooster promptly tied the score with a triple into center field. Klooster rode home with the winning run when Tom Weiland's slow bouncer was too late in coming to the plate. Ted Potter pitched his finest game of the season only to be denied a victory in the fatal seventh.

Bob Klooster pitched just as brilliantly as he too allowed only 3 hits.

Barnard beaten by A & W in Junior League, A & W beatleague leading Barnard for their second loss handing them a 10-4 beating. Both teams scored three times in the first inning, but A & W pitcher Ed Holm held Barnard in check the rest of the way allowing only three hits while his teammates were backing him up with eleven. Tom Webb and Warren Belding were the hitting heroes for A & W each with three hits.

PEANUT LEAGUE

The Pirates upset the Cardinals 6-5 to hand the league leaders their first loss of the season and at the same time gave the Tigers a chance to grab a share of first place if they can duplicate the feat when they play the Cards. (Last night). If the Cards beat the Tigers they would win the second round title, posting a 5-1 record and would meet the Lions, first round winners, this Saturday at 6:00 for the city championship.

WOMEN'S LEAGUE

Puff's defeated Edwards 10-6 in the final game of the season to send the league into an unbelievable ending with all four teams, Paul-Reed, Barnard, Edwards, and Puff's, tied for first place with 3-3 records. Managers are being consulted and if plans are made to break the tie a special playoff will be scheduled.

BLOOPER LEAGUE

The Blooper league has gone down to the final game also with Novak's needing a win over Holm-Crain (last night) to tie Consumers for the second round title. Consumers has won the first round.

LINEDRIVES... Morwell Steel-American Mold game provided great thrills for huge crowd. Ken Balch, Charlevoix's Mr. Shortstop, made several sensational plays. Ellsworth's Chet Boss held his own in fielding plays at third. Hank Klooster has to be the hero of the week with his clutch seventh inning triple to beat Lake Construction and his duplicate seventh inning home run tying the score against American Mold. League races are tighter than they have ever been with all five leagues going down to the wire. A & W especially enjoyed their repeat victory over Barnard. Their previous win over the league leaders ended in a forfeit, but they clearly were the better team in their 10-4 win. The Chamber of Commerce Tournament starts play Monday and continues through the week.

They are also visiting their brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Ikens and their sister-in-law, Mrs. Emerald Chew.

In one of the most exciting matches played during the annual City Championship Golf tournament at the municipal course, Bob Livingston defeated Ken Cellner 1-up on the 19th hole to retain his title.

The match was a close one all the way with Cellner one under par at the end of the first nine. Livingston was playing par golf but was one up on Cellner.

ON THE BACK NINE, both show one over par (38). Cellner tied the score on the 17th with both carding a par on the 18th to force the match into "sudden death" play. This came in the 19th when Cellner put his second shot five feet from the hole while Livingston's landed only 18 inches from the cup. Livingston sunk his putt for the championship.

Other flight champions were also decided during the week. In the first flight, John Swanson defeated Chick Gallagher 1-up for the title after being three down at the end of the first

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Corr and two sons of Chicago are spending two weeks here. They had as their guests last week Mr. and Mrs. George Eggert.

Livingston Repeats As Tourney Winner

Gallagher had advanced to the finals against Swanson after Art Krulik was forced to forfeit his match because of a knee injury. Des Milligan came up with the second flight trophy after defeating Norm Helms 3-1 in the play-off the week before.

THE THIRD FLIGHT title went to Carl Ikens who defeated Jerry Burke 2-1 for the title. Brian Knight edged Frank Wilson 1-up to take the fourth flight title.

In the senior flight Jack Supernault emerged the flight champion after defeating Dr. James Hilligan 1-up in the finals. Jim Law-er, the defending champion, was eliminated early in the tournament.

Second Lt. and Mrs. David M. McFellars stationed at Stewart Air Force Base in New York State visited their mother Mrs. James White and grandmother Mrs. Emma Snyder last week.

Young Jimmy White is expected back from Kentucky soon.

C. R. Stokes spent last Sunday morning at Petoskey's United Church of Christ where he will preach in September when regular minister Rev. Howard Brooks takes his vacation.

Mr. Stokes will assist with services at the Brutus Church and Petoskey Churches this coming Sunday.

Ironton was visited last week by two men running for office, Rep. Clayton T. Morrison State representative from the 106th district and State Senator Kent T. Lundgren. Both men are Republicans. Rep. Lundgren has had two terms in the Michigan State Senate and Mr. Morrison has been elected six times.

What is it? Meryl Scott would like to know. Something took the bait and away it went snoring his fishing line.

Area Cattlemen See Test Herd

By ED REBMAN
Extension Director

BOYNE CITY -- Latest beef cattle and forage crop production practices will be featured in an all day program at the Michigan State University Experiment Station Farm at Lake City Wednesday, Aug. 26. Charlevoix County livestock farmers are urged to attend.

Area livestock farmers will have a chance to see several new species of plants which show promise for forage crop production. Plots will also be viewed showing results of improved varieties of birdsfoot trefoil, alfalfa, corn, sunflowers, lupines, and sudan grass crosses.

THE 100 HEAD commercial beef cow herd kept at the farm is being used in a research project to evaluate the effectiveness of selection for tenderness and leanness in beef cattle. It also demonstrates the adaptability of the commercial beef cow and calf program in northern Michigan.

Field day visitors will also have a chance to view near final type mowers and crop windrowers. They will also hear from Robert DeBoer, farm foreman, on a simplified system of hay making used at the farm. Other farm tour stops will include pasture renovation, seeding methods and farm ponds. Tours of the experimental plots will begin at 9:30 a.m. A noon lunch will be available.

of Phoenix, Ariz., are visiting with her brother and sister-in-law Mr. and Mrs. George Block.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Foster and son Stewart of Kalkaska visited her mother Mrs. Arthur Stoel and Betty and Shirley.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Matchett and family attended the Kent family reunion at the Lee Shapton Home Sunday.

The August Farm Bureau Meeting will be a picnic at Ferry Ane Beach Aug. 26, 7 p.m.

A 3/C Michael Bost of Turner Air Force Base is home on leave with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Guy Bost.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Boss spent the weekend in Palmyra with their daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Wheat.

Miss Dorothy Botema has returned to Grand Rapids after spending several weeks here with her brother Mr. Martin Botema.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wieland were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Waring of Kewadin. Guests at the Wieland home this week are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lakatos of Muskegon.

Art Exhibit

Twenty-five works by artist Leonard Baskin are on exhibit at the Traverse City Contemporary Art Museum until Sept. 1. Winner of the 1963 International Prize for Engraving, Baskin is best known for his traditionally executed figurative works. The show is open to the public.

Mrs. James Anderson of Lansing and her granddaughter, Kristina Anderson of Detroit, are spending two weeks with her mother, Mrs. A. J. Usher. Mr. Anderson plans to come for them this weekend. Last weekend they were joined by Mrs. Anderson's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Larry French of Lansing.

Mrs. Fred deCastro and her sister, Mrs. Wayne Belding, were in Holland recently to attend the wedding of their nephew, Robert H. Gillette and Nancy L. Pollock. They also visited in Grand Rapids with their brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gillette, parents of the bridegroom.

We wish to sincerely thank Mrs. Henry Lee of Boyne City for the Fasco Electric Fan which she recently donated to the Facility in her husband's memory. This large fan will provide many hours of comfort for our patients during hot weather.

Mrs. Perry Looze brought us some beautiful Gladiolus which were enjoyed by the patients and staff.

The regular monthly meeting of the Charlevoix County Welfare Commission was held at the Facility on Thursday, August 13 and attended by Mrs. Doris Reynolds Mr. Roy Scott of Boyne City, Rev. Geo. Majors of Charlevoix and Mr. Clarence Healy of East Jordan.

A birthday party was held at the Facility Friday, August 14 given by the United Missionary

The annual City Swimming Races, sponsored by the City Recreation Dept., are scheduled this weekend.

Saturday morning starting at 10 the boys will meet at Depot Beach for the preliminaries. At 2 p.m. the girls are scheduled for the qualifying races.

SUNDAY THE FINALS will be held starting at 2 p.m. Both boys and girls will be divided into junior and senior divisions. The junior division is for youngsters seven through ten with the eleven through fourteen year olds in the senior division.

Races include the 25 yard freestyle, back, and breast stroke, the 50 yard breast, back, and freestyle, the 100 yard freestyle, and the individual medley, mixed medley, and the 100 yard freestyle relay.

In past years large crowds have viewed the races from the Depot Beach. The public is invited to attend again this year.

Church of East Jordan, Mrs. Olive Smith, May Mathers and Bernice Trojaneck brought presents and served ice cream and cake to the 12 patients having birthdays in July and August.

Employees enjoying recent vacations are: Barbara Kysela of Charlevoix, Mrs. Velma Barber, Mrs. Marian Williamson and Mr. Mitchell Norton of East Jordan.

A display of handicraft items made by patients in Diversional Therapy will be held in the Facility on Wednesday and Thursday, August 26 and 27. This program was started in January, 1963 and many hours have been spent on the projects to be offered for sale. Part of the proceeds will go to the patients and part for the purchase of new materials. Please try to stop by and visit with the patients and your friends to encourage them in the rehabilitation efforts they are attempting.

At Scout Camp

More Boy Scout merit badges and requirements for the Second and First Class Ranks were completed at Camp Grellick in the 1964 season than were earned by all the scouts in the Scenic Trails Council in 1958, announced George K. Petritz, Benzonia, council president.

Among the 304 campers on hand from August 2 to 15 at Camp Grellick from Charlevoix are: Tim Anders, Joe Hayes, Larry Anders, Tom Burns, Mike Etienne, Robert Etienne, Bernard Holtzman, Don Livingston, David Livingston, David Mieras, Tony Paulone, David Plum, Gordon Solomon, Harold Svoboda, Stan Warner, Duane Wilks and Ken Wilks.

Four Jury Trials Slated for Court

Four jury trials are tentatively scheduled for the August term of Circuit Court, opening in the County Building Monday.

Judge Charles L. Brown is scheduled to hear six criminal cases, 16 civil cases, two automobile negligence cases and five divorces.

Jury trials scheduled are:

--TWO SUPPRESSED cases Gospel Singers

Due Here Sunday

A widely known religious vocal quartet will appear in public gospel singing programs at the Community Church of God II a. m. Sunday, Aug. 23, and at 3 p. m. the same day the Community Reformed Church.

The Harbor Lights Quartet of Battle Creek have been singing together for over three years. They have traveled extensively throughout the Midwest and East, singing on radio and in the churches of some twenty different denominations, as well as at all-night hymn sings, quartet conventions, and in prisons.

THEIR SINGING is characterized by a spirited, warmth which is evident in their presentation of every song included in their well-balanced repertoire.

The Harbor Lights' latest record release, "Jesus Use Me," shows promise of becoming a favorite among lovers of gospel singing.

Arnold Burch, tenor, is one of the highest tenors in the part of the country. Other members of the quartet are: Leon Smith, lead; Arden Field, baritone; Dean Latta, bass; and Dan Pierce, pianist.

Pic Lionel McLaughlin has arrived from Fort Hood, Tex., to spend a two weeks leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle McLaughlin.

Apply Now for CG Academy Exam

Area high school graduates or seniors between 17 and 22 years of age can apply now to take the annual competitive exam for entrance to the U. S. Coast Guard Academy.

The examinations will be given Dec. 5 in more than 3,000 regional test centers. Complete details and application forms are available by writing the Commandant (PTP-2), U. S. Coast Guard, Washington, D. C.

APPOINTMENTS to the Coast Guard Academy are made solely on the basis of competitive examination. There are no political appointments.

Hesitate To Sell Property

City Councilmen have indicated they will reject bids on the Colonial Club property on Meach St. unless they are unexpectedly high.

Council has advertised for bids to be opened Monday, Aug. 25. Earlier advertising to get a bid of at least $10,000 failed to attract a single offer.

"It is not costing us too much to hold it, and maybe in the next year, or even two months, something will happen to make it worth more. After all, a lot of things are going on in that area," Councilmen Dr. Walter Hoffmann said, urging the city to hold off in selling the property.

Councilman Robert Neff said the property might be worth more to the city later to swap for other land, or develop into a recreation facility. Neff said the city needs new tennis courts.

In its advertisement for bids on the property, Council reserved the right to reject them.

Ironton Businessman Claims He Was Cheated

IRONTON --Charles R. Stokes has started suit in Circuit Court charging Glen A. Williams made false claims to sell him the gas station and laundry.

Stokes is asking the court to order Williams to return the approximately $3,000 he has paid for the business and take it back.

JOHN MICHAEL is Stokes' attorney. Norman Aice is expected to represent Williams. Michael filed Stokes' complaint Friday, after obtaining a temporary injunction from Circuit Judge Charles L. Brown, restraining Williams from foreclosing on the property. The injunction also places a moratorium on Stokes' payments to Williams.

Williams has not filed his answer to Stokes' complaint.

Stokes bought the business in April, 1963, for $31,000. He paid $2,000 down.

According to the complaint, Stokes claims Williams told him the business made $12,700 in 1962, whereas the truth is it did not net in excess of $6,000.

OTHER COMPLAINTS which Stokes' claims prove fraud are: --He was, allegedly, told the building was in sound condition, where in truth it leaks during a rain.

--Stokes charges Williams told him the building had a new roof a year before he bought it, but he later learned it had only been spotted 2 1/2 years before the purchase.

--Williams, Stokes claims, told him the purchase included all of the lot in front of the station, but he later discovered the State Highway Department owns part of it.

--The well's water was disapproved by the State Health Department.

--THE WASHING machines in the laundry are two to three years older than Stokes says Williams told him they were.

Hymn Sing To Boost Band Shell

The Charlevoix Ministerial Assn.'s last summer hymn sing will be held 9:15 p. m. Sunday, Aug. 23, in East Park.

Rev. Charles Stoppels, Community Reformed Church, will give the invocation. Rev. R. J. McBratnie, First Methodist Church, will read the scripture. Rev. Jack Harris, Baptist Church, will give the pastoral prayer. Rev. George Majors, Community Church of God, will pronounce the benediction.

SPECIAL NUMBERS will be given by the Community Reformed Church, the Baptist Church and the Community Church of God.

Rev. Alexander Wood, Christ Episcopal Church, will give the offering prayer and explain the offering. The offering will be used to help complete the East Park band shell.

Get Road Funds

The State Highway Dept. has started distributing second quarter motor vehicle highway fund monies to Charlevoix County and areas cities and villages.

The City of Charlevoix will receive $6,234, while the county gets $81,143. Amounts going to other cities and villages are: East Jordan--$4,172; Ellsworth--$1,774; Central Lake--$2,004; Boyne City--$7,957; Boyne Falls--$869, and Petoskey--$11,089.

ALL STATE GASOLINE and diesel fuel taxes and license plate fees go into the motor vehicle fund. These are distributed quarterly between the State Highway Dept., counties, cities, villages and the Waterways Commission.

Builder Denies

He is at Fault

Cheboygan Construction Co. has denied any responsibility for alleged faulty building of a boat house for Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Miller of Boyne City.

The Millers are suing the construction company for $25,000, claiming its negligence caused their building to collapse.

THE CONTRACTORS, however, have answered the Millers' complaint, contending Mr. Miller was responsible for selection of plans and supervision of construction of his own boat house.

Big Guns in Lake

U. S. Navy reserve traineeships will conduct air surface firing practice in Lake Michigan south and west of Beaver Island Aug. 26, 27 and 29 and Oct. 7 and 8.

An accurate description of the firing area is available from Lt. U. S. Army Engineer District, 150 Mich. Ave., Detroit. Boaters are asked to use extreme caution if they must enter the firing area.

A jury trial has been demanded by Frederick R. Hubbel, attorney for the Millers. Robert C. Klevorn is attorney for the building firm.

Comment Fact Opinion

Oleson's Opens Door For New Opportunity

ECHARLEVOIX HOUSEWIVES have long been fortunate to have three outstanding super markets bringing them a wide selection of foods for the family table at competitive prices.

Terry Oleson's opening of his Charlevoix store last week assured us our families will eat even better and for less. Competition is the strongest ally a housewife has in getting the most from her food dollars.

OLESON'S NEW STORE makes it compulsory for our existing markets -- Neff Brothers, Krogers and Edwards' IGA -- to put even more vigor in their already spritely rivalry. In the next few months, we expect, Charlevoixians will witness one of the most interesting super market wars ever staged in northern Michigan. All of this is healthy. It is the very essence of our free enterprise system.

Not only will persons sitting down to their kitchen and dining room tables benefit. The competition between Oleson's, Neff's, Edwards' and Krogers, offers Charlevoix's entire business district a unique chance to present a new face to area families.

Hundreds of shoppers from East Jordan, Ellsworth, Atwood, Eastport, and even Petoskey and Boyne City, are bound to respond to the attractions being offered by our four super markets. For years people have come from our neighboring communities to shop at Charlevoix's three super markets. However, they when they completed their grocery shopping they generally left town.

This no longer needs to be true. If other businessmen will get in step with our grocers they will hold this new flood of incoming shoppers. Already several of our other stores are eyeing this new market. A very few have long been ready for it.

BUT, FOR THE MOST part, retailers must make sure their shelves carry the merchandise and prices that have long attracted even Charlevoix shoppers to Petoskey and Traverse City. They must see to it that their new message is delivered. Ample parking and a progressive appearance must be presented.

If this is done Charlevoix can upset the traditional flow of local and area dollars to other communities.

However, if businessmen do not make an aggressive and unified bid to support the opportunities offered by our super markets, they may never again get the chance. Many veteran observers of the business scene even predict failure on the part of other retailers to grasp the potential opened by our grocers, could mean failure for at least one of our four super markets.

Having updated its operation to compete on today's scale, the Courier is more aware than anyone of the difficulties and frustrations other merchants will face in trying to make the step. But, our experience has shown us (and, incidentally, the rest of Michigan smalltown newspaperdom) that it can be done and reaps dividends.

THERE ARE DOZENS of indications that Charlevoix is changing; that we are ready to step into the main-stream of the 1960's as a pioneer and leader, not only as northern Michigan's most beautiful community, but also as its most progressive and dynamic.

Jerry Oleson has opened the door of opportunity. We suspect other merchants are staunch enough to see that it stays open.

Charlevoix, for geographic, economic, political and cultural reasons is the logical shopping center for all of eastern Charlevoix County and northern Antrim County. These assets should no longer be ignored.

Critics Unjust in Howling Before Mrs. Tunison on Job

APPPOINTMENT of a lady political and union organizer as Charlevoix's new postmaster has stirred up plenty of controversy and debate. Some people are still licking their wounds and yelling foul.

This sometimes irrational and near-violent reaction promises to create unfair problems for Mrs. Martha Tunison, it may also rub off in such a way that it disrupts our excellent postal service.

THE COURIER HOPES this can be avoided. We editorially supported Dan Geneit to replace Timmer. Mrs. Tunison's appointment might be considered a defeat for us. Our interest was in maintaining outstanding postal service and keeping alive the vigorous efforts of the Democratic party to create aggressive two-party politics in Charlevoix County. Because we have no personal bone to pick, we may be able to view Mrs. Tunison's victory more objectively than some others.

Mrs. Tunison faces enough of a handicap merely by being a woman. The post office, quite understandably, has long been a man's domain. The fairer sex stayed on the other side of the counter.

Before she is forced to overcome other handicaps she hasn't earned, the community owes it to her to see that she is given a fair chance to show what kind of postmistress she will make.

Since her appointment became public knowledge, we have heard formerly avid Democrats declare they will switch their vote to Republican. As much as we might be inclined to vote Republican ourselves, we cannot sit still and see politics so blatantly misunderstood. The facts are that when they have the chance, Republicans are just as eager to use their pork barrel as Democrats. This is an obvious truth of our system.

However, in the future, we would urge leaders of both parties to remember their strength comes from the rank and file, who never identify themselves with a party membership card.

Charlevoix County Democrats, under the dedicated and spirited leadership of George LaBlanc, are forcing county Republicans to come to grips with their lack of ideas and programs. Let's hope Mrs. Tunison's appointment did nothing to reverse this challenge.

OUR READERS WRITE

Dear Editor:

City Flubbed Opportunity

DEAR EDITOR:

In reference to the letter to the Editor entitled "Council mum four years on Petitions," let's clarify a few things.

Mrs. Bruce did, in my opinion, get the ball rolling some years ago with letters from our Health Dept. to a Senator confirming her statements as to the deplorable living conditions in her area. She approached me with the problem and I attended the Michigan Municipal League meeting at Mackinac Island for two days, primarily to gather information on the subject, from the best authorities available in the United States. With a plea to the Council to gather information by inviting a representative from Villcan and Leman Associates to investigate, and speak at a Council meeting to anyone interested, a plan was proposed which amounted to a complete cleanup of this and any other areas in the city, at 50% cost to the city since the Federal Government would, at that time, pay half. It was also mentioned by these professionals consultants that the one million dollar school could be included in this anytime before two years, thereby indicating we could do one million dollars worth of improvements at no additional cost to the City of Charlevoix.

THE COMMENTS WERE at that time ranging from "It's something to think about" to "You can't help people who don't want to be helped." At first, one's impulse might add "how true." While the problem continues to multiply itself, we accomplish nothing with this attitude.

The councilman who requested the envelope of information which I gathered on the subject was from Ward 3, and the councilman who insisted something get started to improve the situation, is from Ward 1, while the largest single blighted section is in Ward 2. So too, perhaps, the new ideas will be coordinated into effective programs. I certainly lend my support to our present aldermen to go ahead and get the ball rolling with a master plan.

I earnestly urge the use of professional consultants or at least the use of tried and proven methods of approach to this problem. It must not be ignored.

KEN STALEY

Sleep on Dirt Floors in Slums

DEAR EDITOR:

I am not a permanent resident of Charlevoix, but one day I hope to be.

I have been away for a few years but since my return, I have found sections of Charlevoix to be greatly improved, then again there is a section on Norwood Rd. which is in great need of some weeding out. There are two homes or shacks (What would be a better way to describe them?) They are without water and toilet facilities, sleeping on dirt floors, and the windows are out.

I AM SURE the Department of Sanitation would be interested in knowing of families living in such conditions. If not only takes away from Charlevoix the Beautiful, it hinders people who may own home's in the area and who would like to sell or rent to desirable people.

I am sure the people of Charlevoix will get together and see that all the slum areas of this beautiful city are cleaned up so they can feel completely proud of this town as I have always felt, that this is truly Charlevoix the Beautiful.

A FUTURE RESIDENT

Goldwater Gets Dem's Vote Due to Bloodshed

DEAR EDITOR:

Having read "Rambling with Shep" in the July 23 issue of the Courier, I felt compelled to write a few opinions of my own.

If the lady who dislikes making Social Security voluntary, would think a little more about the subject, I'm sure that she would change her mind. The majority of workers would naturally want to keep Social Security. A lot of professional people would not want Social Security, because they will be providing a good retirement income for themselves. There will be some who wouldn't want Social Security or be able to provide for themselves in their old age, but I think it would be found to be those deadbeats who have been or will be on welfare rolls most of their lives anyway. These deadbeats, thanks to our liberal politicians, are costing the taxpayers tens of billions of dollars each year, at this very moment.

HAVING BEEN raised a Democrat and voting Democratic all my life, I can no longer vote for those who would repress my rights, who would make a mockery of our Constitution, or would spend this country into bankruptcy.

We can all see what a mess the federal government has made of respect for law and order. Due to their encouragement of demonstrations in the south, we now see mob violence breaking out, all across the country.

In closing, I would like to say that since the Communists and the free loading foreign countries do not like Goldwater, then Goldwater must be good for America. SINCERELY, EX-DEMOCRAT

DEAR EDITOR:

Your Slogan Contest is a wonderful idea. I think the winning slogan should be an open invitation to all who chance to see it and promote, not only our city today--but the fabulous accommodations for visitors now underway for a better tomorrow.

Got quite a boot out of Jack Foster the other day...He'd stopped in for a chat before leaving for his home at Los Altos near Frisco...When he came in he had something in his hand...being of a curious nature I asked what it was...I was informed it was a blotter...which it had looked like...but I couldn't understand why all the fuss about such an ordinary thing as a blotter... I was informed that a blotter is no longer an "ordinary" thing...In fact, he'd stopped at several places before he'd finally found one...Seems he'd spilled some wax on his suit coat and was going to use the blotter and a hot iron to remove it... For a while he wondered if he could use this old method for he was having such troubles finding one...Seems that with ball point pens one doesn't need blotters...

JACK TOLD ME something else I found interesting...He was a naval flier during World War II...Seems the Navy has kept in touch with these men and recently recalled a group...which reported at Pensacola for examinations of all kinds...Seems the Navy is interested in the effect of flying on people and is keeping in touch with this pilot group who will be checked at given intervals.

Something fluttering about in an apple tree outside my window recently attracted my attention...I did a second take and got the shock of my life when I saw the most beautiful oriole I've seen in years and years...One seldom sees one, especially in any place but an isolated one...and here was this gay orange creature fluttering from branch to branch...Don't know where he's living but sure hope he stays around, for a sight of him would make anyone's day complete...

A little late but sent with every good wish...a happy birthday anniversary to one of our old and much loved summer residents, Mrs. L. E. Block, who greeted a host of friends recently on the occasion of her eighty-fifth birthday...and, in the evening, gathered her lovely family about her for a dinner...I'd like to join with these others in wishing her many more even happier days...

Football fans had quite a time recently... What with the Chicago Bears-All-Star game on Friday night (I'm still shedding tears for I'm an All-Star fan) plus the Detroit Lions-Washington Redskins game the next night...Life's really worth living again, now that football's back...Everyone here was thrilled with the performance of Dick VanRaaphorst in the All-Star game...and all Lions fans had their hopes bolstered when Detroit came through in a cliff-hanger to win in the final minute of play...like in the good old days...Maybe this will be the year...I'm sure it's going to be an interesting one...

HOW ABOUT THAT Waterfront Fair?... To my way of thinking it was the best ever...The Armobile was a huge success with 2,698 people passing through the turnstile...It was amazing the way this wonderful exhibit of American art was accepted...So many people say "O, art's not for me...I don't know a thing about it"... but when they have a chance to view art in all its forms they certainly take advantage of it...Everyone has his favorites at a fair like this one...I can never decide what I like best...mostly because I can't do things like that I envy people who can... But I saw scads and scads of things I liked... as I'm sure you did...As I said before, I think this is the best thing Charlevoix has... Much credit for its success should go to Mrs. Jack Rader and her committee... which, like any committee, puts in a lot of work that no one ever hears about to make this the success that it is...

Our community's been saddened recently by the loss of three people I knew well... Leslie Everts, John Kroken and Frank Webb...all very special people in their own right...people who will be missed...I know that my life was enriched for having had the privilege of knowing them...and there are countless others who feel the same...

And then there was summer...it was beautiful, despite the heat we're not used to...but wasn't it brief?...I'm sure we'll have some more before that white stuff starts flying...but that autumn weather we awakened to last week seemed like a blast out of the Hudson Bay country...But mostly because it had been so warm before...Lake Michigan sure was kicking up, to a point where it was pulling buoys off station and the Sundew had to quick-like put things back in order...and all sorts of small boats came scampering in out of the weather...

Speaking of small boats, was surprised when I learned that the local harbor is considered the second most lucrative one outside the metropolitan area...being second only to Mackinac Island...I knew the so-called boat trade was something but never realized it rated this high...All the more reason something should be done to better the waterfront facilities with showers and such...Don't you agree?...And if you do, tell your alderman about it...

"EVERYTHING GOOD" is our wish to... Cmdr. Frank Mann who is leaving Charlevoix shortly for his new assignment at Buffalo, N. Y...The Coast Guard has many things about it that are good...but the bestest is its grand people...people like the Manns to name a few...

THE REEL WENT "VROOM"—Eddie Perron, 16, 204 E. Upright, caught this 36 inch pike on a Mepps spinner off the Ferry Ave. boat launching ramp. He said it was his biggest this year, but not his first. It is the biggest pike caught locally that has been reported to the Courier. Sheriff Glenn Rose, who watched Perron's exciting 15 minute battle to land the pike, said the fishing reel went "vroom!" as the fish ran into deep water.

Bishop Babcock Here To Dedicate Church

Campaign Started
In 1960

St. Mary's new Catholic Church will be dedicated at 3 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 23, by Bishop Allan J. Babcock, of the Diocese of Grand Rapids.

The dedication ceremony for the $130,000 church is open to the public.

FR. E. FRANCIS Denay, pastor of St. Mary's, said 250 priests from the Grand Rapids Diocese have been invited to attend the dedication ceremony.

The new pipe organ, which was installed in the church this week, will be played at the ceremonies by Mrs. Frank Oleky, St. Mary's organist for the past 30 years.

Fr. Denay launched the campaign to finance and build the new church July 19, 1960. Four years later, to the day, the first mass was held in the church.

Fr. Denay, upon completion of the church in July, described it as "substantially and artistically done. It is elegant and proper in its decor and symbolism and blends the traditional with the modern," he said.

GROUND FOR THE church was broken Sept. 4, 1963. Contracts were let a few weeks before to Bare Construction Co. of Petoskey.

Completion of the church marks the end of a construction and rebuilding program that started when Fr. Denay joined the church 11 years ago. The new four classroom school was completed in 1957. The Dominican Sisters Convent was rejuvenated and moved to its present site in 1962.

While the new church was being built, St. Mary's parishioners continued to attend mass in the old frame church on the corner of Garfield and Bridge streets which was constructed in 1893. The new church was constructed between the old church and St. Mary's school.

The old church was torn down within days after the first mass was held in the new church, July 19, 1964. The area where it stood will be landscaped to complement the new church.

The cornerstone for the new church was laid July 13, with Msgr. Francis Kaminski of Gaylord officiating.

Louis S. Orłowski of Detroit, son of Mrs. Louis Orłowski, Sr., one of St. Mary's oldest parishioners, was architect for the building. Orłowski's grandparents were one of the pioneer families in founding the church.

First Mass in Farm House

The History of the Founding and Development of St. Mary's Parish.

St. Mary's Parish, Charlevoix, has a history. The name "Charlevoix" recall the famous Jesuit missionaries, Charlevoix County and city are named after the French missionary and historian, Father Francis Xavier Charlevoix, of the Society of Jesus, who in 1721 made an inspection of the Jesuit missions in Canada and Michigan for the French government.

THE FIRST beginnings of Catholic history in the town of Charlevoix reach back to the times of the French missionaries and explorers. Whether Bishop Baraga, the great Indian missionary of the North, ever extended his journeys as far as Charlevoix, can not be ascertained with certainty from historical records. Yet it seems most probable, that he visited Charlevoix on his way from Harbor Springs -- then called Arbre Croche -- to Detroit, where he had his Grammar test and instruction Book printed. Certain it is however, that on March 10, 1867 it begins. As on that date a little Indian pony brought Father Philip Zorn to this vicinity. He said Mass at the home of William Graham in Marion Township. From this time on we find Father Zorn visiting the catholic families of Charlevoix at stated intervals, to satisfy their spiritual wants, until the year 1881, celebrating Mass and performing other priestly functions in the homes of William Graham, John O'Neil Sr. and Stephen Bacot.

Father Fustav Graf, who attended Charlevoix from 1881 to 1884, was the first resident pastor of Petoskey. He was replaced by the Rev. Pius Niermann, O.F.M. During these years Holy Mass was celebrated in private homes, William Graham in Marion, J. O'Neil Sr. and Stephen Becket, of Hayes, and Charles Zeitler of Eveline. In 1888 Father Norbert Wilhelm, O.F.M. took charge of the gradually growing parish of Charlevoix. No sooner had he assumed his new duties, than he at once set about to secure a proper location for a church.

THE PARISH WAS increasing and the need of a church was felt most keenly. This plan was finally carried out by the Rev. Placidus Krekeler, O.F.M. by buying the property on which the church is now standing in 1889. Sufficient funds being taken up by the committee consisting of Messrs M. Kehoe, William Woods and J. Woods to buy an acre of ground. Contributions for the new church came in slowly. However, the Catholics of the vicinity made up in generosity for their fewness in number. And on August 25, 1890, under the new pastor, Father Bruno Torka, the cornerstone of the new church was laid. A large crowd was present for the ceremony. The Most Reverend Henry Joseph Richter, Bishop of Grand Rapids, made his first visit to Charlevoix on this occasion. In his sermon the Bishop encouraged the small congregation to persevere in their efforts to erect a place suitable for divine worship. From 1890 to 1893 services were held in Clark's Hall and in the Old Town Hall.

In the spring of 1893 the present church building was far enough completed for religious services to be held in it. Beginning in August of 1893 Father Sabinus Molitor said Mass once a month in Charlevoix. Under his direction the plastering was completed, new pews were installed, the altar and confessional furnished by the Altar Society, were built by Mr. Charles Heath. The Bell was purchased by John Woods. Will be used in new church Bell tower. On May 31, 1894 the new church was blessed by Bishop Richter. The solemn and impressive ceremonial was witnessed by a large crowd of people, Catholics and non-Catholics. The Bishop had high

THE PRESENT ST. MARY'S School, opened September 1957.

SISTER EILEEN and some of her first graders admire statue Infant of Prague raised in memory of Sister Athanasius, OP who passed away in 1957, before she could get in the new school.

School History from 1906

In 1902 the contract was let to John McCabe for the erection of a St. Mary's school building 30 by 60, by 22. The school was finally completed in 1906 and opened in September with 65 children in the first six grades.

The first Sisters of St. Dominic of Grand Rapids to take charge of the school were: Sister Mary Clare as Superior, and Sister M. Carola and Sr. M. Innocence. These Sisters cooperated most faithfully with the pastor in instructing the little ones thus laying the foundation for a flourishing parish as we behold it at the present day.

THE SIX GRADES were increased to include High School classes. As a high school several classes were graduated between 1912 and 1918. After 1918 the school closed the high school classes and operated with eight grades. In 1924 the building was modernized and redecorated.

On the arrival of Father Denay, we were found over-crowded conditions and the school in need of many repairs. A campaign was announced to build a new school. Estimated cost was $75,000. Which was raised in cash and pledges. In the fall of 1954, we had to send our twenty-two first graders to the Public school.

The proposed new school was designed by O.V. Weeks of Staper-Pratt-Buthuis and Sprau Inc. of Kalamazoo, Michigan. Contracts were out early in 1955. Lake Construction Co. of Charlevoix was general contractor; Browe Electric of Charlevoix, electrical contract; Arms and Cole of Traverse City the heating, plumbing, and ventilation contract. The old school was torn down in June 1955 to make way for the new school. In June of 1955 the new fire proof school of wayliffe block, steel and brick was under way. The school included four classrooms, a parish hall with complete kitchen, an office, locker and restrooms, a utility room and library.

Ground was broken by Sister Anthenasius, OP, principal of St. Mary's school for the previous two years. The school was not completed by fall and again our first graders went to the public school. The American Legion offered their building and classes were held there for that school year. Dedication of the new school by The Most Reverend Allen J. Babcock, Bishop of Grand Rapids, took place Sunday August 19, 1956.

In September of 1956 the new school opened with 124 students in eight grades with Sister M. Eileen as Superior, Sister Frederick Mary and a layteacher, Mrs. Douma.

We are proud of our school which has 171 students registered to start in the fall of 1964.

In 1929 the first resident pastor arrived in Charlevoix. Until this time the Franciscan Fathers from Petoskey, who operated the Parish, only came here weekends and stayed in the back of the church in a very small room. With the arrival of the resident priest this rectory was built on W. Garfield behind the church. This same rectory is being used today and is probably the next job at hand for some face lifting.

praise for the zeal of the Catholics of Charlevoix. The St. Mary's Choir with Mrs. M. Kehoe as organist and Mrs. M. Kehoe as leading soprano, capably rendered the music for the occasion. Last Mass was July 18, 1964. Thirty young people received the Sacrament of Confirmation the same day.

In 1895 an addition to the Church was built to serve as a vestry and temporary residence for the attending priest.

The first person baptized in the new church was Albert Deermwood, the last was Dawn Rochelle Fox, July 12, 1964. The first burial a young man, Hugo Green; the last Mrs. Helen Karsten, June 1, 1964. The first wedding John O'Neil and Sadie McDermott, The last William Deacon of Detroit and Carol Jill Davis of Charlevoix, January 25, 1964. The first group to receive their First Holy Communion consisted of: John Bacot, Bernard Gagnon, Richard O'Neil, Arthur McDermott, Bina Laviollette, Mary Gellick, Elizabeth Barrett, Theresa Barrett, Mary Zeitler, Agnes O'Neil, Clara McDermott, Joseph Orlowski and Agnes Orlowski. The last class May 3, 1964 consisted of: Thomas Avery, Lauren Bradley, Edward Buday, John Deimel, Esther Dhaseleer, Lee Ann Dziedzic, Ronald Himebauch, Clayton Jones, William Kane, Terry Left, Patrick Martin, Valerie Peters, Carl Plumm, Barbara Sladek, Gilbert Smith and Dale Zeitler. The first mission was given by Fathers Daniel Finkenhoefer and Maurus Brink in 1896.

In 1902 the contract was let to John McCabe for the erection of a school building 30 by 60 by 22. The school was finally completed in 1906 and opened in September with 65 children in six grades. During the ensuing years improvements were made regularly, and new furnishings provided for the Church, Sister's home and school.

Father Ludger Wegemer, came to St. Mary's in 1918. Certainly he was one of the ablest financiers the parish had had. He found much work to be done. His immediate concern was to meet the bills for repairs on the old Sister's home, for the winter's coal and other items. In January, 1919 he started a special monthly collection to finance repairs and additions to the parish furnishings. Completed Sister's home in 1924. A new chimney on the school, a new chimney built. The entire upstairs was replastered and a cement floor put in the basement. A boiler was transferred from the school to the Church. The following articles were bought for the Church: ten candlesticks, one censer, an ostensorium, two processional crucifixes, an altar crucifix, a chalice, a ciborium, eight chasubles, two copes and a pair of seven branched candelabra for Benediction. The total cost was about a thousand dollars. The present cemetery was paid for (about $600.00). When Father Wegemer left, all debts had been paid, and a sum of two hundred dollars was in the bank. Father Wegemer celebrated his golden jubilee at St. Francis Xavier Petoskey Church, where he was ordained priest 50 years ago, at the 8:30 Mass Sunday, June 7, 1964.

IN 1929 THE Franciscan Fathers completed 45 years of outstanding service of God for the salvation of souls in Charlevoix. Almighty God knows how difficult was their task and how nobly it was done.

The first resident pastor of Charlevoix was the Rev. R. E. Fitzpatrick, who remained for two years. During his time as pastor, a beautiful new rectory was built on Garfield Avenue. Father Edward Neubecker took charge of the parish in 1931. For nine years he labored zealously to sanctify his people and to lift a burden from their shoulders. Remodeling of church and school and rectory paid for. At the close of his long stay in Charlevoix, St. Mary's Parish was out of debt and greatly beautified for its Golden Jubilee.

The Rev. John W. Collins took charge of the Parish in July, 1940. He was here for our Golden Jubilee and wrote the history of the parish to date some of which I have also used. Father Collins started a youth center in Charlevoix which was very active until the war came along at which time he started the U.S.O. in Charlevoix. He was called to serve his Country during World War II.

Rev. Aloysius V. Ulanowicz

came in 1943. His interest was at that time in a new church so he states but all donations were small except from the Graham Brothers who left their remaining estate to the church. The Church was completely refinished and painted during his stay here. Father Al left in the fall of 1946. He was followed by Rev. Leo Zielinski from 1946 to 1946, then Rev. Leo Malinoski, 1948 to 1952, Rev. John Grzybowski, 1952 to 1953.

Father E. Francis Denay came to Charlevoix April 7, 1953. In May of 1953 he started the Novena to the Mother of Perpetual Help which is held every Wednesday evening in the church. A campaign was started and raised $75,000 for a new school that opened in September of 1956. Celebrated his Silver Jubilee here in April of 1958. Moved and rebuilt the Sisters home in 1962. Built the new St. Mary's Church.

Rev. Wegener Built Convent in 1924

The Dominican Sisters came here in 1906 and lived in a house across from the church on corner of Bridge and E. Garfield.

I guess you would say they really pioneered here as many a cold night and many inconvenience were their pilgrimage to Charlevoix.

WITH THE ARRIVAL of Father Wegener his thoughts were to improve conditions for the Sisters. At this point in January 1919 he started a special monthly collection to finance repairs and a future home for the Sisters.

In 1924 the new home was completed at the cost of $7,000. It included Chapel, 4 bedrooms, music room, living room, dining room and kitchen.

The Sisters were very happy and worked hard for Charlevoix and St. Mary's. Now their thoughts turned to the new school, and a new church.

In 1962 the Sister's home was moved from Bridge St. to W. Garfield and covered with new aluminum siding and the interior cleaned and painted. Today they are very happy with the new home surroundings.

Your Help Made This Possible

This historic St. Mary's Church dedication issue was made possible through the efforts of hundreds of Charlevoix people and others who once made their home here.

Some of the amazing pictures from the church's early history date back more than 80 years old.

MANY OF THE interior and exterior pictures of the new church were contributed by Charlevoix photographer Bob Miles, who made no charge for his selfless service.

The pictures make it possible, for the first time, to tell the story of the people who have made St. Mary's history and contributed so much toward making Charlevoix our beloved home.

The editor of this issue, Mrs. Hilda Gibson, has spent more than four months collecting the pictures, stories and selling the advertising. Actively assisting her were Mrs. C. S. Gelken, and Mrs. Al Scheid, Ralph Hamilton assisted by checking the accuracy of historical facts.

But these are only a small number of the many people who, in one way or another, contributed to the issue's success. Without them, one and all, it would never have been printed.

Technical help was given by Charlevoix Courier manager Tom McDaniels and editor Glen Sheppard. The printing was done by the Northern Michigan Review, Inc., of Petoskey, on its rotary web offset equipment, the most modern in northern Michigan.

Ask Law to Curb Smoke

Open Drive to Control Cement Plant Pollution

An organized effort was launched Monday by year-round and summer residents to get effective laws enacted to preserve Charlevoix's natural beauty and pure air and water from feared pollution by Medusa Portland Cement Co. installations.

The move immediately received the backing of Mayor E. D. Hawley and other city officials, the Chicago Club and Boulder Park Assn. The Belvedere Club was also reported to be supporting the move, but this was not confirmed to the Courier.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY Republican party boss Art Speltz unknowingly did me a favor any small-town newspaperman should appreciate. The ex-school chief turned politician called me a "dumb liar."

To say the least, his declaration was a surprise. It is far and away the strongest stand I've ever heard the GOP chief take on anything.

Anyone who tries to edit a newspaper without regard to where the chips fall accepts it as a vocational byproduct to be threatened and called all sorts of things. Since being called a liar is one of the milder things people say about an editor, I wouldn't normally pay too much attention to it.

HOWEVER, IN THIS case it was a better than getting a false. Being a Republican by nature, and sometimes an avid campaigner during my off-duty hours -- it often bothers my conscience wondering if I'm not slanting the news in favor of the GOP. Evidently, this isn't the case. So thank you, Art.

Speltz claims I misquoted him in an article July 23. The story reported the reaction of both Speltz and Democrat chief George LaBlanc to Barry Goldwater's nomination.

At the time, Speltz told me over the telephone that he didn't know how Goldwater would fare in Charlevoix County. In response to other questions on the subject he gave equally non-committal answers.

Speltz's lack of confidence made the Republican candidate look pretty weak and sure to lose. Especially when LaBlanc took just the opposite position and aggressively declared Goldwater would sweep the county.

SO I DON'T BLAME Speltz for wishing he had said something different. But he didn't. And he was quoted correctly. Tho he can't be blamed for wishing he hadn't been.

It might interest Speltz to know this corner has personally been a Goldwater booster for nine years, and would have liked nothing better than to have had him take a stronger stand for LEADERS OF THE campaign made it immediately clear they are not opposing the cement plant, or its dock. They said they want it understood they recognize Charlevoix's need for industry and year-round employment.

Rather than take a negative position, Monte Korn, Detroit attorney and Boulder Park resident, said the group is asking local officials to adopt an air pollution ordinance that is the most restrictive in the country.

"We feel an ordinance, under no conditions, should be less restrictive than Los Angeles," Korn said. Los Angeles is considered to have an extremely critical air pollution ordinance. After meeting with the Charlevoix Courier early Monday afternoon, the group met with Mayor Hawley. After the meeting, they reported the mayor promised them he would support their goals.

MAYOR HAWLEY AGREED, after Monday night's council meeting, that as much as Charlevoix needs industry, the area's national reputation for clean air and beauty is worth more than 18 to 100 jobs.

Medusa, Hawley said, has told councilmen it will not oppose an ordinance.

Hawley pointed out at the council meeting that the city has no jurisdiction over the Medusa property because it is in Charlevoix Township. He added, however, that the city has the biggest investment in what Medusa does because it will be affected.

Korn and Dr. Ralph R. Weiss, a Detroit dentist and Boulder Park resident, said the Boulder Park association will support annexation to the city if this is the only way to get an effective smoke abatement ordinance enforced.

Korn and Dr. Ralph R. Weiss, a Detroit dentist and Boulder Park resident, said the Boulder Park association will support annexation to the city if this is the only way to get an effective smoke abatement ordinance enforced.

DR. WALTER HOFFMAN, who has contended the township should adopt a super-critical smoke abatement ordinance to protect Charlevoix's beauty, said, "The thing to do is annex."

The council directed City Attorney John Michael to investigate annexation procedures before the next council meeting. The group, in its afternoon meetings with the Courier and Mayor Hawley, also asked that Medusa be urged to relocate its 1400 foot dock. The dock, with towers rising as high as 50 feet, is planned to start on the east side of South Point and extend toward the harbor channel. It will not block navigation into the channel.

Dr. Weiss said the dock will make the harbor look like that of any other "industrial town" and will "completely block the view of South Point."

HE PROPOSED THAT Medusa locate the dock on the west side of the point, so it will not be visible from town. This, he said might

Duel Highlights Local Interest

Many Other Decisions Also Before Voters in Primary

The most exciting, hard-fought, primary election duel in years will be settled Tuesday, Sept. 1, when Charlevoix County voters make their decision between Glenn Rose and Robert Neff. Both are seeking the Republican nomination as candidates for sheriff.

Incumbent Rose, the only veteran county official to be challenged in the primary, has been sheriff for ten years.

Neff, Charlevoix grocer for 14 years, a former state policeman for nine years and city councilman, is waging an all-out campaign to upset Rose.

Rose said Monday he is pretty much counting on his record to get him re-elected. During his ten years as sheriff, Rose declares, the county's major crime rate and serious accidents have been held far below the state average.

DUE TO DELAYS in the legislature and reappointment the primary election will be one of the most confusing in Michigan history for local voters who are unfamiliar with new districts and candidates.

ROSE POINTS OUT he has 30 years experience in Charlevoix County law enforcement and should know the county's problems pretty well. He said he has also had training at the State Police school in East Lansing.

"I think I'm keeping expenses down and doing the best possible job with the manpower we have," Rose said.

Both Rose and Neff have avoided criticism of each other.

Neff, however, is conducting a vigorous campaign. He has taken two weeks leave from Neff Brothers Grocery to take his bid for nomination to all corners of the county.

"You'd be surprised," Neff told the Courier, "most people have never had a candidate show enough interest in them to come right to their home before. They seem to appreciate it. I don't know if it will help me, but I've enjoyed it."

Neff contends the county needs

Hospital Marks 10th Anniversary

By FRED WILLIS
Chairman, Hospital Board of Directors

Charlevoix Hospital invites everyone to the open house on Sunday, August 30, from 2 to 5 p. m., to see the new facilities we have added.

Since the hospital opened its doors ten years ago to admit its first patient it has carried on a continuous program to improve its facilities and services to provide the best possible care to all who need it. Two additions have been added and several department expanded to keep pace with the demands of modern medicine and to serve the community better.

IN 1954 A SOLARIUM was added to the original building. Prior to this, convalescing patients were confined to their rooms or taking walks back and forth in the halls, but with the addition of the Solarium they were provided with a beautiful lounge overlooking Lake Michigan where they could go to read, visit, play cards or games, view television, visit in private with their families and friends or just sit and enjoy the scenery. If you have never been a hospital patient you have no idea how long the time seems when you are convalescing, and we feel that this addition has added much to the comfort and mental well being of our patients. On the strictly practical side, it was designed and constructed so as to be easily converted into an emergency ward should the need arise.

In 1962 a second addition was planned and constructed. Part of this addition added a new department -- that of physical therapy. As always the focus is on the patient, and the aim of the physical therapy department is to aid the physician in the Appeal for Support

Fear Threat to Beauty

The following "appeal" was issued Monday by the combined group of summer and year-round residents seeking support in their campaign to get stringent laws enacted to prevent pollution of Charlevoix's air and water and preservation of our natural beauty.

AN APPEAL TO ALL WHO LOVE CHARLEVOIX, THE BEAUTIFUL Once there was a land of lake and forest and magnificent sunsets, and air so clear that it was called, "The Switzerland of North America." And many were the people all over the United States who envied the lucky families who could call, "Charlevoix the Beautiful," their home.

AND THEN CAME MEDUSA... who propose to do to the shores of Charlevoix what the Steel Mills did to the magnificent Sand Dunes of Indiana. Destroy them!

The natural beauty of Charlevoix is a God-given heritage that should be preserved. If, in the name of Progress, this cannot be done, then we must strive to save what we can.

Recreation Program Seen as Outstanding

Charlevoix's city recreation program is gaining a reputation as one of the state's finest.

This was revealed Monday evening when recreation director Deano Davenport gave his season-end report to City Council.

CENTRAL MICHIGAN UNIVERSITY, Davenport told councilmen, recently surveyed the local recreation program. The university explained, selected Charlevoix because it feels the program here gives students on chance to study one of the finest operations of its kind in a city this size.

"Recreation is Charlevoix's number one industry... in spite of what some people may say," Davenport told councilmen.

The former Charlevoix athlete and high school graduate, who now directs the summer recreation program, while he is off-duty as a coach at a West Coast college, said participation in the program is "growing beyond expectations." Davenport said he is not sure if he will be able to return to Charlevoix next summer.

He briefly cited statistics. A record number of more than 400 people participated in this year's softball program. Swimming classes drew more than 350 persons. There was "tremendous response" to golf lessons, with more than 60 people turning out. Tennis lessons attracted 25 students.

CITING THE COURIER'S su-

City Slashes Loss of Water

Charlevoix's municipal water system may make $9,000 more this year than last, thanks to a few extra hours checking water meters.

Deputy City Clerk Herb Campbell reports the increased earnings will be realized because the city is selling more of the water it is pumping.

The 1963-64 AUDIT, released early this summer, revealed the city was selling only 52% of the water it pumped. Or, in other words, 48% of the water processed by the city was disappearing, with no one paying for it.

City Supt. James Taylor in June ordered city workman Harold Towles to devote his full-time to checking water meters and lines. When Towles found a slow meter, or leak, he got it repaired.

This paid immediate dividends. In July the city sold 88% of the port and help in publicizing the event, Davenport said the track and field meet for youngsters this year drew a record number of participants.

Though final figures are not available, Davenport said use of

Swim Races Today

The City swimming awards assembly and races have been scheduled for today and tomorrow.

Boys preliminary races will be held today (Thursday) at 10 a.m. at Depot beach. The girls will meet at 2 p.m. The finals for boys and girls will be Friday at 2 p.m.

Red Cross swimming awards will be presented at 1:30 p.m. Friday at Depot Beach.

This, Campbell pointed out, means the loss this July was 12%, compared to 46% last year in July.

CAMPBELL SAID the water department has been making $12,000 annually. If the percent of water-loss remains as low as it was in July, he estimates profits this year could reach $21,000.

Taylor said he is hoping the water-loss rate can be reduced even more. The Water-loss, he explained, is due to faulty meters and keeps in water lines. Some of the city's water lines, the municipal engineer suspects, date back to about 1900.

Most water systems expect a line loss of about 10%.

Township Caucuses August 29

Confusion appears to keynote Charlevoix area township election preparations.

Based on information from the elections division of the Secretary of State's office, it is questionable if all townships have thoroughly complied with new caucus laws. Political parties in local townships except Charlevoix and Eveline select their candidates at a caucus.

THESE CAUCUSES, Bernard Apol of the Secretary of State's office, told the Courier, must be held Aug. 29 or Sept. 1. The Township Board had to formally set the caucus date 20 days before the caucus. Apol said the state recommended the caucuses be held Aug. 29.

After the caucus date had been formally set by the Township Board, political parties were required to submit the exact time and place of their caucus at least 12 days before Aug. 29.

Notices of the time and place of each party's caucus then had to be published in the local newspaper twice before Aug. 29. Apol said. The first publication had to be at least ten days before Aug. 29.

Only the Republican and Democrat parties in Hayes Township and Republican party in Marion Township, appear to have complied with this requirement.

UNLESS THE NOTICES were published somewhere other than

Fisherman's Island Eyed As New Park

City Councilmen Monday evening learned that Fisherman's Island, southwest of town in Lake Michigan, is available for purchase as a public park site. Councilman William Fochtman suggested the council urge the State Conservation Dept. to purchase the property and develop it and Bell's Bay into a state park.

THE BELL'S BAY area is semi-developed as a rustic State Forest campground. Fochtman said developing it, and the scenic Fisherman's Island as a state park, would give campers more plush facilities.

A total of 100 acres, including the island, is being offered for sale by G. T. Gaston, 2182-4 E. Grand Boulevard, Detroit. No price was mentioned.

Police Check Alleged Theft, Beating Here

Charlevoix Police Chief Joseph Smith reports police are investigating a reported slugging and robbery.

According to Smith, Leland Floyd, 47, of St. James, Beaver Island, claims he was beaten up by three teenagers and robbed $450 at 2:20 a.m. last Thursday morning. Floyd, allegedly, was out looking for a room at the time after being released from Charlevoix Hospital Wednesday afternoon.

SMITH SAID FLOYD had skin knuckles, which he may have gotten from slugging his assailants. However, the chief said there were no bruises on Floyd to show where he had been beaten. Smith said police will continue to investigate the report.

Rev. T. B. Thodeson of Ludington spent the weekend here and filled the pulpit at the Assembly of God church here Sunday. He is a former pastor of the local church.

care of the patient - To combat the cumulative disabling effects of prolonged physical or mental illness; to minimize residual physical disability. To help return the individual to optimum living within his capacities; to hasten convalescence and reduce time in the hospital; to contribute to the comfort and well-being of the patient.

In the past physical therapy has been for the most part identified with orthopedic problems, but the recognition that a wide range of diseases and conditions benefit from it has accounted for its widespread use in recent years. Patients who stay in the hospital long enough to cause concern over problems of ambulation, retention of circulatory muscle tone or joint mobility are candidates for physical therapy. In addition, there are the common problems of cerebral vascular accidents, arthritis, amputees, neurological diseases, low back disorders and accidents of all types. Our physical therapy department is under the supervision and direction of Roy Brigham, registered physical therapist, and two carefully selected and trained assistants. It is equipped with two whirlpools, treatment and massage tables, diathermy, ultra sound, traction machine, walking bars, labern electrically operated standing table, infra lamp, ultra violet lamp, paraffin bath, hot pack, hydrocollator, movable adjustable high chair, and gliding chair.

THE LABORATORY, under the direction of T. E. Cajigas, M.D., and R. T. Lossman, M.D., has expanded its procedures and equipment to keep up with the requirements of modern diagnosis and treatment. Several new pieces of equipment have been added in order to reach this goal. A blood bank, hematology, chemistry and bacteriology department stands fully equipped and ready to serve the public 24 hours a day.

The X-ray department under the direction of H. L. Weltz, M.D., and M. S. Pelto, M.D., has been enlarged to provide sufficient space for the many pieces of equipment necessary for radiologic examinations. These permit the recognition of many conditions not otherwise diagnosable in a living patient. The viewing room also was enlarged so as to provide room for the radiologist to discuss the films with the doctors.

The dining room was enlarged and a small cafeteria added so as to provide a place for our visitors to get a snack when they are here with patients. So many of them are older people or people without transportation that it is quite a hardship for them to have to leave and go down town.

The too, people who are here with critical patients hesitate to leave the hospital at all, but they do take time out to relax with a cup of coffee and a snack, knowing that they are within calling distance should anything come up.

The following figures indicate the services we have provided in our ten years in our new location.

more active law enforcement to curb teenage rowdiness and drinking. He claims his experience as a state policeman showed him that teenagers will behave if they know the police are watching.

Neff also feels more patrolling and property inspection is needed in the county to safeguard cottages and homes as well as to enforce safety on county roads.

HE CLAIMS THAT because Charlevoix County's law enforcement problems are becoming more complex, a professional policeman is needed as sheriff.

City and township clerks are refusing to guess at how many of the county's voters will turn out for the primary. Usually, fewer than 2,000 people vote in primary elections here.

However, the confusion due to redistricting may hold down the vote, or, possibly, bring more people out.

In addition to county, state and national candidates, voters will select delegates to the Republican and Democratic county conventions. In most precincts there will be delegate candidates on the ballot. However, write-ins will be allowed in all precincts.

double the dock's cost, to $2 million.

The initial meetings Monday were attended by David McDougall, Chicago Club resident and retired Chicago banker; retired lawyer Clark Coulter, Korn and Weiss.

Chicago Club President William Dickson, later said the club is on record as supporting the move. Dickinson said the club has no basic objection to the cement plant or dock, as long as it is no way mars or corrupts Charlevoix's beauty and fresh air.

Korn said Charlevoix's need for industry is recognized and supported by summer residents. However, he said, Charlevoix shouldn't be willing to take whatever is handed to it. The community, he contends, has too much to offer and should be able to select what industry it wants.

OTHER COMMUNITIES attract industry by hiring someone to find out what plans are considering moves and then to sell them on his location. Charlevoix has not done this, but should, Korn said.

"If we don't do this 'Charlevoix the Beautiful' will become known as 'Charlevoix the Cement City,' Korn said.

the three public beaches appears to have set new records. The Lake Michigan Beach and Depot Beach get about 50% to 75% more use than the Ferry Ave. beach, he said.

Because as many as 500 people are at each beach at one time, Davenport said toilet facilities are critically needed.

He also asked councilmen to consider purchasing new bleachers for the softball field. He suggested this might be done in cooperation with the Board of Education. The present bleachers, he said, are in "dangerous condition."

EXPANDED TENNIS court facilities would get considerable use, he said.

Cement Plant

Hunts Future

MEDUSA PORTLAND Cement Co. Vice President Worth Loomis has a problem: Penn Dixie is too near, and Charlevoix is too dear.

That might sound like a trite effort at being cute, but, in a nutshell, it tells the story. After meeting three times with Loomis there is no doubt Medusa plans to build a cement plant on South Point sometime in the near future (less than a decade). Loomis told six members of the City Council and the Courier that a cement plant for Charlevoix is five to ten years in the future.

PERHAPS MORE than many Charlevoixians, Loomis is keenly aware of Charlevoix's unique beauty. He is also sincere when he agrees Charlevoix's beauty is more important than his cement plant. Furthermore, he is sympathetic and willing to cooperate in any possible way to guarantee Charlevoix a cement plant on South Point that will not pollute its beauty.

Your reaction to this praise of Loomis' motives and honesty might lead you to believe this corner has been sold a line of whitewash.

If so consider yourself challenged to ask the others who listened to Loomis and saw him react when these issues were put squarely to him.

Loomis put his cards on the table. He urged city officials to take any steps they consider necessary to prove that the cement plant will never corrupt our natural assets. This, he admitted, will be a tough job due to Penn Dixie's plough up the highway.

Townships

In the Courier (which might be illegal) Apol's report indicates, no caucus can be held in Northwood Township and Marion Township Democrats cannot nominate candidates for the November 3 election.

Due to new laws, parties that did not have their advance notices published cannot hold a legal caucus.

Another effect of this law is that Hayes Township Republicans, for instance, who fail to win a bid for nomination at the caucus, cannot go out and call a "Citizens Party" caucus later in the day and put another party on the ballot.

Township candidates to be nominated at the three caucuses information available to the Courier indicates are legal, are supervisor, clerk, treasurer, trustee, justice of the peace and constables.

HAYES TOWNSHIP Republicans will caucus in the Township Hall at 8 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 29. Hayes Township Democrats will hold their caucus in the Township Hall on the same day at 2 p.m.

Marion Township Republicans caucus in the Township Hall at 8 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 29.

Dear Dick Affair

RICHARD DONALDSON

DEAR DICK: My daughter, age 11, annoyed by a boy in class who kept tearing the back of her dress with a paper clip, got up and clobbered him with a book, producing a shiner. The teacher made her stay after school for a week and has been very rough on her. How can it be straightened out?--UPSET.

DEAR UPSET: Mama is probably taking this harder than daughter. If you are sure the teacher is really being hard on her because of THIS, have a talk with the teacher. Your daughter should have reported the boy first before swinging. Puff's Appliance Center doesn't mind staying after hours to show you the finest quality Name Brand Appliances in this entire area.--DICK.

The Basic Side

IT'S that time again... the time that challenges anew an army of vigorous American youth to the task of preparation in basic education that will equip them with know-how for their tomorrows. Here young minds fresh from their bowl of wheaties, assemble for classroom and playground training. Dear Teacher, responsibility lies heavy on your shoulders. Don't forget that along with reading and writing and arithmetic—lessons in how to live God's way are needed. Teachers and students alike have God to honor and your country to save right there in your classrooms. Always remember, "A word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in pictures of silver."

Proverbs 25:11. Blending of the academic with the spiritual lessons of Jesus, the greatest teacher, offers a moral and spiritual constitution possessing all the qualities basic in life.

American Mold clinched the title and became the new City Champions as they defeated the Merchants 4-1. The Merchants gave it a game try and played their best of the season in an effort to upset the champs. Joe Battle and Hank Wagoner combined basehits for a first inning run, but Mold's Ken Boss tied it with a double. It stood tied until the fifth when Nate Boss's double led to a run. Mold picked up two insurance runs in the sixth on Spike Mort's single around two Merchants errors. The win gave Mold an 11-1 record and dislodged Ellsworth Morwell Steel from their hold on the Championship they had won for the last three years.

Lake Construction finished their regular season on a high note, blasting the Air Force 16-4. The winners put on an awesome hitting display highlighted in the seventh inning with five straight hits, including three by Chuck Coleman and Bruce Kroken. Mays had a round-tripper for the losers.

Final Standings W L

American Mold	11	1
Morwell Steel	10	2
Lake Cons.	6	6
Merchants	2	10
USAF	1	11

Jack Ingalls of Morwell Steel waited until his final time at bat to wrestle the batting trophy away from several contenders.

No Bids on Library

The Board of Education's request for bids on repairing the Public Library's roof attracted no comers.

Supt. Rex Milligan said the board has not decided if it will readvertise for bids.

VFW with a wild 22-20 win in a shower of hits, walks, and errors. The winners only collected 4 hits, but 26 walks and hit batsman aided their cause.

PEANUT LEAGUE

The second round tie ended up in a four way tie for first in the Peanut Circuit with the Cards, Tigers, Dodgers, and Lions all tied for first.

The Cards had a chance to win it in their final contest against the Tigers, but they fell to a fired-up band of Bengals 8-2. Stewart Coleman led the winners with two important hits and his steady pitching and fielding.

The Lions tried for the lead with a narrow 1-0 squeaker over the much improved Pirates. Kraag Lieberman beat out an eighth inning bunt, stole second and third, then scored on Bruce Meggison's infield roller for the only run. Dick Worfel had two loser hits while Lieberman had two for the Lions.

In the first of the playoff games to break the tie, the Cards came from behind to beat the Dodgers 9-6. Terry Strawbridge was the hero as he snatched a grand-slam home run in the fifth inning to put his Cards ahead to stay.

At this writing the Tigers and Lions had not yet played, but the winner was to meet the Cards last night for the second round title. The city championship game is scheduled for tonight at 6:00. However, if the Lions are victorious they will have won both rounds so the playoff would not be necessary.

The Women's league also ended up in a 4 way tie. The championship game will be tomorrow night at 7:15.

BLOOPER
Novak's Insurance won the second round title by winning the playoff game against Consumers 9-5. Jim McCallum's home run was the big blow for the winners, but the big difference was their sparkling fielding spearheaded by the defensive work of Don Carey.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TOURNAMENT STARTS Tonight and tomorrow night will officially close the 1964 season and winners will be crowned in the Chamber Tournament held in the Pastball and Junior league. Tonight Mold plays the winner of the Morwell Steel-Construction game for the title and tomorrow night Barnard meets the A & W - VFW winner for the Junior Trophy.

Most of the money collected by the Charlevoix Community Chest is distributed among local agencies. However, some of the donations are split up among 37 state and national agencies, which do medical research and other work important to everyone.

The Michigan United Fund, as these 36 agencies are called, receive a share of local donations on the basis of need. This needs is evaluated by volunteer workers who determine what the 37 agencies are doing to help on local level. These agencies are: Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, Catholic Charities of Michigan, Cerebral Palsy Association, Children's Aid Society, Crime and Delinquency Council, Diabetes Association, Epilepsy Center, Hearing Association, Heart Association, Kidney Disease Foundation, Leader Dogs for the Blind, Mental Health Society, Multiple Sclerosis Society, Nursing League, Retarded Children, Sister Kony Foundation, Welfare League, American Branch International Social Society, American Council for Nationalities Service, American Social Health Association, Big Brothers of America, Child Welfare League of America, Council on Social Work Education, Roscoe B. WISLIK, WHO STOPPED HIS payments on the land contract to Menard when he started the lawsuit in August 1963, said he is prepared to pay them up to date before he will allow Menard to foreclose.

WISLIK said he has hired a new attorney, and will appeal Judge Brown's opinion to the Supreme Court, if so advised.

In his decision, Judge Brown reprimanded Menard for allegedly offering money to Daniel Ramsey of Ludington if he would not testify on behalf of Weislik.

Ramsey, the judge's opinion said, had negotiated with Menard to purchase the bar before it was bought by Weislik.

In his decision, Judge Brown reprimanded Menard for allegedly offering money to Daniel Ramsey of Ludington if he would not testify on behalf of Weislik.

Ramsey, the judge's opinion said, had negotiated with Menard to purchase the bar before it was bought by Weislik.

WISLIK, WHO STOPPED HIS payments on the land contract to Menard when he started the lawsuit in August 1963, said he is prepared to pay them up to date before he will allow Menard to foreclose.

WISLIK said he has hired a new attorney, and will appeal Judge Brown's opinion to the Supreme Court, if so advised.

Camp Charlevoix

Corrall Chatter

By KEN SMITH

The eighth and final week of the 1964 season dawned dark and dismal on Monday morning with the Mackinac Island boys arising at 6:30, with their breakfast at 7 and they left camp at 7:30 a.m. in three station wagons. These were boys among the first 50 enrolled way back last summer for this season. The boys on this trip were: Woody Roe, Brendy Lange, Peter Eberbach, Terry Mast, Peter Cudlip, Mike Kelly, Tim Rogers, Freddy Myers, Jeff Owen, Chuck and David Herrington, Chuck Limback, David Knox, John Simmer, Ron Ureel, Jimmy Carknuff, Gus Gluck, Joe Hawk, Bill Curphay, Chuck Poli, David Pliskin, George Kryder, Peter and David Calvin.

SOME OF THE STAFF started work on the beachers for the rodeo ring, boys were busy practicing their riding and rehearsing the drill team.

In the evening, Cabin 21, Jerry Flor's cabin went into Petoskey to the movie as a reward for winning cabin inspection this last four weeks. The drill team had another rehearsal, and the camp barbers from town came out to give haircuts to some of our shaggy friends.

Tuesday of the last week is traditionally the day of the Green-Grey banquet. Tom Kennedy took his swimming team over to Bay View for a Swim Meet. We won the Junior meet and lost the Senior meet, but the combined scores made Camp Charlevoix the winner.

THE GREEN-GRAY Banquet was held at the dinner hour in the evening and it was one of the finest we have ever had. Jerry Flora and his committee did a great job. The winning Senior Captain, Mike Hittorf, surprised everyone by giving the coveted "Mugwump" (which the winning Captain traditionally takes home with him) to Doug Laing, Senior Captain of the Greys. It was a really great gesture on Mike's part.

On Wednesday we had a very cold, dark day and the riders were busy rehearsing for the rodeo, and the dancers were busy preparing for their Indian Ceremony.

Thursday was Final Banquet day and everyone was busy finishing up activities and passing stars in the activities. The Indian Dancers had a dress rehearsal, and the Rodeo boys had a full run-through, too. At seven o'clock in the evening we had our final Banquet and it was one of the most impressive we have ever had. Bill Gross, of Grosse Pointe was the speaker for the campers and did a fine job. Jon Steffensen was the speaker for the staff.

FRIDAY, RODEO DAY, dawned bright and sunny and everyone excited for this was the final day of camp and a busy one. In the morning, boys and men were busy getting packed. At three o'clock in the afternoon, the Annual Rodeo was held with a crowd of about 1000 people and they were given a great show by the boys and the staff. The cowboys had arranged a most interesting order of events with things moving right along at a fast clip. It is a most colorful event with the beacher, the thousands of flags flying, the music, and most of all the boys in their cowboy shirts and hats. It was one of the best rodeos we have ever had, and parents were most complimentary. The boys rode very well.

In the evening we had our Final Indian Ceremony and Rodeo. Deyo did a splendid job training the Indian Dancers. A crowd of about 700 witnessed this, and as it was a beautiful moonlight night, though a little chilly, it was a night to be remembered.

And thus ended the 1964 season which will go down in the Camp Charlevoix history as one of the finest ever. Both staff and campers were a terrific group, and we know that many of the tears, as the campers left in tears, as these friendships mean so much to everyone.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tyler

50th Anniversary For Fred Tylers

Mr. and Mrs. Fred V. Tyler observe their golden wedding anniversary Sunday.

No formal observance of the occasion has been planned but the couple will be at home to relatives and friends at their home at 208 Alice St. during the day.

Mr. Tyler and the former Nellie L. Edwards were married here August 30, 1914, and have always made their home here.

They first met when Mr. Tyler came from New York to visit his aunt, the late Mrs. Archibald Butlers.

They are members of Christ Episcopal Church and have been active in church circles.

Mr. Tyler was born in West New Brighton, N. Y., June 28, 1885, was graduated from the Richmond Hill High School in 1904 and attended Packard Commercial School in New York. For a number of years he was a member of the National Guard and served with New York's 23rd Infantry.

HE CAME HERE in 1914 and at various times was associated with the Charlevoix Courier, the Petoskey Evening News and the Emmet County Graphic in Harbor Springs. He was secretary of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce from 1937-40.

During World War II, he was with the U. S. Coast Guard Police at the Foster Boat Co. with a rate of Chief Bosun's Mate.

During World War I he had served briefly with the U. S. Army at Fort Sheridan. He has been closely associated with the Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, American Legion, served as Post Adjutant since 1952 and for several years has filled the appointive office of Deputy Finance Officer.

Mrs. Tyler was born in Charlevoix June 18, 1891, the daughter of one of this community's prominent earlier families.

The couple has one daughter, Mrs. Earl (Marian) Broussard of St. Ignace. They also have five grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Marriages

Marriages reported from County Clerk F. R. Bulow's files:

Henry A. Beadell 3d, 28, Walloon Lake, to Janice L. Dolsey, 24, Grand Rapids.

John H. Logie, 25, Grand Rapids, to Susan G. Duerr, 24, 209 Dixon, Charlevoix.

Military Wives Plan Keg Teams

The Charlevoix Military Wives Club is organizing bowling teams for beginning and former bowlers.

All military wives in the Charlevoix area interested in joining a team should contact Mrs. Richard Hagerly at 547-2366 or Mrs. Woodrow Wilson at 547-9695. They request that persons call by tomorrow (Friday).

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Sweet and family arrived Monday from Adrian to visit their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sweet and Mrs. Walker Miles. After Sept. 1 they will make their home in Battle Creek.

Hobbs, Smith Exchange Vows Here

By Mrs. Thomas Maxwell
Joan Hobbs and Stanley F. Smith were married Saturday evening, August 22 at 7 p.m. in the Assembly of God Church, in a double ring ceremony, in the presence of the immediate family, with the Rev. Henry Rose of the Assembly of God Church, Petoskey, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hobbs, 606 Boyne Ave., Boyne City and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith of Charlevoix.

THE BRIDE wore a white brocade suit and a crown secured her small veil, and she carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses. Susette Smith was honor attendant and she wore a blue chiffon sheath with matching veil and carried a bouquet of blue tinted carnations.

Bruce Kroll of Ironston assisted as best man.

The mothers of the couple wore corsages of white carnations.

The reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the Community Church of God, with Karla Porter and Pam Hegerberg and Connie Cliva serving. Sally Fairchild and Elaine Noffe assisted the bride in opening the gifts.

THE BRIDE is a 1962 graduate of Boyne City High School and the groom is a 1960 graduate of Charlevoix High School.

Following a wedding trip to Mackinaw City and Mackinac Island the couple will be at home at 114 Antrim Street, Charlevoix.

Out of town guests attended from Detroit, Grand Rapids, Grant and Newago, Michigan.

There'll be something for everybody -- and more of it than ever before -- at the 113th Michigan State Fair, which will open Friday night, August 28 and run through Labor Day, September 7.

State Fair officials expect, for the third straight year, more than a million visitors to the 10-day and 11-night extravaganza of entertainment, agricultural and livestock exhibits including great horse shows, displays of the homemaker's art and youth and children's activities.

AND, AFTER THE general admission of $1 to the Fairgrounds is paid (children 12 and under are free when accompanied by an adult), all but a few of the attractions of the 164-acre Fairgrounds will be free.

The State Fair's schedule of free entertainment is loaded: --Programs at the Music Shell from morning through evening will feature big-name stars such as Count Basie and his band, singer Nancy Wilson, the New Christy Minstrels, the Jimmy Wilkins Band, Hillsville, U.S.A., an array of top recording stars, and others.

--In the Coliseum, before the Horse Show events, Grand Ole Opry singing stars Faron Young and Buck Owens, and others will perform country and western music.

--AT THE GRANDSTAND, three shows daily will feature Castle's International Circus, with clowns, acrobats, aerialists, animals and other specialties.

--All over the State Fairgrounds there will be strolling bands offering music from many lands from noon to midnight: Hawaiian, gypsy, ragtime, Balcan, Polish, folk music, Jamaican calypso, square dance, Digeland, and Greek-Armenian.

Of special appeal to teenagers will be the Teenage Fair, admission 50 cents, with shows and exhibits aimed at them. And there'll be a "Live Love You, Beatles" Day, Sunday, September 6 with Beatlemania in the Music Shell.

Stick With Proven Wheat

By Ed Rebmman
Extension Director
BOYNE CITY---Charlevoix County farmers are being warned not to plant Gaines wheat this fall by Michigan State University's crop science department and the Michigan Millers Association.

Field and laboratory trials show Gaines wheat, if grown in Michigan, is low in yield and flour quality.

THE MSU SCIENTISTS point out that Gaines is a new Pacific Coast variety that has attracted attention because of its widely-publicized short-straw characteristic and its high yields in the state of Michigan. But, when grown in Michigan, its yield and quality drop off.

In variety comparisons made this year by farmers in several Michigan counties, Gaines yielded only 75 to 80 per cent as much grain as Genesee and Avon, the white wheat varieties recommended for Michigan. Furthermore, samples of Gaines wheat taken from these fields had a high percentage of badly shrunk grain.

In trials at MSU, Gaines was found to be poorly adapted to Michigan. It is highly susceptible to mildew and leaf and stem rusts. And it matures seven to ten days later than Genesee and Avon, a factor which can result in additional sprout and rust damage.

Limited milling tests by the Michigan Millers Association show that Gaines produces a low yield of flour and poor bran clean-up. In laboratory and baking tests, the flour had a higher protein content than the recommended varieties and was deficient in the cookie-spread factor. The premium pastry quality of Genesee and Avon is due in part to the low protein content of the flour and high cookie-spread rating.

Jeep

UNIVERSAL

The 'Jeep' Universal takes you to where the fun is, no matter where that may be. It takes you hunting where only the raccoons run. Skin diving where your tracks are the only ones on the beach. Fishing at lakes others have to hike to. And skiing, picnicking, and just plain roaming the back roads are more fun than ever before. When you own a 'Jeep' Universal, there's no end to the uses you find for it.

Here's the 4-wheel drive family car that's built for years of service. Proven virtually indestructible all over the world. Available in a wide variety of hard tops, soft tops, convertible tops. Wheelbases from 80 to 101".

Compassion is More Than Sentiment

Lift for Living

BY REV. H. E. KOHN
One of the characteristics of man which distinguish him from other inhabitants of earth is the extent to which he can distribute his interest and feelings beyond himself and his family.

A mother bear cares for her own cubs, but not ordinarily for the cubs of another mother bear. On rare occasions a mother cat or dog has been known to adopt the orphaned babies of a rabbit or a squirrel. But this is news-worthy because it is exceptional, and even when this does occur it is an instance of a single instinct, the maternal instinct, seeking radical satisfaction.

BUT NO CAT HAS ever been known to weep a neighboring cat's kittens were killed nor to rejoice when a neighbor's cat won a blue ribbon at a pet show. No dog has ever been known to mourn the loss of some other dog's puppies or to be gleeful when the dog living across the street received his pedigree papers. A cat's capacity to feel woe or joy is more narrowly restricted than is his master's. The good man's capacity for a wide distribution of his tender feelings for others is known as his "sympathy." Taken literally, "sympathy" and "compassion" mean the same thing. "Sympathy" comes from two Latin words meaning the same. However, compassion is favored as the word that carries the flavor of a more general responsiveness to human distress and need.

Compassion is more than sentiment. Sentiment is feeling without a price tag, without cost, without transforming the emotion into sacrificial service. Sentiment is crying at the opera.

over the tragic predicament of the heroine, and returning home indifferent to the anguish of real people in the neighborhood. Compassion is feeling with a price attached. It is more than a lightly given pat on the back, costing the giver no more than a calorie of energy. It is more than a quick and uncaring smile of reassurance unaccompanied by a helping hand. Compassion is a costly feeling, involving moving into another's situation and understanding. Compassion is present when someone else's hunger gnaws at my vitals, when another's nakedness chills my bones, when another's fright tightens my throat, when another's sorrow burdens my heart, when another's tears moisten my cheeks.

WHEN THE COMPASSIONATE person feels another's anguish as it were his own it becomes his purpose to do all he can to relieve another's misery. God's own compassion is central to the Christian gospel. God suffers with man. This is the meaning of the incarnation. It was not enough for God to feel sorry about man's predicament and sin. In the Person of Christ, God suffers with man, taking on man's flesh, feeling man's hunger, fatigue, loneliness, temptation, pain. God could not go on loving man, pitying man, from the far side of some distant sky any more than your physician can swab your sore throat, bind your broken ribs, or treat your fractured skull from the other side of town. The incarnation means God can go beyond mere sentiment for man.

Men are most Christlike, then, when they are most compassionate, and most unlike Him when compassion is lacking. Worse than suffering pain is the faculty for observing a person in pain without feeling a painful twinge of one's own. Worse than being killed is the capacity to look upon a killing, unmoved. Worse than a troubled mind is to be untroubled about another's anxieties and fears.

Compassion excels understanding, moves far out beyond understanding, for it bears another's unknown anguish. It cannot understand that we cannot understand. It means feeling another's anguish when we do not know the cause or reason for it and when we dare not be so intrusive as to demand the reason. Goethe asked, "Can a sparrow know how a stork feels?" Obviously not. Neither can an employer or employee know how the other feels — not exactly, with precision. Neither can a man know how a woman feels or a woman a man, or a parent how a child feels or a child a parent. (We forget our childhood feelings so quickly, and children have not yet been parents.) Compassion goes beyond both knowledge and understanding and recognizes another's misery and helps to bear it and assuage it even when the cause is unknown.

DURING WORLD WAR II a maid in a college dining room was joshed and jeered at by the students during the breakfast hour. She picked up the broken bits of plates, wiped up spilled sugar, cereal, milk, and fruit juices. Then bravely facing the teasing collegians she explained the accident by saying she had "tears on her fingertips." She then told of having received work a few hours before that her son had been killed in action in Italy. The students fell silent with embarrassment and remorse. Their taunting jibes gave way to awkward apologies and fumbling expressions of regret and sympathy. They had learned an unforgettable lesson: some people who badly blunder do so because of secret sorrows known only to themselves and to God. Compassion is the soul-wisdom that enables us to treat all people with the tenderness that everyone suffers secret testings, private woes, unseen sorrows, and anyone may have tears on his fingertips.

At Teachers Meet Liquor License

Mrs. Helen Richards, director, and Mrs. Florence Moeller, president, of Area 14 Michigan Dept. of Classroom Teachers, attended the Northern Michigan University conference on leadership and creativity.

Educators from all areas of Michigan attended. Issues discussed were the emotionally disturbed children, new math program, foreign language in the curriculum, teaching machines, federal control of education and the role of the Dept. of Classroom Teachers.

A package liquor (SDD) license for Neff Brothers Quality Food Store was approved Monday by City Council. Council's approval is only the first step in getting state authorization.

On Councilman Robert Neff's request, the motion to recommend approval of the license was made by Jerry Whitley and seconded by William Fochtman. Dr. Walter Hoffmann voted no on the motion. All other councilmen voted yes.

Court Candidates Seek Local Votes

Philip H. Mitchell was campaigning in Charlevoix last week in his bid for election to the new Court of Appeals.

Mitchell is the only one of ten candidates seeking a seat on the new court who has experience as a probate and juvenile judge. He has been probate and juvenile judge in Barry County since 1947.

CHARLEVOIX VOTERS will select three men, from a field of ten, when they cast ballots in the Sept. 1 primary election. All of the ten candidates are lawyers. Seven are Republicans and three are Democrats.

have someone with his experience.

He also feels the court needs at least one circuit court judge. Two circuit court judges are seeking election to the post. They are Donald E. Holbrook of Clare and Allan C. Miller of Tawas. Like Mitchell, both are Republicans.

THE NEW COURT will serve a 66-county area, stretching from the Upper Peninsula to Indiana.

PHILIP MITCHELL

Although the ballot is non-partisan, three of the candidates are Democrats and seven are Republicans.

The Court of Appeals is a direct intermediary between the Circuit Court and Supreme Court. As established by the 1963 state constitution, it is intended to give citizens a better chance of appealing Circuit and Probate court decisions.

Judge Mitchell said he is seeking the Appeals Court seat because he feels someone on the new court should have experience with juvenile and probate problems.

JUDGE MITCHELL HAS served on several state and regional juvenile committees, and is a former president of the judges' association.

Whereas a citizen who wants to appeal a Circuit or Probate court decision must now wait several years, the new court, Judge Mitchell said, will guarantee them a speedier hearing. Because many of the appeals coming before the new court will deal with juvenile cases, Mitchell contends the court must

Mrs. McDonough

BEAVER ISLAND--Mrs. Lloyd McDonough, 56, lifelong resident, died Saturday at her home here following an illness of six months duration.

Funeral services were held Monday at Holy Cross Church with the Rev. Jerome McCann of New York City officiating at the Requiem Mass. He was assisted by the Rev. Louis Wron O. F. M. (Conv.), pastor of the church. Burial was in Holy Cross cemetery. Relatives and friends gathered at the family home Sunday evening to recite the Rosary.

BORN ON BEAVER Island May 9, 1908, the former Eva C. La-Freniere was married to Mr. McDonough in 1926. They had always made their home on the island. She was a member of Holy Cross Church and its Altar Society and the Third Order of St. Francis.

Surviving are her husband; two sons, Joseph (Bud) of St. James and Bruce of Charlevoix; two daughters, Mrs. Walter (Vera Mae) Worjan and Mrs. Russell (Alice Joy) Green, both of St. James; 28 grandchildren; four brothers, Vernon H. and D. Archie of St. James.

Mrs. Guarnstrom

A memorial service for Mrs. L. T. Guarnstrom, whose husband is president and general manager of the D-M-I Corp., with headquarters in Detroit, were held Sunday at the Grange Pointe-aux-Lacs church with the Rev. Harold L. Kohn officiating.

Mrs. Guarnstrom, who was well known here, died Saturday at the family home at New Haven.

SHE HAD BEEN a part-time resident of this community since the American Mold Engineering Co., a subsidiary of the D-M-I Corp., was established here in 1952.

Besides her husband, she is survived by a son, Robert of Detroit and a daughter, Mrs. Earl (Katharine) Gungaw of Dallas, Tex., and three grandchildren.

Making the trip to Detroit for the service Sunday were Rev. Kohn, Mr. and Mrs. Hal M. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. George Plummer, William Sarasin, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Davis, Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Saltonstall, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Hawley, Mr. and Mrs. Norman D. Aker and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bridge.

Wheat Signup Begins for '65

HOYNE, CITY--The signup for the 1965 wheat program now is underway at the ASCS county office here, Robert W. Reidel, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, has announced.

The signup will extend over a period of about five weeks, from August 24 through October 2. Applications to take part in the program may be filed any working day, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

THE CHAIRMAN SAID participation in the voluntary wheat program is not automatic. The signup is the first step in qualifying for any of the program's benefits. Participating farmers can get about the same return from the 1965 program as they received from the 1964 program, and may be able to get more by using new options that permit many farmers to adapt the program more closely to their farming operations.

Growers who are interested in any of the program's new provisions should ask how these would affect their operations at the time of signing up. These new provisions include substitution of wheat for feed grains or feed grains for wheat in the diversion program, the establishment of an oats-rye base for the farm and overseeding the wheat allotment and storing the excess under bond.

School Accepts Bid on Gasoline

The Board of Education has accepted Coney Oil Co.'s (Ligon) bid of 14.22-cents per gallon for gasoline to be used by school buses during the 1964-65 school year.

The board will buy heavy fuel oil (number 6) from Oserola at 8.63 cents per gallon. Potosky Oil Co. will supply number 2 fuel oil for 13.04 cents per gallon.

MAXBAUER DAIRY will supply milk for five cents a half pint. Bread will be purchased from Muller Grocery for 16 cents a 20 ounce loaf.

Earl Gallacher and family have returned to Chicago after spending two weeks at the home of his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Gallacher.

Beverly Trimble, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Trimble, has returned to Germany to teach at a U. S. Army school for the third year.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bergsma of Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. Gerit Bergsma of Grand Rapids visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Timmer.

The John Coppens family has returned to Sault Ste. Marie after spending the summer at the cottage and visiting relatives here and on Beaver Island.

Rose Wins by 600 Vote Edge To Beat Neff

Romney Buries Opponent In Charlevoix County

If the political analysts look at Charlevoix County's vote in Tuesday's primary election they will come to at least three conclusions:

1. The Democratic vote is steadily chipping away at the traditionally Republican majority here.

2. Glenn Rose is an awful popular sheriff.

3. Charlevoix, though having less than a quarter of the county's population is definitely the most politically active. Rose will serve the next four years as sheriff.

He was virtually elected Tuesday, beating challenger Bob Neff 1,585 votes to 901, in their bid for the Republican nomination.

Neff, who spent two weeks knocking on doors and campaigning fulltime around the county, focused interest on the Republican side of the ballot. Rose did little campaigning, saying he would rely on his record to get him re-elected.

The Rose-Neff contest drew many normally Democratic voters to the Republican side because it was the only local or state battle that sparked any real interest in the county.

In spite of this shift of Democrat votes to the Republican primary contest, nearly twice as many Democrats cast votes as did in the 1962 primary.

Neil Staebler, unopposed Democrat candidate for governor, received 648 votes. In 1962's primary John F. Swainson, also unopposed, received 373 votes.

THOUGH THERE were Democratic primary contests for Congressman, State Senator and State Representative, none of them created local concern.

Winners in these races were: 11th Congressional District—Victor Knox, Republican; Raymond Clevenger, Democrat. 37th Senatorial District—Thomas Schweigert, Republican; A. M. Schneider, Democrat. 10th Representative District—Clayton Morrison, Republican; Earl Walker, Democrat.

Because there is no Democrat candidate for sheriff, Rose is assured of re-election. County officers who win in November will serve their first four year terms, as ordered by the new state constitution.

In Charlevoix 1077 votes were cast. This compares to about 800 in East Jordan and 425 in Boyne City. Approximately 3,000 persons voted in the county. Boyne City is the county's largest city.

HOW THE COUNTY VOTED
Governor: Democrat -- Neil Staebler, 648; Republican--George Romney, 2,139; George Higgins, 340.

U. S. Senate: Republicans--Elly M. Peterson, 800; Edward A. Mooney Jr., 677; James F. O'Neill, 672; Democrats--Philip A. Hart, 636.

Congressman: Republican--Victor A. Knox, 2080; John B. Bennett, 232; Democrats--Raymond F. Clevenger, 291; Russell W. Bradley, 258.

State Senator: Republican--Thomas F. Schweigert, 1,639; Kent T. Lundgren, 448; Fred K. Taber, 159; Harold J. Vanlergerhe, 102.

State Representative: Republican--George Dean, 676; Clayton Morrison, 625; Harry E. Travis, 523; John P. Ternes, 320; Democrats--Irvin S. Smith, 328; Earl Walker, 154; M. Dale Illius, 128.

Prosecutor: Republican--Harvey C. Varnum, 2059.

Tunison Still Candidate for Postmaster

County Democratic party chairman George LaBlanc this week moved forcefully to squelch rumors that Mrs. Theodore (Martha) Tunison will not be Charlevoix's next postmaster.

LaBlanc, just returned from the National Democratic Convention in Atlantic City, said he was confronted with rumors that the federal government has found Mrs. Tunison is not qualified to accept the postmistress position.

"I HAVE HEARD vicious rumors that Mrs. Tunison is not qualified for the post," LaBlanc told the Courier. "But I have not received any information from Sen. (Pat) McNamara or anyone else that she has not met the qualifications."

"Until such time as I do, no matter what the rumors are, they are untrue. I will notify the newspaper (Courier) immediately if I receive such information."

Mrs. Tunison was selected last month by the County Democratic Committee to replace Peter Timmer as Charlevoix's postmaster. The appointment must be confirmed by Washington before it is official.

CG to Keep Site Buildings on Surplus List

Hopes were short lived Tuesday that the school district or city would get possession of the former Coast Guard Life Boat Station on the Pine River channel.

For a few hours Tuesday morning and Monday evening it appeared that the property had been declared surplus by the Coast Guard and was being offered to other public agencies.

HOWEVER, THE BOARD of Education learned at 11 a.m. Tuesday, after calls to Lansing, that only the old frame buildings were on the surplus list. The school could have the buildings, if they would remove them from the property.

When Mayor E. D. Hawley learned early Tuesday morning that the property appeared to be on the public auction block, he immediately stated the city would be interested.

Hawley said the property would make an excellent site for recreation development. The possibility of setting up a Charlevoix Historical Society to study the feasibility of establishing a nautical museum on the site was also discussed.

The Board of Education, when it received the report Monday indicated the school could find a use for the property as a bus garage, storage, administration buildings, or special education classrooms. When it was learned only the buildings had been declared surplus, the school dropped interest.

LT. COMM. CHARLES MILLRADT, commander of the Coast Guard's Charlevoix Group said the property tentatively is expected to be used for an electronics repair shop.

Two electronics repair shops—one at Traverse City and one at Sault Ste. Marie—may be consolidated into one facility at the old station here, Millradt said. The approximately 10 to 12 men at the electronics shop would repair radio equipment, telephone lines and make new installations.

The shop, if built, will serve all of northern Michigan.

Millradt said no final decision on use of the property has been made, as far as he knows.

Hospital Wins Case on Gift

Charlevoix Hospital's claim to the $100,000 plus William Sucher estate has been upheld by Circuit Court.

Judge Charles L. Brown last week issued a decision supporting the hospital's ownership of the home and property on Lake Michigan directly east of the hospital.

THE LATE C. WILLIAM SUCHER was in the process of giving the property to the hospital when he died Nov. 13, 1962.

However, because the transaction was not completed at the time of his death, the hospital's claim to the gift was contested by the administrators of the estate.

THE COURIER TAKES an editorial look at the prospects of a major cement plant coming to the untainted shores of Lake Michigan off Charlevoix, on page 13. Readers also have plenty to say on a variety of subjects on the Letters to the Editor column.

Petition Drive Seeking Controls Against Smoke

Support Swells For Ordinance

Also Request Cement Co. Move

Dock to Other Side of Point

Leaders of a petition drive to get a stringent smoke-abatement ordinance enacted to control a possible cement plant here, report their goal is receiving almost unanimous support from Charlevoix residents.

The petitions ask that a "smoke abatement ordinance (similar to that of Los Angeles, Calif.)" be enacted to "protect the clear air of Charlevoix."

THEY ALSO REQUEST that Medusa Portland Cement Co. move the dock it is preparing to construct on the east side of South Point to the west side. This, the petitions say, will "preserve the sunsets and the clear view of the bay."

The petitions are titled "Million Dollar Sunset Petition."

"We who love Charlevoix the Beautiful, its clean air, its clear water, and its magnificent sunsets, do hereby petition the Charlevoix City Council, The Charlevoix Township Board and Medusa Cement Co. to plan and work together to preserve the natural beauty of Charlevoix," the petitions state.

After a meeting Saturday of some 20 local residents in the Clinton St. home of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Ochs, a temporary committee of three was appointed to conduct the petition drive. Committee members are Fran Martin, Mrs. William (Eleanor) Rallan and Clark Coulter.

Schools to Open in Ellsworth, Country

School bells ring next Tuesday, Sept. 8, in all area schools except Charlevoix and St. Mary's. Schools opening Sept. 8 are Ellsworth, Ironton, Hayes and Beaver Island.

CHARLEVOIX PUBLIC Schools and St. Mary's Catholic School will open their doors to students Monday, Sept. 14. Charlevoix kindergarten students do not report for classes until Sept. 15.

Charlevoix students who have attended school here, must register Sept. 8. Grades kindergarten through six will register at the elementary school. All other grades at the high school. New students will be registered from 9 a. m. to Noon and from 1 p. m. to 3 p. m.

Students who report to Ellsworth and country schools on Sept. 8 will only attend school for a half day. The rest of the day teachers will meet with Intermediate District Supt. Charles Robinson.

Jerry Albright, Ellsworth superintendent, reports 260 students are expected. Grades seven through twelve are expected to get 140 of these.

ALBRIGHT SAID school buses will run on the old routes. School will open at 9 a. m. Sept. 8 and students will be dismissed at 1:30 a. m.

Ellsworth students will attend their first full day of school Wednesday, Sept. 9.

Robinson, who acts as superintendent of the rural schools, said approximately 16 students will attend Ironton (Eveline + J) school; 28 at Hayes + J, and up to 60 at Beaver Island.

Beaver Island students will again be taught by Dominican Nuns, accredited by the State Dept. of Public Instruction.

FOR THE FIRST time this year teachers in Ellsworth and Charlevoix schools will be on tenure. This is required by a new state law.

The Charlevoix Board of Education Monday evening placed nearly all teachers eligible on tenure. A secret ballot vote was taken on what teachers would be placed on tenure. The Courier was asked and agreed, not to report the names of teachers excluded from tenure, on the grounds that this would reduce their effectiveness in the classroom.

The new state tenure act fails to provide specific grounds for firing a teacher. It offers teachers job security. It requires that a teacher be given a written notice of reasons for dismissal as well as providing for a hearing and other protection against arbitrary dismissal for a hearing and other protection against arbitrary dismissal by boards of education, which are elected to run the school.

Goldwater Boosters Move Here

The newly formed Charlevoix Citizens for Goldwater-Miller Committee will hold its first public meeting 8 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 9, in City Hall.

Chuck Carey, temporary chairman, said all persons—Independents, Democrats and Republicans—interested in Barry's Goldwater bid to return constitutional government to the nation are invited to attend the meeting.

A PERMANENT chairman and other officers and committees are expected to be selected at the meeting. Carey said he accepted the temporary leadership of the grass roots group to get things moving.

The Citizens for Goldwater-Miller Committee is the national campaign organization for the Republican presidential and vice presidential candidates. Local and county groups are being organized throughout the U. S.

After the organization meeting, the Charlevoix group will begin functioning with area, state and national headquarters.

The Charlevoix Citizens for Goldwater-Miller Committee, hopes to set up headquarters and distribute literature on the GOP candidates and answer questions pertaining to Goldwater's position on all issues, Carey said.

SPEAKERS OF BOTH state and national status will be scheduled for appropriate local gatherings when requested, Carey predicted.

Edward P. Schumer, Grand Traverse Area Chairman of the Michigan Citizens for Goldwater-Miller Committee, said Goldwater has been invited to campaign in the area. If he does come to northwestern Michigan, Schumer said Goldwater will almost assuredly make Charlevoix one of his stops if the local committee is actively organized.

Beaches Used as Dumps

Indignation and frustration continues to grow over mounting heaps of litter on Charlevoix area beaches.

Two angry women appeared before City Council last week demanding action, but admitting they don't know what should be done.

MRS. GREGORY (Polly) Shadko and Mrs. Charles Willis told councilmen the Lake Michigan beach below Mt. McSaubia is being used like a dump.

The city owns the beach, though it is in Charlevoix Township.

Councilman Bob Gill described the beach as "one of the better beaches on Lake Michigan."

Though the city owns the beach, it does not keep it open as a public swimming area. Mayor E. D. Hawley told Mrs. Shadko (of the Polly Kay Shop) and Mrs. Willis that the city cannot afford to maintain supervision at the beach, since it has three other beaches with lifeguards.

"WE KNOW THERE is a problem, but we don't know how to lick it," Hawley said.

"We need something to remind people to be decent," Mrs. Willis said. She suggested putting up anti-littering signs might remind people, "It's not your dump!"

"I realize signs will not eliminate the litter but they will help reduce it," she added. She also asked that more trash cans be placed on the beach.

CITY SUPT. JAMES Taylor explained that it is impossible for trucks to drive through the soft sand on the beach proper to empty trash cans. He said the city spent "several hundred dollars" cleaning the beach this spring.

Mrs. Willis said she has personally picked up litter from the beach. Many others do the same, but cannot keep up with those who leave it, she said. Littering, she said, is against the law.

"This beach is beautiful and can't speak for itself," Mrs. Willis told councilmen, explaining why she was asking for their help.

Mrs. Shadko said, "loads of customers" have told her they can't go to the beaches along Lake Michigan anymore because they are dangerous due to broken glass and rusty cans.

HAWLEY SUGGESTED the township should pay for keeping the beaches clean, since most of them are in the township and more than 50% of the people who use the Mt. McSaubia beach are township people.

DEAD SOLDIERS—Mrs. Gregory (Polly) Shadko, left, and Mrs. Charles Willis, with one day's collection of discarded beer cans and bottles they picked up on the city-owned beach below Mt. McSaubia. The beach had been carefully picked up by the two ladies the day before this picture was taken. However, before they were done three boxes this size were filled with new discarded, almost all of them beer containers. Many of them were broken returnable bottles. (COURIER PHOTO)

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Sessler

Fay Foster Wed To Ted Sessler

An impressive wedding ceremony was solemnized at the Atwood Reformed Church Aug. 22 when Miss Fay Joan Doctor daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Doctor Sr. of Atwood became the bride of Ted L. Sessler son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Sessler of Jamestown, Ohio.

Rev. Allen E. Northrup of Manelona performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of relatives and friends. Two baskets of white gladioli and lighted tapers in the candelabra provided the setting.

Miss Elaine Potte of Atwood, friend of the bride at the organ, played traditional wedding music. She also acted as accompanist for the soloist Richard Doctor of Muskegon, Uncle of the bride, who sang "Perfect Love," "The Wedding Prayer," and "Saviour Like A Shepherd Lead Us."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in an off white silk sheath gown with a boat neckline, tapered long sleeves and an overskirt flowing into a chapel train. Her shoulder tip veil was secured by a lovely white open water lily with pearls and sequins. She carried a bouquet of white orchids with French red carnation centers and green ivy.

Vangie Doctor of Atwood, sister of the bride, was maid of honor; Janice Amos of Cleveland, Ohio, friend of the bride, and Miss Linda Sessler of Jamestown, Ohio, were bridesmaids. Nell Gustafson of Xenia, Ohio assisted the groom as bestman, John Kyle and Rex Stowbridge of Cedarville, Ohio were groomsmen and ushers. Timmie Sessler, brother of the groom and Mike Doctor, nephew of the bride were ring bearers.

Mrs. Silas Doctor chose an off white knit with gold thread designed dress with gold accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Sessler, mother of the groom, wore a beige knit dress with brown accessories.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Doctor of Interlochen, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, were host and hostess. Miss Dorothy Aardema of Central Lake cousin of the bride, presided at the punch bowl. Miss Vickie Rood of Ellsworth was in charge of the guest book and Mrs. Ken Doctor, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Molly Amos of Cleveland, Ohio took charge of the gift table.

Mrs. Ken Doctor of Kalamazoo cut the cake and ladies of the Women's Guild of the church were in charge of serving the refreshments. A Rehearsal Bridal breakfast in honor of Miss Fay Doctor and Ted Sessler was given by the latter's mother Mrs. Theodore Sessler on Saturday morning in East Port.

Mr. and Mrs. Lou Shapton of Traverse City visited over the weekend with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Shapton.

Mr. and Mrs. David Garland, who spent the summer here, left Tuesday for their home in Ypsilanti where Mr. Garland will teach. Mrs. Garland will return to her teaching duties in Wayne.

Mr. and Mrs. William (Bob) Bennett returned to Muskegon Sunday following a week's visit with his mother, Mrs. William T. Bennett.

Sgt. and Mrs. Quinton Walker have returned to Fort Benning, Ga., following a brief visit in East Jordan with his mother, Mrs. Joseph Compo and Mr. Compo in East Jordan and with relatives here.

Marilyn Novak left Thursday for Ann Arbor where she will enter graduate school at the University of Michigan to continue her studies. She is a June graduate of Central Michigan University.

...that's what Labor Day is.
God is on the side of the working man, but He is against the indolent, shiftless, non-producers.
A man's work is born with him when he is born. But fitting is the day set aside in honor of the working man... it is "Labor Day." On this nationalized day we should think on God, church, family and all the good fortunes of the American working man
... Jesus said, "I will give you rest."

Campers Like Bells Bay

The Courier Camera visited vacationers camping at the Bells Bay State Forest campground. The resulting pictures show family campers from several areas of the state.

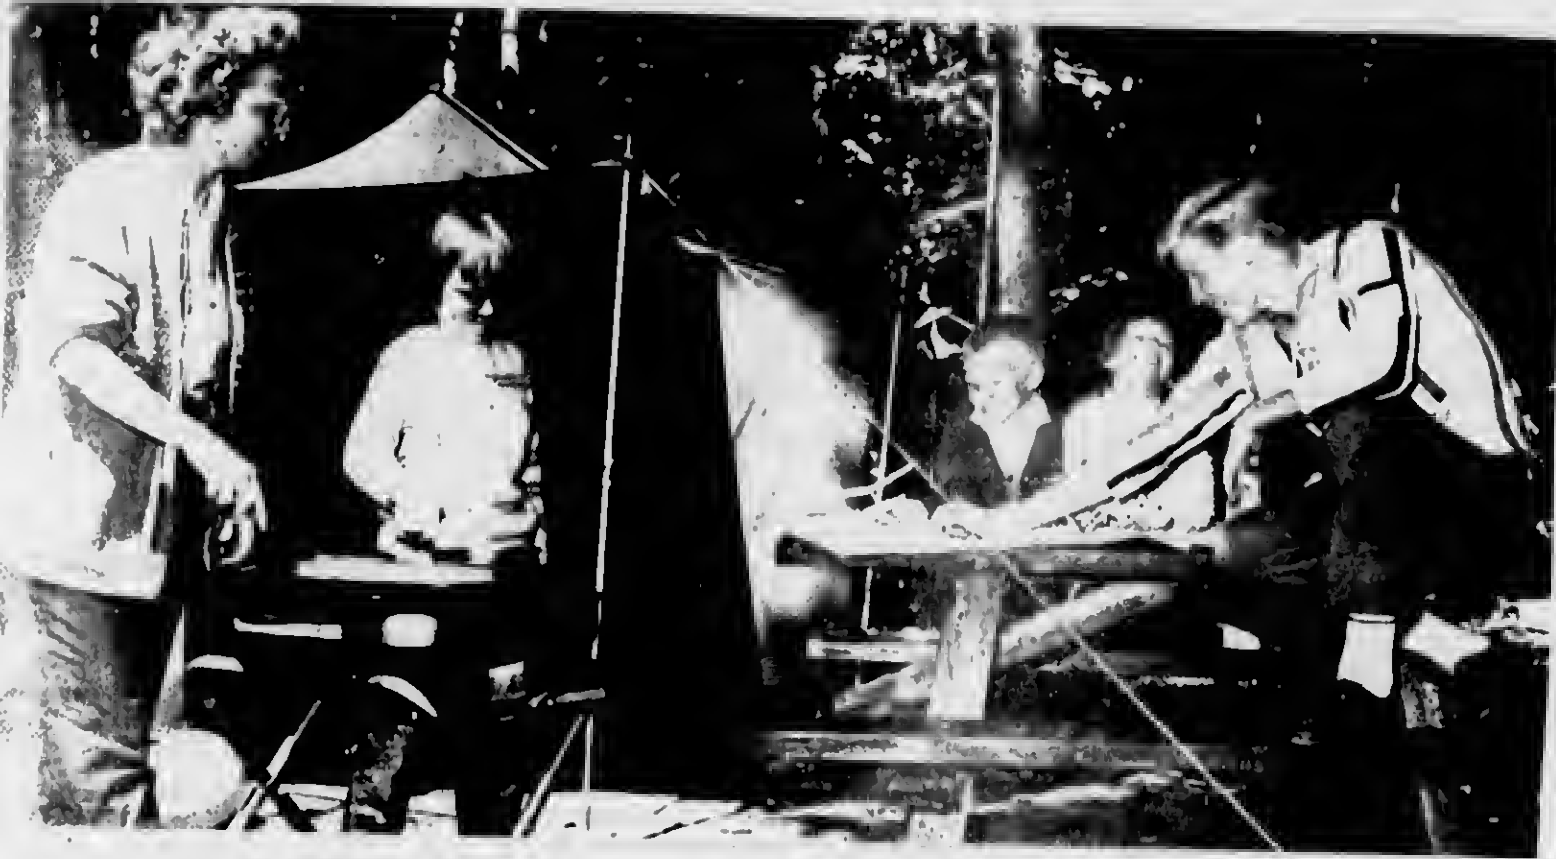

Campers were unanimous in their liking for the rustic campground. Several said they hoped it wouldn't be published because they liked the quiet, uncluttered beauty of the campground and Lake Michigan beach scenery. All said they will return.

CAMPERS ALSO REPORTED considerable trouble finding the campsite. Two families said they found it by accident after being turned away from several state parks that were filled to capacity. One said a Charlevoix grocer told them about the campsite. A man said the East Jordan Chamber of Commerce tried to discourage him from bringing his family to the campground.

District Conservation Dept. forestry supervisor Roger Rasmussen said some work remains to be done on the ten campsite built this spring. But they are useable. He said the Conservation Dept. is hard pressed to keep the campground clean because it must send a man over from Gaylord to pick up trash and police toilets.

Rasmussen said the State Highway Dept. will erect signs next spring on I-75, 31 directing people to the campground.

MRS. Hal Olmstead starts lunch with an assist from the children, while some of the rest of the family look over a map. They are from E. Lansing. Mr. Olmstead was out "walking around" Mrs. Olmstead said they will return to the campground. (COURIER PHOTO)

MR. AND MRS. Maurice Mings of Lansing get their son ready for a mid-day swim in Lake Michigan, only a few feet from their tent. (COURIER PHOTO)

TEMPERATURES DROP in the evening, making for a refreshing change from mid-day heat. Rev. and Mrs. Paul S. Downie of Corunna, Mich., find as they put a jacket on daughter Marina, 7, before they walk on the beach to enjoy the spectacular sunset. Rev. Downie is pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Corunna.

ADMIRING PETOSKEY stones they picked up on the beach in front of their tent are Mr. and Mrs. George Garland and family of Dewitt. Mr. Garland polishes and makes jewelry out of the Petoskey stones for his family.

THE MORNING dishes are Mr. and Mrs. George Glinke and children of Utica. They make camp chores a family affair. That way there's more time for everyone to play. (COURIER PHOTO)

No Reply Yet In Ironton Suit

IRONTON -- Circuit Judge Charles L. Brown has issued a temporary injunction restraining Glen and Ada Williams from repossessing the service station here they sold to Charles R. Stokes in 1963.

No reply to Stokes' charges and complaint had been filed by Williams late last week. Stokes filed suit charging Williams misrepresented the property when he sold it to him for $31,000. Stokes' attorney John Michael is asking the court to order Williams to return the approximately $5,000 that has been paid for the gas station, apartment and laundry.

Rayder Gridders Get Underway

Carey Toughens Squad Up For Rogers City Debut

By FRANK MARTIN

Fifty-eight aspiring young football players are going through conditioning exercises, learning the fundamentals of football, basic offense and defense and going through drills while their coaches are looking for players for key positions and picking the tough ones for the defensive squad as the 1964 grid season gets underway.

Two two-hour practice sessions are being held daily until school starts in preparation for the season's opener against Rogers City at Kipke field Sept. 18.

MEANWHILE, COACH Don Carey and his assistant, Len Staley, are looking over returnees and the players up from the J-V squad in an effort to find players for offensive and defensive squads.

After three practice sessions, Coach Carey said he felt there was little depth among the candidates for the squad. He named Del Terrilli, Ted Weldon and Ron Grunch as the outstanding candidates for backfield positions but said that Grunch, who has a bad knee, will remain a question mark for the present. Randy Carey, an end, and Ray Browne, another lineman, are among the other likely candidates for the squad at this time.

Coach Carey also named Larry Hutchinson, Mark Bourgoin, Jan Andersen, Jim Uhrick, Steve Smith, a sophomore, Mike Arbuckle, Tom Maxwell, Jack Bergmann, Ed Holm, Neil Cross, Bob Holtzman and Ron Crandall as strong contenders for starting positions on either the offensive or defensive squads.

The Charlevoix Rayders are the defending champions in the eight-team Northern Michigan Class C league.

THE OPENING GAME in league play will find Charlevoix playing in the Ottawa Indian stadium at Harbor Springs Sept. 25.

On succeeding weeks, East Jordan will play here Oct. 2 with Grayling playing here Oct. 9. The Rayders will go to Boyne City Oct. 16; at Pellston in an afternoon game Oct. 23 and will entertain Gaylord here Oct. 30. The last game of the season Nov. 6 will find the Rayders playing at Manicouche.

Circlin the Bases

with DEANO

League championships have been decided and tournament winners crowned as the 1964 softball season came to a happy close. Competition was keener than it has ever been and as a result close games of the highest competitive nature were the rule rather than the exception.

Lake Construction, who had lost six regular season games by the narrowest of margins, got revenge by upsetting first and second round champions, Morwell Steel and American Mold, in winning the Chamber of Commerce Tournament.

AGAINST MORWELL Steel, pitchers Klooster and Potter battled on even terms through regulation seven innings with neither allowing a score. Then in the eighth Nick DeYoung singled with two outs. Steve Faculak drilled a double into the opposite field to score DeYoung and give Construction a thrilling 1-0 win.

AGAINST City Champions American Mold, it was scoreless until the third Lake Construction got Larry McBride on first when his infield grounder wasn't handled cleanly. Ted Potter singled him to third. Another error loaded the bases for Bruce Kroken, who promptly singled up the middle scoring two runs and when the ball was returned slowly to the infield Chuck Coleman raced in to score also. Mold threatened in the fifth but had to settle for one run that ended the scoring for the night. Spike Mort opened with a single and scored on Ken Boss's base knock. Ted Potter closed the door the rest of the way for a 3-1 win and the tournament championship. Chamber of Commerce director Dean Davenport presented manager John Boss with the championship trophy in a brief ceremony at home plate to end the fastball season.

BARNARD WINS
Barnard, who wrapped up the regular season junior league championship earlier, captured the Chamber of Commerce junior league trophy with an exciting 4-3 win over A & W. It was a typical A & W-Barnard game, hard fought, fine fielding plays, and a few mild rhabarbs. Barnard scored first when first base was left uncovered on an infield bunt by Ivan Warner. A & W came back with one of their own on two walks and a hit, then went ahead in the fourth on two walks, a fielder's choice, and Hillingman's base hit. In the Barnard fifth, Steve Anderson brought the Champs to life when he walked and promptly scored second and third. Crain and Warner each walked. Junior league batting champion, Stewart Cunningham then brought in the winning run with a single to right field. A & W threatened in the seventh when Ed Holm doubled with two out, but Mike Crain who had relieved brother Gary Crain in the fifth, got the final out to end the game.

TIGER TOPS
The Tigers, who just edged into the second round playoff picture with their upset win over the Cards, went on to win in the four team playoff for the second round title, then in the Championship game against first round winner Lions, played an aggressive brand of ball to win the city title. In the game to decide the second round champion the Tigers and Cards battled through 6 scoreless innings. In the seventh the Cards threatened, but Bob DeYoung was stranded at second base. In the Tiger seventh three walks loaded the bases with one out. Randy Gustafson then drilled a single through the drawn-in infield to score Leon Perron with the winning marker in the 1-0 win.

In the Championship game for the city Peanut league title against first round winner Lions, they scored single runs in each of the first three innings to take a lead they never lost in the 6-4 win. Three Lion errors in the fifth set the stage for four runs and the margin of victory. After the misques Dave Plum and Dave Gill singled with two outs and the ball game went to the come-from-behind Tigers. Bruce Meggison had two hits in a losing cause while Dave Plum had two for the Tigers.

NOVAK'S WIN BLOOPER
Novak's Insurance won the Bloopers League championship with a 10-7 win over Consumers. Bob Biggs paced the winners to the title with two doubles and a single, but it was nip and tuck all the way. Consumers scored three runs in their final turn at bat and had men on base when the game ended. Ken Swartz and Ralph Doane each had two hits in a losing cause.

THRILLER FOR TITLE
Paul-Reed has to be the Cinderella team of the season. They lost their first three games of the season and appeared to be out of the title picture by the middle of June. However, they pulled together and didn't lose another game, and when the season ended they wound up in a four-way tie in the fifth. In the playoff for the city championships, they came from behind in a squeaker to advance into the finals. Edwards IGA advanced into the finals also. The two played the finest game ever played in the women's league with an unearned run in Paul-Reed's first inning being the only run of the game. Pitchers Betty Bergman and Merna Boss hooked up in a real pitcher's battle. Edwards threatened twice on Sheryl Pearsal's two doubles, but sharp fielding and pitching saved the win for the champions.

LINEDRIVES, Stewart Cunningham captured junior league batting title in closest race ever... Roger Loe made the catch of the year in the junior circuit in an Al Williams Mays catching game away from home plate and turning a complete somersault after catching up with the ball... Steve Faculak took hitting honors in fastball tournament with five hits in two games... Like to take this opportunity to thank league officials and umpires for their steady work all season. Umpires Gary Smith, Bill Supernaw, Pete Ance, Ron Geer, and Jim McCallum all had their trying moments but their work was appreciated by all. All umpires have a thankless job but certainly a necessary one. There is a chance that this will be my final season at the helm of the recreation program. After nine years its hard to leave especially when it has grown to the proportions we now have. My final decision about returning won't be made until later, but what ever it is, thank you one and all.

In the Junior League batting race, Stewart Cunningham took the crown in a real battle with several competitors. Cunningham had 13 hits in 30 times at bat for a .433 average. Warren Belding, Ed Holm, and Del Terrilli had a mathematical chance in their final game.

Income Here Increases at Record Clip

Family incomes in Charlevoix County are reported increasing at the fastest clip in Michigan, but still lagging far behind the state and national average.

Figures reported last week by the Michigan Dept. of Economic Development, reveal the county's per-family income has increased 21% since 1959. On a state average, family income has only increased 13.45% since 1959. And in Emmet County only 7.44%.

HOWEVER, IN SPITE of these rapid gains, Charlevoix's per household income is still more than $2,000 below the state average, and nearly $2,000 less than the national average.

The average Michigan family, the Dept. of Economic Development reports, has an income of $7,696. The national average is $7,130.

The average Charlevoix County family has an income of $5,260. This is an increase of $914 from the 1959 average $4,346.

It is interesting to note that the average income here is now $27 higher than in Emmet County. In 1959 Emmet County's average family had an income of $4,917, which was almost $600 more than in Charlevoix County.

THE COUNTY'S GAIN from 1962 to 1963, the last year for which statistics are available, shows it gaining 9% in per-family income. This compares to a 3.7% national increase and 5.6% state increase.

Win Gasoline

Five persons won 100 gallons of free gasoline at Neff Brothers Quality Food Store last week. The winners are Wilbur Wells Sr., Dorothy Feliz, Rev. Alexander Wood, Alice Bellinger and Charles Hart.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING RESOLUTION

Be it hereby resolved by the Common Council of the City of Charlevoix in meeting on August 24, 1964 that a public hearing be held by the Common Council of the City of Charlevoix on September 21, 1964 at 8:00 p.m. in the Council Room of the City Hall in the City of Charlevoix, Michigan regarding a petition to vacate certain alleyways in the City of Charlevoix, and that notice of such public hearing be published in the Charlevoix Courier for four (4) successive weeks prior to the date of such hearing.

The alleyways petitioned to be closed lie within the City and are within the block encompassed by Crouter Avenue on the North, Petoskey Avenue on the South, Prospect Street on the East and Burns Street on the West, and lie within that block as follows:

- (1) A 16 foot strip of land at the North end of said block extending from Burns Street to Prospect Street and running in an easterly and westerly direction.
- (2) A 16 foot strip of land in said block now platted as an alleyway, and running in a northerly and southerly direction.

Hugh Mayne
City Clerk

1 Here Gets

Elk Permit

Only one Charlevoix hunter is among 300 Michigan people selected by data-processing machines Aug. 28 to receive licenses for the Dec. 5-13 elk hunting season.

Wesley C. White, Rte. 3, is the lone Charlevoix applicant to get the nod from the state's impartial machinery used to select persons to get the hunting permits.

AREA PEOPLE getting permits were Melvin Wilbur, Petoskey; Charles E. Avery, Manicou; Dorothy I. Reus, Boyne City; Anthony J. Kolinsky, Petoskey; Barbara Tolen, Boyne City; Harold Oliver, Central Lake; Roger Crandall, Bozair; and William Atkins, Elk Rapids.

visit with her sister, Mrs. Louis Orlovski Sr.

Don Heise left for Ann Arbor where he will attend graduate school at the University of Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Gordon and his sister, Miss Ann Gordon, of Chicago visited friends here while vacationing in the area. The Gordons are former residents.

Peggy Orlovski returned to Detroit following a visit with her grandmother, Mrs. Louis Orlovski Sr. and her aunt, Mrs. C. D. Gelken.

Diann Phelps left for Bay City where she will live while attending Delta College, a tri-county community college. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hudson Phelps, took her to Bay City.

James Ladd has returned to his studies at the University of Michigan after spending the summer with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Ladd.

Martha Coleman returned home Tuesday from Detroit where she visited Garryn Bice. She returned with Linda Neff who was in East Lansing.

Mrs. A. Robert Harrison and daughter, Sue, left to make their home in Saginaw where Mrs. Harrison will teach. Miss Harrison returned last weekend to her studies at the University of Michigan. Another daughter, Mary, remained here for the present as the guest of Sharon Russell. She will leave later this month to join her mother before enrolling at Michigan State University.

Stuart VerWys, who is employed at Rogers City, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abe VerWys.

Teri Freedman, 1964 Charlevoix high school graduate, left Thursday for Tucson, Ariz., where she is enrolled in the University of Arizona. Her father, Gordon L. Freedman, flew her to Arizona.

Mrs. Hugh T. Richards and family returned to their home in Madison, Wis., Tuesday following a week's visit with her father, Capt. H. E. Paddock. Her husband, Dr. Richards, a nuclear physicist at the University of Wisconsin, was on a lecture tour in South America while they were here.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Simpson and two children have returned to Battle Creek following a week's visit with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Mieras.

Karen Uhrick and Lenore Erber left Sunday for Ann Arbor to return to their studies at the University of Michigan. They will be third year students.

Miss Stella McGuire returned recently to her home in Des Moines, Iowa, following a month's

The Most Palatable Pancakes Are Served At Gordon's Port

Watch the eyes of patrons of Gordon's Port light up when they taste Gordon's famous Pancakes. The reaction you'll see is the result of a wonderful taste sensation.

The pancakes will speak for themselves, so we'll tell you that you'll find a complete breakfast, lunch and dinner menu at Gordon's Port located at the blinker light on Petoskey Ave., in Charlevoix. May we suggest that you try the roast beef for dinner or the chicken and biscuits for lunch and the pancakes anytime.

Mont's Restaurant Features

Just Good Home Cooking

It is with a feeling of satisfaction that the people enter this well known restaurant as they serve "anything from a Sandwich to a Banquet," home cooked meals and home made pies. Specializing in Golden Fried Chicken served with hot biscuits and honey or for the fish fanciers Brook Trout-thats delicious.

Mont's Restaurant is serving the people most efficiently and we assure you that you'll not get better food anywhere. Mont's Restaurant is located in Charlevoix, 317 Bridge, ph. LI 7-2262.

Records Fall In Swim Meet

The City Recreation Dept. closed its summer season on a high note with its annual swimming races.

Twenty-three new records were established in the two-day event that was blessed with calm waters and sunny skies. It was very evident that many youngsters had worked hard all summer in anticipation of the event as records in every division tumbled throughout the preliminaries and the finals.

IN THE JUNIOR girls division Lynn Fiedorek set two records, and in the process captured four first place ribbons. Miss Fiedorek's records came in the 25 yard breast stroke and the individual medley. Her performance won her the junior division award for the outstanding swimmer.

Evelyn Gill swept honors in the junior boys division winning the outstanding swimmer award, besides winning three firsts, setting a record in the 100 yard freestyle, and anchoring the freestyle relay team, which also set a city record.

In the senior boys division it developed into a two-man show-tween Tom Webb and Joe Hayes. Hayes captured firsts in the 50 yard freestyle, 50 yard breast stroke, 100 yard free style and individual medley, and in the latter set a new record. Webb splashed to wins in the 25 yard freestyle 25 yard backstroke, plus a second in the individual medley. Hayes received the trophy for the most outstanding senior boy swimmer for his fine performances.

IN THE SENIOR girls division both Sue Hayes and Georgia Lusk turned in brilliant performances. Miss Hayes won the 25 yard freestyle, 50 yard freestyle, 100 yard freestyle. Miss Lusk capped firsts in the 25 yard backstroke, 25 yard breaststroke, and the individual medley, plus facing the medley relay team to a record smashing first. Both girls set two records and as a result both received the judges' nod as the outstanding swimmers in their division.

Other record-breakers were Bruce Meggison, CT Martin, and Lynn Fiedorek all in their divisions for the 25 yard breaststroke. Bill Aronovski, Amy Lesser, and Kay Fiedorek in the 50 yard breaststroke. The 50 yard backstroke records broke by Joy Reed, Bob Reed, and Kathy Wood.

Relay records were smashed with medley records broken by teams of Lesser, Klooster, and Lesser in the junior girls division, and Lusk, Wilson, and Fiedorek in the senior girls division.

IN THE 100 yard freestyle relay teams consisted of Martin, Otis, Fortbrigg, and Gill in the junior boys, while Korn, Barton, Schofield, and Belding combined to break the senior boys' record. Junior girls Korn, Olson, Weil, and Klooster set the new record while in the senior division Arvilla, Pierce, Fiedorek, and Wilson set the new record.

With the interest and enthusiasm shown during the week for competitive swimming, plans were discussed by recreation director Dean Davenport to set racing lanes up for the entire summer next year and to provide coaching so that youngsters could work under the proper conditions to tune up for the swimming races.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Minch of East Lansing are the parents of a son, Kevin Harold, born Aug. 28, Mrs. Minch is the former Carolyn Kohn, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Harold E. Kohn.

Gene Warren who with his wife and two sons came early in August from Gulliver, N. M., to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Davenport, left for South Bend, Ind., where he has accepted a position. Mrs. Warren and the children will join him later.

"GET THE BIG PICTURE" is a traffic safety rule we stress with our drivers at all times—but especially now that school is starting again. Every telephone company worker who drives one of our cars or trucks is taught to be especially alert whenever a youngster appears anywhere in the "big picture"—behind or to either side of his vehicle, as well as ahead. That way, a child's impulsive decision to stop or change direction can be seen in time to avoid injury. "Get the big picture" ... just one of the good habits Michigan Bell instills in its driver employees through a company-wide, year-round safety education program.

SAVE STEPS BEAUTIFULLY! Put a colorful extension phone wherever you'd like to reach, not run, for your calls. Wall phone, desk phone, Princess® phone ... there's a style and color for every room. Call our Business Office to order yours today.

POINT TO REMEMBER—telephones are everywhere. And that's exactly what makes your phone so valuable to you. Because your doctor, your TV repairman, your son's school all have phones of their own, you can reach them instantly and easily. And that goes for countless other people and companies you may need to talk with in a month's time. In fact, Michigan Bell now serves over 3,500,000 telephones throughout the state, each adding to the potential usefulness of your phone.

Ordinance Vital to Protect our Beauty

THE COURIER AND all of Charlevoix, for many generations to come, scored a first round victory last week when an organized effort was finally initiated to demand realistic controls over Medusa Portland Cement Co.

You may recall that in late 1963 the Courier revealed that Medusa planned construction on its South Point property this, or next, year. Simultaneously we called for enactment of a smoke abatement ordinance to rigidly control Medusa. Last week's opening round by local and summer residents to achieve this goal appears destined for success.

THE LEADERS OF THIS move are to be commended for their level-headed approach to the problem. They could have spearheaded their drive with such antiquated absurdities as "Charlevoix doesn't need industry. It's a resort town." Over the years too many such pleas have been listened to.

But instead of this selfish approach, these people frankly recognize that Charlevoix has to have industry if it is to survive. They go even further. Many of the spokesmen for this group are well versed in the ways of industry, and they frankly point out Charlevoix has been sitting on its duff by not aggressively courting industry, as many other towns successfully do.

As the Courier has editorially urged, this growing group does not even oppose Medusa's cement plant or dock. Their objective is simply to obtain rigid safeguards that the company's operation will never, in any possible way, mar

We're Fortunate To Have Deano

DEANO DAVENPORT'S unexpected, and informal, announcement at last week's City Council meeting that he may not be able to return in 1965 as director of the summer recreation program left us with a twinge of remorse.

Deano's direction of the recreation program is a marvel to all of us who keep track of it. It is a rare person who can keep so many seemingly unrelated operations working so smoothly. The mere organizational problem would overwhelm most of us.

THEN, TOO, THERE is Deano's always evident enthusiasm for Charlevoix and his sincere enjoyment in seeing people having fun.

Deano has built for us a recreation program that is one of the finest anywhere. Of course, he did not do this alone. Without support from city fathers and the community he would have failed. But without Deano the program would be no more than a piece meal scattering of games and swimming.

Deano Davenport is a son Charlevoix can always be proud of.

OUR READERS WRITE

Dear Editor:

In Deadly Fight With Communists

DEAR EDITOR:

Two weeks ago an article appeared in the Courier (letter to the editor Aug. 13) written by someone from Lansing, Mich., and entitled "Leave Viet to Viet." I quote a section of this letter: "Actually the overwhelming majority of these revolutionary fighters are not communists and the program they are fighting for is not to establish a communist regime." When Russia marched into the Balkans she came as a "liberator." These countries have been behind the Iron Curtain ever since. Latvia and Estonia were "liberated" and have since been annexed to the USSR. Finland was wantonly attacked as an "aggressor." (Just how Finland hoped to overwhelm the USSR is not very clear.)

Showboat a Success

Dear Editor:

Thank you for the excellent coverage you gave the Showboat in advance of our show Aug. 14. You were pressed for time and had a deadline to meet, yet that story on the front page, I'm convinced, was in large measure responsible for the turnout of close to a thousand that finally showed up at East Park.

The cast loved the evening and we don't know whether we've ever seen a more beautiful setting in all the six ports we've visited here on the Great Lakes. Afterwards, people swarmed up to learn more about the idea behind the showboat and the meaning of Moral Re-Armament. Dozens emptied the contents of their wallets into our hands - one man gave a hundred dollars, one woman gave all the spending money she had.

THIS GENEROSITY and spirit in Charlevoix has encouraged us in plans to take a similar showboat down the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers next year.

Thanking you again for the cast and the crew, I am

DEAR EDITOR:

Yes, by all means, please renew our Courier subscription! Since my husband was transferred and we have moved to the Grand Haven-Spring Lake area we enjoy reading it even more.

I would also like to take this opportunity to commend you on the wonderful "new look" you have given it.

WE ARE HAPPY with our new home but we are already looking forward to the day we can return to our Charlevoix home and all our many friends whom we miss very much.

By FRAN MARTIN

It doesn't seem possible but that time's here again. . . football. . . and for that matter, school. . . Coach Don Carey routed his players out at 7 a. m. Monday for their first practice session. . . and in case you think he's rushing the season the first game is scheduled for Sept. 18 right here with Rogers City. . .

So help me, I'm not wishing your lives away. . . It's merely a statement of fact. . . like school officially opening on Sept. 14. . . May I ask where the summer's gone? . . .

THE COMMUNITY was saddened by the death of its oldest businessman, Ben Brown. It was interesting to note that his business career paralleled the progress of transportation. . . a harness shop, a bicycle shop and finally an automobile agency. . . dating back to the days of World War I or before. . . He was truly one of the "old-timers" on Bridge St. . .

Ran into Clayt Smith the other day. . . and, if you know Clayt, he's always good for a story. . . He's one fellow. . . who always enjoys life and is willing to share his interesting experiences with you. . . Seems the day I saw him, he and his brother-in-law, Horton Southworth from Roseville, had enjoyed a boat trip from Torch Lake through Clam River to Elk Lake. . . He was telling me how beautiful it was through the area and about the huge flock of swans they'd seen that morning. . . I never realized there were that many around but he said they'd seen about a hundred of the stately white birds on the river. . . and chances are there were more along the bank for they saw no little ones, known-as cygnets, with their mothers and they're pretty much under foot, or should I say, under wing for about the first nine months of their little lives. . .

Clayt said that the cottagers along the river and lakes apparently fed them for here and there they saw pieces of bread on the water. . . Wouldn't it be something to live where you'd see so many of these beautiful birds. . .

Long ago Charlevoix had quite a few of these birds. . . which are related to ducks and geese. . . but they like a little peace and quiet which they no longer got. . . what with the advent of the outboard motor. . . so they moved on to quieter ponds. . . But now and then, in the quiet of the winter, a few of them come by. . . and they're still a joy to see. . .

I'VE A PET PEEVE. . . some of you may not like it and others of you won't believe it but here 'tis. . . the abandon with which the residents of this community. . . known as Charlevoix the Beautiful. . . the land of pure air free from all sorts of horrible old pollen. . . permit ragweed to flourish. . . So you think I'm talking through my bonnet? I can take you to a place less than half a block from the business district and show you the most beautiful crop of this sneezing greenery. . . and there are number of other places, mostly along alleys within the city limits, where you can find the stuff without even looking. . .

As I mentioned, you can find some of it along most any alley. . . and along roadways. . . There's two on the north side that I know about. . . Division ave. and the Mt. McSaubia road. . . especially the area close to Lake Michigan. . . The unusual part about this is the fact that the stuff grows mostly on the west side of the north-south highway. . . where one would expect it to be on the east side due to the prevailing westerly winds.

Charlevoix's a wonderful place and no one loves it more than I do and that is why I hate to see this obnoxious weed get such a foothold. . . It is not deep rooted, as you might think, and it's so easy to destroy it before it gets to seed. . . So won't you pull any that you see and throw it in the roadway where it will soon dry up and destroy itself? . . .

HAD A "SURPRISE" visitor the other day. . . none other than Linda Nowland. . . home from a summer in Finland. . . where she loved the country, loved her family and spent a most enjoyable summer learning about all sorts of new things. . . including saunas, as you no doubt saw in a recent issue of the Courier. . .

We've a visitor here for the school year from this far-away land not too far below the Arctic Circle. . . As I write this I haven't met her yet but I hear she's lovely, lovely. . . But I hope to meet her and do a story on her which you will find in some other part of this week's paper. . . As you've heard me say before, I think this Youth for Understanding program is a terrific one. . . and certainly one way of getting people to know us. . .

Mind if I jump in the street-naming bit? . . . Someone came up with the idea of naming it for one of our Coast Guard heroes. . . which was fine. . . until one after another, this name and that name was mentioned. . . all of them belonging to very fine people who justly deserve the honor. . . When one mentions the word "Herb" I always think of Bob Ashdon and his description of one. . . and come up with the thought that by naming this Coast Guard drive, street or avenue, one is giving recognition to this oldest of all military services and all its personnel who, like any serviceman, is a special guy to me because he leaves his home and travels where he's sent around the world on assignments that often times are not ideal. . . Sure, there are special people who've given their all and our Coast Guard heroes are among them, but who's to say who is the one for whom the street is to be named. . . I have six brothers who were in the services including three who served overseas in World War II. . . I would not want to pick the one who gave the most for each, in his own way, gave a great deal and made many sacrifices as did countless others. . . So this is why I say stick with the idea of calling this bit of roadway Coast Guard Drive.

No Place Like Charlevoix

DEAR EDITOR:

I am sending my slogan for our Charlevoix-the-Bautiful: "A Gem in a three-lake setting."

I lived here from 1918 to 1951, after my husband passed on I became a house-mother at the Sigma Chi fraternity house at Michigan State University. But I return almost every summer for there's just no place like it!

WE OWNED A boat and I know what a joy it is to have three lakes to run on - if one lake is rough the other is sure to be calm. We entertained guests on our boat who said foreign lakes held no more beauty than ours, which always made us very proud.

Continued success with your good paper and here's hoping a good slogan is forth-coming.

Restrooms Need Good Scrubbing

I am a Charlevoix resident and I believe something should be done about the filthy public rest rooms located under the Chamber of Commerce building.

It is a disgrace to "Charlevoix the Beautiful" to have this the only accommodation for many of our tourists.

AS LONG AS we are cleaning up our fair city, let's start on the main street.

NAME WITHHELD

Eight Sentenced By Judge Brown

Hard pressed by mounting demands on the court, Circuit Judge Charles L. Brown last week took time to wipe clean Charlevoix County's criminal cases.

One man was sent to state prison, and seven others received lesser sentences, or were referred to the probation department for later sentencing.

JAMES A. ADAMS, 21, Boyne City, was sentenced to 1 1/2 to 15 years in state prison, Jackson. He was found guilty of breaking probation on an original charge of breaking and entering in the night.

John Bishaw, 20, Charlevoix, was ordered to pay a $100 fine and costs within 30 days or spent 90 days in the County Jail. He was charged with aiding the escape of a prisoner.

Melvin Napont, 18, St. James, pleaded guilty to breaking and entering in the daytime and was referred to the probation dept.

Nelson Napont, 29, Charlevoix, was referred to the probation dept. after pleading guilty to being drunk and disorderly for the third time.

JERRY E. YETTAW, 17, East Jordan, pleaded guilty to larceny and was referred to the probation dept.

Parsel Urges Cut In Electric Rate

Reducing Charlevoix's electric rates was proposed last week by Councilman Don Parsel.

Parsel's unexpected suggestion on the delicate subject appeared to temporarily catch councilmen off guard. There was a hushed pause of a minute or more before anyone said anything.

THEN, MAYOR E. D. Hawley, said Charlevoix's rates are "competitive now." He added that they are well below Petoskey. Councilman Bill Fochman said, "Nobody can touch our industrial rate. I think you're asking for trouble to change the rate." The electric utility, Fochman added, isn't as lucrative as most people think.

"I believe we can lower our electrical rates as much as 5%,"

James H. Walter, 27, Walloon Lake, paid $35 fine and costs and was put on one year's probation for larceny.

Louise McBoe, 19, Boyne City, was found guilty of petty larceny and ordered to pay $25 fine and costs.

Daniel A. and Betty M. Smith, plead guilty to making false statements to obtain relief and were referred to the probation dept.

and should consider it to attract more industry," Parsel said.

Parsel said lowering the rate may cut the city's profit from the utility, but added, "then we won't have quite as much to throw away."

Hawley replied, "I don't feel we're making an exorbitant profit."

Councilman Bob Gill said that if lowering the rate would increase the use of electricity, as Parsel suggested, the city will have to replace many lines and transformers, for which there may not be enough money.

To which Parsel replied that the line's need replacing anyway.

Because Parsel's proposal received no support from other councilmen it was dropped.

Delay Action On Retirement For City Men

Councilman Don Parsel has asked City Council to take action on the request of employees that the Michigan Municipal Employees' Retirement System be adopted here.

City employees made the request last spring.

LAWRENCE L. Farrell, executive secretary, appeared before the council in the spring to explain how the retirement program would work and its approximate cost. He pointed out more than 11,000 Michigan municipal employees are now covered by the plan. Both the worker and city contribute.

However, since Farrell's presentation the matter has not been discussed by council.

Parsel requested action be taken to adopt the plan or that it be put on the ballot for voters to decide.

Mayor E. D. Hawley said the city should wait until next spring to take any action.

THE MATTER DIED when Parsel received no support.

Are Charlevoix High School's 1939 graduates interested in a class reunion?

Elmer Crain, 311 W. Division, Boyne City, is asking this question. Crain asks that if any of his 1939 classmates are interested in planning please contact him. The phone number is JU 2-6691.

Youths Meet

The Charlevoix County Young Republicans Club meets Thursday (tonight) in City Hall here at 8 p.m.

The newly chartered group will meet every first Thursday of the month, according to sketchy information received by the Courier.

THE GROUP IS reported to have elected permanent officers, but at deadline time Tuesday, the Courier could not ascertain who they are.

One Man Job

Fire that started in the deep fat well at the Sugar Bowl restaurant on Bridge St. last Tuesday evening (Aug. 25) was quickly put out by assistant fire chief Dick Wells.

Wells responded alone to the fire call. He used a fire extinguisher to get the blaze under control before it could spread. Damage was so minor the restaurant continued to operate.

HER CHOICE AT 100--Mrs. Agnes Engstrom, who was 100 years old this spring, votes by absentee ballot in the primary election. She is helped by her daughter, Mrs. Lillian Hull, at their 112 W. Upright home. You don't grow too old to fulfill your responsibilities in a democracy, the family contends.

Charlevoix's beauty is being put on the auction block for 12 jobs. It can never be recovered at any price.

Will you sacrifice the beauty that is only Charlevoix's for 12 jobs? Drive to South Point. Look at the red flags. They will soon be replaced by a monstrous area deck, extending 1,400 feet into the lake and as much as 50 feet high.

South Point will be erased from view. Will this steel and concrete monster replace it?

SIGN UP FOR SCHOOL--Elementary School Principal Glenn Snider, right, informally tells new students and mothers what to expect as they sign up for classes at Monday's pre-school registration. Mrs. Larry Wallace and daughter Maurine are on left. Others are Mrs. William Habel and children Sandra and Allen. They will be attending school here for the first time next Monday. (COURIER PHOTO)

1,300 Students Expected Monday

Thirteen hundred children are expected to report for classes in Charlevoix Monday, Sept. 14. Supt. Rex Milligan reports approximately 1,100 are expected in the Charlevoix Public Schools.

Charlie Prospers In The Ice Trade

CHARLIE HEISE sort of caught me off guard the other morning coming from the post office. There he was slowly (very slowly) painting the back steps to his ice parlor.

Since they were solid, clean looking concrete, and it didn't seem in character for Charlie to be doing anything that wasn't absolutely necessary, I asked why. Believe it or not, he explained his business was doing so good, due to his ad in the Courier, he thought he should give the place more class.

All of which got me to remembering the "ice man," ice boxes were in use for only on their last legs when I was a kid, but I can still remember coming in from the country to visit relatives in a small town and chasing the ice man down the street. True to tradition, he had a horse drawn cart filled with hay and ice.

How we relished leaping up and grabbing a small hunk to suck on. And how we caught it from Mom for our indiscretion. Thinking back, it seems to me the ice man, though we thought he was a terrible man, actually welcomed little adventure, and probably went through it on every block.

But, after talking to Charlie, couldn't help but wonder if kids today would need so many things set up for them to do if they had an ice man to switch from and a cool tree to sit under and brag about their daring while they licked on their spoils.

Mystery Of The Staley Cigar Butt

WHAT DOES Ken Staley do with discarded cigar butts?

This question has been haunting me since the other evening when I chanced to watch one fishing buddy Ken set a cigar butt down in his store. I'd stopped in for a half-gallon of milk. It being late Sunday evening he was out and we

Chest Kickoff

The Charlevoix Community Chest will kick off its 1964 campaign at a meeting in the Elementary School lunch room 8 p.m. Monday, Sept. 14.

Don Muggison, drive chairman, asked that all campaign workers, and others interested in helping, attend the kick off meeting.

SISTER M. EMELIANA, principal, expects 180 students in grades first through eight at St. Mary's Catholic School. Most other area schools opened their doors last week. However, Charlevoix's opening date was delayed due to the late Labor Day, Milligan said. Milligan does not predict a large enrollment increase over last year. But he points out he might be surprised. No accurate figures will be available until late next week. Approximately 500 students are expected in grades seven through twelve at the high school, under Principal Harry Bingham. Elementary School Principal Glenn Snider estimates there will be 600 students in grades kindergarten through sixth.

KINDERGARTENERS will start school Tuesday, Sept. 15. Public school teachers will meet for pre-school conferences Friday, Sept. 11. This means students will attend school all day Monday.

Bus routes will be the same as last year, Milligan said. St. Mary's students are also carried by the public school buses. Any changes in bus routes will be announced when they are made. Hot lunch programs will again be offered.

TEACHERS AT ST. Mary's will be Sister Emeliana, first and second grades; Mrs. Frank Olesky, third and fourth; Sister Ruth Ann, fifth and sixth, and Sister M. Flavian, seventh and eighth. High School teaching assignments are:

Ray Kipke, mathematics. Don Carey, history, civics and coaching. Morris Robinson, commercial. Max Novak, history, government and driver education. Clarence Odomark, music. Robert Cook, math and shop. Uno Suomela, shop and mechanical drawing. Del Terrill, math. James Luther, science.

GORDON ROBINSON, English and speech. Floranz, Milner, public library (half day). Laura Courtade, high school library.

Leonard Staley, English and coaching. Marion Kohn, English. Janet Odomark, homemaking. Geraldine Goss, girls physical education.

Marguerite Makel, seventh grade. Leonard Burns, seventh grade and coaching. Donald Peterson, seventh grade, general science and coaching. Frances Novak, high school library and Latin.

William Ratigan, guidance and counseling. Gerald Harris, math.

Sixth grade--Condit Drury and Larrie Tuomela. Mildred Lawrence, music.

Electric Sales Still On Upswing in City

Charlevoix's electric sales for the first six months of the 1964-65 fiscal year are again showing an increase of better than 10% ahead of last year. Residential use is approximately 75% over 1963.

Campbell's half-year report reveals commercial and industrial use of electricity is 15% ahead of last year. Residential use is approximately 75% over 1963.

Combining the two puts the use of electricity approximately 11% ahead of last year.

Deadlines

Deadlines have caused more ulcers in the newspaper trade than misspelled names and angry politicians. Because the Courier's editorial staff does not intend to cope with such ailments, we must ask you to comply with the following deadlines.

GENERAL NEWS--All information for stories must be at the Courier by noon of the day after it happens. Reports of weekend events must be in by 10 a.m. Monday.

WEDDINGS--If pictures are to be used they must accompany the information for the story. The story and pictures must be in the Courier office no later than 9 a.m. on the Monday after the wedding. Engagement pictures and stories must be in by Thursday Noon of the week before they will be printed.

You can leave stories of the office after regular hours (weekdays 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.) by putting them in the drop box in the door.

Publicity chairman are requested to call at the Courier for assistance and a pamphlet that is available free.

Gov. George Romney has commended Charlevoix's efforts to clean up its southwest slums and called for local initiative to get the job done.

The governor contends comprehensive professional planning will result in a solution to the city's slum problem.

COUNCILMEN, before the governor's position was revealed, were moving in the direction of consulting professional community planners.

Romney's support for the local program was revealed in a letter to the Courier editor. His attention was drawn to the slum problem by Rep. Don Gordon, who referred him to stories and editorials in the Courier.

The governor's letter, to the Courier said, in part:

"Trying to alleviate substandard living conditions is a worthy cause and you are to be commended for your stand."

"... THERE IS little direct action that the state can take. There is some state help available, of course, but it is indirect aid and requires initiation by the local government. The Planning Division of the Dept. of Economic Expansion administers the federal program of urban planning grants to local communities. Under this program the federal Housing and Home Finance Agency pays up to 75 percent of the planning costs. I have requested that some literature from the Planning Division be sent to you."

"Merely making plans will not get rid of poor housing. Most of the remedies for this particular ill must come from carrying through the plans that are made, supplementing the plans with codes and ordinances for housing, zoning and other, and enforcing these laws. Urban renewal action, if undertaken, will require that persons displaced must be moved to safe, sanitary housing, whether public or private. The local community must take the initiative in inaugurating these programs."

State Sen. Thomas Schweigert also told the Courier he feels local planning, through professionals, is the solution to Charlevoix's slums. He commended the City Council for facing up to the problems and Charlevoix citizens for supporting the council.

THE COUNCIL has contacted Villich-Leman, planning consultants of Southfield, Mich., for an outline of services they have available. Villich-Leman are one of the state's best known small-town community planning firms. They are employed by cities from the Upper Peninsula to Detroit suburbs. Several other firms also specialize in this type program.

Charles F. Leman told the Courier there are several solutions available to small towns, such as Charlevoix, which have slum problems. By working with a planning commission, made up of local citizens, Leman said, professional consultants can work out the solution that best fits the individual community.

Other cities, no larger than Charlevoix, and not as wealthy, have worked out similar problems, he said. "Areas that seem to have insurmountable problems are working them out, so there's no reason why Charlevoix, with all of its advantages can't solve them," Leman said.

Political Conventions

Through this indirect method, each party will select its chairman, vice chairman and other officers for the next two years.

The Democratic convention promises to feature internal maneuvering to get executive committee members selected who will favor rivals for the county chairman post.

A BOYNE CITY faction is reported determined to oust Democratic County Chairman George LaBlance.

City of Charlevoix delegates to the county conventions are:

DEMOCRATIC: First Ward—Maurice J. Foster, Jean Loper, Frances A. Martin and Arthur Osborn; Second Ward—Addie F. Allard, LoAnne A. Brown, Billie Smith and Floyd van Whitley; Third Ward—Beth Gennell, M. Ildia Gibson, Lawrence Korth and Frank Smith.

REPUBLICAN: First Ward—Robert Bridge, Karl Erber, William Fochtman, Gordon Freed.

Zednick Leads

Frank Zednick lead Charlevoix Rod and Gun Club pistol shooters with a 270 score at their last week's shoot.

Other scores were Roger Hull, 253; Lester Brown, 248; Bill Blissett, 247; Harold Lang, 222; Boh Mathews, 192; and Al Towsey, 145.

man, Elmer D. Hawley and E. James Miller; Second Ward—Norman Ance, Helen Belding, Lillie M. Flanders, Janis Glass, Robert G. Lieberman, Shirley Lusk, Theodore R. Miller and Harold Totten; Third Ward—Fenton R. Bulow, Edward Hansen, Clarence Meggison, Louis McKenzie, Clinton Sundberg, Delbert Terrill and Olive VerWys.

Two MSU Classes At Petoskey

Michigan State University will offer two courses in Petoskey during the fall term.

Classes will be conducted at North Central Michigan College. Each course offers three term hours of graduate or advanced undergraduate credit.

Sociology of Education (SOC/ED 401) will be offered on Tuesday evenings from 6-9 p.m., beginning September 15.

SPECIAL METHODS and Materials of Teaching Elementary Science (ED 830A) will be taught on Wednesdays from 7-10 p.m., beginning September 23. The date has been changed from that announced in the 1964-65 Off-Campus Course Bulletin.

Registration, including payment of fees, will be held at the first class session of each course. More information may be obtained from local school officials.

"It's a great morale booster for the boys...and just about everyone else in town," Albright says.

"It seems pretty silly to let our everyday problems get us down when Roy takes his blindness so naturally."

Roy was blinded last fall when a piece of machinery hit him in the face on his farm just outside of Ellsworth.

THE COMMUNITY immediately came to the family's support. Mrs. Staudenmeyer and son Roy Jr., 14, had plenty of help harvesting last year's crop.

They have discontinued farming now. Part of the land has been rented. Mrs. Staudenmeyer works a few hours a week at the Ellsworth Post Office.

Roy says they are getting by, but he's looking for a job.

Last winter Roy spent 4-1/2 months at the Minneapolis Society for the Blind school. While there he learned braille reading and writing, how to handle daily living problems and cane traveling.

ROY SAYS HE doesn't want a leader dog. "I feel more independent with a cane."

The school, and his stout nature, Albright says, gave Roy complete confidence in his ability to cope with life.

Roy says, "I believe I have a future."

He's waiting for the state to send a vocational counselor to Ellsworth. With some special training, he's sure he can make a living again, and hopes he can find a job near Ellsworth.

While he's waiting, he continues active in the Farm Bureau, church, school and is commander of the Ellsworth American Legion post.

AND, OF COURSE, he's lending coach Bob Danforth a hand at football practice.

Begrow Gets Job

Architect Jack Begrow, of Michigan Ave., Charlevoix, was hired by City Council Tuesday evening to design the $30,000 administration building for the Municipal Airport.

The state will pay 50% of the new building's cost. It will replace the frame building now used by airport manager Joe McPhillips for an office and passenger lounge.

Plan Retreats

The Dates of six scheduled retreats at the Blessed Sacrament Retreat House, Conway, has been announced by Mother Mary Augustine of the Sacramentine Monastery.

Retreats will be held Oct. 9-11, Oct. 16-18, Oct. 21-23, Oct. 23-25, Oct. 30-Nov. 1, and Nov. 6-8.

Details are available by writing Mother Augustine or calling her at DI 7-3657.

VFW Rummage

The VFW Auxiliary will hold its rummage sale Sept. 11 and 12 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the post home on north U. S. 31. All profits will go to veterans charities.

Persons with rummage to contribute can call Mrs. Ken Staley at LI 7-2985, or Mrs. Gerald Burke at LI 7-2168.

Forrest Fowler In Fishy Dilemma

CHARLEVOIXMAN FORREST Fowler reports a nagging conscience has forced him to make public his wife Anne's superiority as an angler.

A note arrived from Forrest detailing Quetico Provincial Park, Ontario, (directly north of U. S. Government's "shrimp fleet." But what will happen when the government runs out of goods? What about our children of generations to come?

"Let's not be guillible gulls. We Americans must reserve our talents of self-sufficiency, our genius for creating things for ourselves, our sense of thrift and our true love of independence."

When the Fowlers left on their annual extended vacation we asked him to report back on his fishing success. We hope the next note is more complimentary to our male ego.

Delay Annexation Move

Fochtman questioned if the township form of government can enforce a stringent ordinance of this type.

MICHAEL SAID such an ordinance would have to be highly technical.

Both Michael and Hawley said they have discussed the issue with Rabach.

Bus Drivers

Go to School

Charlevoix and Ellsworth school bus drivers will go to school themselves three times this year.

Intermediate District Supt. Charles Robinson reports classes for school bus drivers will be held Dec. 7 at Boyne City and Jan. 19 at East Jordan. The first class was held Sept. 9 in Charlevoix.

BUS DRIVER training programs are the responsibility of Robinson's office.

Trains for CMU

Marching Band

Larry McBride of Charlevoix was among 100 candidates for Central Michigan University's 1964 Chippewa Marching Band who reported for band camp try-outs on the CMU campus Sept. 8.

McBride will practice the band's intricate marching patterns and quick-step routines for five days until the camp closes Sept. 12. The bandmen will live in Robinson Hall, a CMU dormitory, and will share meals with the Chippewa football team which opened its practice sessions on August 30.

Rabach, they told councilmen, suggested the city should try to annex all of the township instead of just the Modusa property.

Several councilmen questioned the practicality of this. They said a vote of both city and township residents would have to approve such a move. If only the Modusa and Boulder Park property were annexed no registered voters would be involved, hence, the County Board of Supervisors would make the decision.

Hawley, however, said he suspects many township residents could be sold on joining the city. The overall tax rate in the city would be only three to four mills higher, and township residents would get many services they don't now have, the mayor said.

Michael said that if the city wants to annex just Modusa and Boulder Park it should make its decision by Sept. 21, so the petition can be presented to the Board of Supervisors at its Oct. 12-16 meeting.

Medusa Portland Cement Co. Vice President Worth Loomis has said his company will not oppose enactment of a strong smoke abatement ordinance, to protect against future air pollution.

Loomis, during an informal meeting with the council, agreed the city has every reason to be concerned about the future and has an obligation to secure the necessary safeguards.

HE SAID THE cement plant, employing approximately 80 men, will probably be built in five to ten years. However, unconfirmed reports have it the plant is now on the drawing boards and may be built sooner.

Loomis promised city officials the plant will be the most modern known to science, no expense will be spared to control smoke, dust and odor, Loomis said.

Though not questioning Loomis' or Medusa's sincerity, councilmen, and an organized citizens group, are supporting a smoke abatement ordinance to guard against future changes in the plant and company management.

The citizens group this week issued a statement which asked officials to consider what lies ahead for "our children and children's children."

The group is also asking the cement company to locate their dock and cement plant out of sight from the city. This, they contend, is necessary to protect our "million dollar sunset."

7 Nominated For CC Board

The Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce Tuesday nominated seven candidates for three Board of Director positions to be filled at the annual election.

Ballots will be circulated soon, Chamber manager Dean Davenport said, to elect three of the seven candidates to fill the expiring terms of Bob Hamilton, president; Bob Miles and George LaBlance.

CANDIDATES ARE Julius Gilbert, John Michaels, Bob Miles, George LaBlance, Irma Scheld, Ron Peterson and Wally Loder.

Ballots must be returned to the chamber by Oct. 15. Results will be announced at the annual dinner meeting in late October.

Mrs. Lee Wm. Magsig

Newlyweds to Make Home in Gaylord

By Mrs. Thomas Maxwell

Bouquets of white carnations and baskets of pink gladiolus and white mums flanked by candelabras decorated the altar at the Norwood Methodist Church, August 29, for the marriage of Miss Shirley Joan Weisler of Charlevoix and Lee William Magsig of Gaylord.

The Rev. John Miller officiated at the double ring rite in the presence of 150 guests. Mrs. William Kerr was the organist and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Bears were soloists.

THE BRIDE is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Weisler, Rte. 1, Charlevoix. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley H. Magsig of Gaylord.

Mr. Weisler gave his daughter in marriage. For her marriage the bride chose a gown of white chantilly lace over taffeta, designed with a modified sweetheart neckline, with a basque bodice, and bow-trimmed three-quarter length sleeves, with a chapel train. Her veil of bridal illusion was held by a crown of Swiss braid, embroidered with crystals, pearls and sequins. A single strand of pearls completed her ensemble. She carried a cascade bouquet of white phalaenopsis orchids and pink carnations.

Mrs. Otis J. Elliott of East Jordan was her sister's honor attendant.

Krulik, Shields Wed Here

Janet Louise Krulik and Hal D. Shields were united in marriage Saturday, Sept. 5, by Rev. Harold E. Kohn at the Congregational Church here.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Krulik of Charlevoix. Mr. Shields is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Shields of Detroit and Washington D. C.

THE ALTAR OF the double ring rite was decorated with white gladiolus and chrysanthemums. Mrs. Charles Ballinger played traditional wedding music, while Mr. Krulik gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride's dress was a light blue linen sheath with Venice lace bodice studded with crystal beads and a reversible stole designed by Harvey Bertum.

Laura Jane Stoner of Cincinnati was maid of honor.

Ushers were Joseph T. Kane and Larry VanZant, both of Washington D. C.

A RECEPTION was given after the ceremony by the Harold B. Stoners of Cincinnati and the Belvedere Club. Mrs. Andrew Essenberg Jr. assisted.

The newlyweds will be home Sept. 12 at 2020 F. St. N. W., Washington 6, D. C., following a wedding trip to Canada and New York.

MR. & MRS. ROBERT A. FRYSKA were united in marriage Aug. 29 at St. Luke's Catholic Church in Bell-oire. Mrs. Fryska is the former Cheryl Ann Harbaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Thomas of Belloire. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clemens Fryska of Detroit. He is in the Air Force of Empire, Mich. (RON JAMES Photo)

VFW Women Seek New Members

"Go for Five in '65" is the Charlevoix VFW Auxiliary's theme as its steps up efforts to enlist new members.

Each VFW Auxiliary member is being urged to recruit five new lady members. The auxiliary is also hoping to have all present members pay their 1965 dues.

AT THE LAST meeting, the women voted to make their annual donation to state veterans charities and Christmas parties.

Marriage

Reported from County Clerk F. R. Bulow's files:

Richard H. Streufert, 24, Boyne City, to Brenda J. Dyer, 21, Boyne City.

David O. Beim, 24, Minneapolis, Minn., to Elizabeth L. Artz, 24, Walloon Lake.

The bride is a graduate of Charlevoix High School and Michigan State University, where she was affiliated with Alpha Xi Delta Sorority. She taught girls physical education in Petoskey and Traverse City.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Springfield (Ohio) High School and the University of Wittenberg. He was a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. He also holds Masters degrees in public administration and economics and has two years of law school. He is employed by the Navy Dept. in Washington.

This Fruit

...looks like an apple from a good tree. God used this parable to teach an authoritative lesson of truth to some who were calling. "Lord, Lord" He answered, saying, "Not everyone that calls me Lord, shall get to heaven." He spoke plainly and used small words, and said, "Only those who bear good fruit will make it." See this tree loaded with fine fruit! Few of us stop to ponder its history. But every orchard expert knows well every sound tree. The good fruit is detectable from way off. The lesson is clear. Goodness all the way to the core is the kind of fruit God wants. Soundness of heart, purity of mind and integrity of character are essential if one's fruit is to please God. No one gathers grapes from thorns, or figs from thistles. Read the Sermon on the Mount; Meditate on I Corinthians; Hear what He says in Romans 8 and 12. Here one will find soil where good trees may grow and from which good fruit may be gathered.

DENA VERWYS
Tobacco Plant

Tobacco Grown Here

Tobacco? Why everyone knows it's grown in a climate where the long growing season permits it to mature, an area where there are no early frosts and where the temperature is consistently warm and humidity comparatively moist.

But a local 12-year-old has blown this theory to bits by growing the tobacco plant pictured above. She is Dena Verwys, 4 ft. 8 in. junior high student who will be in the eighth grade when she returns to school next week. Her single tobacco plant, which she has nursed with tender loving care all summer is exactly one foot taller than she and still growing.

HER EXPERIMENT came about when Leonard Burns, junior high teacher who has dabbled with the growing of tobacco for a number of years, gave tiny plants he had started from seeds to some of his students at the end of the school year.

What does Dena plan to do with her wealthy plant which is currently in bloom? "Maybe I'll give it to my dad so he can make his own cigars" was her answer. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Verwys who live at 108 W. Huribut ave. where the plant is growing in a small garden plot.

that she planned to use them for and sent her on her way.

"I LOVE AMERICAN food... you have so many fruits and vegetables. At home we eat more meat and fish but here you have so many vegetables and fruits that are new to me. Every meal is a new experience as my family introduce me to new foods and new ways of preparing them" she went on to say.

She said again that she knows this will be a wonderful and exciting year for her.

As she talked one got the idea that it would, indeed, for she is the kind of person whose warmth and love of people and everything new will make it that way.

Finnish Beauty Dazzles New Charlevoix Friends

By FRANK MARTIN

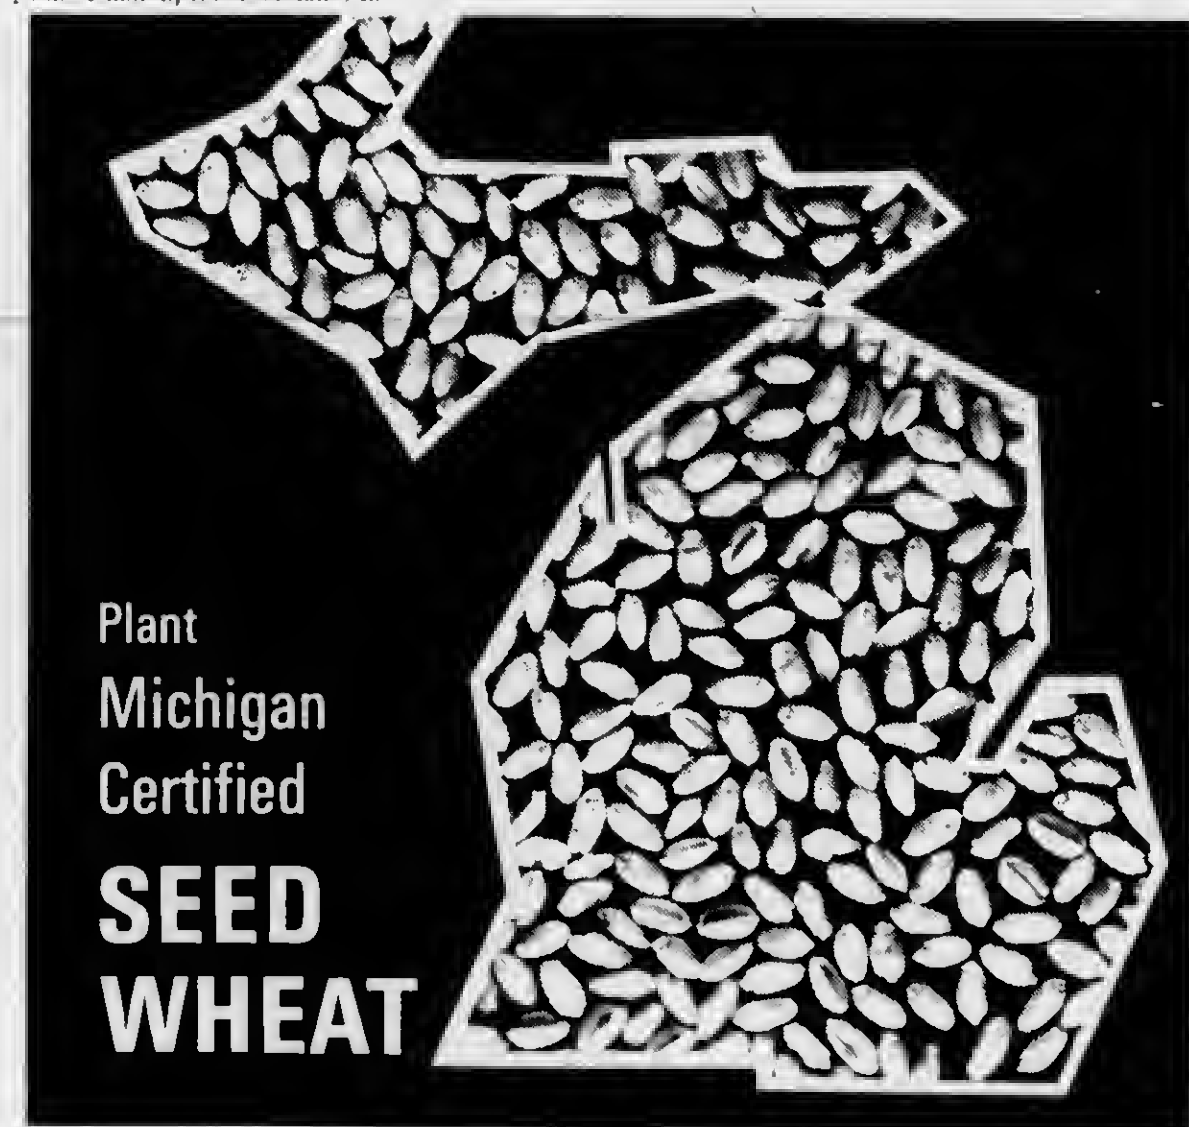

"I'm sure I'll like it here," Christina Andersson of Helsinki, Finland, said shortly after her arrival here to spend the school year with the Ilex A. Milligan family.

One look at this lovely daughter of Finland, whose Swedish ancestry tends to emphasize her blonde beauty, makes one, unmistakably, believe her for she is as warm and gracious as she is lovely and is sure to be an outstanding ambassador for her country during her stay here.

SPEAKING IN ENGLISH with an accent that adds to her charm, "Chris" said she was 17 years old, that she lives in Helsinki with her mother, who is an advertising consultant, and her 11-year-old sister, Katarina, that she will have two years of high school to complete when she returns home and that she knows she will love living in Charlevoix. Turning occasionally to her "foster" mother, Mrs. Milligan, the former Helen Ilkka who also speaks Finnish, for assistance in finding the right word in English, she went on to say that in Finland one goes to the first school for four years and secondary school for eight years. She also said that she will not receive credit for the year she will attend school here. She explained that this is due to the fact that many of her courses are not offered here. Among these are numerous language courses for, in addition to her native Finnish, she is studying English, German, Swedish and French. The latter, she said, was an elective subject; the others are required.

What has impressed her most in this country? "The kindness and friendliness of the people. They are so understanding and so helpful" was her quick answer. She then told of the curious officer at Detroit who asked her what she planned to do with the three "puukko" (hunting knives in cases) that he found in her luggage. She quickly informed him that they were gifts from her American "brothers". He laughed, told her he was glad it wasn't anything serious

Longer Season on Ducks, Geese Set

A late opener, five more shooting days, and the return of canvasbacks and redheads to the legal hunting first highlight changes from last year in Michigan's 1964 duck season set for Oct. 8-Nov. 16.

The 40-day season, approved last week by the Conservation Commission along with other waterfowl regulations, had its opener pushed back three days to give Lower Peninsula sportsmen a better crack at peak duck migrations.

IT WILL CAIRLY bag limits of "our ducks" per day and eight in possession, same as a year ago. Goose hunters in the Upper and northern Lower Peninsulas will again have a 70-day season, running from Oct. 1 through Dec. 9. An Oct. 3-deer, 9 goose season is on tap for the southern Lower Peninsula where the opener will be delayed to prevent overshooting hunters raised in this part of the state.

This year's relaxed restrictions permit the taking of two canvasbacks or two redhead ducks, or one of each in the daily bag of four. Not more than two mallards and two wood ducks may figure in the daily kill. The two-day quota on black ducks has been removed.

Flooded mergansers have been shifted from the regular duck bag to special kill quotas which also cover American and red-breasted mergansers. The daily and possession limits for these birds are five and 10, including not more than one hooded merganser each day.

FOR GOOSE hunters, the combined daily and possession limit remains at five birds. In keeping with last year's regulation, two of the five may be Canada geese.

Coots, rails, gallinules, and during the duck season. Bag limits for coots have been loosened to 10 per day and 20 in possession, compared with eight and 16 last year.

Waterfowl hunters will have their starting time moved ahead from noon to sunrise for the Oct. 1 and Oct. 8 openers. During the rest of the season, shooting hours on migratory birds will extend from sunrise to sunset.

Ellsworth Squad Tackles Unknown

ELLSWORTH -- Sixteen players, instead of 12, will be giving and taking the bruisers when Ellsworth takes to the gridiron Sept. 18 at Central Lake.

For the first time this fall teams in the Northern Six League will field eight players. In the past the loop has always played with six players to a squad.

THE ABBREVIATED version of high school football is played on 80 yard fields at Ellsworth, Central Lake, Bellaire, Inland Lakes, Mackinaw City and Vanderbilt.

Ellsworth Coach Bob Danforth is abruptly frank. None of the coaches in the league, he says, know what eight man football is like.

Danforth started whipping his squad into shape last week. Twenty-seven Ellsworth students turned out for practice.

Last week was largely devoted to getting the boys in shape to take the bruises that will come later. This week Danforth starts experimenting with eight man team scrimmages.

WHAT WILL DEVELOP is just about anybody's guess. He makes no bones about it. He doesn't know.

One thing appears probable: Eight man football will be slower than six man football.

Danforth predicts there will be more blocking with eight men on a team. Under the six man system, blocking was largely confined to knocking tacklers off the runner's trail, or cutting down the runner's protection so someone could get in for a tackle.

This year, Danforth expects, there will be more blocking on the line.

MACKINAW CITY should be favored to lead the Northern Six League this season, Danforth feels. The straits squad has more lettermen back than any of the other schools, the Ellsworth mentor points out.

Five lettermen are returning at Ellsworth.

Last year Ellsworth finished second in the league with a 5-2 record.

ELLSWORTH HOPEFULS--These youths are practicing in hopes of making the Ellsworth High School varsity football team. Practice sessions are held twice a day by coach Bob Danforth.

Softball Excitement Peaks as Season Ends

Hundreds cheered and panted. Excitement and hard work, plus the challenge of competition, made the city's summer 1964 recreation program one of the most memorable ever.

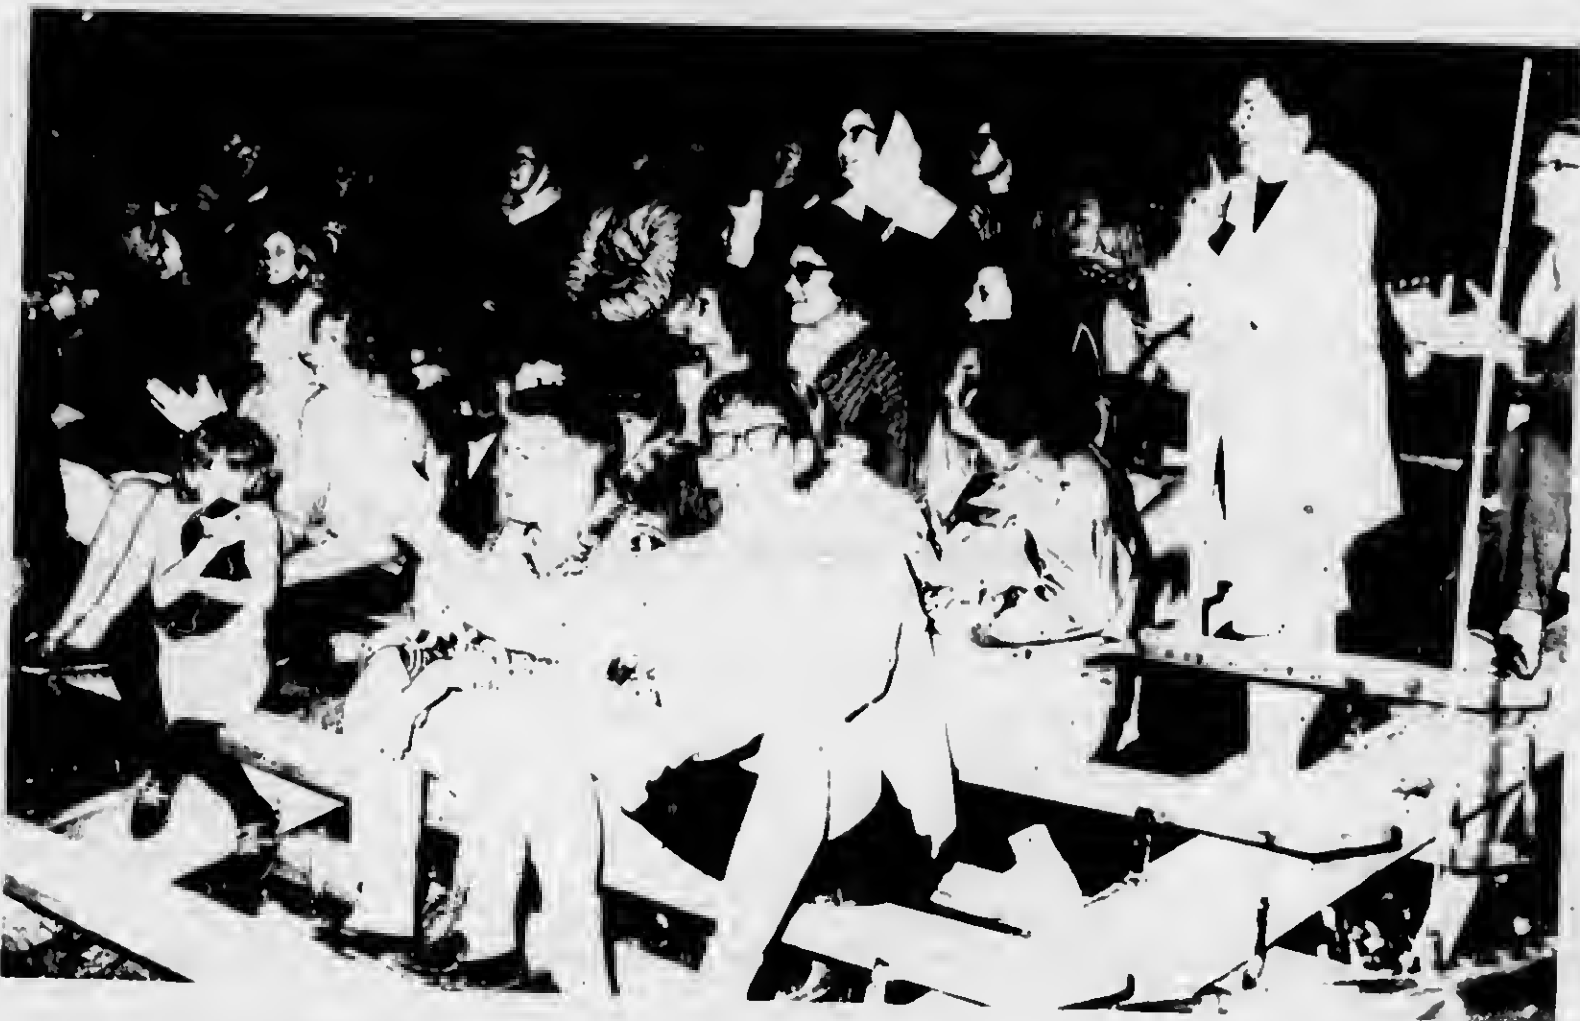

As the season neared its end, with the awarding of trophies, interest reached a fever pitch. On hand to record scenes at these last minute activities was photographer Don Smith. His pictures for the Courier Camera show both the participants and the spectators enjoying such fine Charlevoix traditions as softball and swimming.

RECREATION PROGRAM director Deano Davenport, has revealed he may not be able to return to Charlevoix next summer, due to financial considerations. During the winter Davenport is a coach at a West Coast college.

A decision on the 1965 summer program probably won't be made until early next year.

BATTING ACE--Jack Ingalls received the fastball league trophy from Deano Davenport. Ingalls, a Morwell Steel team member, finished the season with a .342 average.

THE CROWD PITCHES-in to cheer their favorites to victory in the championship round of the softball season playoffs.

SPLASHING TO VICTORY--Contestants in the junior swim races throw up a real froth as they churn the water off Depot Beach.

PRETTY GIRLS, including many much older than these two charmers, are a regular feature of Charlevoix's bathing beaches during the swimming program.

RUNNERUPS IN THE Peanut League were these Lions, back row standing, Bob Lieberman, Vic Kantoia, Herb Schafeld, Bernie Weisler, Kraag Lieberman, Tom Kline, Etienne and Jack Mol, kneeling, Kurt Lieberman, Bruce Meggison, Dave Holborn, Mike Mal, Pat Martin, Randy Goss, Russ Grunch and Jerry Fachtman.

Rayders Will Rely on Newcomers to Varsity

By FRANK MARTIN

With ten days of training behind them, Northern Michigan Class C coaches have surveyed available material for this year's grid squads and, in most instances, pieced together teams that will likely appear in opening games Sept. 18.

The Charlevoix Rayders, defending champions with East Jordan, are one of those teams that will have a limited number of returnees.

IN THE BACKFIELD, Coach Don Carey will have Rich Grunch, a senior who saw limited action last season because of a knee injury. He remains a question mark, Coach Carey said, because no one knows yet how his knee will stand up under pressure.

The same is true of Dave Smith, a senior groundgainer who is also nursing a knee injury. Del Terrill will be back calling signals with Steve Smith, up from the reserves, filling in as his understudy.

Other backfield positions will be filled by less experienced players or candidates up from the reserves including Ted Weidman, Tom Maxwell and Mike Crain, potential fullbacks, and Ron Puffpuff, a transfer from Saranac who is trying out for a halfback position.

More Space

Building permits for two additions to existing buildings were issued by the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Withers took out a permit for a 5 by 40 foot addition to the rear of the kitchen on their A & W Drive-in. Estimated cost is $500.

MR. AND MRS. Robert Green are planning a 16 by 24 foot garage and breezeway on their home at 511 Meadowlane.

man, Jim Luther, a transfer from Ludington, Mike Arbuckle and Larry Hutchinson are contenders for the guard positions.

Newcomers up from the J-V ranks, Ed Holm and Jerry Meggison, will be filling the center position.

Other candidates for line positions are Steve Ager, Bob Holtzman, Ken Mousseau, Jan Anderson, Gary Kanoff and Bob Bergmann.

AT EAST JORDAN, Coach Wes Fleet is expected to reap the rewards of a building program he started several years ago when he came to the Red Devil city. Among his candidates are 18 lettermen including six regulars from his squad that shared the '63 title with Charlevoix.

Among them are seniors Fred Malpass, a halfback who will be a first stringer for the third straight year, Steve Poole, a defensive end and offensive center, Dave Donaldson, a fullback who may miss the first couple games because of a motorcycle accident in which he was injured, Jim Sturgell, a back, Danny Peters, a tackle, and Mick Bell, an end.

Other experienced players include Frank Fisher, an end and Bob Malpass, a defensive tackle, both seniors, and Ron McWalters, a junior defensive lineman who weighs in at 202 pounds.

Lettermen who will be available will be Bill Murray and Jack Neumann, backs; Tom Hamersky and Harold Fisher, ends; Ed Williamson, Bill Breakoy and Ted Jeffery, tackles and Jim Wright and Tom Drenth, guards. All are seniors except Breakoy and Drenth who are juniors.

HARBOR SPRINGS, where Barry Aspenleiter is the coach, looms as a strong contender this season with seven veterans plus several lettermen on deck.

Coach Tom St. Germain at Pellston has a number of returnees on whom he is counting give his team a much-needed punch.

At Mancelona where Gerry Dellling has taken over the football helm from veteran mentor, Matt Jacobson, there are six regulars who will form the nucleus for the squad.

At Grayling where Fraser Dean has returned after a year as lone coach at Lincoln Park to assume the duties of football coach from Don Ferguson, 20 candidates are out for the team, including a number of experienced players.

DAVE COATTA, an assistant coach at Gaylord for two years, who has taken over as head coach from Jim Mongeau, expects to have a young and inexperienced after losing nine of his starting 11 by graduation.

At Boyne City Coach Paul Pfahler has only one returning veteran, Ron Hausler, senior end. As a result he will be counting heavily on lettermen, Pat Var-num, center; Mike Smith, guard; Scott Hall, quarterback, and Bud Jolly, halfback, who lettered last season.

Other candidates for the backfield include Marvin Johebeck, Don Cykalo, Herb Tompkins, Humphrey Price, John Paul and Don Kotesky.

Line positions still open are expected to be filled by Skip Sheffer, Herb Standhope, and John Kujawski, tackles; Jim Seelye, guard; and Ron Shepard, Tom Thurston and Dave Hunt, ends.

THE 1964 Northern Michigan Class C football season will be launched Friday, Sept. 18, with seven of the eight teams in the league meeting non-competitions on that date. The eighth team will play the following night.

Friday, Sept. 18
Rogers City at Charlevoix
Gaylord at Cheboygan
Benzie Central at Mancelona
Boyne City at Petoskey
Grayling at Mio
Pellston at Cheboygan Catholic Kalkaska at East Jordan

Saturday, Sept. 19

"PLEASE DON'T HURT MY KIDS"

Dear Driver:

TODAY, MY DAUGHTER, who is 5 years old, started to school for the first time. Her brother was with her, but he's only 9 himself, and he still looks pretty little to me. Their Cocker Spaniel, whose name is "Scott," sat on the front porch and whined his canine belief in the folly of education as they waved "goodbye" and started off to the halls of learning.

LAST NIGHT WE TALKED ABOUT SCHOOL--my daughter and I. She wondered what the teacher would be like... she hoped who could sit beside Mary (the little girl next door). She said her "letters" for me -- just to be sure she knew them. Oh, we talked about a lot of things -- tremendously vital, unimportant things. Then she tried on her plaid pinafore to show me...and then to bed.

SHE LOOKED SO HELPLESS -- sound asleep, with "Princess Elizabeth" (that's her doll) cuddled in her right arm. You see, I'm her daddy. When her doll is broken or her finger is cut, or her head gets banged, I can fix it -- but when she and Brother start to school, when they walk across the street, then they're in your hands.

THEY'RE NICE KIDS, both of them. They like to ride horses and swim and hike with me on Sunday afternoon. But I can't be with them all the time. I have to work to pay for their clothes and education. So please help me look out for them. Please drive slowly past the schools and intersections -- and please remember that children do run from behind parked cars.

PLEASE, DON'T HURT MY KIDS!
--A Proud Daddy

Northwood Motel Bought By C. Drosts

The Northwood Motel located on US 31 South at the city limits has been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Drost. They bought the 12 unit motel from Mr. and Mrs. Holger Anderson of Owosso, who owned it for five years.

Drost said he plans to keep the motel open this winter.

Drost said his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Drost, would operate the business for the present.

Fall Fertilizer Touchy Question

By ED REBMAN
Extension Director

BOYNE CITY--Whether fertilizer should be applied in the fall is still an open question.

But Charlevoix County farmers may well consider the proposition as long as they understand that some crops respond to fall fertilization better than others.

Alfalfa is usually more winter-hardy when it is well fed and not suffering nutrient deficiency when it goes into the winter. Crops such as sugar beets, corn, peas and oats, which are planted early in the spring, oftentimes respond to fall applied fertilizer.

SOILS WHICH respond best to fall fertilization are those which are level, but relatively low in fertility; erosion-resistant; well-drained; high in organic matter; have good tilth and deep Special education becomes a reality for all Charlevoix County and Ellsworth children this fall.

The Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate District has set in motion the initial phase of the special education program, for which voters approved a half-mill levy last spring. Supt. Charles Robinson reports.

EMPHASIS WILL BE on speech correction during the program's first year, Robinson said. Four speech correctionists have been employed to work with all school systems within the Intermediate District.

Parochial school students are also eligible for all this special education programs.

In addition, a type C teacher-consultant has been hired to coordinate special education programs, Robinson said.

Diagnostic services have been temporarily arranged with the Genesee County Intermediate District. Diagnosticians from Flint will screen local students to determine what new special education programs are needed

THE MORMON PRINT SHOP—Charlevoix County's only museum preserves some of the nation's strangest history.

Island Museum Is Debt-Free

BEAVER ISLAND—A small flame Sept. 5 in the Parrish Hall here will assure the U. S. that historical documents from one of the nation's strangest and most colorful sagas will forever be preserved.

The Beaver Island Historical Society is burning the notes of indebtedness on its unique Mormon Print Shop. More than $6,000 has been invested in restoring the print shop and preparing it as an authentic museum of the Beaver Island group's stranger-than-fiction history.

A. J. Roy, Beaver Island Historical Society president, points out the museum is the only one in Charlevoix County. He feels the exhibits in the Mormon Print Shop should deal with more than just Beaver Island.

In the interest of making the museum representative of all of the county's history, Roy has asked anyone who has a historical item they would like preserved to donate it to the Mormon Print Shop.

There are already more than 275 items on display. They date back to the early 1800s. Many tell the story of King Strang's kingdom. Others are associated with the years after 1856, when the Mormons were driven off. They also tell about pioneer life on now-abandoned High and Garden Islands.

Roy and R. P. Hoffman purchased the print shop in 1956, 100 years after the Mormons were routed. The building was

No Support for Close Look at Chamber Debts

Councilman Dr. Walter Hoffmann failed in an attempt to have the city furnished with more complete information on Chamber of Commerce financial affairs.

Dr. Hoffmann asked other councilmen to support a request that the chamber supply the city each month with a complete statement of unpaid bills.

"I UNDERSTAND SOME sizeable bills are not paid, for which money has been received (by the chamber)," Hoffmann said.

The chamber now submits a monthly report to the city showing its cash balance and what money has been spent for. It does not indicate if the chamber has failed to pay its debts.

"Though we're the biggest contributor, I don't feel the city should get too close to the chamber," Mayor E. D. Hawley said, in opposing Dr. Hoffmann's request.

The city contributes $5,000 annually to the chamber. Hoffmann received no support from other councilmen.

Dem Confab Had Fiery Moments

The Democratic National Convention wasn't nearly as dull as portrayed on television, George LaBlance, Charlevoix delegate to the Atlantic City spectacular reports.

LaBlance, who serves as chairman of the Charlevoix County Democratic Committee chairman, returned from Atlantic City Sunday. Mrs. (Edna) LaBlance attended the convention with him.

THERE WAS considerable debate and disagreement on the major issues among Michigan delegates during caucuses, LaBlance said. When the questions were finally put before the convention, state delegations had already ironed out their differences, he explained.

This, LaBlance admitted, gave the appearance that delegates were being dictated to and not questioning the desires of the party's top brass. However, LaBlance contends this was a misleading impression, brought on because the press and tv did not report debates in caucuses.

THOUGH IT MADE HEADLINES for months on the outdoor pages of Michigan's top daily papers, few sportsmen paid much attention to the work or findings of the Conservation Study Committee.

One of the first things Gov. Romney did when taking office was to appoint the committee. Members included top ranking Democrats and Republicans. They had no political mission. Theirs was simply to come up with a broad outline for preserving Michigan's natural resources and providing better hunting and fishing.

WHEN THE COMMITTEE'S recommendations were turned in earlier this year, they proved to be pretty much what most people near Michigan's outdoors had predicted. That the department's philosophy and organization needs to be revised to meet modern demands. This, principally being, that the need is no longer to save the game, fish and land. But, instead, to manage it so the most people get the most recreation value from it.

Sportsmen can now feel confident there is no stopping the overhaul. Because the department's top thinkers and doers are solidly behind the program there is even less chance of it stalling.

The important point here, since it is an election year and sportsmen do vote, is that the committee—though non-political—has resulted in the first real change in Michigan's conservation program since the 1920's and '30's.

Gov. Romney, perhaps knowing he isn't a conservationist and consequently shouldn't get mixed up in things other men know more about than he does, gave the pros the go signal. The results are already evident in a streamlined fish program that will produce many times more catches per dollar and internal reorganization in the department.

AROUND ELECTION TIME newspapermen start expecting news releases from candidates expressing their dedication to conservation. After the ballots are counted, the winners seem to have a remarkable aptitude for forgetting those of us who like to tramp the swamps and loiter around streams and lakes.

Gov. Romney, however, seems to be unaware of this tradition in Michigan politics. Consequently the following statement from the governor adds up to more than election-year babble, and is worth printing.

"Some time ago 'Romney' writes, 'I announced appointment of a special task force on Water Rights, Water Use and Pollution Control.

"Water is a common denominator of our natural resource wealth," the governor continues. "Its variety of uses—makes it essential that we develop now, before it is too late, a comprehensive policy to serve as a guideline.

"THE TASK FORCE WILL do this. And our water, like our forests, will be managed on a multiple use basis. There is no reason why it cannot be done. It must be done, and soon.

"Peaceful coexistence among the users of water in this Water Wonderland is possible and very necessary. There is no need for serious conflicts of interest . . . no need for clashes between those who would put our lakes and streams to work and those who would put them to recreation . . . no need, that is, if water uses are placed in their correct perspectives.

"I want the task force to define such perspectives and to make recommendations for action. And when they do this I will then do everything in my power to effect a workable, step-by-step procedure for water management . . . for today, of course, but most importantly, for what promises to be a very busy tomorrow.

"Definite progress in conservation was made by the Legislature this year. Personally, I am proud of the record. By the close of the session, I had signed twenty-four conservation bills into law. There were disappointments, to be sure. The final result of legislative action was a strengthening of conservation. House Bill 401, pertaining to the liability of landowners who open their properties to hunters, fishermen and other recreationists, was especially significant. So too, was the elk hunting bill. Our Michigan United Conservation Club deserves much credit for the support they gave these measures.

"THE IMPORTANCE OF ALL this, however, is not in what was transpired in the past few months or in what is transpiring now, but what will be done in conservation in the years ahead. Here is where the real progress will be made. Here is where we will move ahead.

"There is a reminder here to all the people of Michigan; our Department of Conservation, as competent as it is, cannot go it alone. New directions, new programs, new goals must continue to be a widespread concern.

"Apathy must be battled, interest and concern must be promoted.

It is then that we may talk confidently of the progress we have made . . . and the promise the future holds.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING RESOLUTION

Be it hereby resolved by the Common Council of the City of Charlevoix in meeting on August 24, 1964 that a public hearing be held by the Common Council of the City of Charlevoix on September 21, 1964 at 8:00 p.m. in the Council Room of the City Hall in the City of Charlevoix, Michigan regarding a petition to vacate certain alleyways in the City of Charlevoix, and that notice of such public hearing be published in the Charlevoix Courier for four (4) successive weeks prior to the date of such hearing.

The alleyways petitioned to be closed lie within the City and are within the block encompassed by Crouter Avenue on the North, Petoskey Avenue on the South, Prospect Street on the East and Burns Street on the West, and lie within that block as follows:

- (1) A 16 foot strip of land at the North end of said block extending from Burns Street to Prospect Street and running in an easterly and westerly direction.
- (2) A 16 foot strip of land in said block now platted as an alleyway, and running in a northerly and southerly direction.

Donald Dow Gets

New State Post

ROSCOMMON-Donald W. Dow, a native of Charlevoix County, has been transferred from the Conservation Dept.'s regional headquarters here to park manager of the Mio District.

Following graduation from Boyne City High School, Dow, 51, attended Charlevoix County Normal, Ferris State College and Northern Michigan University. He taught school for five years in Charlevoix County before joining the Conservation Dept. 27 years ago.

HE WAS APPOINTED assistant regional parks supervisor at Roscommon in 1949. In his new position at Mio he will direct supervision of nine state parks and two work projects at two conservation-corrections camps.

Mrs. Harry Gregory and her sister, Mrs. Fred Klaus returned to Hazel Park after spending the weekend here and attending the dedication of the new St. Mary's church. Mrs. Gregory was the guest of Mrs. E. A. Mock and Mrs. Klaus of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William West.

MARSHA THWAITES of Ionia, Michigan's Honey Queen, recently spent a day at Brownwood Acres, Central Lake, admiring the bottles of honey in the Honey House and the unique honey gift packs in the Country Store. She said she enjoyed the Farm House kitchen's specialty of honey on hot biscuits. Mrs. Clifford Morse, Brownwood Acres owner, presented Marsha with a Petoskey Stone Charm.

Ellsworth Man Marries Iowa Girl

The Calvin Christian Reformed Church, Rock Valley, Iowa, was the scene of the wedding Aug. 14 uniting Donna Mae Schur and Richard John Vander Slik of Atwood.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Gertrude Schur and the late Gerrit Schur of Rock Valley, Iowa. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Vander Slik of Route 1 Ellsworth, Mich.

Rev. G. J. Rozenboom of Hull, Iowa performed the double ring ceremony before an altar setting of baskets of white and pink gladioli.

Mrs. Ted Ribbens of Rock Valley, Iowa played the organ. Soloist was Arnold Koekkoek, instructor of Dorci College Sioux Center, Iowa.

The bride, given in marriage by her mother, wore a floor-length wedding gown of Alencon lace, it featured a fitted bodice with a sweetheart neckline and chapel length train, her illusion silk elbow length veil was held in place from a crown of seed-pearls. She wore a necklace with a genuine pearl and gift of the groom and carried an arrangement of white and pink mums on a white Bible.

Judith Schur of Rock Valley, Iowa, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Jeanette Slager of West Sayville, New York, and Susan Fisher of Chicago, Ill., cousin of the bride.

James Raymond Lynch of St. John, New Brunswick, Canada, was best man. Ushers Percy and Kenneth Vander Slik brothers of the groom of Atwood seated the guests.

Mrs. Gertrude Schur chose a light blue lace dress with white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Vander Slik, mother of the groom, wore a mint green dacton dress with white accessories.

The couple are at home, 1901 East 6th St., Duluth, Minnesota. Mr. and Mrs. Vander Slik are both graduates of Calvin College in Grand Rapids, Mich. The groom is a Lieutenant at Duluth, Minnesota and the bride is employed by Duluth Board of Education as a secondary teacher.

Comment Fact Opinion

Election Opened Eyes To North's Dilemma

LAST WEEK'S PRIMARY election should have once and for all, made it emphatically clear: The one-man one-vote theory hamstringing democracy in northern Michigan.

This fact seemed to finally strike home to hundreds of Charlevoix people as they aroused their civic pride to head for the polls. On their way they stopped in at the Courier. Or before leaving home they called the Courier. "Hey, who are these guys running for the Senate? I never heard of them," several of our callers asked. Or, "How are we supposed to know who we should vote for?" others asked.

FOR MONTHS THE Courier has been trying to arouse public indignation with the undemocratic and high-handed discarding of the northland's voice in state affairs. But it took election day to deliver the full impact of the message.

Finally, it was frustratingly clear to Charlevoix citizens that they no longer had any real chance to cast an intelligent and effective ballot. In districts that sprawled over a third of our huge state, they realized it is impossible for candidates to reach the people. Consequently, voters cannot hope to know who they are electing, and those elected cannot hope to know what their constituents expect of them in Lansing and Washington.

Milligan Starts Second Year With Parent's Full Support

WHEN SCHOOL OPENS Monday Supt. Rex Milligan will be starting his second year at the helm of Charlevoix's educational program. Since it now appears that the Courier family will have children in our school system for the next two and a half decades, we, at the newspaper, are encouraged by his record of leadership, sincerity and integrity during the past 12 months.

It is obvious to anyone in Charlevoix who has been objectively viewing the school scene for the past year, that the vast majority of Charlevoix parents are in agreement with our support of Milligan.

THE MILLAGE ELECTION in June made this clear. The public expressed its confidence in the superintendent and the Board of Education in the most dramatic way possible, by overwhelmingly endorsing the request for higher taxes.

When the year-end audit was completed last month we were shown that our faith in Milligan and the board was justified. In fact more than justified. Not only did they spend less money than they said they expected to, but they applied it directly to eliminating the deficit Milligan inherited. But there are other, less tangible,

The chaos was complete. So was the humiliation, which, we are hoping, will lead to an ever-growing roar of rebellion in the northland. A rebellion that will demand better candidates. That will settle with nothing less than the very best men sitting in Lansing and Washington.

It appeared that for the first time Charlevoixians were fully aware that downstate union bosses and big city machine politicians had been able to thumb their nose at the north and force politically controlled Supreme Court justices to decree that only stumps and jack rabbits live outside the metropolitan areas.

WHILE BEING EQUATED with stumps and jack rabbits may have numbed our ego for a few hours, by mid-week we could already see this humiliation turning into anger. For the northland's sake let us hope this anger is constructively employed to demand and press for more sophistication and ingenuity in area politics.

It should also prod us into realizing we must keep better informed on politics and who the candidates are what they stand for. This is an almost impossible job because no north country newspaper is large enough to hire the huge reportorial staff required to thoroughly cover campaigning in our new districts. But more papers must try to do their best. And more readers must demand they do.

ble, signs that Milligan is doing right by our children. An atmosphere of progress and harmony seems to prevail among the teaching staff. There is also a general feeling on the streets and in living rooms that Charlevoix has one of the state's outstanding education programs. However, Milligan is the first to recognize that we can still give our children a better education. Because of his ability and dedication we expect that we will.

Republicans Reports Party Dying Here

BECAUSE IT IS election time and candidates are on the prowl, in the last few weeks we have talked to most of the leading political voices in the north country. Though they are generally reluctant to discuss it, we find they agree on one thing: The complete lack of an effective Republican party organization in Charlevoix County.

Republican stalwarts, we find, are acutely conscious of an impotency to deal with political needs and philosophies of the seldom heard of Charlevoix County Republican Committee. They point out the Democratic Committee, under George LaBlanc, has made great strides and is always presenting an active voice to the public, while the Republican party appears to be dormant and unable to cope with today's politics. This, they fear, is leading us toward one party Democratic control. Which, several point out, is exactly what happened in Wayne County when the Republican party waxed fat after years of absolute domination.

DEMOCRATIC LEADERS are even more hesitant to discuss the subject. They admit they like the way things are going and wouldn't want to do anything to jolt the Republican party organization here in such a way that it will arise from its slumber and corral more aggressive and articulate leadership.

Dear Editor:

Wants Sanitation Rules Enforced

DEAR EDITOR:

We really got a chuckle when we read the item about the merchants asking for free parking space for themselves and their employees.

Whose fault is it that parking space is not available when they urge tourists to our once peaceful and quiet little city? Our city fathers paid several thousand dollars for the old Pfister property for a parking lot when they claimed they didn't need funds to build sewers which are needed so badly in different parts of our city.

WHO IS GAINING by this tourist trade but our merchants and the rest of the taxpayers are expected to furnish free parking for them.

Now Mr. Makel that you are rid of the eyesore in your neighborhood please don't expect the Lions Club to clean up the slums. They have already been very generous in their efforts to help poor vision.

The Kiwanis Club has also done more than their share. We should let the ones take care of our slums who caused them to be able to exist. For instance, our sanitation officer for allowing those shacks to be built on West Robinson St. and allowing them to be rented or collect rent for them with neither sewer or water. We should insist on water being piped to every house that is allowed to be lived in.

MRS. WOOD AND HER co-workers have more than done their share.

Our city fathers allow conditions like these to exist where all they would have to do is enforce the laws that already exist, but they are so busy now planning on having another bathhouse on the NORTH side where we already have a bathhouse on Lake Michigan beach. These bathhouses are only used a few months of the year and mostly are used by people who do not pay taxes in this town. So let's build some sewers that are used the year around and the people who get the use of them are the ones who do the paying.

We are registered Democrats and it almost makes us ashamed to admit that we are, after a dirty underhanded deal is pulled on a man that has well earned this position as Postmaster. This is not the Democratic way of doing things.

Requests Cutting of Weeds on South Side

DEAR EDITOR:

Mr. (Mayor E. D.) Hawley, don't you regret the request we made of you a year ago to have the weeds cut on Grant St. between W. Garfield and Carpenter Rd. and you just ignored our request the same as you have in the past neglected the lot the city owns on the corner of Garfield and Norwood roads.

In the past, before your administration, if the property owners didn't keep their weeds cut before they went to seed they were cut by the city and added to the property taxes. Now let's have those good old days back.

IT WOULDN'T HAVE taken the man on the mower more than a few minutes longer to cut the grass on the southwest corner of Sherman and Garfield to the fence so those beautiful flowers would have a chance to show their beauty. There are several places on West Garfield where he doesn't have to mow. Thanks to Mr. Sheppard, our editor, for allowing us to express our opinions. A privilege we haven't had before.

Please see that our sanitation laws with no garbage burning are enforced. No doubt your North Side residents would appreciate more or better water pressure and more sewers, rather than the taxpayers' money being used to have shower baths and toilets for the yachtsmen and a bathhouse built on your North Side bathing beach that will only be used a few months a year.

Likes Section On New Church

DEAR EDITOR:

I was so pleased, gratified and proud to read and digest (every word, picture and advertisement) the splendid supplement that accompanied your last issue that I must write this to you as a token of my appreciation for doing a good job. Father Denay, his able assistants and staff plus all the work and historical research your editorial department and aids deserve this commendation. This lovely Church property represents a valuable contribution to the Community and I am happy to know that it has received such worthy and deserving recognition.

I expect to be a permanent resident of your fine City in the near future and hope to be able to do my share in a personal and financial manner to help along all of these fine ventures.

With my best wishes for your continued success I remain,

Sincerely yours,

Gals Like Golf Lessons

DEAR EDITOR:

We wish to "Thank" the City Council of Charlevoix for its fine recreational summer program, this comes from the group of women who were able to participate in the golf lessons conducted by Dean Davenport and Dez Dilligan at 11 o'clock this summer. Some of us have been so encouraged by these lessons you will find us on the course at every opportunity. We all commend you for this fine work including Keith Carey who has helped promote and encourage this program.

Was so happy that I had the opportunity to introduce you to our new exchange student... Doing the story was one of my most enjoyable assignments... Adding to this was young Rick Milligan who is more than a little smitten with the newest member of his family... However, the payoff came which I mentioned to Mrs. Milligan that I was sure all the young men would be beating a path to their door... Young Rick's comment on this statement was a gem... "Maybe they'll play baseball with me"... I hated to be a spoil-sport but I had to tell him I thought they would have other ideas...

I know it's hard to believe, but our college students are leaving for the many institutions of higher learning... If you have such a student, won't you please give me a ring and tell me where he or she is going this year... This includes youngsters who are going to business or other training schools so won't you take time to call and let me know... If you don't tell me, how can I know?... So please... and the number's LI 7-6633... ***

WAS PRIVILEGED recently to be invited to a dinner the postoffice employees gave for their retiring postmaster, Pete Timmer... They're quite a closely knit group, that postoffice crew... and when there's something special, all former employees who are retired are invited... Among those present were Joe Foster, former postmaster, Floyd Black and Earl Miller along with another veteran rural carrier, Pete Withers, who's still going strong... plus most of the other present postal workers... plus a local resident without whom the department would not be complete, Jim Bogart, who has seen a lot of them come and go through the years... It was a little sad as Pete said goodbye to his staff... for it closes out another era in our town...

Commendations were handed out to two veteran clerks, Bill Supernaw and Rex Davis... In speaking of them and other employees I couldn't help but recall some of the things that made these and others who've been with the department special guys to the patrons... Like during the days of World War II and later during the Korean War, when some family hadn't heard from their son for weeks and weeks... Finally a letter would arrive, maybe on a Saturday afternoon when it wouldn't ordinarily be delivered until Monday, maybe on a holiday when there was no delivery, maybe in a late mail after the regular delivery had been made... There was always someone who had a weather eye out for that long-overdue missal... always someone who'd call and tell the family it was in or deliver it himself on his way home... What other postoffice can boast that its carriers include in his duties such things as changing burned-out porchlights, or opening stubborn windows, or totting a few stamps so some shut-in, the list is endless... And it is things like this that make this postoffice and its guys pretty special... What other postoffice receives Christmas greetings from its summer time patrons or residents who are gone for the winter... or pictures of youngsters who are children or grandchildren or former residents... See what I mean when I say they're special and why Pete asked them, in his goodbye to them, to continue to do these things altho' they're not listed in such and such a book of instructions...

I MENTIONED in my column last week that a certain guy around town was always good for a story... He didn't know I'd said this about him when he told me another unusual one early last week... Seems he and his family were leaving church Sunday when an unusual sight caught their eyes... A kitten that lives someplace on Park Ave. playing games with a young red fox squirrel would dash up the trunk of the tree with the kitten in pursuit... The squirrel would dash madly along the lower branches while the cat hid behind the tree trunk, waiting for its playmate to speed past and then pounce on it... This unusual sight caught the attention of quite a group who could hardly believe their eyes... as these two youngsters' had a ball... because no one had bothered to tell them they were supposed to be enemies... Another proof that fears, dislikes and various forms of bigotry are not part of one's make-up but are passed on by others...

It's that time of year again... when we say goodbye to our parttime citizens, most of whom are very much a part of our community... our summer residents... As I've said so many times before, I often wonder if these people realize how much a part of our lives they are... We meet them here and there, in the store, on the street, at a party or elsewhere, pass the time of day, ask about families and catch up on news of each other... and then go on our ways... But countless times during the remainder of the year, they're mentioned in conversations more often than they'll ever know... and are very much a part of our lives... To all of you, it's been wonderful seeing you, have a good winter and, God willing, we'll see you all next year...

Had a chat one day with one of our most illustrious citizens... who was not looking forward to the chore facing him... I tried to tell him it wasn't as though he was moving away but he still insisted it was not going to be easy to say goodbye to all those wonderful people who had been in his congregation for so long... Of course you know I am speaking of Rev. Harold Kohn who preached his farewell sermon at the Congregational Church recently... and, though he's going to be at Hidden Brook, it just won't seem the same, everyone will agree... But I'll make a wager right now that we'll all be seeing him often... and that, occasionally, he'll be returning to the pulpit at the corner of Park Ave. and State St...

Television Comes to School in Ellsworth

ELLSWORTH -- Housewives aren't the only ones who will be watching tv during the daytime in Ellsworth this fall and winter.

Television has come to the classroom in Ellsworth Community Schools. However, there won't be any rip-snorting Westerns or soap operas in the school house.

INSTEAD CLASSROOM tv shows will feature history, science, art, social studies and music lessons.

Supt. Jerry Albright reports three tv sets have been installed in the school to take advantage of education tv classes being offered through Central Michigan University.

The tv classes, Albright explains, are not a substitute for classroom teachers. He said they supplement the regular curriculum.

Audio visual aids used by the Central Michigan University (CMU) teachers could not be owned by a small school district.

Drop Band

ELLSWORTH -- Lack of interest and loss of a teacher, has forced Ellsworth Community Schools to cancel its band program this year.

According to Supt. Jerry Albright, the school will not offer band because last year's music instructor, Mr. Richards, has taken a new position in southern Michigan. Student participation in the program was very slight, Albright reports.

Two New Teachers on Staff at Ellsworth

ELLSWORTH -- Community School Supt. Jerry Albright reports two new teachers have joined the faculty.

They are Gerald Machala and James Ndy.

MACHALA, who will teach English and speech is from Detroit. He attended Central Michigan University, Michigan State University and Wayne State University.

Ndy will teach science and math. He is from Alpena and received his B. S. degree from Western Michigan University last June.

Teachers back from last year in the elementary wing are: Mrs. Betty Potter, kindergarten and high school librarian; Mrs. Dorothy Stool, first grade; Jill Stewart, second grade; Mrs. Donna Doubikin, third grade; Mrs. Ruth Wallick, fourth and fifth grades; and Mrs. Burnice Ruis, fifth and sixth grades and elementary principal.

Teaching assignments in the high school are: Nelson Spoolman, principal and science and math; Leon Jarema, commerce and history; Robert Danforth, head coach and assistant coach; Oland Kauffman, social studies and industrial arts; Mrs. Vest Thompson, girls physical education and home economics; Reginald Read, science and math.

Mrs. George Smith of DelRay Beach, Fla., and her daughter Georgie, a student nurse at Tampa hospital have returned to the southland. Mrs. Smith spent the summer here. Her daughter joined her for a three weeks vacation visit. Miss Smith has been awarded a $300 scholarship for use during her senior year in school.

We welcome Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Wolmak to our community. They came from Ohio to live in northern Michigan and are settled in the house on the William Parsons farm.

Mr. and Mrs. William Parsons recently attended the American Institute of Cooperation held at Michigan State University representing Rural Electric Coops of Michigan and were on the hospitality committee. There were 2,500 Adults and Youths registered for the Conference from 39 States, Puerto Rico, Canada, and England.

Mr. and Mrs. Deano Davenport and three children left last week for their home in Northridge, Calif., after spending the summer with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Davenport and Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Cunningham. Mr. Davenport is a freshman basketball coach at San Fernando Valley State College.

Clayton Saunders of Belleville visited from Wednesday until Monday with his mother, Mrs. Lillian Moore. He and Mrs. Saunders returned home recently from a three weeks vacation trip to the west coast.

Football Season Opens Friday for CHS, Ellsworth

Charlevoix Meets Rogers; Ellsworth at Central Lake

By FRANK MARTIN

There's color on the leaves and the scent of gridiron thrills in the air.

King Football resumes his 1964 reign Friday as Charlevoix and Ellsworth grid squads take to the turf.

The Charlevoix Rayders launch their season with a home game against the Rogers City Hurons who are said to be fielding their best team in recent years. The battle, at Kipke field at 8 p.m. Friday, is expected to attract an estimated 2,000 fans.

Rambling

SINCE extremism seems to be one of the most coveted topics of the season, it might be interesting to apply this fall 1964 phenomenon to current debate over a cement plant on our charming South Point.

As in the national political arena, there are two extremes of extremism in the air pollution issue sparked by Medusa Portland Cement Co.'s plans.

LET'S FIRST EXAMINE our extremists in the presidential campaign.

Barry Goldwater is labeled an extremist of the right because he passionately defends the principle that all men should be given an equal opportunity to PROVE they are equal, and that each man should accept the responsibility for his own destiny.

On the other side of the fence, the Johnson camp liberals—though they are seldom labeled extremists by the lefties of the big city press—contend the government should take care of all men who are not willing to assume the hardships of working for a living. This certainly is an extreme philosophy. In fact more extreme than the communies, who insist that every man, and most women, work a full day for their meager fare.

But what about the extreme views on our local issue?

On the one horizon we have those who argue, "We don't want to see Charlevoix change. We don't want industry here. This, indeed, is an extreme position, and one that, if fulfilled, would mean economic collapse for hundreds of local families. However, there seems to be very few people—even among summer residents—who are voicing this opinion."

THE OTHER EXTREME is the guy who blindly argues, "I don't care about the smoke or Charlevoix' beauty. I would be glad to see this turned into a factory town, even if it stinks like Pittsburgh. We can still drive a few miles to Mackinaw, Cross Village, etc.) and see beautiful scenery. I'm more interested in the dollars, than in Charlevoix's beauty."

Wow! This is really an extremist. And, oddly enough, this corner has heard more people air this selfish idea than it has the one that is (Continued on Page 2)

In Class D, playing eight-man football for the first time, the Ellsworth - Central Lake game at Central Lake, 8 p.m. Friday is expected to be the biggest crowd - getter in the league.

FANS PLANNING to attend the Charlevoix game are reminded single admissions to home games has been raised to $1 and that season tickets for four-home games will cost $1, a saving of a dollar.

Students tickets, which will admit holders to four football games and eight basketball games, will be offered for sale this week for $3.50 to junior-senior (7-12) high school students and $2 to students in the sixth grade and under. Individual student tickets will cost 50 cents for the older students and 35 cents for those in the sixth grade and under.

ALL FUNDS realized from the sale of tickets go to the Charlevoix high school athletic fund to underwrite athletic programs.

Dock Won't Ruin Scenery—Young

Though Earl Young estimates Medusa Portland Cement Co. has cost him $68,000 in sales, he still considers himself the company's friend. Young isn't excited about the campaign to make Medusa move its proposed dock. He says people are "panicky."

THE CHAIRMAN of Boulder Park and several expensive stone town houses on Park Ave, directly overlooking South Point, Young says he has had confidence in Medusa's good intentions since 1924.

The cement company several weeks ago announced plans to build a 1,400 foot dock on the east side of South Point and cement plant south of the point. This started an organized drive to get the dock location moved to the west side of the point. More than 700 persons are reported to have signed petitions to this effect.

The stone houses Young has built at Boulder Park and on Park Ave, are as directly affected by the company's plans as any in the community. The opening round against the dock's location was started by Boulder Park summer residents.

"I WOULD RATHER not see the dock there, I would rather see it around the point (where it would be out of view from town)," Young said.

"But, in all fairness, the dock is not going to cut off very much beauty or ruin the sunsets," Young said. "I was never concerned about the Boulder Park being damaged by the cement plant. The wind is north northwest."

"All these years I've sort of carried a torch for the cement company and gone on record with it."

HE CARRIES THIS torch in spite of his estimate that he has lost up to $68,000 in real estate sales due to the cement company. About 1926, Earl said, he lost his first sale because of the company. He had sold a $6,000 Boulder Park lot and had the full check. Then, the Ann Arbor couple he sold to, came back in and said someone had told them a cement plant was going up on the point. Earl gave them back their check.

WHAT YOU'LL FIND INSIDE

THIS WEEK'S EDITORIALS urge local action before the federal government decides to declare our slum problem a "poverty pocket." There is also editorial comment on littering...by both politicians and litterbugs. Page 13.

IT ISN'T A VERY nice subject, but ever wonder who's in jail? You'll find the answer on page 9 this week. Watch for it every week.

Medusa Agrees To Study New Dock Location

Medusa Portland Cement Co. vice president Worth Loomis and several other top company officials met Tuesday afternoon with city and township officials and representatives of the citizens groups opposing the company's plans.

Loomis said that due to the community's concern the company will:

1. Definitely keep the South Point Rd. open. "Our original hesitation was due to extra insurance costs and fencing costs."

2. Cooperate on the pollution ordinances if newer ones are needed. "Our experts," Loomis said, "are ready to meet with those of the community whenever you wish us to."

3. "We're studying the possibility of moving the plant to the west side of the point."

4. "We're studying the possibility of moving the dock to the west side of the point, as well as ways of making it a more aesthetic structure."

County GOP All-Out To Elect Goldwater

Set Sights on 70% of Votes

Charlevoix County Republicans got a chewing out from their top man, Art Speltz, Saturday night. And they liked it.

In fact, the County Republican Convention cheered and applauded Speltz's rousing declaration that he wanted to see party faithfuls quit apologizing and go to work for Sen. Barry Goldwater.

"I WANT 4,500 votes (for Goldwater)," Speltz demanded in the only moment approaching oratory during the 2 1/2 hour convention. "That means 70% this time...not 62%."

Speltz said too many Republicans have accepted the distorted image of Goldwater presented by liberal big city newspapers.

He called on Charlevoix County Republicans to look into the facts for themselves. When they do, the county GOP chief declared, they will find Goldwater stands for returning democracy to the people, under constitutional government; as opposed to the steady drift toward centralized power and absolute control by Washington.

Chuck Carey, Charlevoix shoe store owner, was appointed County chairman of the Goldwater campaign.

Area GOP Set To Open Drive

Charlevoix area Republicans will hold their campaign kick-off meeting next Thursday, Sept. 24. The meeting, originally scheduled for tonight (Thursday) has been postponed.

At next Thursday's meeting, 8 p.m. in City Hall, Republicans will launch a united drive and make detailed arrangements to open campaign headquarters in the Cashmere Shop early in October.

Kroger Names New Manager

William (Bill) Ormsby has been appointed manager of the Charlevoix Kroger store, 105 W. Huribut, it was announced this week. Joseph R. Sherry, vice president of Kroger's Grand Rapids Division, said Ormsby will succeed Max Moore, who was transferred to the Fort Wayne Division.

ORMSBY COMES TO Charlevoix from Traverse City. He was made co-manager of the Traverse City store in 1958. He has been with Kroger in northern Michigan since 1947. He is a graduate of Buckley High School, just south of Traverse City.

Mr. and Mrs. Ormsby have two children, Terry, 17, and Linda, 11. He said the family will move to Charlevoix when they locate a home.

After making these points to local government officials and representatives from the citizens group at the County Building here Loomis appeared satisfied the company will be able to settle any conflicts of interests.

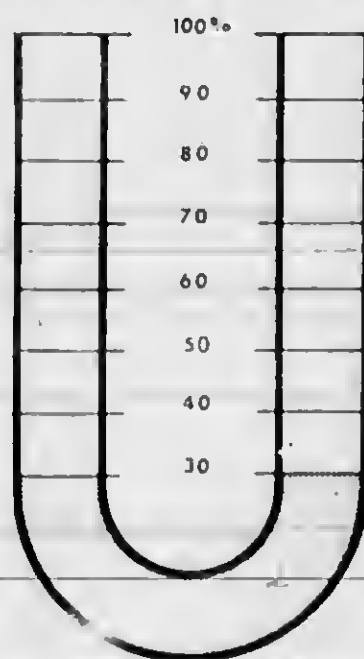

"We regret," Loomis said, "that we'll be intruding on the present natural beauty of Charlevoix. If I lived here I'd be on the citizens committee. We admit there is a conflict between nature and industry, and although employment and tax revenue and the like can produce benefits they are benefits different from those provided by nature."

"In our defense, however," the company's top administrative officer continued, "we have owned the property for about 40 years. It produced cement or lime before we bought it and it is difficult, if not impossible, to acquire 800 acres of cement stone in this day and age."

"We're most anxious to cooperate, first because that's only right, and second, because no corporation can successfully oppose a community."

"The operation we plan is somewhat marginal and we can't afford any long legal delays or undue increase in capital or operating costs. And, therefore, we want to work together with the community and not fight it."

don't need any year - round jobs.

Let's face it. This is a purely selfish position. Those who go to such extremes, inevitably, are people who would directly benefit from the payroll at the cement plant. They are not people who expect to work at the cement plant, since nearly all of its jobs-- especially the good ones-- will be filled by people Medusa imports.

However, the reasonable position is right down the middle, in this debate.

As Mayor Hawley and those campaigning for a rigid smoke abatement ordinance contend, Charlevoix can have industry and its beauty. This view, as held by the majority of city officials and summer residents, is the one that must carry the day.

IF IT TURNS OUT Medusa cannot construct a plant, or dock, here without staining Charlevoix's beauty, then we must quit sitting around like one of President Johnson's admirers and waiting for a bandout. We should go get a couple new factories like American Mold and Hoskins. This can be done. Other communities are doing it. And our worldly - wise summer residents should lend us a hand.

If Medusa can live with a strict ordinance then we'll have our cake and eat it too.

But, the notion that Charlevoix's beauty is for summer

Chamber Season 50% Over 1963

Personal Inquiries at the Chamber of Commerce this summer were more than 50% over last summer, Dean Davenport, manager, reports.

Davenport said 13,827 people came into the chamber office to inquire about local vacation attractions. Last summer 8,000 persons visited the chamber office.

THERE WERE AN average of three persons in each group, meaning 4,609 groups came to the chamber. Davenport's breakdown by months shows: June 20-30, 378 groups; July, 1,179 groups; August, 2,236 groups and Sept. 1-9, 197 groups.

prices is in keeping with those adopted throughout the league. H. E. Bingham, of the high school athletic council, said.

Coach Don Carey said his squad remains a question mark. However, if they would continue to tackle as they did in scrimmage seasons, they should do fairly well in competition.

He went on to say that the defensive unit looked pretty good but that it would take the offensive unit, handicapped by the possible loss for the present of two veterans, Dave Smith, a back, and Doug Winnell, an end, some time before it can become a well coordinated group.

AT ELLSWORTH where six-man football has been played in the past, Coach Bob Danforth said his players have taken to eight-man ball as though they had always played it. He went on to explain that eight-man football is much more like the conventional 11-man ball than the type played in the past.

COACH CAREY named a tentative line-up for Friday's game early this week but added there may be some changes before the starting whistle.

He named as probable starters Del Terrill, quarterback, and Rich Grunch, halfback, both returnees, with two youngsters, Steve Smith, a sophomore up from the reserves, and Ted Waldman, a junior who saw limited action with the varsity late last season, in the other backfield berths.

In this line, which will lack experience, he plans to start Randy Carey, senior letterman, and John Ferguson, a junior, at the end positions on offense; Mark Bourgoon and Neil Cross, both juniors, at the tackle spots; Larry Hutchinson and Mike Arbackie, the former a junior and the latter a senior who saw little action last year, holding down the difficult guard positions. Ed Holm, up from the reserves, will start at center.

AT ELLSWORTH where six-man football has been played in the past, Coach Bob Danforth said his players have taken to eight-man ball as though they had always played it. He went on to explain that eight-man football is much more like the conventional 11-man ball than the type played in the past.

He outlined a few major differences from 11-man ball, stating the game is played on an 80 yard long field, that the team kicks off from the 30 yard line and the opponent takes the ball on its own 40 yard line. As in conventional 11-man football, 10 yards must be covered in four downs. The scoring is also the same, six points for a touchdown and one for the conversion, scored either by kicking or running.

The main difference, of course, is in the number of players where the backfield boasts only three players and line, five including two ends, two tackles or guards, and a center. As in conventional football, the backs and ends are the only eligible ball handlers and receivers.

Coach Danforth said his players were having little difficulty in the conversion to conventional football. He added that he was sure the fans would find the eight-man game a more exciting one to watch than the six-man game they have been accustomed to.

IN NAMING HIS tentative line-up for the season's opener on Friday night, Coach Danforth said he had three returning regulars in Carl Goeman, a senior, and Ken Richardson, a junior, both ends and Burt Doctor, a 190 pound junior fullback. Returning lettermen will include two defensive players, Ron Dronth, 190-pound end, and Walt Kooyer, a halfback.

Adding depth to the squad, he said, were four seniors who were not out last season. They are Chet Boas who has taken over as signal caller on the squad; Marv Vandenberg, center, Larry Torga, a guard and Gary Torga, a potential end. Fred Gibbs, a senior is expected to fill the other guard position.

ABOUT 1945 HE went to Cleveland to talk with company officials; Medusa's president showed him plans, Young said, that included a channel and ship basin running into the point. This plan would not have required a dock.

"At the time the company's president predicted he and I would live to see a cement plant in Charlevoix," Young said. "I think he's died since then."

GOP Pushes for Barry

into active politics. Two weeks ago he started the Goldwater drive in Charlevoix County by organizing the Citizens for Goldwater-Miller Committee. Nearly 30 people attended the committee's first meeting last week in City Hall. This, partisan observers said, was a large turnout for such a meeting. A second meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. tonight (Thursday) in City Hall.

The only formal action taken by the Citizens for Goldwater-Miller Committee was to propose a motion that Charlevoix delegates to the state convention support and work for a commitment that Michigan Republicans campaign for an all-Republican ticket.

THE COUNTY CONVENTION unanimously passed this motion, after it was presented by the Charlevoix delegation. Charlevoix delegate Robert Lieberman was, as a result, instructed by the county convention, to get this motion presented at the state convention in Detroit Sept. 19.

Speltz said he attended a recent meeting of county chairmen in Lansing where Gov. George Romney said he feels Goldwater is a good man, but that he will not campaign for him in fear of losing independent and Democratic votes in the metropolitan areas of the state.

Carey said he was of the opinion all Republicans should campaign for all of the party's candidates. He said Democrat and Independent voters are already switching to Goldwater.

IN MANY CASES, Carey said, it appears to be Republicans who are least enthusiastic about Goldwater. This, he said, is because they have failed to investigate Goldwater's position on the issues.

Speltz, in his rebuke of Republicans hesitant to back Goldwater, said the Arizona Senator's support comes from a grass roots movement of Americans who are tired of the American Last foreign policy which has kept Eastern Republican bankers fat since World War II.

Dock

His biggest loses have come in the past few weeks, Eart said. And they were because of the barge hired by the cement company to drill in the lake bottom east of South Point. The barge has been anchoring in front of Young's newest development on the north shore of Round Lake. One couple who agreed to buy the A-frame home just being completed, came back to close the deal and, on seeing the barge parked directly in front of the property backed out, Young said. This was the end of a $45,000 sale.

THE NEXT LOSS came a couple days later when a couple turned down buying a $17,000 lot on the north shore of Round Lake because the barge was there, Young said.

"But that's ok," the 75 year old builder and designer said. "I'll sell them. . . and I sold the Boulder Park lot years ago." One issue in the current campaign does get Young's support. He thinks a stringent smoke abatement ordinance should be passed.

On this score Medusa agrees with him, and has told officials it will not object to an ordinance.

"THERE SHOULD be some kind of guarantee against smoke for future generations," Young said.

In 1924, when he started developing Boulder Park, Young said he contacted the cement company. The company took him to its plant at Manistowic, Wis. After his visit to Manistowic, where he said he saw a $100,000 home within a few blocks of the cement plant, Young has been convinced the cement company and Charlevoix's beauty are compatible.

Since 1924 there has been talk every five or ten years about the cement plant, Young said. ABOUT 1945 HE went to Cleveland to talk with company officials; Medusa's president showed him plans, Young said, that included a channel and ship basin running into the point. This plan would not have required a dock.

"At the time the company's president predicted he and I would live to see a cement plant in Charlevoix," Young said. "I think he's died since then."

City Resists Change In Sign Ordinance

Though taking no official action, City Council last week decided to stick with its sign restrictions ordinance.

Councilmen said they will turn down the request of an oil company to erect a sign 33 feet long by 4 1/2 feet high on Bridge St. The proposed sign is considerably larger than the 36 square feet allowed by the ordinance.

JACK AND DICK Stevens of Stevens Oil Co., Traverse City, asked the council to approve putting the big sign up at Al Smith's Texaco Station.

They said the sign would be 30 feet above the ground and 65 feet from the centerline of the road.

Councilmen told Stevens a public hearing would have to be held to officially change the zoning restrictions. However, they later decided to advise the Stevens against asking for a public hearing, because the changes would not meet with council approval.

"It isn't the one sign," Councilman William Fochtman said, "It's the precedent we'd be setting."

"If ONE GOES up how many more will want them?" Councilman Robert Neff asked.

Mayor E. D. Hawley spoke against the proposal, "Frankly it appears much too large to me," Hawley told councilmen.

"I'd hate to see a sign like this," Councilman Jerry Whitely added.

The oil company still has the right to request a public hearing.

STOLEN PAPERS FOUND IN LAKE

Mayor E. D. Hawley recovered papers stolen from the Thrift Market in Boyne City.

Hawley, Sheriff Glenn Rose reports, found the papers floating in Round Lake near his dock below Dixon Ave. The papers were in the safe that was broken into at the market Sept. 6.

ROSE SAID $600 was stolen from the safe. No arrests have been made.

Grid Teams Set for Opener

CHARLEVOIX GRID MENTOR Don Carey is a hard taskmaster, as these boys learn from the grueling and tedious routine of calisthenics he insists on. Since football practice started a couple of weeks ago Courier lensmen have been visiting the training fields, recording the action as the Ellsworth and Charlevoix squads got ready for their opening games Friday.

THE FANS TURN OUT even for practice in Ellsworth, where the Courier cameraman caught these boys watching the football team go through its pre-season paces. Maybe, in a few years, these lads will be in uniform for Ellsworth.

ELLSWORTH COACH Bob Donforth, left, and principal Nelson Spoelman watch the squad during an early practice session. They will be trying their hand at eight man football for the first time Friday.

CHARLEVOIX PLAYERS move into a practice field after doing their sprint work around the field.

THESE ELLSWORTH youths get the feel of some of the basics.

THE WILLIAMS' MOVE—Mr. and Mrs. Joe Williams behind the counter in their new store, directly across Bridge St. from the former Williams Newstand. The Charlevoix County State Bank will soon begin rebuilding the space formerly occupied by Williams to enlarge its quarters. Williams will hold open house Oct. 1.

We were shocked and saddened at the news of the death of Mr. Clark King of Jackson, former resident in this community who passed away Sept. 3, of a heart attack.

We will miss the Dawson family who are moving to 11 State Street Petoskey this week. Mr. Way will be working with Farm Bureau Insurance at Petoskey which will service several northern counties.

Mr. and Mrs. William Parsons visited Mr. and Mrs. Dale Parsons in Newago Saturday overnight and were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gal Brintnall at Hudsonville. Mrs. Grace Parsons returned home with us for an indefinite stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton Pierce of Sturgis, were guests at the William Parsons home last weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lape and Mr. Eddie Wolmak were in Columbus, Ohio, to visit their brother who is seriously ill.

Democrats at their County Convention in City Hall

Attending the County Republican Convention

Dem Convention Turnout Dubbed as Largest Ever

Despite recent internal friction, Charlevoix County Democrat leaders report the party is healthier than ever.

SEVENTY-FIVE persons attended the three hour convention in City Hall. This, LaBlance said, is "far more than we've ever had before."

"We used to have to coax people to take an interest in the party, but now they are all eager to help and are volunteering," LaBlance said.

A threat by Boyne City factions to LaBlance's leadership was upset, after minor skirmishes.

Named to the executive committee were LaBlance, Mrs. LaBlance, Clyde Warner of Norwood, Harold Price of Boyne City, Pete Johnson of Boyne City and Carl Skornia of Bay Township.

ELECTED AS delegates to the State Convention were LaBlance, Alvin LaFreniere of St. James, and Skornia. Alternates elected and Mrs. Skornia, Mrs. LaBlance, and Art Osborn.

The executive committee will select new county officers, to take over Jan. 1.

LaBlance said he believes Alvin LaFreniere's attendance at the convention marks the first time a Beaver Islander has been on hand.

Mrs. LaBlance gave a report on she and her husband's experience at the National Convention in Atlantic City.

ARCHIE MURPHY of East Jordan acted as convention chairman. He is a candidate for county treasurer.

Mrs. Julius Elzinga and Mrs. Elmer Gibson were credentials chairmen. Maurice Foster was chairman of the rules and order of business committee.

ENLARGE HOME

A city building permit has been issued to Richard Way to construct a 14 by 14 foot addition with basement, to the Elmer Gibson home at the corner of May and Lincoln streets. Estimated cost is $1,500.

Republicans Eager To Begin Campaign

Between 100 and 120 people crowded the court room of the County Building Saturday evening to launch the 1964 campaign to elect Republicans to national, state and local offices.

Estimates of the number of people at the County Republican Convention varied. Some said it was the biggest turnout they could remember. Others figured it was about normal for presidential election year.

HOWEVER, veteran observers told the Courier they had never seen local Republicans so eager to get into a presidential campaign.

Convention delegates unanimously supported resolutions endorsing Sen. Barry Goldwater and Rep. William Miller, and the party's national platform.

Other resolutions getting their backing urged the election of Gov. George Romney and senatorial candidate Mrs. Ely Peterson.

County chairman Art Speltz called on county Republicans to raise $5,000 in the next few weeks as their share of national, state and local campaign expenses.

ED HANSEN of Charlevoix will be responsible for money raising efforts. He is county Republican finance chairman.

The convention elected Robert Lieberman of Charlevoix, Arthur K. Rouse of Boyne City and Robert Sherman of East Jordan delegates to the state convention Sept. 19 in Detroit.

Alternates are Marshall Sayles of East Jordan, William Fochlman of Charlevoix and Mrs. Rouse. Mrs. William Lusk of Charlevoix and Speltz were elected delegates at large.

Elected to the executive committee were Speltz, Mrs. Grover Genelt, Harry Jennings, Mrs. William Lusk, Ed. Hansen, Chuck Carey, Ben Ellis, Mary Erb, Ann Hite and Howard Porter.

If Someone Knocks On Your Door And Asks You To Change Your Heating System Ask Him These Questions

1. Will your heating fuel cost more than my present fuel oil heat?
2. Will they guarantee in writing that it won't cost more?
3. Will I have to install storm windows and insulation to meet your cost estimate?
4. Will my heating supply be cut off, if due to loss of job or sickness, I am unable to pay my heating bill when due; or, will it continue during the emergency period as is the present situation with my fuel oil supply.
5. Will you guarantee in writing the BTU content of the natural gas delivered?
6. By using modern oil heat, I am free to buy both fuel and service where I choose. If I am displeased with your heating fuel or service, can I change to another supplier?
7. My oil fuel gives me plenty of hot water fast? Can your system match this?
8. Will you give me a written guarantee that heating costs under your system will not exceed your estimate.

Island is Paradise for Biology Student

By Etwood Landis

BEAVER ISLAND - Chances many high school biology students in Michigan and elsewhere will be inspired and guided by teachers who "lived like entomologists" on Beaver Island for six weeks this summer.

Thirty-two teachers, from Michigan and as far away as New England and California, spent the first week in a biology institute, studying ecology and aquabiology on and around Beaver and.

BEAVER ISLAND is a virtual biologist's paradise of a type which vanishes as areas are taken over for activities and occupancy men.

The island has several hundred around residents, most of whom cluster around the village of St. James. Much of the rest of the island is left to the natural growth of brush and trees that grow in on the occasional cottage and farm clearings and around the ruins of Mormon settlements and abandoned lumber camps.

The island's several inland lakes provide opportunities to study aquatic vascular plant life. The waters of Lake Michigan surrounding the island are relatively unpolluted.

The biology institute used facilities built by Central Michigan University several years ago. They include dormitory-like accommodations for faculty members and students, kitchen, dining and instructional areas and a biology laboratory.

THE 32 TEACHERS were selected from about 400 applicants on the basis of their promise or need to improve as high school biology teachers.

Isolated on the island from their families and from all but a few social and recreational diversions, the teachers had, as one faculty member put it, a chance to live for awhile the concentrated life of a scientist driven by his curiosity to go to the depths of a biological question.

Added incentive came with the knowledge that much of the information being collected by the teachers was new information, of possible importance to such agencies as the Michigan Department of Conservation and the U. S. Department of the Interior. Biologists have only begun their study of the island.

The institute concentrated on studies of the beetle and spider populations of the island and of the plant life of the inland lakes. Information gained in these studies will help to complete the biological description of the island and perhaps add to man's understanding of the balance of nature before man intrudes himself.

ONE STUDY, that of the perch population in St. James Harbor, yielded information of possible relevance to the future prospects of the nearly dormant Beaver Island fishing industry.

Raymond Gould, 53, of East Jordan, has been bound over to Circuit Court on a charge of taking indecent liberties with minor female children.

Gould waived examination on the Sheriff's Dept. charge when brought before Justice John Connolly. He was released on $500 bond.

Connolly Gets Tough On Teenage Drinkers

Charlevoix Justice John Connolly has recently sentenced seven minors up to $10 for possessing alcoholic beverages.

In other justice court action Connolly has sentenced people for furnishing alcoholic beverages to minors and larceny from an automobile.

KENNETH B. Chanda, 18, East Jordan, was sentenced $10 for possessing intoxicants. He was arrested by the Sheriff's Dept.

Scot Ruxton, 18, John Shertock, 18 and Sheldon Pogue, 18, all of Cincinnati, were fined $100 for possession. They were arrested by State Police.

Richard V. Clark, 19, of St. Louis, Mo., and William J. Berkley, 20, of Louisville, Ky., were sentenced $10 each for possession. State Policemen arrested.

Randy C. Price, 19, Boyne City, paid a fine and costs of $29.30 for possession. He was arrested by State Police.

ROBERT A. E. , 20, of Petoskey, paid $110. e and costs for furnishing to minors.

Dennis F. Mas , of Walloon Lake and William H. Dixon, 19, of Boyne Falls, paid $60 fine each for stealing hub caps.

Burglars are never real brainy
And we know of one who's quite zany.
All he stole, the dumb fella,
Was a purple umbrella
And the weather was not even rainy!

TRUCKS FOR '65!

More models, more engines, more Chevy workpower!

The long strong line of Chevy trucks for '65 is rolling in with miles of new working equipment. Like that handsome Fleetside pickup that leads the pack... one of the 18 pickup models in the line this year.

Further along, you'll find economical Chevy Vans, a wide selection of walk-in vans, a bigger choice of big trucks, more job-tailored components—trucks built to fit your business and budget.

And under those hoods you'll find the best in 4- and 6-cylinder, V8 and diesel power, 18 tough truck engines in all including 4 new lower cost diesels. Here's the huskiest bunch of haulers that ever came looking for work!

Our word for all this is workpower. That's the stuff that makes a truck a real truck. A hard-nosed money-saver. Yes, workpower's here and Chevy's got it, in such a variety of types and sizes that picking the best truck for your job will be easier than it's ever been before. If you're in the market, just get in touch with your dealer.

Telephone your Chevrolet dealer about any type of truck

In Michigan... after a swim, beer is a natural

On a hot summer day, a dip in a cool stream can be wonderfully refreshing. Equally refreshing when you're relaxing afterwards with friends is a hearty glass of beer. There's hardly another beverage around that suits what you do for fun as much as beer. Camping, hiking, or just lounging on a lawn chair—beer brings to each just the right touch of extra good living.

Your familiar glass of beer is also a pleasurable reminder that we live in a land of personal freedom—and that our right to enjoy beer and ale, if we so desire, is just one, but an important one, of those personal freedoms.

In Michigan...beer goes with fun, with relaxation

City Tries Again

City Council has resubmitted the federal government its request for matching money on proposed $150,000 water improvement program.

The request for an Accelerate Public Works grant was turned down earlier this year. At the time the city was told it might have better luck later, when there was more money available.

Oliver Garver left for Three Rivers to attend the funeral of his sister, Mrs. Emory Rose. (We extend our sympathy to the family.) ***

Patty Elzinga of Charlevoix spent last week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Garver.

Your Chest $$ at Work

The services provided by all but two agencies which benefit from your Community Chest donations have been described in this series of articles.

The two remaining agencies are the Northwestern Branch of the Michigan Children's Aid Society and the Charlevoix Service Organization. ***

THE CHARLEVOIX Service Organization is a unique volunteer effort to keep all local men and women in the Armed Forces informed of hometown activities. To this end the organization mails a weekly copy of the Charlevoix Courier to all servicemen and women. Mrs. Elmer Gibson, Frances Martin and Ralph Hamilton administer the program.

The Northwestern Branch of the Michigan Children's Aid Society is a private, state-wide, organization for the care of dependent or neglected children. It provides foster care for children who cannot remain with their own parents; counsels unmarried parents; places children for adoption in selected homes. In 1963 the society handled ten Charlevoix area cases. Approximately one-third of the society's costs are met by donated Community Chest funds. Mrs. Mary Edwards of Traverse City is executive director of the branch serving this region.

Schearers Mark 50th Anniversary

Fifty years ago Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Schaefer were nearly drenched with cold, dirty, dish water.

Why do they remember this trivial incident? Because it was their wedding day. Here is what happened: ***

ALBERT SCHAEFER went (via buggy) to pick up Martha Appelhof to be married. She had finished cleaning the house and washing the dishes for the family and her brothers didn't want to see their cook leave home. So when Martha and Albert climbed into the buggy to leave, the youngest brother, Ed, ran out of the house and threw the pan of dirty, dish water at them. Ed still remembers the incident. He recently retold the story at the Schaefer's cottage on Lake Charlevoix to some of the other guests who were present to help celebrate the Schaefer's 50th wedding anniversary.

Mr. Ed Appelhof with his wife Ingrid came from Beulah and were among the guests at the celebration for the Schaefer's. Some of the Charlevoix neighbors were: Mr. and Mrs. Phil Denly, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Langfelder, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barkley, Mrs. Nell Griffin and Mrs. Harry Smith. ***

THE SCHAEFERS were also surprised by their son Albert and his family from Detroit and son Gilbert and family from Hillsdale.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank O'Donnell were their daughters Margaret and Carol Ann of Chicago their sons and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richy O'Donnell of Grand Rapids and Ronny O'Donnell of Detroit.

Bob Detaney of Grand Rapids visited here.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Martin and Pam visited a week in Flint their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Gerry Martin and daughters returned here with them for an indefinite stay.

Gene Connaghton of Chicago came for his wife and family who have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert McDonough. Other guests at the Bert McDonough home were their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Zashowsky of Chicago.

Demand on Justice Staggering

At Ellsworth
Aux. Program

Eleven members of the Charlevoix American Legion Auxiliary attended the installation of officers in Ellsworth. Past National Auxiliary President Dorothy Pearl took part in the program.

Attending from Charlevoix were: Eva Smith, Lizzie Cannon, Mary Howe, Esther Shearer, Lilla Allard, Mary Worle, Lydia Johnson, Hazel Miller, Marva Cooper, Minnie Pedersen and Mrs. O'Brien.

Circuit Judge Charles L. Brown finds the demand for justice is 300% higher than it was 15 years ago.

Judge Brown frankly admits he doesn't know how he is ever going to deal with the case load in his 13th Judicial circuit (Antrim, Charlevoix, Grand Traverse and Leelanau counties).

"THERE ARE ENOUGH jury trials pending in Traverse and other counties to keep us going indefinitely, unless they're settled. And that's just jury trials," the judge said.

During the August term of court in Charlevoix County, Judge Brown postponed the four scheduled jury trials, and most other complicated civil matters. He dealt only with the criminal and divorce docket.

Jury cases, actually, make up only a small amount of the court's total case load. Most of its non-jury civil matters and criminal and divorce cases.

Judge Brown manages to keep the criminal and divorce docket pretty much up to date. However, even to do this he often uses his private airplane to travel the four county circuit.

None of the attorneys, both local and out-of-county, the Courrier has talked to criticize Judge Brown. They say he is a hard working judge who is up against a hopeless task due to ever-increasing work.

In 1963 Judge Brown disposed of more than 600 cases.

The judge says the circuit's case load has increased 300% since he was elected to the bench shortly after World War II.

Council Proceedings

September 8, 1964

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date with Mayor Hawley presiding. Aldermen present: Gill, Hoffmann, Neff, Whitley and Fochtman. Absent: Alderman Parsel.

The minutes of the August 24, 1964 meeting were approved as presented to the Council in writing and as recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

The Council approved the reduction of the business license for Al's Teen Club from $25.00 to $12.50 because the Club operated for only one month.

Representatives of the Stevens Oil, Texaco Distributors of Traverse City appeared before the Council requesting a change of the Sign Ordinance. The request was referred to committee for study.

Moved by Alderman Gill and supported by Alderman Whitley that the City ask for bids on Fleet Insurance. Information may be obtained at the office of the City Clerk. Bids will be received until 8:00 p.m. EST October 19, 1964. The City reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids as is deemed to be in the best interest of the City.

Motion adopted by the following Yea and Nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Gill, Hoffmann, Neff, Whitley and Fochtman. Nays: None. Absent: Alderman Parsel.

Moved by Alderman Gill and supported by Alderman Hoffmann that the bid of the Charlevoix Oil Company in amount of $4,329.00 (outright purchase) for a truck for the street department being the lowest bid received be accepted. Motion adopted by the following Yea and Nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Gill, Hoffmann, Neff, Whitley and Fochtman. Nays: None. Absent: Alderman Parsel.

Moved by Alderman Hoffmann and supported by Alderman Fochtman that Jack Begrow be engaged as architect for the new administration building at the municipal airport. Motion adopted by the following Yea and Nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Gill, Hoffmann, Neff, Whitley and Fochtman. Nays: None. Absent: Alderman Parsel.

Moved by Alderman Gill and supported by Alderman Neff that the bid of Hal Forbrig for the Colonial Club property be brought from table. Motion adopted by the following Yea and Nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Gill, Hoffmann, Neff, Whitley and Fochtman. Nays: None. Absent: Alderman Parsel.

Moved by Alderman Gill and supported by Alderman Hoffmann that the bid of Helmut A. Forbrig in amount of $3,569.00 for the Colonial Club property be rejected. Motion adopted by the following Yea and Nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Gill, Hoffmann, Neff, Whitley, and Fochtman. Nays: None. Absent: Alderman Parsel.

Mayor Hawley assigned the matter of the Colonial Club property to the Finance Committee for study and to report to the Council at a future meeting.

The following resolution was offered by Alderman Neff and supported by Alderman Gill.

RESOLUTION

BE IT HEREBY RESOLVED, by the Common Council of the City of Charlevoix that the City of Charlevoix convey to Blanche L. Kerns all its right, title and interest to the following described real estate in the City of Charlevoix described as follows:

"All that portion of the following described parcel lying South of the southeasterly line of Highway U.S. 31, commencing 105 rods South and 10-2/3 rods West of the Northeast corner of Section 34, Town 34 North, Range 8 West; Thence West 5-1/3 rods; Thence North to the place of beginning, all being in Section 34, Town 34 North, Range 8 West, Charlevoix County, Michigan."

It being the intention of the conveyance to correct the description of certain property conveyed to the City of Charlevoix by the Department of Conservation for the State of Michigan by deed dated July 18, 1944, such deed being recorded in Deed Liber 126, page 103.

Resolution adopted by the following Yea and Nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Gill, Hoffmann, Neff, Whitley and Fochtman. Nays: None. Absent: Alderman Parsel.

The Finance Committee having examined bills totaling $49,252.92 find them correct and recommend they be allowed. Moved by Alderman Fochtman and supported by Alderman Neff that the bills be allowed and orders drawn for their amounts. Motion adopted by the following Yea and Nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Gill, Hoffmann, Neff, Whitley and Fochtman. Nays: None. Absent: Alderman Parsel.

On motion the Council adjourned.

Romney's Confidence In City Sets Example

GOV. GEORGE ROMNEY last week revealed in his letter to the Courier his confidence in smalltown government to deal with enormous social problems.

Charlevoix is an almost unique example of responsibility in small-town government. While other communities have been unable, or unwilling, to cope with post-war problems, Charlevoix city leaders have moved with the times...and often ahead of them.

HOWEVER, ONLY in the past decade have big cities found the solution, or had the daring, to plunge into slum elimination projects.

So, once again, Charlevoix will be pioneering a new phase of local government courage and public service in the north country by tackling this problem.

Romney's letter to the Courier editor is a vote of confidence in our community's ability to meet its own problems and solve them. In this Romney--and indirectly Charlevoix--have been supported by other state and area leaders.

Perhaps, the most important thing about Romney's letter is that it should give local leaders the confidence they need to face the problem squarely and begin seeking an over-all answer. It is understandable that city councilmen and the district health department has been reluctant to come to grips with the issue. Until the last few months they had no reason to believe they could cope with it.

FOR YEARS SOME elements of our community and government have demanded that something be done. However, they have done little more than demand. They stepped forward with no reasonable course of action.

Litter Woes Create Complex Problems, But No Solutions

IN THE PAST few months local officials and the Courier have heard repeated demands that laws against littering our beaches, campsites, picnic grounds and roads be enforced.

This is a noble suggestion. But perhaps unfortunately, nobility on its own has solved few of our woes.

IT IS TRUE THAT littering is against the law. Laws, however, will no more eliminate litter than they will insure equality, morality or make every man put forth a sincere effort to work for a living.

To enforce anti-litter laws would require government control of every person's conscience. This, no matter how noble the purpose, we pray will never come about.

Perhaps, as many suggest, it would help if local law enforcement officials would make a concerted effort to nab two or three litterers each year and get them heavily fined...publicized.

Of course, education, signs and trash barrels will eliminate some of the trash. But the bulk of the litter will still be with us.

PROBABLY THE MOST effective action against litter would be to launch a two-pronged attack:

1. Organize community and group work parties to pick up the beaches, roadsides, etc., and give them plenty of publicity. At the same time encourage more people to report others they see littering.

2. Ask service clubs, civic groups and summer residents to pitch in to purchase a machine (such as described in this week's Courier) that

Though it has been severely criticized for making our slums a headline and editorial issue, the Courier feels it has served as a useful intermediary by keeping the issue before the public and focusing attention on the possibility of a solution through professional consultants.

Recent developments should not lead people to believe our slums will disappear in the next few months. They will not. If the city and health department move immediately to employ planners the solution will still be several years away. But it will be in the offing. Which is a promise we never had before.

Least there be some who scoff at Gov. Romney's proposal that local leadership (city or council) is the solution, let us not overlook President Johnson's recent political success with the poverty pockets business.

THE COURIER is aware that federal agents are now moving at great haste to find areas in which to spend this poverty money. The Courier also knows for a fact that Charlevoix's slums have come to their attention. Our political sense tells us the Johnson Administration might be able to make hay with the story that it came to the aid of poverty stricken American Indians living in slums on the edge of a supposedly wealthy Republican resort community.

To those of us aware of the situation here, the idea, on the surface, seems absurd. But consider for a moment the way the story would look in the big city papers.

However, Charlevoix is not a poverty pocket. The Courier hopes local leaders will move to hire a professional planner before Washington makes it one.

Campaign Posters Have Fulfilled Usefulness

NOW THAT THE primary election is over how long will it be before candidates get their campaign posters off our roadside trees and posts?

The Courier can understand why candidates feel they must deliver their name to voters through the use of posters. Though the reason is obscure, this has become an accepted tradition. To buck such an institution is futile.

HOWEVER, WE DO not feel it should be futile to demand that posters now be removed. Any politician who does not personally accept the responsibility for seeing that his signs are removed is openly flaunting his disdain for the public.

We can suggest two courses of action citizens may take retaliation:

1. Tear the sign down yourself and make a mental note never to vote for the person who left them up.
2. WRITE A PERSONAL letter to the politician (the Courier has his address) telling him he's no longer welcome in our neck-of-the-woods if he has no more respect for it than to leave his litter here.

Charlevoix of Yesteryear

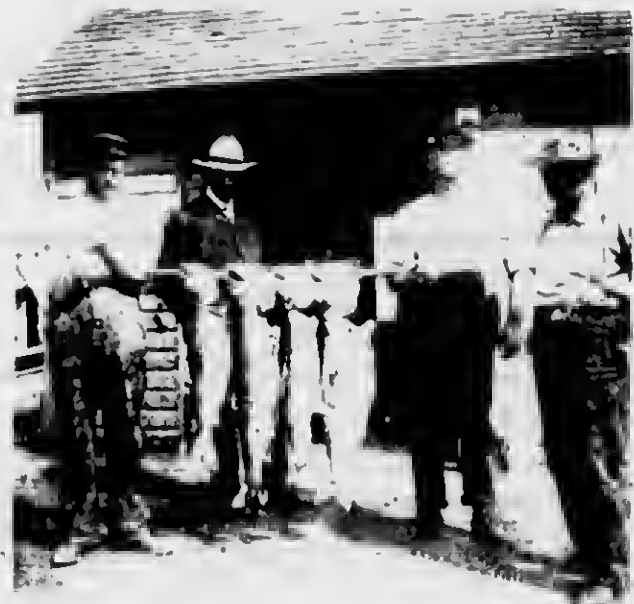

The Frank P. Goiken fishing tug on Round Lake about 1900. It was only one of five such tugs owned and operated by Capt. Geik C. Goiken during the era when several dozen fish boats operated out of Charlevoix.

Commercial fishing in those days made Charlevoix's harbor one of the busiest and most exciting on Lake Michigan. The picture on the right shows a sample of the lake trout the fishing boats brought to A. Booth and Co. packers, then located here.

The passing of the great industry came about when fish became harder to net and the factories lured men away from the herd of the inland seas, to the easy, high paying, labors of the assembly line.

Due to fundamental changes in the post-war economy, the fishing industry can never come up to its former peak, even if the sea lamprey is eventually whipped and the lake trout return.

Dear Editor:

Laud Odmak and Many City Band Volunteers

DEAR EDITOR:

Copying your recent editorial headline, I say, "We are fortunate to have Clarence Odmak." Here we have a man who inspires loyalty and cooperation in the many unpaid volunteer musicians who make up our City Band and our wonderful high school marching band. What would the Decoration Day Parade or the Veterans Street Parade be without this wonderful band? These young people took time from their summer jobs to get dressed up in their smart uniforms even though it was a hot day and most of the spectators were in shorts.

Pleasant Day In Charlevoix

DEAR EDITOR:

Not only is Charlevoix beautiful, but its citizens are truly hospitable. Recently when my husband was informed of a meeting which he should attend in Charlevoix, I decided I would go along to keep him company on the trip. Never having been there before I was greatly surprised to find such beauty and cleanliness in your fair city.

The new County building is something for your people to be very proud of and I took advantage of the lovely lounge, and spent most of the day there knitting while waiting for my husband.

THE HOST OF THE meeting so very graciously invited me to have dinner with them in a very nice place called Gray Gables, the meal was wonderful and the atmosphere was delightful.

In the afternoon when we returned to the county building and I had resumed knitting a young man brought coffee and another employee brought a serving of apple pie to me so I felt I had been royally treated and I shall no doubt return to Charlevoix the Beautiful again in the near future.

Sincerely

Hospital Open House A Success

DEAR EDITOR:

The Board of Trustees and I want to thank you for the publication of the article regarding Charlevoix Hospital's tenth anniversary. Our open house was a great success, as many visitors came to see and admire the hospital and its facilities, and we feel that your front page story was the prime factor in making it so successful.

We also appreciate your publication of the pictures in the recent issue of the Courier. We, who are closely associated with the hospital, are so proud of it that we just assume that everyone else should think it something wonderful too, and we feel that all the residents of Charlevoix should become acquainted with it and share personally in our pride.

Thank you again.

There are things one does because one feels he or she has to... Right now I'm in the midst of one of those things... the controversy, if you can call it that, with the Medusa company regarding the dock to be built at South Point...

All too many people have screamed "But you've got to go along with progress" and "You're trying to keep industry out..." that's what too many people have tried to do and look where we are today! There are a couple of the arguments... I'd like to use this column to answer those accusations and to clarify my thoughts on the situation...

TO BEGIN WITH, I never go to bat for something I don't believe in with all my heart... and I believe that Charlevoix, as it is, is worth fighting for... That is why, when I was asked, I said I would work with the citizen's committee to petition the Township Board, the City Council and Medusa to "plan and work together to preserve the natural beauty of Charlevoix by: 1. moving the proposed Medusa Cement Co. dock to the far side of South Point to preserve the sunsets and the clear view of the bay; 2. Enacting a smoke abatement ordinance (similar to that of Los Angeles, Calif.) to protect the clean air of Charlevoix."

First, there is nothing in that petition that says we do not want industry; it merely asks, if you'll re-read it, that the three groups mentioned get together to plan and work together... certainly a reasonable request... Why are we asking that the dock be placed on the far side of South Point? This proposed dock will, according to the plans handed over to various state agencies by Medusa, extend 1200 ft. directly east from South Point and will have at its end a "T" some 680 ft. long... Somewhere on this dock, where the underside will be 14 ft. above the water, will be a conveyor on which limestone will be carried out onto the dock to be loaded into carriers... big jobs comparable to those operated by the Bradley Transportation Co. out of Rogers City... all of them 500 ft. or more in length... As the conveyor structure nears the end of the dock it will rise to some six to eight stories above the dock... and on the shores will be housed, in an equally unsightly building, the machinery to operate said conveyors... all of which will very much change the lines of the bay and South Point... One of the many things that makes Charlevoix the beautiful spot it is...

Added to that, what about all the debris, oil, refuse black smoke, soot, and what have you from these carriers plus all the dirt, oil, limestone, smoke, soot and by-products of the loading operation that will wash up on our beaches all the way from South Point to North Point and into the yacht basin in the harbor?

IF WE WANT TO discuss with Medusa the possibility of changing the location of the dock, what better time than now... before work on the dock has started?

As for the smoke abatement ordinance, let me ask you one question? Do you want your beautiful Charlevoix with its green trees, its freshly painted houses, its clean streets and its other attributes that make it an outstanding summer resort and a yachtman's paradise to take on the look of other cities... one of them within 15 miles of us...? I might add right now, that whether or not you want to accept this, and it is a fact... more than 50 percent of Charlevoix's economy is based on the resort business... If you throw away the very thing that makes this community such an outstanding resort, then I hope you don't sleep nights because your conscience keeps you awake...

One of the arguments is that the cement company project would more than replace this... I was never good at math but even I can dope out that the 100 jobs that would become available, when and if, Medusa were to build a cement plant here, would in no way even start to compensate for this loss...

I'm told that a company official has said that building the dock on the west side of the point would cost a million dollars more... Medusa estimates it has a 100-year-plus deposit of limestone here... Spread that million over 100 years and you'll find that it won't pay the annual salary of these people who make Charlevoix their home because it's the kind of an area it is... And what better time to do it then now?

I AM ALSO TOLD Medusa has said this operation will not ruin the resort business by despoiling the beaches and by its smoke and dust... My thought on the subject is this: If Medusa officials are sincere in these promises, they will not object to conferring with local groups such as the township board, the city council and the citizen's committee... If they mean what they say and their intent is sincere, then why should they object to meeting the reasonable requests of those people who make Charlevoix their home because it's the kind of an area it is... And what better time to do it then now?

I'm unreasonable in my thinking? Since when has it been unreasonable to sit down and, in an amicable manner, discuss this situation?

When I, and the others who make up the citizens group, started this project, we did it because we believed in it and because we felt that we had to try... I know I speak for everyone when I say that anything worthwhile is worth fighting for... and that's why I'm where I am... in there pitching all the way... for something I believe in with all my heart... Charlevoix... May I count on you?

Machine Picks Up Trash from Beach

A new and moderately priced machine, called the BeachLeach, is being billed as the possible solution to removing litter from Charlevoix area beaches.

Selling for $5,000, the BeachLeach is produced by Jackson Vibrators of Ludington, Mich. The BEACHLEACH literally picks the beach up and puts it down again, without the trash," G. Gordon Davis, manager of Jackson Vibrators' special products division told the Courier.

Davis said the company would put on a BeachLeach demonstration for city officials and summer residents if they are interested. The BeachLeach, a company news release states, "is a beach cleaner capable of cutting through the sand to a depth of six inches by four and a half feet wide. The "BeachLeach" will pick up trash that would be nearly impossible to remove by other means. Debris picked up by the "BeachLeach" include hair pins, sparkler wires, flip top beer can openers, 22 gauge shell cartridges, and rusty nails. The machine will also pick up rocks over 12 inches in diameter and planks 5 feet long.

THE SAND, WITH trash kept intact, passes over a blade onto a moving belt conveyor. The second feature is the vibrating screen onto which the sand is dumped. The sand is immediately passed through this screen, which is vibrating at 4500 V. P. M., and the trash is "walked" back by both screen angle and vibration, which is directional, into a large half cubic yard capacity canvas accumulator.

The "BeachLeach" also features a hydraulic hitch with which to adjust depth of cut. As such, the "BeachLeach" is a totally self-contained power unit, needing no power take-off from the tractor.

"These features also allow for a more compact and inexpensive design. This in turn makes the "BeachLeach" an attractive acquisition for large as well as small communities with enough beach to attract the tourist trade. It also means that the resort areas with small beaches of their own, particularly on inland lakes, can offer their clientele a truly sanitary beach."

Conkle Attorney

For Consumers

Consumers Power Co. has employed Guy C. Conkle Jr., Boyne City attorney, to represent it in the $150,000 lawsuit filed by the estate of Gary Oldham.

The City of Charlevoix and Consumers are named in the suit. They are charged with the responsibility of 14 year old Oldham's electrocution death. The family is seeking $150,000.

Clare L. Gillett, Petoskey, is attorney for the city's insurance company. The Saginaw law firm of Doonan, Scorsone and Trogan represents the Oldham estate.

New House

The Charlevoix Lumber Co. has received a city building permit to construct a 46 by 44 foot frame home at 308 Burns. Estimated cost is $15,000.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING RESOLUTION

Be it hereby resolved by the Common Council of the City of Charlevoix in meeting on August 24, 1964 that a public hearing be held by the Common Council of the City of Charlevoix on September 21, 1964 at 8:00 p.m. in the Council Room of the City Hall in the City of Charlevoix, Michigan regarding a petition to vacate certain alleyways in the City of Charlevoix, and that notice of such public hearing be published in the Charlevoix Courier for four (4) successive weeks prior to the date of such hearing.

The alleyways petitioned to be closed lie within the City and are within the block encompassed by Crouter Avenue on the North, Petoskey Avenue on the South, Prospect Street on the East and Burns Street on the West, and lie within that block as follows:

- (1) A 16 foot strip of land at the North end of said block extending from Burns Street to Prospect Street and running in an easterly and westerly direction.
- (2) A 16 foot strip of land in said block now platted as an alleyway, and running in a northerly and southerly direction.

Ellsworth News Gets Full Page In the Courier

Roy Staudenmeyer Accepts Challenge as News Writer

ELLSWORTH--This week marks the beginning of a new chapter in Ellsworth history. It also marks the initiation of one of the most unique experiments in smalltown newspaper history.

The Courier, today, starts carrying a page of Ellsworth news each week. See page 7.

REPORTING AND writing this news is Ellsworth's well known Roy Staudenmeyer. Which makes Ellsworth's page of news unlike any other.

Roy Staudenmeyer cannot see. He is the only blind person, to the Courier's knowledge, who has accepted the challenge of smalltown news reporting.

For Ellsworth this is a major breakthrough and more recognition that the community has had in decades. For years Ellsworth has been without comprehensive news coverage.

About the only Ellsworth news that area newspapers have been interested enough to print has been personal social notes.

AS THIS WEEK'S first "Ellsworth News" page indicates, Staudenmeyer, in spite of his lack of sight, is equal to the challenge.

School Supt. Jerry Albright suggested to the Courier that Staudenmeyer would be interested in tackling the job.

When asked, Staudenmeyer enthusiastically grasped the opportunity. He confidently dismissed fears that his blindness would be an insurmountable handicap.

Staudenmeyer types the news people give him on a typewriter he learned to operate at a special Wisconsin school for the blind.

HE ASKED THAT people bring him their news. He hopes to get stories about all Ellsworth activities, including those of clubs, civic groups, the schools, churches, Village Council, and families who have parties, anniversaries, birthdays, out-

Chamber Financial Woes End

The Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce is once again financially solvent with immediate money woes behind it, Dean Davenport, manager, reports.

The monthly chamber financial statement prepared for City Council, reveals from Aug. 3 to Sept. 8 the chamber took in $2,548.

OF THIS $2,548 was for membership dues pledged last January. Another $850 came from Venetian Festival program advertising.

At the end of July, the chamber reported its was on the brink of financial trouble, and did not have money to pay some of its large summer bills.

As of Sept. 8, Davenport said, the chamber had $920 in the bank. He estimated there is only about $500 owed on all bills. These bills, the chamber manager said, are all current.

Several persons who pledged memberships in January still have not paid their dues. When they do, Davenport said, the chamber will be in even better financial condition.

School Has 49 More Students

First Week enrollment figures at Charlevoix Public School reveal an increase of 49 students over last year's official count, Sept. Rex Milligan reports.

The 49 new students are even-

THIS GIVES the school system a total of 1,141 students, compared to 1,092 last year. In the elementary school there are 616 students, compared to 591 last year. High School enrollment at the end of the first week is 525, compared to 501 last year.

City OK's Annexation Of Medusa Property

Aim to Protect Future

County Board Must Approve

Charlevoix City Council Monday evening voted unanimously to begin procedures to annex into the city Medusa Portland Cement Co's South Point property in Charlevoix Township.

The move came after considerable pressure from many of the city's nearly 8,000 residents.

THE MOVE WAS taken, Councilman Dr. Walter Hoffmann said, to assure the city's future generations they will be protected against air pollution from a proposed cement plant on South Point.

Dr. Hoffmann made the motion to annex. It was supported by Councilman William Fochtman. All six councilmen voted in favor of the motion.

The proposal calls for annexing the Medusa property to the city by joining it to the airport. No private homes, will be included in the annexation.

Medusa Portland Cement Vice President Worth Loomis earlier told councilmen the company does not oppose being annexed. He said annexation is a local issue, and the company will not oppose or support it.

CHARLEVOIX Township Supervisor Clarence Rabach, who was at the council meeting, did not speak against the annexation motion.

Hoffmann said the motion had to be acted on Monday so it could legally be presented to the County Board of Supervisors at its Oct. 12-16 meeting.

The supervisors have the power to approve or reject the annexation petition. However, their decision can be appealed to the courts.

Mayor E. D. Hawley was reluctant to act on the annexation question, but did not oppose it. "Whether or not there is the urgency to consider annexation at this time I question," Hawley said.

The mayor pointed out ten of the county supervisors are from SHE'S HUNGRY--Thirteen-month-old Victoria Shaw reaches for a cookie offered her by Mrs. Nancy Wood, county juvenile officer, minutes after she was brought into the Probate Court and her mother charged with child neglect. Victoria was hiccupping and smelled of wine.

Child Neglect in Court Spotlight

She is 13 months old. She was hiccupping because she had been fed wine to dull her hunger pangs so her crying wouldn't irritate her parents.

Her diapers hadn't been changed in days.

HER MOTHER was in the County Jail charged with child neglect.

She is Victoria Shaw. And this is the condition county juvenile officials and Sheriff Glenn Rose report she was found in. Victoria, Probate Judge John Makel said, is only one of 25 equally miserable cases his juvenile department has handled in the last two months. Most of them from the slum section in the southwest corner of town. Victoria has two brothers and a sister. They were all turned over to foster homes Friday, within hours after the case came to Probate Court's attention.

VICTORIA'S MOTHER, Vera Mae Shaw, was sentenced to 10 days in the County Jail for child neglect. Robert Mitchell, whom Judge Makel said is Victoria's "acknowledged" father, was sentenced to 90 days for child neglect.

Mrs. Nancy Wood, county juvenile officer, said Victoria had been fed wine because she was crying and the alcohol would make her sleep. When Victoria was brought into the Probate Court office she was hiccupping and smelled of wine.

Sheriff Rose said he arrested Mitchell, who had Victoria with him. "Her diapers hadn't been changed in days," Rose said. "It was awful."

Judge Makel said people will object to Victoria's case being brought to the public's attention. "But it's time they realized what is going on up there (in the slum section)."

Mrs. Wood said Mrs. Shaw and Mitchell had been drinking in an unpainted frame shack on Robinson St. Mrs. Shaw lives in a battered house trailer on Wood St., she said.

Ask Townships To Pay Share Of Rec. Costs

A proposal was made at Monday's City Council meeting that area townships help pay the cost of Charlevoix's $23,000 recreation program.

Mayor E. D. Hawley asked Charlevoix Township Supervisor Clarence Rabach if his board of trustees would pay a share of the recreation program.

RABACH SAID HE thought the Charlevoix Township Board would go along with the suggestion, if other townships cooperated.

Rabach said citizens in Hayes, Marion and Charlevoix townships all take advantage of the city's beaches, softball leagues and other recreation programs.

Councilman William Fochtman asked City Supt. James Taylor to contact other township supervisors, asking them to participate.

Job Study Requested By Firm

The Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce is taking applications for various skilled and unskilled jobs.

Chamber manager Dean Davenport said an industrial firm, that prefers to remain unidentified, asked that the applications be taken to determine if there is an adequate labor force in the area to support another plant.

THE FIRM, Davenport said, is reputable and will offer year-round employment, if it can hire employees in the Charlevoix area.

Davenport asked that all persons interested in full time work come to the chamber and fill out an application. The applications, he promised, will be kept confidential.

At least one other plant is considering the Charlevoix area, and might be induced to locate here if it was shown evidence employees can be found, Davenport said. He said in lieu of these inquiries, the chamber will try to make a comprehensive survey of the local labor force.

Autumn Color in Full Glory

Nature's most spectacular annual pageant is in its full glory. The autumn color tour season is early and dramatically bountiful this year.

"I was amazed, I didn't realize they were turning so quick," Chamber of Commerce manager Dean Davenport said Tuesday.

EVERYWHERE, PEOPLE seem to be caught somewhat off-stride by the unusually early fall colors. Normally, the leaves do not turn to their full autumn brilliance for another two weeks.

However, nature's stunts explain that because leaves sprouted early this spring they have already lived out their lifetime.

State chambers of commerce and tourist agencies do not plan their all-out color tour promotions until October. Consequently there is some fear many metropolitan area residents will not realize it is color tour time until the best of the season is past.

To offset this, the Charlevoix Chamber is sending out color tour brochures and answering inquiries as promptly as possible. Davenport said the chamber is urging people to come now, while the leaves are decorating the countryside in their gaudiest colors of the year.

THE CHAMBER this fall is specifically recommending several choice color tour routes in the Charlevoix area. Davenport emphasized that Charlevoix is a splendid central location for persons staying a weekend, or longer, who want to take color tours in several directions.

In cooperation with the Lodge, the chamber has placed color tour arrows along a route running by Dixon Ave., out the Boyne City Rd. to Maple Grove Rd., then north to the Bay Shore Rd. and back into town on U. S. 31.

Davenport said that if the chamber had more money several other routes would also be marked. Routes that are not marked, but are being recommended include:

--Down the Marion Center Rd. to Ellsworth and over to U. S. 31 and back into town.

--Down U. S. 31 to Norwood Rd. and then down the Lake Shore to Genett Rd. and back into town on U. S. 31.

--Across the Ironton Ferry to the Peninsula Rd. into East Jordan and then back to town on M-66.

DAVENPORT recommended

Put Minutes to Work More Time for Learning

Charlevoix High School will spend 180 more hours educating students this year, simply because the number of minutes in a day have been rearranged.

Supt. Rex Milligan reports high school students are now attending seven 55-minute classes daily. Last year they had six 55-minute periods a day.

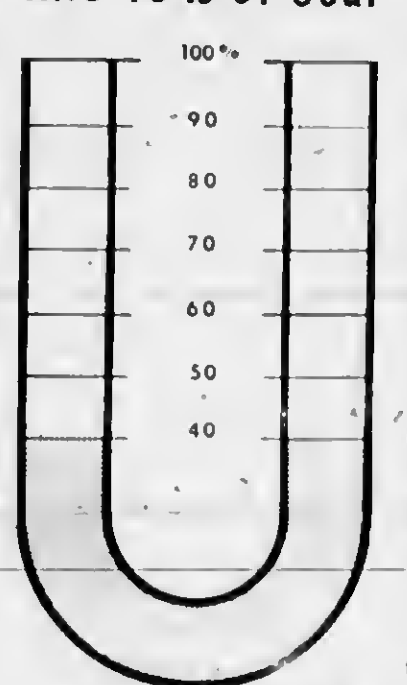

THIS WAS DONE, the superintendent said, by cutting ten minutes off the lunch hour and discontinuing the brief activity period last year.

Students now go to lunch in three 30-minute periods, between 11:30 and 1. Approximately one-third of the student body goes to lunch at once.

School is still in session from 8:45 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. The same as last year.

This, Milligan said, makes it possible for some classes to be smaller and gives teachers "more time for education."

town visitors or go out of town to visit friends.
"I will write the news and get it to the Courier, if people will let me know what is happening," Staudenmeyer said.

Mrs. Ruth Staudenmeyer reads to Roy the information people bring him or tell him over the telephone. He then writes it into a news story.
In a coordinated effort to get the Ellsworth news read by the community's families, the high school senior class has launched a Courier subscription drive.

IN ADDITION to getting Staudenmeyer's news in circulation, the Seniors will benefit financially from this campaign.
If you have any Ellsworth news, give Roy a call at LU 8-2019. His deadline is Saturday afternoon. He'll appreciate your cooperation.

Rambling with sheep

Faced with this blunt question of effect, his two listeners—Art Rouse of Boyne City and I—had to admit our attachment to a life of leisure.

Thinking on it later, I got to wondering what the hundreds of people who sit on their rump almost year-round and live off the state use for an excuse. They oughta be lazy like Karl, or Rouse.

But I promise not to shoot if he would ever like to finish the conversation I interrupted.

Historic Decision

Honored by Council

HERB CAMPBELL, deputy city clerk, undusted a historic bit of information.

Herb discovered the City Council is still meeting on the same days set by city fathers Nov. 7, 1905. Can you imagine that?

It's a bit humbling to realize men dedicated to Charlevoix have met every other Monday evening for nearly 60 years.

City Council meets every other Monday evening at 8 p.m. in City Hall. Some months this falls on the first, third, and, maybe, fifth Mondays. Other months it falls on the second and fourth.

The Board of Education meets on a set schedule, every second and fourth Monday at 8 p.m. in the high school.

About half the year this means citizens cannot possibly get information on the activities of both, since they are meeting on the same nights.

The Board of Education set its meeting dates on the second and fourth Mondays to eliminate this conflict of the public's interest. But the City Council, quite understandably, doesn't appear to want to change a decision that has become part of antiquity.

Our Dog's Turned

Cricket Killer

JOCKO, THE canine constable of Idle Acres has finally found his calling. He's an expert cricket killer.

Yep. His failure to stalk our pet bunnies didn't defeat his ego one bit. He just turned to smaller game. Crickets. And this is no small sport... at least not for Jocko.

JOCKO—Stalks his Rival

Crickets, you know, are a regular part of the carpet at Idle Acres. The little varmints like us so much they've taken up residence in the house.

But Jocko considers this an intrusion of his domain.

When he spots a cricket boldly crossing the floor he takes a few daring leaps at it with his paw. However, discretion being the better part of valor (pure malarky), he doesn't want the darn thing to bite him, so he never gets his paw right on the cricket.

Next he nips at it. But, again, loses his nerve.

Now comes the showdown. Looking back over his shoulder, Jocko walks up beside the cricket and rolls over on it. He'll do this two or three times until he's sure the trespasser is finished.

Oh brother, I hope we don't raise any kids that take after that dog.

Persons taking this route should turn north off M-72 approximately 18 miles west of Grayling on the blacktop road. A sign with a red neon arrow at the intersection directs drivers to Mancelona. Look for the sign on the right side of the M-72.
Davenport said that color tours could be better promoted if more money was available.

Annexation

cities and 15 from townships.

"I DON'T KNOW, but I'm guessing supervisors from the townships will defeat it," he said. Hoffmann said annexation is the only means the city has of assuring its residents an adequately stringent smoke abatement ordinance will be drafted to protect them against air pollution from Medusa's proposed plant.

Medusa officials have said the plant will probably be constructed in five to ten years.

Loomis has said Medusa is not opposed to a strict air pollution ordinance, and that such a law will not discourage the company from locating its plant here.

CITY ATTORNEY John Michael, before the annexation motion was unanimously adopted, asked Rabach if the township was prepared to draft a sufficiently strict ordinance and if it would then be able to legally enforce it.

Michael said modern ordinances (such as Los Angeles) require the use of special equipment to measure air pollution and technical experts to analyze the findings of this equipment.

Rabach said the township is willing to draft an ordinance, but that it would not be as stringent as L.A.'s.

The Charlevoix Public School is a member of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, accredited by the University of Michigan, and approved by the Department of Public Instruction for the collection of tuition.

There is an ever-growing need for improving the educational program in our schools. We must continue to improve and provide an excellent program for our boys and girls. The citizens of our school district are providing very fine buildings and have employed qualified teachers; however, our ever-changing world demands that these teachers be provided with new and modern instructional equipment. This year our school is making a concerted effort to improve our libraries and to increase our visual aid equipment. It is our desire, not only to improve our present libraries, but also to establish a materials center (elementary library) at the elementary school. Good libraries are an essential part of any school.

During the past school year our teachers have been reporting to you through the Charlevoix Courier in a column titled "The Report Card". I feel that this column is an excellent source of information on our schools and would recommend that the citizens of our district read these interesting and informative articles.

I would like to thank you for the interest and support you are giving our school. A good school must have the interest and support of its citizens.

Respectfully
Rex Milligan
Superintendent of Schools

MORE THAN MONEY . . . PEOPLE ARE OUR BUSINESS

John needed a new tractor for the farm

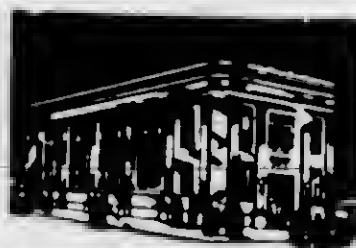

He was able to put in his order right away with the help of a loan from us. We were happy to lend him the money he needed. The investment in John's farm was an investment in the economic growth of this area.

Our long experience in the financial problems of farmers here has helped us to help you better. Come in soon and see one of our courteous officers. Inquire about a loan or any banking service. We aim to serve you best.

ooooow! Local Gals Touched the Beatles

By FRANK MARTIN

"They walked right past us and we touched them!" Susan Lyons said with a sigh as she told of her experience in Detroit when she and Alice Anne attended the concert given by the Beatles.

According to Susan, it all seems like a dream now but it actually happened.

THE PAIR, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lyons and Dr. and Mrs. Lyle Anne, had had tickets for weeks and had gone to Taylor, a suburb of Detroit, to attend the concert with Susan's cousins, Jean and Jennifer Lyons.

On the morning of the concert the foursome sat around, trying to figure out how they could get to see the famous British quartet when it was announced over the radio that they were staying at the Whittier, a downtown hotel. Suddenly Alice recalled that I. T. Quarnstrom, a friend of her family, owned the hotel. It took little urging by her friends to get her on the telephone with Mr. Quarnstrom. She explained that she and her friends wanted to see the Beatles so he told them to come down and he'd arrange it.

"That was fine," according to Susan who went on to add that his motive was fine but he neglected to tell the police guarding the entrance that they were to be admitted. After about half hour, they attracted the attention of the doorman, told him of their plight and, after a few minutes, were escorted inside.

"WE DIDN'T KNOW where they were taking us but we didn't question our guide as he took us through countless doors, hallways and stairs. Finally, after what seemed hours, we were told if we would all promise not to squeal or scream, we could remain near the service elevator where the Beatles were to make an 'escape' through a rear entrance, past the waiting crowd at the front of the Whittier," she continued.

"Suddenly, the elevator door opened and there they were, right before our eyes, even more wonderful than they looked in pictures we'd seen of them," Susan continued, with a far away look in her eyes as she told of touching their sleeves as they passed them in the corridor.

"And then it was over and we could hardly believe our luck. There were hundreds of kids outside and here we were, actually seeing them at close range, thanks to Mr. Quarnstrom," Susan went on.

A short time later they recalled they'd lost Jean and Jennifer's mother in the crowd so went outside to find her.

THEY RETURNED later to attend the concert at a downtown theatre.

Susan and Alice are back in Charlevoix and, at the drop of a word, are telling and retelling their experience.

Move To End

Coin Shortage

The shortage of coins, which has been mildly felt in Charlevoix, is being combated by the Treasury Dept.

Charlevoix bankers report there has been difficulty getting half-dollars here. Shortages of other coins, pennies especially, have been in short supply for brief periods.

THE TREASURY Dept. said
new machinery has been installed, and coin production nearly doubled, at the Denver and Philadelphia mints.

Production of 1964 coins will continue after Jan. 1 until 10 million 1964 coins have been produced. This will discourage coin collectors from taking them out of circulation, the department said.

Guests at the home of Mrs.
Kenneth B. Forbes were Mrs.
Henry Colons of Chicago and Mary Jane Smith of Grand Rapids.

Mary Ann Cummings has returned from Wayne where she spent three weeks with Mr. and Mrs. James Davis. Her parents,
Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Cummings and son, Terry, and daughter,
Marilyn, went to Wayne for her.

But Central Lake Wins, 19-7

Lancers Battle to End

The lights went on the field, the fans came to see the first eight man football game between Central Lake and Ellsworth.

The large crowd was thrilled throughout the game. Both teams

Grid Team Has Veterans Back

These last three weeks have been rough and tough for many young strong hearted boys. Coaches are trying boys at new positions, developing different formations for eight man football.

Ellsworth's squad have been willing to learn they are working hard and are building up high spirits as the time has come for the opening of the season.

THIS YEARS team has more experience than any Lancer team. Four players have seen varsity action in their freshman year, four players have returned after being out last year and are fighting for first team positions.

The freshman squad looks rough and fast with two or three giving the veterans a run for their position.

Coach Danforth has each player learning two positions. The Coaches feel sure this team is strong with a good bench.

Students Elect Officers

High school and junior high school students at Ellsworth Community School have selected their class officers for the year.

TWELFTH GRADE-John Hastings, president; Larry Torga, vice president; Darlene Klooster, secretary; Sharon Drenth, treasurer; Nancy Peebles, reporter, and Leon Jarema, sponsor.

ELEVENTH GRADE-Linda Vandenburg, president; Rick Shooks, vice president; Linda Torga, secretary; Toni Armstrong, treasurer; Shirley Pott, reporter, and Gerald Machala, sponsor.

TENTH GRADE-Susie Pette, president; Rich Ruls, vice president; Kathy Wieland, secretary; Judy Van Stedum, treasurer; Carolyn Denny, reporter, and Aland Kauffman, sponsor.

SEVENTH GRADE-Janice Wynsma, president; Kathryn Maakalak, secretary; Joseph Grose, treasurer; Joel Danaldson, reporter, and Nelson Spoelman, sponsor.

Ebenezer PTA

Hears Teacher

Ebenezer School P. T. A. began its meetings at Ellsworth. President Peter Timmer led in devotions.

The speaker was H. J. Kulper of Holland, who is retired after teaching at Christian schools for 46 years. He spoke on the "Hidden treasures of wisdom and knowledge as found in Christ."

A reading was given by Mrs. Versile Klooster, entitled "Where is God's Power."

Officers were elected for the coming year. They are president, Willard VanderArk; vice president Peter Pott; secretary Mrs. Thomas Wynsma Jr.; treasurer, Mrs. Fred VanStedum; Vicar James Rubingh.

Returning teachers, Mr. Krause and Miss Postma and new teacher Mrs. Andy Veenstra were welcomed.

On the program committee were the Herman VanStedums and Jay Kulpers.

showed power, good ball handling, and clean sportsmanship.

ONLY THREE penalties were called and those were off sides for the Trojans.

Ellsworth's Lancers controlled the first half with Doctor's plunging and Kooyer's running.

Chet Boss moved the team down to the five yard line early in the first quarter but the Trojan's put up a strong defense and took over on downs.

CENTRAL LAKE could not get by the front wall of The Lancers so had to punt several times. Middle of the second quarter McDowell punted to Kooyer and he ran it back to Central Lake's 35 yard line after two first downs and on their 15 Boss threw a pass to Ken Richardson who jumped between two defenders and caught the pass in the end zone.

KEN KICKED THE extra point and Ellsworth was ahead 7 to 0 Central Lake received the ball on the kickoff but was stopped again after making a first down and the half ended Ellsworth 7 Central Lake 0.

Opening the second half the Trojan's kicked off to the Lancers. The ball was carried to Ellsworth's 25 yard line. Two running plays and Boss threw a pass which was intercepted by Bill Scott. This set up Central Lake's first touchdown. Powers Payton maneuvered the Trojans then to the three yard line and Chet Kiessel plunged over for the TD. The try for extra point was missed making the score Ellsworth 7 Central Lake 6.

After a series of plays Ellsworth was forced to punt on its 30 yard line, a bad pass from center gave Ken only one choice but to pass to Walt who was unable to gain necessary yardage.

The Trojans took over and with a spirited team moved the ball across the goal with Payton making an end sweep. Chet Kiessel ran the extra point. Score Central Lake 13 Ellsworth 7. Late in the third quarter, the Central Lake Trojans on third and fourth down gained extra yardage on a screen pass Powers pitched to Kiessel, who ran to the three. Several Lancers had a chance at him, but with poor tackling missed their opportunity.

ON A QUARTERBACK dive Payton went over. The extra point failed.

With the score Central Lake 19 and Ellsworth 7 and only seconds left the Lancers could not get back in the game.

Rayders Go Against Harbor Friday

The Charlevoix Rayders open their bid for Northern Michigan Class C gridiron honors Friday.

The Charlevoix High School varsity opens its 1964 league play at Harbor Springs, 8 p.m.

LAST YEAR THE Rayders lost only one game in loop competition, and ended up tied for first place honors with East Jordan.

However, Coach Don Carey lost most of his championship team through graduation, and is in the slow process of building up a tough squad for this year's debut.

Charlevoix's 1964 Rayder football squad was initiated into the ways of the game Friday by a big experienced and speedy Rogers City eleven that romped over the locals by a score of 33-0.

Charlevoix, however, held the visitors scoreless in the second and third periods and managed to pick up several first downs though they were forced to punt every time they got the ball in the first period.

IT WAS TO THE Rayders credit that they managed to hold the Hurons after they penetrated to the Charlevoix five late in the game.

The visitors first scoring play came early in the game after the Rayders were forced to punt from their own 33 yard line after taking the kickoff. A concerted march moved the ball to the six from where Tom Gilbertson went over to put the Hurons ahead 6-0 after the conversion kick was wide.

Gilbertson scored again this time from 30 yards out, midway in the period after taking Dave Smith's punt on the Charlevoix 30. This time Terry Syrett's boot was good and the Hurons went ahead 13-0.

For the third time, the visitors took a Rayder punt after the hometown boys failed to pick up necessary yardage and turned the play into a touchdown, this time on a pass play that originated on the Rogers City 34 with Syrett passing to Gerald LaPointe. Syrett's kick was good with the clock at :35 seconds.

AS THE GAME went into the second period, the Rayders racked up their first first-down of the game but lost the ball on a pass interception on the next play. Though Charlevoix recovered a Huron fumble midway in the period after being forced to punt, they failed to get their offense rolling and the half ended with Rogers City in possession of the ball. Major action throughout most of the third period took place near midfield as first one team and then the other had possession of the ball. For the first time in the game, the Hurons were forced to punt. Though the Rayders never got inside Huron territory, their defense tightened and they held the visitors and took over as the period ended.

As the game went into the final period, the Rayders advanced to the Rogers 37 yard line where they lost the ball on downs. On the first play from scrimmage, John Fairbanks romped 62 yards to score. Syrett's conversion kick made the score 26-0.

AS THE GAME continued, the Rayders were forced to punt with the Hurons taking over on their own 40. They marched to the Charlevoix five in a series of five plays and threatened to score but the Rayder defense dug in and Charlevoix took over deep in their own territory. They moved the ball out to their own 19 but lost it on downs. After losing five-yards on the next play, Rogers' Gilbertson went into score with Syrett adding the extra point on a boot.

Rogers City recovered a Rayder fumble on the Charlevoix 39 as the game ended.

Coach Don Carey, looking over the potential of almost his entire squad, changed the line-up often thus giving the majority of his players a chance to play.

Charlevoix will travel to Harbor Springs to take on the Rams at 8 p.m. Friday.

Dodge comes on big for '65

What does Dodge do after two record-breaking years in a row? Go for a third. Dodge comes on big for '65, with four brand-new cars that are big, quick, fresh . . . backed by the strongest warranty* in the business. See them.

'65 Dodge

CHRYSLER
MOTOR CORPORATION

'65 DART: The Dodge-size compact. If you'd like to live a little, we'd like to let you in on something big—Dodge Dart for '65. Big beauty. Big comfort. Big ride. And big savings. At your Dodge dealer's now.

'65 POLARA: Beautiful way to leave the low-price field. Inches bigger and a lot better-looking than anything near the price. Why settle for less? Why, indeed? Ask for Polara at your Dodge dealer's.

'65 CORONET: A hot new Dodge at a new lower price. An all-new car that's as comfortable as a standard-size Ford or Chevy, yet priced with Fairlane, Chevelle. Refreshing new styling. Oceans of room. Coronet '65—drive it.

HERE'S HOW DODGE'S 5-YEAR, 50,000-MILE ENGINE AND DRIVE TRAIN WARRANTY PROTECTS YOU: Chrysler Corporation confidently warrants all of the following vital parts of its 1965 cars for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, during which time any such parts that prove defective in material or workmanship will be replaced or repaired at a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer's place of business without charge for such parts or labor: engine block, head and internal parts, intake manifold, water pump, transmission case and internal parts (excepting manual clutch, torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings). REQUIRED MAINTENANCE: The following maintenance services are required under the warranty—change engine oil every 3 months or 3,000 miles, whichever comes first; replace oil filter every second oil change; clean carburetor, air filter every 6 months and replace it every 2 years; and every 6 months turn in evidence of this required service to a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer and request him to certify receipt of such evidence and your car's mileage. Simple enough for such important protection.

'65 CUSTOM 880: If elegance were spelled in numbers, this would be it. From exclusive 6-window sedan to elegant convertible, this one will wear well with your appreciation of luxury and your sense of good taste.

THERE ARE MEN who will spend the whole year feeding a sad-eyed collector of mangle and fleas just so they can hunt with him a dozen or so times between Oct. 1 and Nov. 10.

Well, Fido's day of reckoning is just around the corner. Next Thursday morning he will get his first chance of 1965 to prove he hasn't been freeloading all year.

ACCORDING TO personal observations and those of others, the past season should be as good as, or even better than, usual in Charlevoix County. Around the rest of the state Conservation Dept. reports indicate the Ruffed Grouse population may be down.

I've seen pals all summer in just about every swamp and bottomland stand of timber I've tramped. Veteran area observers seem to give the same reports.

Irv Drost reports his favorite partridge haunts south of town are booming with young birds. Bob Bermann has just about the same report from north of town.

HAROLD LANG SAYS there seem to be more birds than usual along the Lake Michigan shore north and south of town.

Carl Becker, Boyne City forest fire officer, reports things are looking real good in the wilder sections of the eastern part of the County. The Deer Lake area seems to have an unusually large number of birds, he says.

Because there is less posted land east of Boyne Falls, Becker says hunters will do well to give it a visit.

Beaver Island, where the hunting report is always "excellent," has the same word this year.

DISGRUNTLED ISLAND hunters should take note of the fact that many of the game trails and best hunting areas of Garden Island are being cleared by the Conservation Dept. The job should be completed by Oct. 1.

In other years returning nitrates have made some nasty comments about the heavy brush on Garden Island making it impossible to swing a shotgun. Things may be different this year. No one seems to question that the birds are there. Getting a shot at them is the thing.

Even if the bird population is down in some areas of the county -- which appears unlikely -- the hunting should be better than last year due to the early leaf fall. Last autumn leaves didn't drop until almost the end of the season. Shooting was virtually impossible in the early weeks of the season.

However, just the opposite is true this year. Because of our mild winter, the leaves came out ahead of time and already seem to have lived out their natural life. Many trees are already bare.

In 1963 616,000 Michigan hunters bought small game licenses. This was down 22,000 from 1962.

The state-wide ruffed grouse kill last year hit 455,000 birds. Down 100,000 from 1962.

Michigan hunters killed 145,000 woodcock in 1963. The best year on record. What the timberdoodle flights will be like in Charlevoix County this year is, as always, unpredictable. But if they come in strong, it will be some of the finest shooting sport available to upland game hunters.

SundewTeam 3 Teams Vie For Honors Closes in On Shooters

In last week's competition the Sundew pistol team narrowed the gap between it and the Rod and Gun Club team, losing by 179 points. The week before the Rod and Gun Club team won by 200 points.

Top shooters for the club were Paul Johnson, 291; Frank Zednick, 275; Bernie Ward Jr., 273; Bill Blissett, 262, and Ken Boss, 257.

THE COAST GUARD's top shooters were David Smith, 274; Ernest Andalls, 239; Terry Gary, 231; Dick Gallant, 224, and Satterfield, 214.

Other Rod and Gun Club members shooting were Bernie Schaner, 198; Lester Brown, 217; Herb Boss, 234; Babe Matthews, 199; Al Towles, 192; and Harold Lang, 221.

Other Sundew team members shooting were Roger Roznoski, 197; Al Jacoby, 181; Dave Gof-fenev, 206, and Charlie Fleming, 123.

Three area pistol teams meet in outdoor competition Sunday, Sept. 27, at the Charlevoix Rod and Gun Club. All interested shooters or spectators are invited to attend.

Competing for the day's range honors will be the Charlevoix Rod and Gun Club pistol team, the Sundew pistol team and the Petoskey pistol team.

SEEK BEST FARMER

The search for Michigan's Outstanding Young Farmer is off to a fast start, according to the state Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the event.

Any Charlevoix County farmer between the ages of 21 and 35 can be nominated. Nominations may be made by anyone through local Farm Bureau offices.

TRUCKERS' PREXY

BOYNE FALLS—Robert J. Duffey, Monroe, Mich., was elected president of the Michigan Trucking Assn. at its convention at Boyne Mountain Lodge. Duffey, 44, is president of the Jones Transfer Co. in Monroe.

THESE MAPS OF the Upper Peninsula and northern Lower outline antlerless deer hunting areas. Hunters must apply for permits in the specific areas marked on these maps. The three any-deer areas in Charlevoix County (areas 15, 16 and 17) are shown. You must apply for your permit at a local hardware store by Oct. 9.

Bridge Commended for Savings Bond Program

Robert Bridge, president of Charlevoix County State Bank, has been awarded a colorful Treasury certificate and a lapel emblem in recognition of his work as chairman of the Charlevoix County Savings Bonds Committee.

The presentation was made by Delmar V. Cote, state director for the Treasury's U. S. Savings Bonds Division, at Bridge's office.

COTE COMMENDED the local banker for his long service to the bond program. Bridge accepted the county bond chairmanship in January 1955. In this volunteer capacity he counsels Savings Bonds Division officials concerning savings bonds sales plans and promotional campaigns in Charlevoix County.

According to Cote, Charlevoix County residents have done their fair share to make Michigan's bond sales record outstanding. "Since inception of the program in May 1941," he pointed out, "the people of Michigan have purchased approximately six per cent of all the series E and H bonds bought nationally, and presently own a $2.7 billion stake in countrywide holdings worth a record $47.8 billion. The interest yield to Michigan owners is estimated at $100 million yearly."

"Even more impressive than these present holdings is the $5.75 billions in cash which have been pumped back into the buying stream by Michigan residents who have redeemed part of their savings bond holdings," BRIDGE REPORTED Charle-

Antlerless Hunting Permitted Locally

Charlevoix County deer hunters have an excellent chance of bringing home venison for the Thanksgiving meal this year.

If they don't get a buck, all of the county is open to the shooting of antlerless deer.

LAST YEAR's best deer hunting reports came from the area directly south of town, between Charlevoix and Ellsworth. With many nice bucks being killed in the Barnard and Norwood areas.

The Conservation Dept. has labeled this area 15 for antlerless deer hunting. Area 15 extends from just about the south city limits in a narrow cut running into northern Grand Traverse and Kalkaska counties.

The Conservation Dept. expects hunters to kill 2,229 antlerless deer in area 15.

Charlevoix hardware stores have applications for antlerless permits. Hunters must apply for them before Oct. 9.

IF THE NUMBER of applications for permits in an area exceeds the quota a drawing will be held Oct. 23. However, this seldom happens in Charlevoix County, so you're reasonable assured of getting an any-deer permit if you apply locally.

Another antlerless deer kill section in the county is area 16. It just about slices through the center of the county, taking in the three major cities. Only 158 permits will be issued in area 16.

NEW STATE FORESTER

Ralph E. King, 45, is the new Conservation Dept. district forester out of Gaylord. He replaces Roger Rasmussen.

King comes to Gaylord from the Ausable State Forest, Grayling.

volx County bond purchases have amounted to $5,426,093 over the past 23 years. During the first seven months of 1964, investments in E and H bonds have totaled $17,780—equivalent to 57.2 per cent of the Treasury-assigned county goal of $206,000.

Area 17 cuts through the eastern section of the county and extends into Emmet, Cheboygan, Otsego and Antrim counties. In area 17 the department will authorize 2,089 hunters to kill does and fawns.

Nearly 200,000 antlerless deer hunting permits are being issued throughout the state. Virtually all of the Upper Peninsula and northern Lower are open to any-deer hunting.

FOR THE FIRST time this year several small sections of southern Michigan have been opened to antlerless hunting to reduce crop damage. In recent years hunters have been taking some mammoth bucks from the farmlands in the southern part of the state.

All antlerless hunting permits are good only during the regular deer season. This year's season is Nov. 15-30, except for the western portion of the U. P., where it opens Nov. 14 and closes Nov. 29.

This is my commandment, that ye love one another, even as I have loved you.

When we follow Jesus' example we are filled with love—so much so that we express understanding and forgiveness and handle every situation and circumstance with love.

Closely related dishes appear even earlier—several Japanese cook books from 3500 B.C. describe cooked dough dishes similar to today's pasta. Spaghetti served apart from rich gravies and sauces is not fattening—it contains only half the calories of an equal serving of roast chicken.

Jury Finds Two Guilty

A justice court jury trial in Charlevoix last week found two young men guilty of violating the basic speed law.

Justice John Connolly fined Thomas Sutton, 21, of Boyne City and Ronald D. Stoneham, 23, of Royal Oak, $20 fine and costs each.

THEY DEMANDED a jury trial after being arrested by Charlevoix City Police on a citizen's complaint that they were dragging on a city street.

Members of the jury that found them guilty were Mrs. Lee Moerland, Glenn Kenney, Robert Richards, Steve J. Kowbel, Jerome Whitley and Frank Sanford.

Today is '65 Pontiac Day.

1965: The year of the Quick Wide-Tracks

What do we mean by "quick"? Just this: A new-all-over Pontiac offering a new Turbo Hydra-Matic—the silky, swiftest-shifting automatic transmission you ever touched a toe to; eager new Trophy V-8 power; new steering agility; a surer-footed Wide-Track ride. And a new Pontiac Tempest that's become even more of a Pontiac with new style, new length and Pontiac-quick reflexes to match. You never knew cars could be so beautiful, and so keenly alert to your touch. This is your year to drive a Wide-Track—quick!

'65 Pontiac Pontiac

How does the success car outdo itself for 1965? Beautifully, just beautifully. But this Pontiac has no intention of getting by on looks alone, though it could. So there's new quickness, Pontiac style, A new nimbleness. New fuel savings. A smooth, easy new ride. Drive a '65 Pontiac and see how one success leads to another.

'65 Pontiac Tempest

Tempest's even more of a Pontiac now, and what more could a car be than that! The '65 Tempest looks like a Pontiac, as you can see. Rides like a Pontiac on Wide-Track. Goes like a Pontiac, too: a 140-hp six is standard. Or you can get a quick V-8, up to 285 hp. You'll wonder how we can keep the price so low on so much car.

How long would it take you to lay your hands on your birth certificate? What about the deed to your home? The title to your car? The lease on your office?

If such questions raise any doubts in your mind, you'd better consider the advantages of renting a safe deposit box at your bank. Then important papers stored in the bank's vault will not only be available when a need arises, but will also be protected against loss by fire or theft, damage by water or accidental mishandling and just about any other hazard--natural or manmade.

But before you head for the bank to rent a safe deposit box, let's consider what you'll be putting in it. Boxes come in all sizes--and prices--because depository needs vary.

Broadly speaking, your safe deposit box is the place for any and all personal papers that are either impossible, expensive or difficult to replace. Except for papers with antique or sentimental value, few documents today are truly irreplaceable. But the time and money involved in getting copies of many of them can be burdensome.

Who Goes to Football Games?

WHO GOES TO high school football games? This week's Courier Camera shows you who was there Friday as Charlevoix took an opening round 33-0 trouncing from Rogers City.

In spite of an almost steady drizzle, that sometimes turned into a downpour, loyal Rayder fans almost filled the stands. Many more crowded the retaining wires to see the hometown boys putting forth a hard effort to overcome a bigger and more experienced Rogers City outfit.

Look for yourself in these pictures. Or, if you weren't there, try to be after this.

TB Germs Infect Many in County

Between 1,000 and 2,000 adults in Charlevoix County are harboring tuberculosis germs in their bodies, the Michigan Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association reports.

The estimate is based on recent survey results, including those from a tuberculosis skin-testing program completed this summer.

VERY FEW OF those infected are spreading the disease to others, the state Christmas Seal agency said.

But of those thus infected, one in every 20—at some future time—will break down with the disease and will become a threat to others unless treated promptly, J. Irvin Nichols, MTRDA executive director said.

An adult skin-testing program in the state showed that about one out of four of those tested harbor tubercle bacilli. In some metropolitan areas, tests indicate one of three in this age group are thus infected.

"These findings emphasize the need for intensifying the battle against tuberculosis, a stubborn enemy that is resisting available methods of control," Nichols said.

Mr. and Mrs. Hay Ruotsala of Lansing called on Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer Orvis. They also visited Mrs. Andrew Zietler at Charlevoix Hospital.

City Bandsmen Begin Rehearsals Monday

An invitation to adult instrumentalists in the Charlevoix area has been issued by C. A. Odmark, director of the Charlevoix City Band.

The City Band begins winter rehearsal Monday Sept. 28, at 7:30 p.m. in the high school band room. Any adult wishing to play with the band should attend the first rehearsal.

WEEKLY REHEARSALS will be held, reading through the library of the band, and if the participation warrants, a series of winter concerts might be arranged, Odmark said.

After adult membership has been determined, Odmark said, the sections will be augmented by selected high school band members, so that a well balanced 40 piece band can be formed.

Interested persons can call Odmark at LI 7-2494, or better yet, come to the first meeting next Monday Evening.

Pinkeye affects cattle of all ages and breeds, though white-faced cattle seem more susceptible than others. It can cause a drop of 25 percent to milk production and rapid loss in weight.

When 14 ministers of the Charlevoix County Ministerial Association met at GrandVue Hospital under chairman Rev. George Majors, pastor of the Community Church of God, Charlevoix, the main item of business was the Chaplaincy at the hospital sponsored by the churches of the county through the association.

Because of present inadequate financing policies and the turnover of ministerial leadership in the county, the association established a committee to prepare a plan of financing the Chaplaincy by the churches on a proportionate basis.

THE REV. DANIEL Axt, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, East Jordan, and treasurer of the Association was appointed chairman of the committee which includes the Revs. George Majors and Alex Wood from Charlevoix and Duane Ferris and William Smith from Boyne City.

In another decision the association agreed to share in conducting Sunday morning worship at Boyne Mountain Lodge during the ski season. Rev. Gordon Spalenka, pastor of the Boyne City and Boyne Falls Methodist Churches was designated to schedule the ministers who are to share in conducting worship.

Dairy Records Pay Dividends

BY ED REBMAN
EXTENSION DIRECTOR

BOYNE CITY—Charlevoix county dairy farmers not keeping milk production records are probably losing more than 2,000 pounds of milk per cow each year.

Michigan State University dairy extension specialists recently picked 100 herds in the state whose owners have not been keeping Dairy Herd Improvement Association production records. One-half of these herds were picked at random and put on DHIA testing.

"THE HERDS PUT on test increased their average production by 1,200 pounds of milk per cow by the end of the first year," relates Rebman. "Production in the herds averaging 33 cows was up by 1,600 pounds per cow at the end of the second year. Yet the 50 herds which were not in the DHIA testing program remained at exactly the same average production as before the tests began."

The tested cows brought each of the herd owners $64 more cash per cow on the basis of the farm price of $4 per 100 pounds of milk. Although feed costs went up $20 per tested animal, the farmer still had a net increase of $44 per cow. The testing service cost farmers $200 for a 33 cow herd or less than $6.10 per cow for the year.

Nearly 20 per cent of the herds with 20 to 30 cows in the state now keep either DHIA or Owner Sampler production records. Michigan farmers with more than 30 cows have one-third of the herds on test. Yet for every commercial size dairy herd in the state which is being tested, two are not keeping production records.

BUT THERE IS still hope as more and more farmers decide production records are a necessity for successful farming. There has been nearly a one-third increase in the number of cows being tested in the state within the past three years.

Save Money, Buy Wisely

Milk, meat and eggs add up to nearly half of the average Charlevoix County family's food budget, say dietitians at the University of Michigan and, they add, there are tricks to stretch every dollar you spend on these essential items.

Whole milk is an excellent source of calcium, protein and riboflavin. But, say the U-M specialists, these same ingredients are also found in other forms of milk—powdered, skim, evaporated and buttermilk—"and at widely varying cost."

THE DIETITIANS say you can use non-fat dry milk solids in most recipes calling for whole milk. Sift the powder right in with the flour, sugar and other dry ingredients, then add water for the necessary liquid content.

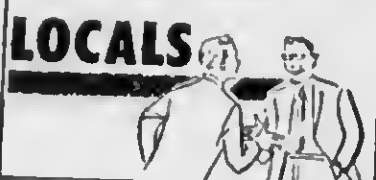

Among the foods you can make with money-saving powdered milk are pancakes, muffins, biscuits, cooked cereals, meat loaf, mashed potatoes, cocoa, white sauce, cakes and puddings.

Buying less expensive cuts of meat can also stretch the family food dollar while maintaining essential nutritional value.

Lean meat from a chuck roast is considerably less expensive than prime ribs of beef, yet each makes the same contribution to your diet.

But, warn the U-M dietitians, cheaper cuts of meat are no bargain if they contain large amounts of bone, fat and gristle. So you should never shop for meat by the price tag alone. To cut down on the egg bill, buy eggs of lower market grades when you plan to use them for scrambling, or baking, or in combination with other foods.

The color of the shell sometimes affects the price of eggs, but say the dietitians, it has no bearing on the food value of the egg itself. If eggs are comparable in size and quality, choose the color that is less expensive and pocket your savings.

City May Keep Club Property For Recreation

The city-owned Colonial Club property on Meech St. seems to be getting more valuable every week.

When the city put the property up for sale in July it received no bidders. Bids of no less than $10,000 were asked for.

THEN, IN LATE August City Council received a $3,569 bid from Ilal Forbrig. It was tabled.

Then things started moving.

Councilman Dr. Walter Hoffmann presented the council with a $5,000 cashiers check for the property. He didn't say who it was from.

Councilman William Fochtman immediately announced he had a verbal offer of $5,000 for only two of the three lots and the buildings.

COUNCILMAN BOB GILL then stated he feels the property is worth more to the city, and should be kept for future recreation use. The way things are growing, Gill

More Drownings

Michigan water accidents in the first eight and a half months this year have taken 248 lives, four more than 244 deaths for all of 1963, according to State Police figures.

The breakdown of deaths this year includes 128 swimmers or waders, 32 boat operators, 31 boat passengers, 25 who fell from bridges, banks or piers, etc., nine who fell through ice, five who died attempting to rescue others, two skiers or scuba divers, one water skier, and one who fell into a caisson. Reports have not been received with official details involving 14 other fatalities.

Water deaths totaled 236 in 1962, 262 in 1961, and 234 in 1960.

said, the city is someday going to need more property for recreation.

City Attorney John Michael said the council could not accept Hoffmann and Fochtman's verbal offers. Forbrig's earlier bid was unanimously rejected.

Mayor E. D. Hawley referred the issue to committee. The committee is to make a recommendation on whether the city should proceed with plans to sell, or keep the property for recreation.

Charges Against Dock Had No Basis in Fact

IF YOU SEEK A good neighbor look around you . . . to South Point. Medusa Portland Cement Co. last week once again, and more emphatically than ever, provided it is and has been, a good neighbor to Charlevoix.

The cement company went out of its way to assure Charlevoix its intentions for the South Point property it has owned for three decades are compatible with our natural beauty.

IN THE DAYS leading up to last week's confrontation by Medusa officials with local leaders, rumors and wild assertions seemed to run rampant. The Courier was asked to run a grotesque, amateur drawing alleged to show what the proposed dock on South Point would look like.

We refused to bow to this frenzy. However, the picture was still circulated as being accurate. Fortunately, public officials also refrained from taking a position against the dock because they had not seen a truthful picture of what the dock will look like.

The Courier continued to prod Medusa officials in Cleveland for a professional drawing showing the dock in perspective to its location from South Point as seen from Boulder Park. Such a drawing, requires hours of research and work by engineers.

But, finally, Medusa's engineering department got the job done in time for last week's paper. You saw it across the entire top of the front page. What a let down after the fear-filled misinformation we had been hearing for days.

THE DOCK WILL not be a liability to Charlevoix. The drawing made this immediately evident. More likely, it will add drama to South Point's sunsets. Its outline should be spectacular. Only a small portion of the land will be obstructed.

What's the point? Just this: Charlevoix might have been on the brink of losing the cement company's 100 future jobs because of the controversy generated by misinformation. People -- in Earl A. Young's words -- "panicked."

The Courier, in telephone conversations with Medusa executives, found them edgy and growing disgusted with the bombardment of threats and false charges. At one point a company vice president said they were thinking of pulling out of Charlevoix.

Fortunately, Medusa stuck it out. The firm gave Charlevoix another chance to study the facts.

THESE FACTS ARE now in, and they make it clear concern over the dock is unfounded.

If those persons who were frantically unnerved by the prospects of the dock will now devote their efforts to getting an effective ordinance enacted they will be making a worthwhile contribution to Charlevoix's future.

Oddly enough, it isn't Medusa who has to be convinced we need the ordinance. The company has even agreed to supply some of its high paid technical experts to help draft the smoke and dust control law.

Now is the Time to Raise Pay For County's Top Officials

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY supervisors at their October meeting are expected to face a decision on raising salaries of elected county officials. This is not an issue they should pass over lightly.

Several factors contribute to making it timely and wise for supervisors to approve pay increases for county officials that will bring them up to the standard of living enjoyed by others in similar jobs.

FIRST, CONSIDER that most officials receive a smaller salary than state figures reveal the average county wage earner gets, $5,260.

There can be no debating this means candidates for county offices will be those who find the hardship of private enterprise too much for them. It also means they probably won't be equal to even the "average" laborer.

Our top elected county posts deserve better than average men and women. Government today is becoming ever more complex. Without highly skilled officials local government loses its ability to cope with problems. This, results in state and national government, assuming the responsibility for local matters, at an indirect cost of 30% to 50% more.

It is often argued that county officials have little "side-lines" that allow them to make more than their salary. They also employ their wives.

BOTH OF THESE statements are true. But they should not be. We would be avoiding this conflict of interest and attracting capable men into politics by raising their salaries and outlawing additional sources of income and the employing of other members of the family.

As it stands, elected officials must pursue these courses to merely get by.

Making a decision to increase salaries most timely is the fact that the county's veteran clerk, treasurer and sheriff are not apt to run for re-election when their new terms expire in 1969.

These people have served the county faithfully for years. They came to us when low pay was the accepted principle in local government. It no longer is. So let's pave the way for replacing them with competent officials by increasing their salary now.

We're Fortunate to be Year-Round Residents

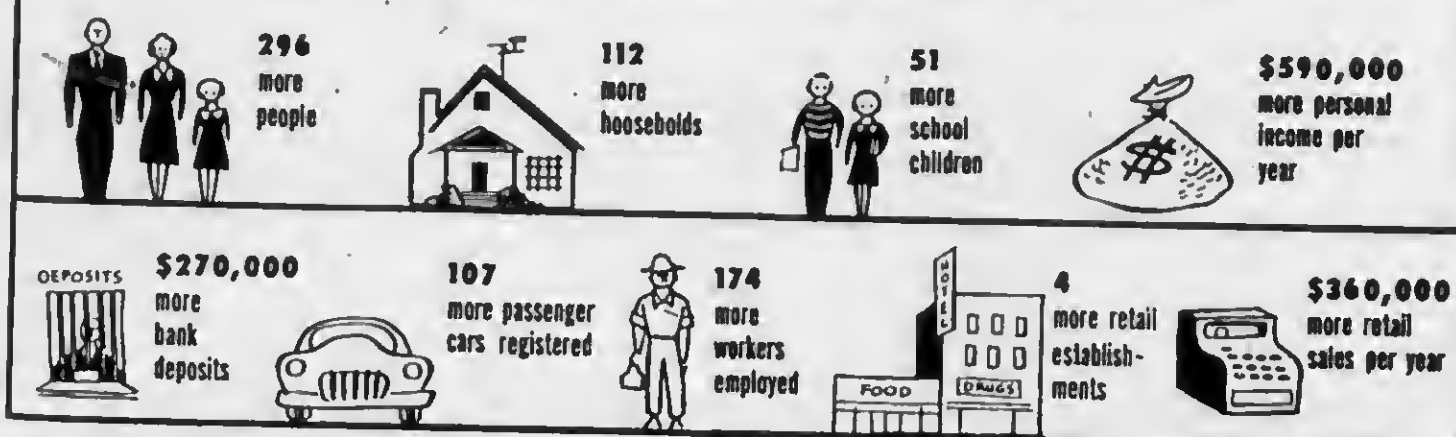

THE COOL DAYS OF August and the end of the summer season prompted many of our July and August residents to remark as they departed, "It must be awful living up here in the winter." -- or something to that affect.

But it just isn't so. Though the summer sun may be warming, can it replace the companionship of brilliant stars on a clear winter night? Or the awesome drama of miles of untrod snow? Or the wondrous color of autumn leaves?

LET THE SUMMER folks migrate back to their smoke filled city. Watch them return next summer, their mouths and lungs coated with the unseen fungus of dirt clogged air. We'll always welcome them back. And surely we should feel just a twinge of sympathy for them because they cannot live year-round in Charlevoix.

WHAT 100 NEW JOBS WOULD MEAN TO CHARLEVOIX

THE TOTAL IMPACT the 100 new jobs Medusa Portland Cement Co.'s proposed plant would bring to Charlevoix is outlined in the above panel, prepared by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. The panel was made several years ago, based on the national average income. Charlevoix's present average income is approximately the same as the national income was when this drawing was made.

OUR READERS WRITE

Dear Editor:

Schweigert Backs Action on Slums

DEAR EDITOR:

One of the problems involved in representing a sprawling district in excess of 250 miles in breadth is contact with the many important communities found therein. I find that one can learn much about the basic aims and personalities of those communities by means of their local newspapers. May I say that I read the COURIER each week with a great deal of interest, mainly because of your fine efforts in bringing to the attention of your readers information which they otherwise might not come in contact with? Truly, the COURIER is of great value to me. In my position as an elected representative of the people of Charlevoix.

Recent efforts of the COURIER in bringing to the attention of its readers the unsatisfactory living conditions presently existing in the southwestern part of the City are commendable, and I am pleased to note that the Council is moving towards corrective action by means of local planning activity. This matter involves a local situation, and accordingly, it can best be resolved by local government. May I state, however, that I stand ready to assist local authorities in any manner open to me as an elected representative?

I HAVE ALSO noted your recent editorial pointing up the "North's Dilemma" where legislative re-districting is concerned. Inasmuch as the total legislative representation of the great North has been cut in half, we are witnessing, in effect, a "bloodless revolution," whereby the balance of political power across the country shifts from rural to urban orientation. Michigan Republicans have resisted the idea of both houses of a two-house legislature being based upon straight population, and the people themselves approved the use of area factors along with population in apportioning the Senate when they adopted the new Constitution. However, the Supreme Court has ruled otherwise, and whether we like it or not (and I do not), it is a fact of political life with which we must learn to live until such time as changes can be brought about within the Federal Constitution.

As you know, Senator Everett Dirksen is leading an attempt to bring about an amendment to the Federal Constitution, and this could well save us in the North. I am hopeful that the people of northern Michigan are willing to support Senator Dirksen's action in the face of opposition from Michigan's two Democratic Senators, each of whom was elected from Wayne County.

Keep up the good work!

SINCERELY,
THOMAS F. SCHWEIGERT

I received the souvenir copy of the St. Mary's Church Dedication. It is an excellent job, and it doesn't take much imagination to realize how much work went into putting that souvenir together. I want to thank you for sending me a copy, and I want to congratulate you on a job excellently done. The layout is very interesting. The pictures are well chosen and well placed. The many many advertisements are evidence of a lot of leg work. In the advertisements, I can recognize a lot of familiar names from

DEAR EDITOR: Charlevoix is well named "the beautiful", and I thought it was even more lovely this summer with so many flowers on Bridge Street.

odds 'n ends

By FRAN MARTIN

These young mothers and their decorating abilities never cease to amaze me. I often wish I had their talents for taking a little of this and a bit more of that and creating the most unusual and attractive things. Including rooms and home. One of these young artists who's really never had any formal training along these lines is Mrs. Paul McClure, the former Anna Pontious, whose Lansing home which she 'did' was featured in the HomeSection of the Lansing Journal. Using an early American theme and lots of original ideas, her home has become a show place of what can be done with a little foldin' stuff and lots of ingenuity.

Called the sheriff's office one morning recently and found a very sleepy sheriff on the other end of the line. After kidding him a bit he told me one of those 'you wouldn't believe it' sort of stories. Seems the office received a call at an early hour like 2:30 a.m. from a resident in the Shadow Trails district on Walloon Lake. Prowlers were attempting to break into their house. Could an officer come quick. Sheriff Rose roused out one of his deputies and they sped to the scene. After conferring briefly with the man of the house and his wife who had barricaded themselves in the cottage, the officers went about the business of finding the prowlers who, the cottagers reported, had even gotten on the roof. After a brief search, the officers found the culprit, caving down the driveway. A full-grown father raccoon and two young fry who were having a ball. The cottagers wouldn't even come out of the house to see the prowlers. It turned out they'd never been in northern Michigan before and therefore were not aware of the antics of its wildlife. A friend had loaned them the use of his cottage which was located in an isolated area and when these city-dwellers heard the ruckus on the roof, well, what would you have done.?

AND SPEAKING of raccoons, Charlie Bellingier was telling of seeing two full-grown ones in the alley behind his store in the first block south of the bridge. When he mentioned it I said they'd have to look for a new eating place now that the Turkey Wing was closed. At that, Charlie and Dick Fochtman agreed that was probably where the two-some had been 'dining' regularly all summer.

There must be several families of 'em living in the downtown area for I understand Bob Somerville has been having some difficulties with a whole family of them tipping over his trash cans in the middle of the night.

Seems these playful masked robbers are plentiful everywhere this year.

It's hardly the middle of September and the leaves are turning and falling from the trees like mad. Didn't understand it and said as much when someone reminded me that leaves live only so long. And if I'd jog my memory I'd remember that the leaves come out very early last spring. And, as a result, were probably dying a natural death.

My neighbor, Mrs. Lawrence Bergmann, was telling me she had been down at Empire recently and that the autumn colors would probably reach their peak this week. Others have told me that the colors are equally as vivid on I-75 from Indian River area north to the Straits. So if you're planning a color tour this year, don't wait too long or you'll miss it.

THIS IS THE time of year when one's attention is captured by the brilliant mountain ash berries. I've often been told that the plentifulness or lack of berries foretell the kind of winter that will follow. Having watched this 'sign' for many years, I'd say that there's just an average number of berries this year as compared with many or none. So we will wait and see. Let's hope I'm right.

And while we're speaking of weather signs, don't forget that the weather during the days of the equinox foretell the weather for the next three months. Personally, I could do with a nice mild fall. With lots of Indian summer. And only a little snow before Christmas. How about you?

A reminder: school has started and lots of little ones who've never had the responsibility of looking out for themselves in traffic before are walking to and from school. So won't you be extra careful these days?

WHAT DID YOU think of the recent election? All too many of you failed to go to the polls. If you're one of those people who've always meant to register, now's the time. It's so simple to register and then you can vote in the general election in November. And don't say you weren't reminded.

Just as I'm reminding you now that our little old Raiders take to the turf Friday at Kipke field for their opener with Rogers City. Now's about picking up a season ticket and taking in all the home games. You'll love it, I promise you.

Present 4 Solutions To Lake Water Levels

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This article, written by Frank Hughes, is reprinted from the Chicago Tribune. It is the most comprehensive report we've seen on efforts to stabilize Lake Michigan water levels.)

Two international conferences in the last several weeks have dealt with the critical problem of water shortages.

Albert J. Meserow, chairman of the Great Lakes commission, disclosed that he has asked the state department to allow the commission, representing eight Great Lakes states, to appear before the international joint commission established by treaty between Canada and the United States in 1909.

Canada is anxious to place the acute problem of low water levels in the Great Lakes before the joint commission, Meserow said, and the state department recently has agreed to the proposition.

But, Meserow said, Richard D. Kearney, deputy legal adviser of the State Department, who has been attending the international lake conferences, has favored limiting the joint commission study to the effect of lake levels.

"It is foolish to undertake a study of just the levels themselves," Meserow said. "They are only one of many problems confronting the Great Lakes. For instance, 12 years ago the problem was high water levels which were damaging many lake shore properties."

"Today there are other problems such as pollution, navigation, power, recreation, fisheries, and water diversion. Most important is the fact that because of the great increase in population, demands for water for domestic and industrial uses in the Great Lakes area will be doubled by 1980.

"These are the problems we contend should be studied by the international joint commission."

Meserow said the Kearney, in testimony July 24 before the Senate Commerce Subcommittee on merchant marine and fisheries, suggested that the joint United States - Canadian study by the commission should be "of the ways in which excessively high and low water levels in the Great Lakes basin and their adverse effects might be minimized."

Kearney attended a conference in Toronto, June 29, and another in Lansing, Mich., July 28, called to discuss the severe drop in lake levels which has caused tremendous losses to the shipping industry.

"From my observation in the last six months," Meserow said, "the Canadians have lessened their antagonism to Chicago's diversion of Lake Michigan water for sanitary canal purposes because they now recognize that lower lake levels are due to natural causes such as lack of precipitation, evaporation, and earth tilt.

"R. J. Boyer, vice chairman of the Ontario Hydro Electric commission stated definitely that the lowering of levels is due to natural causes and not diversion, and cited a chart over a 100-year period which showed the levels of Lakes Michigan and Huron fluctuating up and down. The general trend was downward, he said, because these north-south lakes were tilting from east to west, which would lower the levels."

Meserow said the Great Lakes commission wants to bring more water into the lakes not only from Canadian sources but from any possible sources in the United States. There are four principal sources, he said:

1. The Grand canal, which is a reversal of the Harricanaw river now flowing into Hudson bay, so that it would flow into Georgian bay. This alone could contribute in excess of 100,000 cubic feet a second of water, as against 1,500 c. f. s. which Chicago diverts.

2. Tapping a larger area of the Albany river watershed in Canada, north of Lake Superior. The lake now gets 5,000 c. f. s. of water from Long Lac and Ogoki rivers, but a larger source in the many lakes and rivers there would provide greater flow.

3. The control of water levels, chiefly through a control works of the St. Clair river near Detroit, where dredging has increased the flow. Army engineers have said that such control is possible, but they are still studying the economic feasibility.

4. Increased flow from the United States side thru the Fox river in Wisconsin, the Des Plaines river in Illinois, and the Kankakee river in Indiana and Illinois. This would be accomplished by reservoirs to store flood waters from these rivers which then would be piped into Lake Michigan.

"This last plan is the least expensive, but may not furnish as much water as can be obtained in Canada," Meserow said. "Tapping any of these three local rivers would more than make up for the water Chicago withdraws. "No agency, no person, and no government at present could say with any authority which of these plans is the most feasible and economical. It requires a long time engineering study. It will have to be made some time. We would like to see it made now."

Abandon Alleys

City Council Monday approved, 5 to 1, abandoning two alleys at the request of James Hiller.

The alleys, in the block bounded by Crouter Ave. on the north, Peloskey Ave. on the south, Prospect on the east and Burns on the west, will become the property of adjoining homeowners.

COUNCILMAN Robert Gill voted against the city releasing the alleys to private owners. "In the course of the last year or year-and-a-half, we have given away many small parcels like this that may become valuable in the future," Gill said.

Two 21 year old men were fined $110 each last week by Justice John Connolly for furnishing alcoholic beverages to minors.

Fined were LeRoy Jepsen, 21 of Petoskey, and Thomas Sutton, 21, of Boyne City.

More Wheat in Cattle Diet

By ED REBMAN
Extension Director

BOYNE CITY--Farmers may want to consider feeding wheat to livestock this year in the face of lower cash prices and loan values for the 1964 wheat crop.

High Henderson, MSU animal husbandry specialist, says coarsely ground wheat may replace up to 50 per cent of the corn in beef cattle feeding rations without any appreciable change in rate of gain or degree of finish. Larger amounts may be fed if ground wheat is fed on top of corn or grass silage. Protein supplement may be reduced by about 10 per cent.

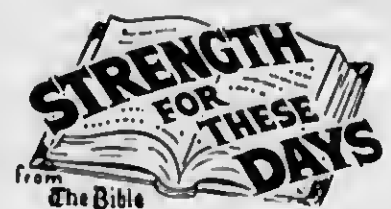

ROBERT HINES, MSU animal husbandry specialist, points out that ground wheat can replace corn "pound for pound" in rations for growing and finishing hogs when price relationships are favorable. He points out that although wheat is higher in protein than corn, the quality of protein it supplies is not different. No change is recommended in protein supplementation when replacing corn with wheat in swine feeding rations.

Graydon Blank, MSU sheep specialist, says wheat for lambs gives best results when mixed with other farm grains. When wheat is used as the only grain, gains will be slower and it is more difficult to keep lambs on full feed. Wheat may be mixed with oats, corn or with both equally by weight. Wheat mixed one-third to one-half with corn or oats is an excellent grain to feed ewes previous to lambing.

Don Hillman, dairy extension specialist at MSU, says crushed or coarsely ground wheat is readily eaten by dairy cattle and can be fed as a replacement for corn in the ration when price justifies its use.

Charles Sheppard, MSU poultry extension specialist, says it's okay to use wheat in poultry rations providing it doesn't replace more than one-half of the corn requirements. Substituting wheat for more than one-half of the corn in a ration will often result in wasted feed.

Automobile Dealers Boost Charlevoix's Economy

Nature's elegance this week take's second place to dazzling beauty created by man. Even in Charlevoix the Beautiful.

The new cars for 1965 are in the showrooms at Charlevoix auto dealers.

They're more powerful than ever! More glamorous! Sleeker! Quieter! More economical! Longer and lower! More durable!

There has never been anything like the 1965 cars.

and city and county government.

The men filling these jobs are your neighbors. Many are skilled mechanics who stand behind the salesman's guarantee that buying your car locally assures you of dependable, prompt service.

But this is only a part of the automobiles' total impact on Charlevoix. Several dozen other people are employed at service stations and in related jobs.

THE EVIDENCE IS inside this special Courier supplement. In advertising, pictures and stories you'll find why Charlevoix dealers are prouder than ever of their 1965 models.

But for the real proof visit the showrooms. See this shimmering array of style and engineering genius for yourself.

Marvel at the fact that men have learned to produce such fascinating automobiles at the rate of many million a year. Marvel, too, at the fact that this Detroit engineering miracle has revolutionized the entire Western World.

Though the real excitement that introduction of new cars creates centers in Detroit, Charlevoix plays its part. And the automobile plays a major role in making Charlevoix a better place to live.

FOR INSTANCE, A compilation of statistics from Charlevoix's five new car dealers reveals they have an annual payroll of $191,000.00, and employ 35 local men and women.

This is all money that helps make Charlevoix a sounder, more responsible community. These are year-round jobs. They help pay for our schools AUTOMOBILES MAKE it possible for thousands upon thousands of families to share Charlevoix's beauty with those of us who live here year-round. They don't stay long. But while they're here they spend money they've earned in the automobile factories, and other related jobs. This, again, provides more Charlevoix jobs because of the automobile industry.

Of course, it would be negligent to give the auto industry credit for all of this. Without progressive banks, like the Charlevoix State Savings Bank and Charlevoix County State Bank few of us would be able to enjoy the wonders of the assembly line and drawing board.

Charlevoix's loyal, civic minded dealers play a small part in making Detroit a success. Because they stand behind their product a few more cars are sold every year. Because our two banks are considerate in their policies, a few more people are able to buy automobiles.

YOU AND YOUR FAMILY will share in the profits of Charlevoix's booming economy, when you keep the dollars you spend at home where they can continue to make Charlevoix grow and prosper.

Rambler Offers 29 Models in Its 1965 Line

Rambler's 1965 models will offer a wide variety of engine options, including a high performance 232-cubic inch "Torque Command" six available on all series for the first time.

The outstanding success of the 232 "Torque Command", a new six-cylinder engine of advanced design introduced last spring as an option on the Classic series, has resulted in its extension to the American and Ambassador series for '65, according to Thomas A. Coupe, automotive sales vice president.

"IN ADDITION, Rambler will offer power for every consumer requirement, ranging from the economical 90-horsepower L-head six on the American to the 270-horsepower V-8 which is optional on all '65 Ramblers.

A 155-horsepower 232-cubic inch Torque Command with 2-barrel carburetor is standard on all Ambassador models. A 145-horsepower version with single barrel carburetor is standard on Classic 660, 770 and 770-H models. A 199-cubic inch Torque Command rated at 128-horsepower is standard on Classic 550 models.

In addition, the 155-horsepower Torque Command is available as an option on all Classic models, and on Ameri-

THE RAMBLER Classic for 1965 is completely restyled with over-all length increased by five inches on most models. With the addition of a convertible model for the first time, the Classic line offers a full selection of models including two and four-door sedans, and two-door hardtops. Shown is the Classic 770 four-door stationwagon. Classic engine choices include the 128-horsepower, 145-horsepower and 155-horsepower six-cylinder Torque Command, a 198-horsepower V-8 and a 270-horsepower V-8.

can models with automatic transmissions.

THE TORQUE Command engine feature a seven-main bearing crankshaft and eight counterweights, which together with other advanced design features, provide exceptional characteristics of smoothness, quick response and economy of operation, Coupe said.

Two optional V-8 engines, rated at 198 and 270-horsepower, are offered in the Classic and Ambassador series.

Improved performance with increased fuel economy for gas savings up to 15 per cent have been achieved in the tastefully restyled Ford Falcon for 1965. More powerful engines — including a redesigned 200-cubic-inch Six with seven main bearings for added smoothness — combine with three-speed Cruise-O-Matic or three-speed manual transmissions for the economy and performance improvement.

The 13 new Falcon models including the Falcon Futura 2-door Hardtop (above), will be introduced in Ford dealer showrooms on Friday, September 25.

Setting new standards of luxury, this 1965 Cadillac Fleetwood Sixty Special Sedan is four inches longer than last year. The extra length, exclusive to this model, is realized almost entirely in the rear passenger compartment. With a vinyl-covered padded roof the Sixty Special is designated as the Brougham and is distinguished with special Brougham script next to the wreath and crest on the side of the roof.

Elegance Cadillac Keynote

Cadillac for 1965 represents the most extensive change in the divisions 62-year history. Completely new from top to bottom, inside and out, the 1965 models will appear in dealer's showrooms on September 24, according to Harold G. Warner, general manager of Cadillac and vice president of General Motors.

Eleven models are offered in three series for 1965. The series are Calais, new this year and replacing the Sixty-Two series designation, DeVille and Fleetwood.

A NEW SEDAN model with a thin pillar replaces the six-window body style in the Calais and DeVille series.

The new model in the Fleetwood series is the Sixty Special sedan with its own exclusive 133-inch wheelbase and an overall length of 227.5 inches, an increase of four inches which is Continued on Page 3 tervals between refueling stops during modern turnpike travel.

A styling and comfort innovation for 1965 is a new split-back front seat with a large center arm rest -- designed for those who like the sporty look of bucket seats. When the arm rest is raised, it provides the extra utility of a bench seat. The new type seat is standard on Delta 88 Holiday sedans and coupes and on the 98 Holiday Sports sedan, coupe, and convertible.

In describing exterior styling features of the new Oldsmobiles, Metzel pointed out the distinctive rooflines and other styling characteristics which differ between series and body styles.

"THE STARFIRE styling is particularly distinctive. This full-size sports car has its own roof, rear quarter, front and rear end design and specific grille.

"Oldsmobile's 98 models for 1965," Metzel said, "are more elegantly luxurious than ever -- the most distinctive cars in Oldsmobile's history. The 98's have their own roofs, rear quarters, bumpers, grille, and side styling motifs. The 98 Holiday Sports coupe, with its own specific roof, features for the first time a V-shaped rear window.

"The 98 Holiday sedan," he added, "has its own roof, different from that of the optional vinyl covered 98 Luxury sedan. Oldsmobile will produce 19 full-size models in 1965.

All other models, except the Seventy-Fives, retain a wheelbase of 129.5 inches. Overall length is 224 inches, up one-half inch over last year. The Fleetwood Seventy-Five sedan and Limousine carry over their 1964 dimensions and exterior styling.

Warner said, "From any angle, the broad front end, the long low silhouette, the strong identification from the rear or the distinctive upper structures, the 1965 Cadillac Mr. 1965 says Cadillac."

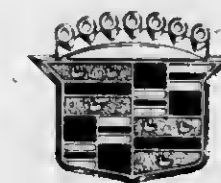

CHARLEVOIX COURIER Thursday, September 24, 1964, Page 3

THE FRONT VIEW is massive, with Cadillac's traditional cross-hatch grille which extends between vertically mounted headlamps. The parking lamps are recessed into the new bumper. From the side, Cadillac's length is emphasized by clean unbroken lines which are accented by three distinct planes of metal. From the rear the 1965 bumper is big and broad; the vertical bumper ends house and tail, stop, directional and back-up lights, giving excellent nighttime recognition.

PRESENTING Cadillac FOR 1965

SO NEW! SO RIGHT! SO OBVIOUSLY CADILLAC!

The 1965 Cadillac is the most dramatically new Cadillac in sixteen years; new from chassis to rooftop and new from start to stop. Its remarkable styling—elegant, majestic and impressive as never before—establishes it instantly as an all-time Cadillac great. And not only is it an inspiration to look at—it is a revelation to drive! The marvelous responsiveness of Turbo Hydra-Matic is now standard on all eleven models. A new concept of frame and suspension gives the car incredible steadiness and levelness of ride—even under the severest conditions of cornering and handling. And there is quiet—quiet beyond anything you imagined possible in a motor car! Cadillac's new and more spacious interiors are marvelously rich and luxurious—and include such personal options as an exclusive tilt and telescope steering wheel. Cadillac owner or Cadillac admirer—you owe yourself a journey at the wheel without delay.

You will know at once that this is—in every way—the new Standard of the World!

The All-New Chevrolet Line

Chevrolet takes its longest stride into the fine car field with its 1965 passenger cars-plus offering the widest variety of luxury models and product features in its 54-year history.

On display in dealer showrooms on Thursday, Sept. 24th, will be 45 models in five distinctive lines of new Chevrolets. Of these, 20 will be "Sport models" -- convertibles and hardtops. There are all-new cars in two lines:

--The regular Chevrolet, long-time industry sales leader, moves to a new prestige plateau with the greatest comfort and luxury ever offered. --The Corvair makes a dramatic advance with its first major styling change in five years.

CUSTOMER APPROVED design, with significant styling refinements, is continued for the Chevelle, Chevy II and Corvette lines. The Corvair also becomes the first American car to provide four-wheel disc brakes as standard equipment.

With its new models, Chevrolet hopes this year to establish its third successive industry sales mark, S. E. Knudsen, general manager, declared.

"For 1965, Chevrolet is keeping pace with the public's growing preference for prestige transportation with the widest possible customer choice of options and features to fit individual needs," he said.

REGULAR CHEVROLET -- The top selling line is an entirely new automobile for 1965. It is the most luxurious car ever offered by Chevrolet.

Fifteen models in four series stress a bigger car concept. The new Chevrolet is longer by more than three inches (to 213.1 inches), wider by 1 1/2 inches (to 79.6 inches) and one inch lower (to a sport coupe height of 54.1 inches) than 1964 models.

Six engines (one six and five V8's) are offered, ranging in horsepower from 140 to 400 and incorporating a number of engine improvements. Four transmissions are available and there is a total choice of 16 power teams.

CORVAIR -- Chevrolet's popular small, sports-type car makes the first major styling change since its introduction in the 1960 model year. For 1965, Corvair is longer, wider and lower while offering increased engine power. It retains its 108-inch wheelbase plus the air-cooled, rear-mounted engine and frame integral body which make it unique among American built cars.

Corvair's model lineup for 1965 emphasizes increased sportiness. Pillar sedans and the coupe have been dropped. The seven new models are either convertibles or two- and four-door hardtops.

The standard engine is 95 horsepower for all except Corvair models. Others available are the 110 horsepower version; a new 140 horsepower, four barrel version (standard on Corvair models, optional on all others) and the 180 horsepower turbo-charged engine available only on Corvair models. Three transmissions are available. Power teams total 11.

CHEVELLE -- Chevrolet's newest car was a quick favorite with the motorist, recording 300,000 sales in its first model year.

For 1965, the Chevelle line is expanded to 12 models in four series, including a new economy series, the "300." The car will continue its 115-inch wheelbase.

Delta 88 Joins Distinctive Line Of Oldsmobiles

Oldsmobile is introducing a new full-size product line for 1965 called the Delta 88. The new 88, along with all other 1965 Oldsmobiles, will be on display at Parsel's Oldsmobile, today it was announced today by Don and Howard Parsel.

Disclosing details of the new Oldsmobiles, Parsel quoted Harold N. Metzel, Oldsmobile's general manager and a vice president of General Motors as saying: "The Delta 88 is a glamorous new companion to the Dynamic 88, and these models, along with the Jetstar I, Starfires and 98's, are powered by our recently developed 425 cubic inch Super Rocket engine teamed with a brand new Turbo Hydra-Matic transmission, for the most instantaneous responsive performance in the division's history."

"FURTHERMORE," said Metzel, "the completely new and roomier bodies of all our full-size Oldsmobiles, including the Jetstar 88, are dramatically restyled with curved side window glass and new rooflines in all models."

"Series identification in the entire line of 1965 Oldsmobiles, from the F-85's on up to the 98's -- all 32 models," Metzel added, "is more pronounced than ever. Our dealers will display them publicly on Thursday, September 24."

Metzel described the new Super Rocket as a bigger, more powerful engine of lightweight cast-iron design. "Engine displacement has been increased by 8 percent," Metzel said, "yet engine weight has been substantially reduced. Teamed with the new Turbo Hydra-Matic transmission, the performance of the 425 cubic inch Super Rocket is sensational. With horsepower ratings from 310 to 370, the new engine will greatly enhance the outstanding reputation Oldsmobile has already earned in the performance field. Alert, effortless response to even a slight increase in throttle opening is the most significant engineering advancement in our new cars and is immediately apparent to the driver."

"In addition to the availability of the Turbo Hydra-Matic transmission," said Metzel, "Oldsmobile for the first time is offering in all 88's, Jetstar I and Starfire models, a floor-mounted four-speed manual transmission, fully synchronized in all gears."

"AN ESPECIALLY important change for the benefit of our customers," Metzel said, "is the extra roominess built into all full-size Oldsmobiles for 1965. Most of the interior dimensions have been increased, with shoulder room for example, nearly four inches greater."

Metzel also reported that fuel tank capacity had been increased to 25 gallons to permit longer in-

Pontiac Style New Concept

Pontiac Motor Division offers a completely new concept in automotive design and styling with the introduction of their 1965 models.

The Catalina, Star Chief and Bonneville models all present an appealing silhouette as they are longer, lower and wider on the exterior and contain more room and luxurious furnishings in the interior.

THE COMBINATION of styling excellence and outstanding performance, which has vaulted Pontiac into one of the front runners in automobile sales, prevails again in 1965.

The Catalina models, the Grand Prix sports coupe and all station wagons have a 121-inch wheelbase while the Star Chief and Bonneville models measure 124 inches (except the Bonneville Safari).

The overall length of the Catalina and Grand Prix has been increased to 214.6 inches and the Star Chief and Bonneville models are 221.7 inches long. All Safari models measure 217.9 inches.

Pontiac's high selling Catalina series is available in seven models--two and four-door sedans, two and four-door hardtops, six and nine-passenger station wagons and a convertible.

The Star Chief series offers a four-door hardtop and a four-door sedan.

Bonneville buyers may choose between a sports coupe, a four-door hardtop, a six-passenger station wagon and a convertible. Pontiac's award-winning sports coupe, the Grand Prix, will again be entered in the luxury car field.

In announcing the new models, E. M. Estes, a General Motors vice president and general manager of Pontiac said, "every 1965 model is a newly-inspired Pontiac creation containing performance, styling and luxury features never before offered in the middle price range."

The 1965 Pontiacs go on sale at Urich's September 24.

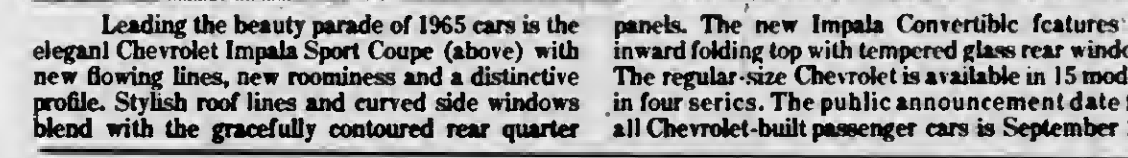

ALL THE BODY STYLES for 1965 are completely new. They all have the obvious appearance advantages of curved glass which allows the upper structure to better integrate with the lower as part of the overall car design. This is particularly evident on the sports coupe with its fast-flowing roof line. Curved glass also makes possible a more efficient use of space.

The Corvairs for 1965 step out with a smart all-new continental styling. For the first time since its introduction in 1959, body lines of Chevrolet's rear-engine car have been completely changed. The Corvair Sport Coupe (above) and the Convertible lead the 1965 Corvair series, followed by the Monza Sport Coupe, Sport Sedan, Convertible and two 500 models. On September 24 Chevrolet dealerships will display various models of the five passenger cars offered by the company in 1965.

Leading the beauty parade of 1965 cars is the elegant Chevrolet Impala Sport Coupe (above) with new bowing lines, new roominess and a distinctive profile. Stylish roof lines and curved side windows blend with the gracefully contoured rear quarter panels. The new Impala Convertible features an inward folding top with tempered glass rear window. The regular-size Chevrolet is available in 15 models in four series. The public announcement date for all Chevrolet-built passenger cars is September 24.

Tempest Longer for '65'

Pontiac Motor Division's Tempest for 1965 presents new styling, including vertically mounted headlights, increased length, new colors and two new models for extended market coverage.

The Tempest Custom series has added a two-door hardtop coupe and the LeMans series now has a four-door sedan available. There will be a total of 12 different models available in the three Tempest series.

The Tempest series offers a sports coupe, four-door sedan and Safari.

In addition to its new model, the hardtop coupe, the Custom series has available a sports coupe, a four-door sedan, a convertible and a Safari.

The new Tempests have undergone a complete restyling of the front end. The distinctive Pontiac "Tempest" split grille, which is recessed slightly from the down curve of the hood line, has the definitive Pontiac look as twin vertical mounted headlamps flank the grille on both sides. They have a horizontal line pattern setting the lower headlight apart from the upper and accented from both. The upper and lower edges of the headlamp housings, which are ridged in chrome, meet the fenders flush without breaking the sculptured line.

Fifteen interior colors offered in the Tempest line. The new colors are new 1965, black and ivory, the same as previous models. The new color list includes: Blue, Charcoal, Mist, Camo Gold, Bluemist and Mayfair Maize.

The New Mercury

The 1965 Mercury, three inches longer and more luxurious than in 1964, presents the most extensive change in the 26-year history of the car. See it TODAY at Erber Auto Co.

Conceived, developed and crafted in the Lincoln Continental tradition, the new Mercury brings to the medium-priced field new standards of comfort and engineering excellence.

EVEN IN ITS styling, the Mercury for 1965 resembles the Lincoln Continental with its clean, classic look of elegance and formality.

The new Mercury has a 123-inch wheelbase, is a 218.4 inches in over-all length and features new frame design, front and rear suspension, and rigid body construction.

"Lincoln - Mercury is the only division offering products in the medium-price field that also has long experience and acceptance in the luxury field," said

Paul F. Lorenz, Ford Motor Company vice president and division general manager.

"With the new Mercury, we now are offering the same successful concepts that were developed for the Lincoln Continental in the luxury field."

THE 1965 MERCURY will go on sale in Lincoln - Mercury dealerships September 25.

The Mercury will be available in a broad selection of 15 models in three series, Monterey, Montclair and Park Lane. There will be six roof lines, including the Breezeway four-door sedan, again unique in the industry. Other roof lines are the conventional two-door and four-door sedan, a formal four-door hardtop, a two-door fastback hardtop, plus the convertible and the station wagon.

The appearance of the Mercury, which is unlike any predecessor model, is dominated by slim blade-like front fenders and flat, uncluttered side panels, similar to the Continental. Slender parking lights at the extreme edge extend from bumper to fender top. Tall, vertical taillights frame the wide, clean trunk lid, so that the crisp rear appearance complements the front styling character.

Mercury's reputation as an outstanding road car is strengthened for 1965 with important engineering advances in body, frame, suspension and steering. The over-all design nests the body deep into the new torque box frame, increasing the floor space and the body interior height, while the over-all height of the car is decreased. The torque box frame is lighter and absorbs more of the road shocks, preventing them from being transmitted to the passenger. More interior spaciousness is gained in the driver's compartment, too, with a reduction in transmission tunnel and a recessed instrument panel.

BETTER BALANCED road stance is obtained by increasing tread to 62 inches, up one inch in front and two inches in rear. New front and rear suspensions improve roadability. The drag strut front suspension permits compliance fore and aft when the front wheels encounter uneven road surfaces. The rear suspension is a new coil spring cushion-link design which gives a softer ride than the leaf springs formerly used in the Mercury.

Important improvements in steering include a reduction in over-all steering ratio and a new power steering system with integral gear design and new power steering pump.

AN ENTIRELY NEW appearance and major mechanical advances are presented in 1965 for the Mercury Comet -- the world's durability champion. Pictured is the Callente two-door hardtop, one of 11 models in Mercury Comet's three series for 1965.

Comet Styling New In 1965 Model Line

For the second consecutive year, Mercury Comet -- the world's durability champion -- presents an entirely new appearance and major mechanical advances which can be seen today at Erber Auto Co.

Styling of the 1965 Mercury Comet is fresh and exciting. The car is wider, yet sleeker. The sporty Cyclone series has its own distinctive grille and ornamentation.

MECHANICAL improvements include significant power train advances, more responsive steering, a new electrical system, better ride and increased comfort, and new low-profile tires. A wider choice of new options and accessories is offered.

"We are looking to the 1965 Comet to add to the outstanding reputation for durability and performance which resulted in an increase of more than 60 percent in Comet sales this year."

said Paul F. Lorenz, Ford Motor Company vice president and general manager of the Lincoln-Mercury Division. Lorenz said the new Comets would go on sale in Mercury dealerships on September 25.

Over-all dimensions are changed only slightly, with width increased 1.5 inches. Wheelbase remains at 114 inches, offering maneuverability, with the ride and handling characteristics of larger cars.

Front end sheet metal -- hood and fenders -- are new for all models, along with new bumper, grille, vertical headlamps and ornamentation. Two- and four-door sedans have a new, crisp roof, giving these models a tailored look.

REAR END SHEET metal -- deck lid, rear quarter panels and back panels -- bumper and taillamps are new for all except station wagons.

AN ENTIRELY NEW car unlike any predecessor in its 26-year history, Mercury for 1965 is three inches longer and features classic styling which imparts a look of formality as illustrated by this Park Lane four-door hardtop. Crafted in the Lincoln Continental tradition, clearly marked character lines is common to all Mercurys for 1965.

Introducing Comet 1965:

livelier, more beautiful sequel to the World's Durability Champion

We couldn't make Comet much tougher, so we made it more beautiful. Made the outside sleeker, sportier -- from every angle. Made the interiors more luxurious. Made every engine bigger, from the 200 cu.-in. "6" through the hefty new 289 cu.-in. Cyclone Super V-8 (225 hp). Made the ride even smoother, more solid and silent. The one thing not new in this racy '65 sequel is the stamina that made Comet the World's Durability Champion. You wouldn't want that to change, would you? It didn't.

try's first center-facing dual rear seats in 1965 Ford station wagons. Replacing the conventional third "jump seat," this new design affords comfortable seating for four children in the rear of the wagon.

SOME OF THE many other features are curved side glass for increased shoulder room; a 13 per cent reduction in the floor-tunnel for greater passenger comfort; a recessed instrument panel with several additional inches of "living room spaciousness" in the passenger compartment, and a deeper trunk capable of holding two-suitcases in an upright position.

All 1965 Ford models have been completely restyled. Five separate roof lines and different series ornamentation give new and more complete distinction between the models.

Vertical-mounted dual headlamps highlight the front with a grille that features thin horizontal bars. The turn signal-parking lights are concealed behind the grille and are visible only when illuminated.

A new look of size and motion is combined in the 1965 Fairlane, restyled from bumper to bumper for the first time since its introduction three years ago.
Eight Fairlane models — hardtops, station wagons and sedans — will be introduced in Ford dealer showrooms Friday, September 25.

From the side, 1965 Fords feature straight-through lines emphasized by a sharp, full-length fender line from front to rear. At the front, the fender line carries forward of the headlamps, dramatizing Ford's long look. Two lightly sculptured character lines on the body side panels accentuate this appearance.

THE REAR OF the 1965 Ford continues the luxury-car look with clean, simple lines. The traditional round Ford taillight becomes hexagonal for 1965 to carry out the rich styling motif.

Five new and distinctive roof-lines have been developed for two- and four-door hardtops, sedans, convertibles and station wagons.

well as longer tire life and better brake performance — all at no increase in vehicle height. At the same time, tread width of the 1965 Ford has been increased to 62 inches front and rear for a wider stance on the road.

The Ford Galaxie 500 LTD series — a completely new line of super-luxury two- and four-door hardtop Fords for 1965 — features interior fabrics comparable in value to those in America's most expensive cars. Simulated wood paneling is used in the instrument panel and in door trim to produce a true luxury-car decor.

SHARING FEATURES common to all 1965 Fords, the Ford Ranch Wagon, Ford Country Sedan and Ford Country Squire offer several new station wagon design ideas for 1965. All Ford wagons feature a unique rear window air deflector. Styled into the rear body pillar, the deflector directs a curtain of air across the rear window surface to reduce accumulation of dust, water or snow.

A third Mustang model — the "2+2" fastback — joins hardtop and convertible Mustangs announced as the first of its 1965 cars by Ford Division last April. The new Mustang provides seating for four.

Continued as standard equipment on all Mustangs are such sports and luxury features as bucket seats, molded nylon carpeting, floor mounted shift for both manual and automatic transmissions.

Announcement:

Ford Motor Company introduces an entirely new kind of Mercury for 1965... now in the Lincoln Continental tradition

We predict that the reaction of many people when they first see a 1965 Mercury drive by will be: "What car is that?" Mercury is that new. The look is new. Completely. Low, sleek, beautifully proportioned. (Notice the long, low proportions of the hood, the full-width grille, the unique pillar lights on the front fenders.) The ride is new. It's solid, quieter. Inside, there's an extensive selection of options for personal customizing — luxury features once reserved only for the most expensive cars. The idea behind all this newness is to bring you the most luxurious, best-riding car in its field... a Mercury that accurately reflects the Lincoln Continental tradition. See how well the idea works — at your Mercury dealer's. No medium-price car has ever come so close in luxury to the high-price class.

Dodge Introduces New In-Between Model for 1965

Dodge will enter the 1965 model year with a new-sized Coronet line added to its product line-up between its compact and regular-sized cars. See them at Brown Motors TOMORROW!

The 117-inch-wheelbase Coronet, significantly larger than competitive nameplates in its class, provides sufficient passenger compartment space to accommodate six adults comfortably.

When driving in high altitudes or in hot weather, Dodge Dart engineers advise motorists to follow this procedure in checking radiator level:

How to Check Radiator Level

First place cloth over radiator cap. Make one turn left to the first stop. Let steam escape through overflow tube. Then remove cap for inspection.

Safety Precaution

The special stainless molding across the lower part of the front doors on the Dodge Dart GT incorporates a strip of reflective tape that serves as a safety precaution when the doors are opened at night.

The previously unfilled slot in Dodge's product line-up which the Coronet will occupy is currently the fastest-growing segment of the American automobile market.

"There is a definite trend, in both individual and fleet purchases, to a lower-price, family-size car like the Coronet, offering more car than the compact and yet more economical than the conventional sized cars," Byron J. Nichols, Dodge general manager, said.

"WE BELIEVE THE 1965 Coronet is an ideal family-size car. It is convenient for suburban driving and at the same time highly suitable for cross-country trips."

The Coronet measures 204 inches in over-all length, 75 inches in width and 56 inches in height.

A wide and massive appearance has been given to the new line in the styling treatment of the entire front and rear ends. The four corners of the car have been noticeably squared off to take visual advantage of the full width, height and length of the body.

Front end styling features a full-width grille surrounding the dual headlights, a deep wrap-around bumper, narrow ridges along the top sides of the front fenders and a flat hood.

THE BROAD REAR deck slopes very gradually, and then turns downward at a 90-degree angle to form the deck face. Placed high at the ends of the deck face are the vertically-styled single tail light assemblies.

The four six-passenger and one nine-passenger station wagon models, with 90 cubic feet of cargo space, have the same new styling details as the sedans.

Fifteen exterior colors are offered in a new acrylic enamel paint, which can be buffed back to its original gloss even after long-time exposure.

A variety of vinyls and nylons are used for upholstery materials in a color selection of blue, tan, turquoise, red, black, and white with gold.

INTERIORS OF THE deluxe Coronet 500 are furnished with front bucket seats, a center console with built-in storage compartment and simulated rear bucket seats.

For the Coronet 440 and Coronet 500 two-door hardtops, an optional leather-grained vinyl roof covering in black or white has been compounded for greater weatherability. The white vinyl has a hard-surface finish to resist soiling.

The convertibles in the same two series have a new type of dust boot made of expanded vinyl that can be fastened with less effort because of the material's "stretch" characteristics.

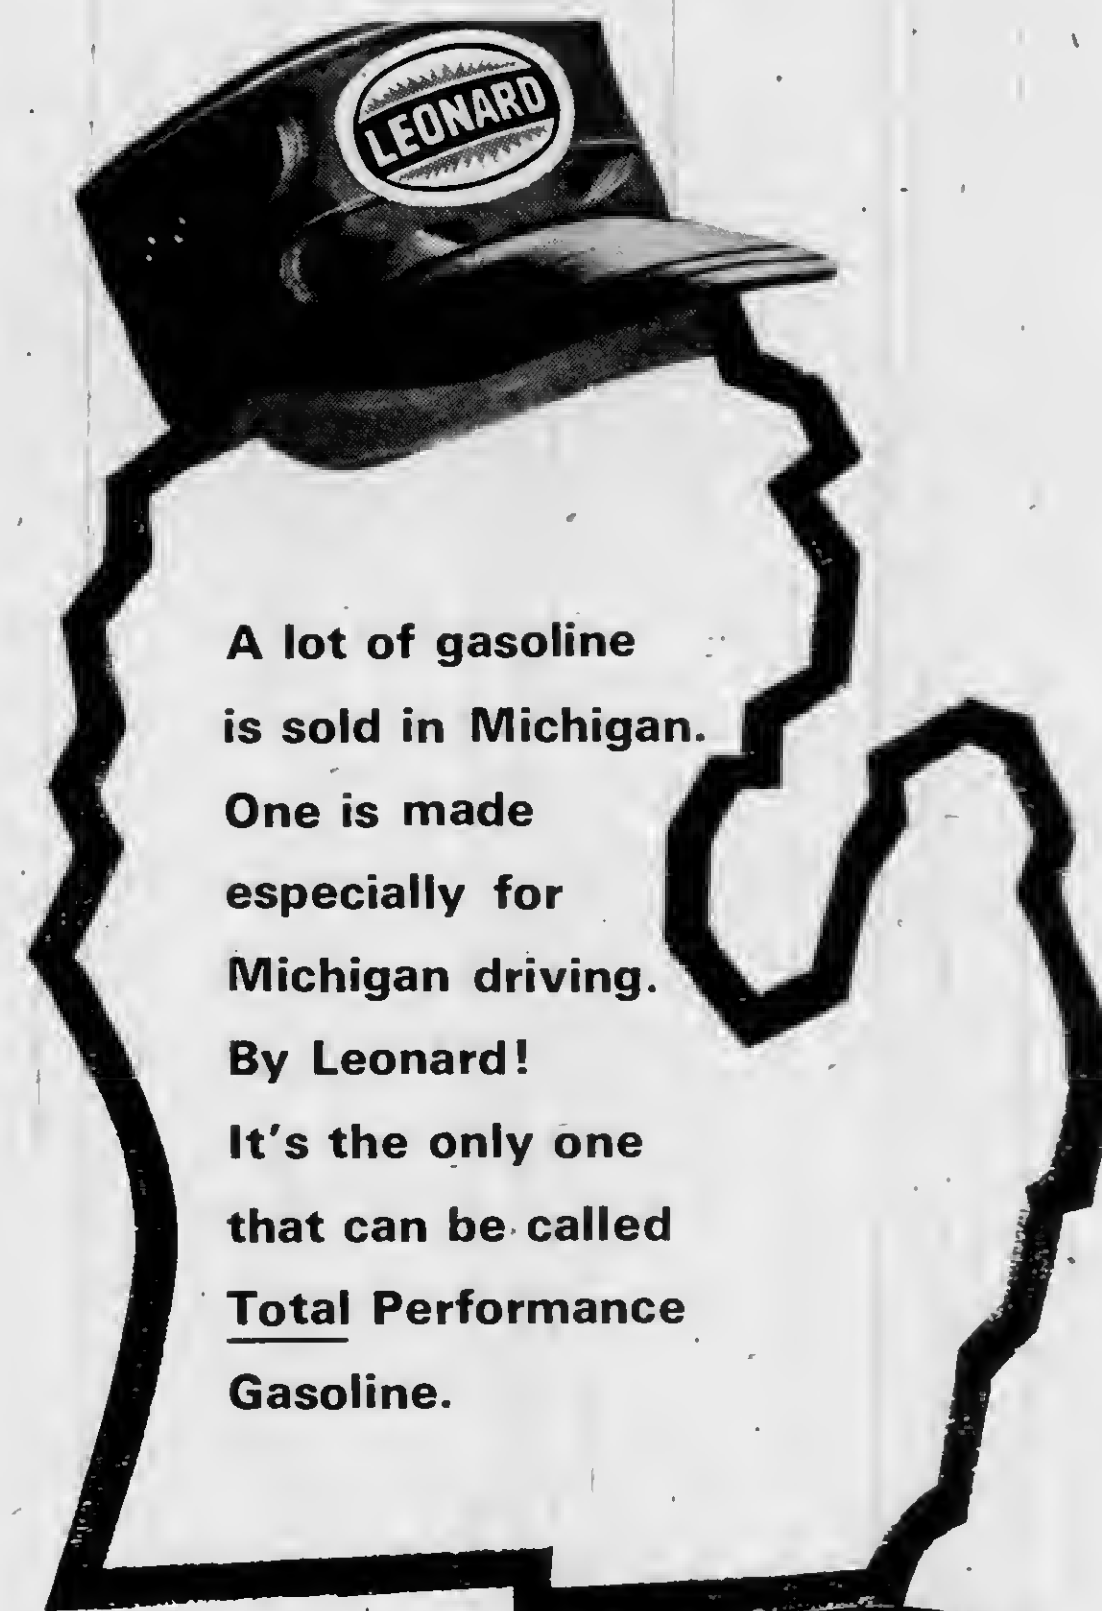

Use of easily-cleaned perforated vinyl headlinings in the Coronet line lowers the sound level within the passenger compartment.

and increasing its resistance to cold cracking. INSTRUMENT PANEL face plates are finished in a satin-silver gloss, and the panel tops are painted in a glare-reducing, dark-colored suede finish, which also eliminates windshield reflection.

The standard power plants for the Coronet line are a 225-cubic-inch, 145-horsepower.

DODGE CORONET—For 1965 Dodge is introducing an entirely new line of cars called the Coronet. The well-styled Coronet 500 convertible, shown here, is one of 17 models offered in the new line. The Coronet cars have a 117-inch wheelbase and an over-all length of 204 inches. They will go on display at Dodge dealerships on September 25.

GOP Office Ready In Downtown Area

Charlevoix Republicans are not saying good enough with their traditional vote superiority.

This week they opened what party leaders point out is the most aggressive campaign in local Republican history.

AN ALL-REPUBLICAN headquarters, featuring Sen. Barry Goldwater and Gov. George Romney, is scheduled to open this week in the Cashmere Shop on Bridge St., across from the banks.

Next Wednesday the state's female wing of the GOP will be in Charlevoix for a rally. Expected to be with the feminine barnstormers is senatorial candidate Mrs. Ely Peterson.

They are scheduled to be in Charlevoix at 10 p.m. for a public appearance in Oleson's Parking Lot.

SHERIFF GLENN Rose caught this corner out of step last week. He, quite correctly, argued that the editorial of two weeks ago demanding that politicians take down their roadside posters was unjust in his case.

New Industry Stymied By Lack of Applicants

Chamber Looks for Workers

An unexpected stumbling block has developed in Charlevoix's bid for new industry, Chamber of Commerce manager Dean Davenport reports.

The chamber, Davenport said, has not been able to locate enough persons wanting work to fill the demands of the unidentified new plant.

THE CHAMBER last week announced it has forms in its office for registration for employment. It asked that all women and men seeking light industrial work--especially electronics assembly--fill out one of these forms.

Monday Davenport said less than a dozen persons have responded.

Before the firm will commit itself to building a plant here, Davenport said, at least 100 persons must be known to be willing to take a job with it.

"This firm's coming to Charlevoix is dependent on this response to our employment registration at the chamber office," Davenport said. "Ellsworth area people are also urged to fill out one of the forms."

"FEMALE APPLICATIONS are especially wanted," he added. Davenport said the firm does not want to be publicly identified until it determines if there are enough people wanting jobs in the area.

However, he said it will be a reputable company, paying competitive wages and providing good working conditions.

Charlevoix Township will fight annexation in an effort to prevent losing some of its income.

Township Supervisor Clarence Rabach said he will carry his fight to hold on to Medusa's taxable property to the County Board of Supervisors Oct. 15.

THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX has petitioned the supervisors to authorize it to annex Medusa's 800 acres on South Point. The city's proposal calls for joining Medusa to the city at the airport so no private homeowners will be disturbed.

The city's annexation move, councilmen explained, has only one objective: To give the city jurisdiction over the property so it can enact, enforce and regulate a technically involved smoke abatement ordinance to protect the city's future.

Rabach has said the township is willing to draw up an ordinance, but that it will not be as technical as such ordinances as those of Los Angeles. He said he does not think such a stringent ordinance is necessary. Rabach when asked by City Attorney John Michael, would not commit himself to whether township law gives it the power to enforce such an ordinance.

Rabach is considered one of the most influential men on the Board of Supervisors. He is chairman of the budget committee. His opposition to the annexation is expected to create a major hurdle for the city in getting supervisors to approve it.

ABOUT A QUARTER OF the township's land area, Rabach said, would be taken into the city if the annexation is okayed. Taxes on Medusa's undeveloped limestone deposits amount to about 20% of the township's total income, he said.

Shifting the property into the city would not affect school taxes, as both the city and township are in the same school district.

Charlevoix Township, Rabach said, is already one of the smallest in land area in the county.

"This is setting up a precedent that could end up with the city grabbing off a chunk now and a little later and keep at it until there is nothing left of the township," the supervisor said.

HE CHARGED THE city with "gerrymandering." And said "this is awful poor planning."

"If they want to do any annexing a planning commission should be appointed from both the city and township to work out a reasonable solution; and then it should be put to the people," he said.

"After all, this is still a democracy, we thought. But when

Dealers Hail Response to New Autos

Charlevoix's five new car dealers were mighty cheery last week. It wasn't over anything they had done. Their excitement was caused by the reception the public gave to the initial showing of the 1965 cars.

THE FIVE DEALERS--Parsell Oldsmobile, Charlevoix Oil Co., Erber Auto Co., Ulrich Sales and Brown Motors--all reported response to the new model cars was the most enthusiastic ever.

"You don't sell many new cars the first couple of days," one salesman said. "You just hope enough people come in to look. And they sure did."

Charlevoix drivers last week got their first look at the 1965 Chevrolet, Ford, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Rambler, Dodge, Mercury and Cadillac.

Auto salesmen said the special new car section issued with last week's Courier helped stimulate unprecedented interest.

Collector's Item

Eight years' and millions of dollars in local money sent to Washington and returned to Michigan has made almost unbelievable change in our highway system.

A limited number of 1957 Official Michigan Highway Maps were recently discovered in an old cabinet at the Courier. Collectors are invited to come in and get one while they last.

COMPARE THEM TO your 1964 map (distributed earlier this year by the Courier) and see the change for yourself.

Predict Dems Will Get Half of County Votes

Charlevoix County Democrats have never been so optimistic or so hard at work.

County Democratic Chairman George LaBlance predicts his party will swing 50% of the vote in November and elect one or two county officials.

WHY? LABLANCE gives two reasons what he sees as his party's rising fortunes:

City Payroll

Down by $3,000

Advised this spring by its auditor to watch its budget a little closer, Charlevoix's City Council appears to be doing just that.

Figures released last week by Deputy City Clerk Herb Campbell reveal the city has trimmed its payroll by $3,000 in the first nine months of 1964.

TOTAL WAGES paid in the first nine months of 1963 (through August) were $127,092.80, Campbell said. The comparable figure for this year is $124,014. This is $3,078.53 less.

1-The popularity of Lyndon Johnson and distrust of Barry

Goldwater.

2-The unprecedented number of local people openly admitting they are Democrats and, for the first time, actively working to get Democrats elected.

The county's top spokesman for Johnson-Staebler forces said he will have volunteers assigned to each small block of voters. These people will be responsible for seeing that Democrats get out and vote.

MRS. DAN (BETH) GENEIT, LaBlance said, has done "an outstanding job of surveying local voters so we can identify all Democrats and get them out on Nov. 3."

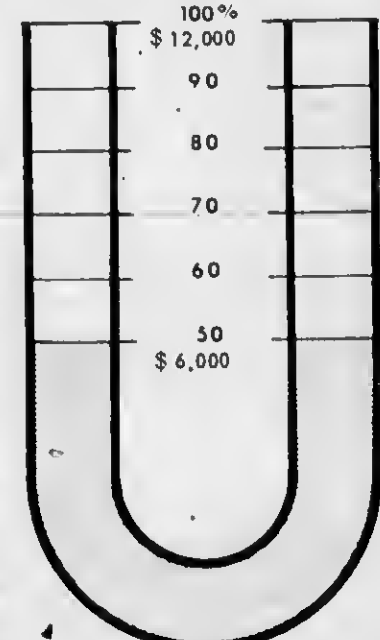

Efforts are now being made to locate a Democratic headquarters building in downtown Charlevoix.

Chest Drive Falters With Week Remaining

The Charlevoix Community Chest is making a goal line sprint to fill its $12,000 quota, Don Meggison, drive chairman, reports.

BETWEEN NOW and then, Meggison said, volunteer workers must collect more than $5,000 if they are going to reach their goal. He said, Meggison asked volunteer workers to make their calls made on homes and businesses. The drive, he said, is lagging.

Martin Garden

Tops in City

The Phil Martin residence on Cherry St. has won the Charlevoix Garden Club's last "outstanding garden" plaque of the season.

The club's plaque is on display in the Martin garden for the next two weeks. Visitors are welcome.

HONORABLE MENTION was given to the Russell Lewis home at 911 State St., and the Edward Olach home on Division.

Garden Club judges were Mrs. Darrell Dinwiddie and Mrs. Jack Rayder.

Gun Safety Plea As Season Opens

With small game hunting season opening today, Conservation Officer Harley Burris is concerned about the safety of young hunters.

"I've noticed a lot of kids who aren't old enough going hunting alone on the outskirts of town," Burris said.

THE CONSERVATION officer reminded parents, the law requires that a boy be at least 17 before he hunts alone. This, he said, is to protect boys until they are old enough to have good judgement in gun handling.

Burris said he does not arrest underage boys. He usually takes them home or confiscates their gun until the parents call for it. However, he said, parents can be arrested for letting underage children hunt alone.

According to Burris' observations grouse hunters should have a top notch season in the Charlevoix area.

Too Many Good Slogans

Can't Pick a Winner

"There are just too many that are just too good."

With this explanation judges this week pointed out why they did not select winners in the Courier's slogan contest.

MORE THAN A month ago the Courier turned over to judges several dozen Charlevoix slogan ideas submitted by the newspaper's readers.

The judges, under the informal chairmanship of Councilman Dr. Walter Hoffmann, hoped to pick three winners who would get Courier subscriptions.

However, Monday Dr. Hoffmann finally threw in the sponge. It is impossible, he said, to fairly pick out three that are definitely superior to the rest.

The slogans were originally suggested by Dr. Hoffmann at a City Council meeting. Councilmen immediately picked up the idea and started having slogans stamped on all city mail.

BUSINESS PLACES using postage meter machines were urged to buy plates that would automatically stamp a Charlevoix slogan on their envelopes.

Dr. Hoffmann reports most of the business and industrial firms using postage meters have responded. "Charlevoix the Beautiful", he said, remains the most popular slogan.

However, several others are being used. For instance, the Charlevoix County State Bank has one plate that stamps "On World's Shortest River, Ripley" on its outgoing envelopes. The Charlevoix State Savings Bank is using a slogan that says "Birthplace of Water-Winter-Land."

IF ENOUGH INDIVIDUAL orders for rubber stamps of the slogans are placed so they can be ordered at a low price the Courier agreed to purchase them for resale.

The dozens of slogans submitted to the judges were.

"This is a vicious thing if it gets going to far," Rabach said.

"HOFFMANN (COUNCILMAN Dr. Walter Hoffmann) is a greenhorn in politics, and he's disrupting the whole ball of wax," Rabach added.

Dr. Hoffmann made the motion that the city annex the Medusa property. It was supported by Councilman William Fochtman and unanimously passed by the City Council.

Rabach said he does not want to sound "too confident," but doubts the city can get the annexation through the Board of Supervisors.

The sheriff was right. He is still campaigning, though he sure isn't sweating much about it. Merle Karliskin of Boyne City won the Democratic nomination as candidate for sheriff with a few write-in votes.

SO, I HEREBY apologize Rose has legitimate reason for leaving his posters up. Though it is pretty far fetched to suggest there is even an outside chance he will lose.

But I would hate to do anything that would endanger his chances of re-election. The last thing in the world I can imagine anyone wanting to be is a sheriff. However, being as Glenn Rose is one of the best, I'm looking forward to seeing him around for another four years.

ing open daily in the afternoon until after the Nov. 3 election. Women volunteers to help staff the headquarters are being sought.

Chuck Carey, local Goldwater-Miller chairman, and Mrs. William Fochtman, local Romney chairman, are organizing forces to get voters registered and to the polls.

Mrs. George (Shirley) Lusk is guiding much of the local organization effort as County Republican Committee vice chairman.

Mrs. Lieberman asked that all persons interested in Goldwater campaign literature, bumper stickers or other materials stop at the headquarters. Campaign material on all other Republican candidates will also be available.

THE HEADQUARTERS staff is also accepting contributions to the party's campaign. Ed Hansen, county Republican treasurer, announced.

Hansen said contributions of any amount will help toward the party's $5,000 county goal.

Carey said Goldwater's candidacy appears to have sparked unprecedented local enthusiasm to get out and work for the Republican party.

The state's top politicians, on their visit to Charlevoix will mark the opening round of 1964 campaign appearances here.

A RALLY FOR THE women campaigners will be held at the Emmet County Fairgrounds, Petoskey, Tuesday, Oct. 6, at 8 p.m.

Besides Mrs. Peterson, the troupe will include Mrs. Joyce Hutton, Grand Haven, Miss Ellen M. Solomonson, Norway.

Hunting Season Opens

"Over the state pats are said to be down, but in Charlevoix County there are lots of them," he said.

THE WOODCOCK population is also very high locally, but may leave early due to cold weather, he said.

He suggested hunters look for grouse near thorn apple trees and for woodcock in low marshy country.

The early leaf fall will aid squirrel hunters as well as bird hunters, Burris said. Squirrel season also opens today with a limit of five.

Geese season opens today. But duck season doesn't open until Oct. 8. Burris asked hunters to carefully study duck hunting regulations and identification of specific ducks.

DUCKS WILL BE found in primarily the same places they've been seen this summer as most of them are native to the area.

For the non-fishing outdoor fraternity Burris said fall fishing is nearing a peak.

Big rainbows are being caught on Walloon Lake in four to 15 feet of water. Best bait is minnows.

Many of the small inland lakes and Lake Charlevoix are producing nice catches of smallmouth bass in shallow water. Pike are also hitting near shore, especially around the Boyne City waterfront, where northerns up to ten pounds are being taken.

Minnows, Burris said, remain the best bait for bass and pike.

Democrats See Victory

Between now and election day, LaBlance said, all state Democratic candidates, from gubernatorial hopeful Neil Staeble and Sen. Philip Hart on down will make a campaign swing through Charlevoix.

Their visits here may be on short notice, but LaBlance said due to the party's new organization Democrats can be identified and urged to get out to greet the candidates.

TWO COUNTY Democratic candidates were given a "good chance" by LaBlance of upsetting incumbent Republicans. They are Archie Murphy, who is running for treasurer, and Art Osborn, candidate for register of deeds.

Charlevoix is already considered one of the north country's swing counties, LaBlance said. This is because the Democrats got 48% of the vote for secretary of state in 1960.
